10.	Extempore translation into Russian, to be taken from an ordinary newspaper, and read out by the examiner ...	100
	Total ...	600

3. Officers who obtain ·5 of the total marks will be noted in their record of service as "Passed" in Russian and those who obtain ·8 will be noted as qualified to be "Interpreters" in Russian.

4. Applications for permission to appear at these examinations must be made to the Government of India in the Home Department—(a) in the case of an officer directly under the Government of India, through the Department in which he is serving; and (b) by an officer under a local Government or Administration, through the local Government or Administration to which he is subordinate. Applications must not be made to the India Office in London.

5. Such permission will be granted only to those members of the Indian Civil Service and officers of the Indian Army in civil or political employ who seem likely to be employed, before their active service comes to an end, in situations where a knowledge of Russian may be of advantage to the State, and to no one who will not be able to attend the preliminary examination, and also the final one, should he proceed to Russia for a course of study, and to return to duty in India, without exceeding the amount of leave which he may have to his credit, or which may be admissible to him if subject to the Leave Rules for the Indian Army. The Government of India reserve to themselves full discretion to grant or withhold permission in any case.

6. Any officer, of not less than three and not more than twelve years' service, who proves his possession of a sufficient elementary knowledge of Russian by obtaining not less than 275 marks (·25 of the total) at one of the examinations held by the Civil Service Commissioners, or passes one of the preliminary examinations in Russian held in India, will be permitted to proceed from England to Russia for a further course of study of the Russian language.

7. After passing the elementary test, and receiving permission to proceed to Russia, he must start from England within a fortnight from the date of the India Office letter conveying such permission unless specially authorised to defer his departure. He must on no account start for Russia until he has received a letter of instructions on the subject from the India Office. No officer on leave on medical certificate will be permitted to proceed to Russia under these rules unless reported fit to do so by the India Office Medical Board.

8. On starting for Russia he will be granted an advance of pay not exceeding 35 days' furlough pay and and also not exceeding 100*l*. Such advance will only be granted to an officer who draws his furlough pay from the India Office, and will be recovered in instalments spread over eight months after his arrival in Russia.

9. Shortly after his arrival in Russia, he shall report to the India Office his address and the date of his entering Russia. Any subsequent change of his address shall likewise be reported. In the case of an officer of the Indian Army he is required to report himself on arrival to the Military Attaché at St. Petersburg, whether he chooses that city or another as his place of residence.

10. Every officer is expected to present himself for final examination twelve months after passing the elementary test; and of those twelve months at least ten must have been spent in Russia.

11. Two months before his final examination, he shall notify to the India Office the address in England to which his order for examination should be sent by the Civil Service Commissioners.

12. On his return to England he shall report to the India Office in writing his arrival and the date of his crossing the Russian frontier on his return. If he left India on medical certificate, he shall apply for permission to appear before the Medical Board at the India Office. He shall not leave Russia, either temporarily or permanently, earlier than fourteen days before the final examination, without obtaining leave of absence for a definite period from the Under-Secretary of State for India.

13. If he succeeds at the final examination in qualifying to be an interpreter in the Russian language, he shall receive a gratuity of 125*l.* and a further consolidated sum of 32*l.* or 42*l.* in repayment of his travelling expenses to and from St. Petersburg or Moscow, as the case may be. The gratuity of 125*l.* shall be paid only in cases where there has been the full term of residence in Russia for the purposes of study. He will also be granted a free passage from England to India; and will be treated with retrospective effect* as an entitled passenger to England or to Russia when first proceeding there. No grant on account of travelling expenses shall be made to an officer who fails to qualify to be an interpreter, but he may earn the gratuity and the consolidated sum for travelling expenses if he succeeds at any subsequent examination in qualifying to be an Interpreter, provided he has not more than 12 years' service at the time of re-examination.

14. If he succeeds in passing a further test five years after qualifying as an Interpreter, he will be entitled to a further gratuity of 75*l.* The syllabus of this further test is the same as that of the interpretership examination, with the omission of items 4, 5 and 6. In order to qualify, 80 per cent. of the total marks or 640 must be obtained. The examination will be carried out in India, and officers will be allowed two chances of requalifying, and two only, and in the event of failure at the second attempt, their names will be removed from the list of Russian Interpreters.

15. Whether successful or not at the final examination, he shall rejoin in India within two months from the date on which it began, unless his leave or furlough extends beyond that period. If, however, his leave has been granted under medical certificate, it will be necessary for him as usual to obtain a certificate that he is in a fit state of health to return to his duty.

16. A member of the Indian Civil Service or a Military Officer subject to the Civil Leave Rules shall be entitled to count as Indian duty for promotion and pension, but not as service for furlough, the period of ten months spent in Russia. The whole time passed in the course of study and until the date of his return to duty in India will be treated as part of the furlough taken, and he will be entitled to the usual furlough pay.

17. A Military Officer in civil employ, but subject to the Leave Rules for the Indian Army, shall be entitled to count as Indian duty for promotion and pension the period spent in Russia, and to draw for such period the equivalent, at the privileged rate of exchange, of the Indian pay and allowances of his rank, and the half staff salary of his substantive appointment; provided that if the sterling amount be less than his leave pay under the Leave Rules for the Indian Army, then leave pay shall be allowed. He will be considered as on leave before arrival in Russia, and from the date of quitting Russia until he rejoins his appointment in India, under the conditions of Regulation 15. The period spent in Russia will not be considered as part of the two years' maximum absence from duty allowable under the Leave Rules for the Indian Army.

18. When an officer who has qualified as an Interpreter in Russian is on leave in England, he may, with the sanction of the Secretary of State for India on the recommendation of the Government of India, be permitted to proceed to Russia to keep up his knowledge of the language; and provided that he remains in Russia at least two months, he will, on his return to London, receive a sum of 32*l.* or 42*l.* in respect of his travelling expenses to and from St. Petersburg or Moscow, as the case may be, and, if desired, he will have his leave extended by two months without prejudice to the advantages accruing under the rules relating to combined leave, if on combined leave.

19. The half-yearly examinations in India are held in January and July, and the names of the officers who are recommended by the Government of India for permission to proceed direct from India to Russia will be communicated to the India Office as soon as the result of the examination is known. The names of the officers who are finally selected will be communicated by the India Office to the Government of India, who will give authority to each officer to take up his residence in Russia, to which country he should proceed about May or November so as to be on the same footing as the officers of his batch who proceed from England. If more than 18 months have elapsed since an officer passed the preliminary test he will be required to undergo a fresh examination before receiving permission to proceed to Russia.

20. The passport of an officer proceeding direct from India to Russia will be issued either by the Governor-General of India, or by the Governor of Madras or of Bombay. The necessary visa should be procured by the officer at Port Said or any other place on the route where there is an accredited Russian Agent.

* i.e., (1) If he came to England from India at his own expense, he will receive, as passage allowance, a return fare at the current rate of the British India Steam Navigation Company.

(2) If he came to England from India as a non-entitled passenger on a transport, he will receive a refund of his messing charges and an entitled passage to India.

(3) If he went from India direct to Russia, he will receive a single fare at the British India Steam Navigation Company's rate from the port of embarkation to Port Said and a sum of £30 or £32 in respect of his travelling expenses from that port to Moscow or St. Petersburg, as the case may be, a sum of £16 or £21 in respect of his travelling expenses from St. Petersburg or Moscow to London, and an entitled passage from England to India.

In any of the three cases he will be entitled to receive, after returning to India, his travelling expenses from his station to the port of embarkation before starting for England.

Simla, the 30th July, 1909.

No. 2823.—The following Despatch from the Secretary of State and the Indian Councils Act, 1909 (Statute 9 Edw. 7, Ch. 4), are published for general information :—

INDIA OFFICE, LONDON,
The 2nd July 1909.

Public,

No. 98.

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General of India in Council.

MY LORD,

I forward for your information a copy of the Indian Councils Act, 1909, which has now received the Royal Assent and become law.

Indian Councils Act, 1909 (Statute 9 Edw. 7, Ch. 4).

2. As the measure during its progress through Parliament was the subject of frequent communications between Your Excellency's Government and myself, it is unnecessary for me to review its provisions. You are no doubt already engaged in considering the action to be taken under it; and I await your proposals, which I hope will be expedited as much as possible.

I have the honour to be,

MY LORD,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble Servant,

MORLEY OF BLACKBURN.

[9 EDW. 7.] INDIAN COUNCILS ACT, 1909. [CH. 4.]

CHAPTER 4.

A.D. 1909.

An Act to amend the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892, and the Government of India Act, 1833.

[25th May 1909.]

Be it enacted by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Amendment of constitution of Legislative Councils.

1.—(1) The additional members of the Councils for the purpose of making laws and regulations (hereinafter referred to as Legislative Councils) of the Governor-General and of the Governors of Fort Saint George and Bombay, and the members of the Legislative Councils already constituted, or which may hereafter be constituted, of the several Lieutenant-Governors of Provinces, instead of being all nominated by the Governor-General, Governor, or Lieutenant-Governor in manner provided by the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892, shall include members so nominated and also members elected in accordance with regulations made under this Act, and references in those Acts to the members so nominated and their nomination shall be construed as including references to the members so elected and their election.

24 & 25 Vict. c. 67.

A.D. 1909.

(2) The number of additional members or members so nominated and elected, the number of such members required to constitute a quorum, the term of office of such members and the manner of filling up casual vacancies occurring by reason of absence from India, inability to attend to duty, death, acceptance of office, or resignation duly accepted, or otherwise, shall, in the case of each such council, be such as may be prescribed by regulations made under this Act:

Provided that the aggregate number of members so nominated and elected shall not, in the case of any Legislative Council mentioned in the first column of the First Schedule to this Act, exceed the number specified in the second column of that schedule.

Constitution and procedure of Executive Councils of Governors of Fort Saint George and Bombay.

2.—(1) The number of ordinary members of the councils of the Governors of Fort Saint George and Bombay shall be such number not exceeding four as the Secretary of State in Council may from time to time direct, of whom two at least shall be persons who at the time of their appointment have been in the service of the Crown in India for at least twelve years.

(2) If at any meeting of either of such councils there is an equality of votes on any question, the Governor or other person presiding shall have two votes or the casting vote.

Power to constitute provincial executive councils.

3.—(1) It shall be lawful for the Governor-General in Council, with the approval of the Secretary of State in Council, by proclamation, to create a council in the Bengal Division of the Presidency of Fort William for the purpose of assisting the Lieutenant-Governor in the executive Government of the province, and by such proclamation:—

(a) to make provision for determining what shall be the number (not exceeding four) and qualifications of the members of the council; and

(b) to make provision for the appointment of temporary or acting members of the council during the absence of any member from illness or otherwise, and for the procedure to be adopted in case of a difference of opinion between a Lieutenant-Governor and his council, and in the case of equality of votes, and in the case of a Lieutenant-Governor being obliged to absent himself from his council from indisposition or any other cause.

(2) It shall be lawful for the Governor-General in Council, with the like approval, by a like proclamation to create a council in any other province under a Lieutenant-Governor for the purpose of assisting the Lieutenant-Governor in the executive government of the province: Provided that before any such proclamation is made a draft thereof shall be laid before each House of Parliament for not less than sixty days during the session of Parliament, and, if before the expiration of that time an address is presented to His Majesty by either House of Parliament against the draft or any part thereof, no further proceedings shall be taken thereon, without prejudice to the making of any new draft.

(3) Where any such proclamation has been made with respect to any province the Lieutenant-Governor may, with the consent of the Governor-General in Council, from time to time, make rules and orders for the more convenient transaction of business in his council, and any order made or act done in accordance with the rules and orders so made shall be deemed to be an act or order of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

(4) Every member of any such council shall be appointed by the Governor-General, with the approval of His Majesty, and shall, as such, be a member of the Legislative Council of the Lieutenant-Governor, in addition to the members nominated by the Lieutenant-Governor and elected under the provisions of this Act.

Appointment of Vice-Presidents.

4. The Governor-General, and the Governors of Fort Saint George and Bombay, and the Lieutenant-Governor of every province respectively shall appoint a member of their respective councils to be Vice-President thereof, and, for the purpose of temporarily holding and executing the office of Governor-General or Governor of Fort Saint George or Bombay and of presiding at meetings of Council in the absence of the Governor-General, Governor, or Lieutenant-Governor, the Vice-President so appointed shall be deemed to be the senior member of Council and the member highest in rank, and the Indian Councils Act, 1861, and sections sixty-two and sixty-three of the Government of India Act, 1833, shall have effect accordingly.

3 & 4 Will. 4. c. 85.

Power to extend business of Legislative Councils.

5. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the Indian Councils Act, 1861, the Governor, General in Council, the Governors in Council of Fort Saint George and Bombay respectively, and the Lieutenant-Governor or Lieutenant-Governor in Council of every province, shall make rules authorising at any meeting of their respective legislative councils the discussion of the annual financial statement of the Governor-General in Council or of their respective local Governments, as the case may be, and of any matter of general public interest, and the asking of questions, under such conditions and restrictions as may be prescribed in the rules applicable to the several councils.

(2) Such rules as aforesaid may provide for the appointment of a member of any such council to preside at any such discussion in the place of the Governor-General, Governor, or Lieutenant-Governor, as the case may be, and of any Vice-President.

(3) Rules under this section, where made by a Governor in Council, or by a Lieutenant-Governor, or a Lieutenant-Governor in Council, shall be subject to the sanction of the Governor-General in Council, and where made by the Governor-General in Council shall be subject to the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council, and shall not be subject to alteration or amendment by the Legislative Council of the Governor-General, Governor, or Lieutenant-Governor.

A.D. 1909.

Power to make regulations.

6. The Governor-General in Council shall, subject to the approval of the Secretary of State in Council, make regulations as to the conditions under which and manner in which persons resident in India may be nominated or elected as members of the Legislative Councils of the Governor-General, Governors, and Lieutenant-Governors and as to the aqualifications for being, and for being nominated or elected, a member of any such council, nd as to any other matter for which regulations are authorised to be made under this Act, and also as to the manner in which those regulations are to be carried into effect. Regula-ations under this section shall not be subject to alteration or amendment by the Legislative Council of the Governor-General.

Laying of proclamations, &c., before Parliament.

7. All proclamations, regulations, and rules made under this Act, other than rules made by a Lieutenant-Governor for the more convenient transaction of business in his council, shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after they are made.

Short title, construction, commencement, and repeal. 32 & 33 Vict. c. 98. 33 & 34 Vict. c. 34. 37 & 38 Vict. c. 91. 4 Edw. 7. c. 26.

8. (1) This Act may be cited as the Indian Councils Act, 1909, and shall be construed with the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892, and those Acts, the Indian Councils Act, 1869, the Indian Councils Act, 1871, the Indian Councils Act, 1874, the Indian Councils Act, 1904, and this Act may be cited together as the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 to 1909.

(2) This Act shall come into operation on such date or dates as the Governor-General in Council, with the approval of the Secretary of State in Council, may appoint, and different dates may be appointed for different purposes and provisions of this Act and for different councils.

On the date appointed for the coming into operation of this Act as respects any Legislative Council, all the nominated members of the council then in office shall go out of office, but may, if otherwise qualified, be renominated or be elected in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(3) The enactments mentioned in the Second Schedule to this Act are hereby repealed to the extent mentioned in the third column of that schedule.

CORPORATION OF CALCUTTA.

NOTICE.

IN compliance with the provisions of section 565 of the Calcutta Municipal Act (III B.C.) of 1899, the following revised draft of bye-laws which the General Committee intend to make under section 559 (26) of the said Act, specifying the manner in which stables, cattle-sheds and cow-houses are to be constructed and connected with Municipal drains, are hereby republished for fresh criticism in supersession of all previous publications.

Any person having any objection to the proposed bye-laws should submit the same in writing to the Chairman of the Corporation on or before 11th September 1909.

The type plan to accompany these bye-laws may be inspected at the Secretary's office on any working day during office hours.

Bye-laws under section 559 (26) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, specifying the manner in which stables, cattle-sheds and cow-houses are to be constructed and connected with the Municipal drains.

1. Every stable, cattle-shed and cow-house which shall be constructed, after the date when these Bye laws come into force, shall conform to the standard type-plans annexed hereto, copies of which can be had on application at the Municipal Office, on payment of a fee of one rupee per copy.

2. Every stable, cattle-shed and cow-house shall be well paved with asphalt, stone, brick-on-edge with cement pointing, flag-stones set in cement, or with some other suitable impervious material, approved by the Chairman. The floor shall incline to a channel or gutter, sloping towards and emptying directly into a gully-pit communicating with a sewer situated immediately outside the stable, cattle-shed or cow-house. In the unsewered area such channel and gutter must drain directly into a cess-pool similarly situated, the contents whereof shall be removable. The slope of the floor shall be so made as to incline away from the heads of cattle, and in the case of floors hereafter constructed accommodating two rows of cattle, to incline outwards.

3. Cess-pools shall be constructed of bricks set in cement and cement plastered, or some other suitable impervious material approved by the Chairman, and shall be so constructed as not to admit rain-water.

4. An open space, of not less than one foot in width, shall be kept open on all sides for light and ventilation below the junction of the eaves and the wall of the building, as shown in the said type-plans, in addition to such other openings as may be required by the Chairman for light and ventilation.

5. Every cow-house shall be provided with an adequate supply of filtered water for the cows to drink, for washing utensils used for milk and for flushing purposes. An adequate supply of unfiltered water shall be provided for flushing purposes, in the case of stables and cattle-sheds, but not of cow-houses, which shall be provided with filtered water only.

6. Every stable, cattle-shed or cow-house shall be provided with a suitable receptacle, protected from the rain, for dung, manure, soil, filth or other offensive or noxious matter which may from time to time be produced in such premises, and such receptacle shall be so constructed that the bottom of floor thereof shall not in any case be lower than the surface of the ground adjoining such receptacle. Such receptacle is to be constructed in such a manner and of such materials, and to be maintained at all times in such a condition, as to prevent any escape of the contents thereof, or any soakage therefrom into the ground or into the wall of any building.

7. On every premises used for milch cows or buffaloes, a separate shed or place shall be provided for the temporary storage of milk and for milk vessels, and no such shed or place shall communicate directly with a cow-house. No such place or shed shall be placed within a distance of 15 feet from a connected privy and 25 feet from any service-privy or urinal.

8. Every stable, cattle-shed and cow-house shall be of one storey only, and there shall be no construction, arrangement or fixture permitting of any lofts or sleeping places, either over the roof of the stable, cattle-shed or cow-house or within the interior over the stalls for horses or cattle. Provided that an upper storey may be erected if the floor thereof is constructed of impervious material to the satisfaction of the Chairman, subject to an appeal to the General Committee in case the Chairman refuses sanction.

9. The interior fittings of a shed shall be so constructed and placed that a clear superficial floor space of at least 40 square feet shall be available for each animal, and there shall be at least five feet clear space laterally for each animal.

10. The walls of every stable, cattle-shed or cow-house shall not be less than 7 feet in height from the level of the floor of the shed up to the junction of the eaves with the walls.

11. Nothing in Rules 1 and 4 to 7 shall apply to stables, cattle-sheds and cow-houses in which the animals are kept otherwise than for sale or hire or for sale of produce thereof.

12. In case of breach of any of the bye-laws the Chairman may give written notice to discontinue such breach.

Every person who shall commit a breach of any of the aforesaid bye-laws shall be liable to a fine which may extend to Rs. 20, and in case of a continuing breach to a fine which may extend to Rs. 10 for every day during which the breach continues after conviction for the first breach, or to a fine which may extend to Rs. 10 for every day during which the breach continues after receipt of written notice from the Chairman to discontinue the breach.

F. F. LYALL, Collector.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estates, situate in the district of Jessore, will be put up to sale at the Jhenida Subdivisional Office on the 30th August 1909, corresponding with the 9th Bhadra 1316 B. S.

The purchasers will be subject to the following conditions of sale:—

Conditions of sale.

1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchasers of these estates will be considered as the proprietors of the estates, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estates will be transferred to them, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the 15th day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or

the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

Proceedings of the Bengal Legislative Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Abstract of the Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, assembled under the provisions of the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892.

THE Council met in the Council Chamber on Tuesday, the 27th July, 1909, at 11 A.M.

Present:

The Hon'ble SIR EDWARD BAKER, K.C.S.I., Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, presiding.
The Hon'ble MR. F. A. SLACKE, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble MR. W. C. MACPHERSON, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble MR. E. W. COLLIN.
The Hon'ble MR. F. W. DUKE.
The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES ALLEN, KT.
The Hon'ble MR. J. G. CUMMING.
The Hon'ble MR. H. WHEELER.
The Hon'ble MR. E. P. CHAPMAN.
The Hon'ble MR. F. L. HALLIDAY, M.V.O., C.I.E.
The Hon'ble MR. E. GEAKE.
The Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI, BAHADUR, M.A., B.L.
The Hon'ble SIR BIJAY MAHTAB, K.C.I.E., MAHARAJADHIRAJA BAHADUR OF BURDWAN.
The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI, M.A., B.L.
The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL.
The Hon'ble MR. M. S. DAS, C.I.E.
The Hon'ble MR. C. W. N. GRAHAM.
The Hon'ble RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR.

THE SAMBALPUR (DELEGATION) BILL, 1909.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke moved that the Bill to authorise the delegation to the Board of Revenue of functions of the Government of Bengal under enactments in force in the district of Sambalpur be taken into consideration.

He said:—"I am not going to propose that this measure should be referred to a Select Committee, because there is nothing in it to necessitate such a proposition."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Slacke also moved that the Bill be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL EXCISE BILL, 1909.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the Excise Law in Bengal be taken into consideration.

He said:—"In moving this amendment, I shall not offer any remark which would anticipate the discussions which must arise on the long list of amendments. I ask leave to explain one matter only which has been perhaps insufficiently explained in the Select Committee's Report. I refer to the consolidation of certain clauses of the Bill which relate to tari, and I may mention that the drafting of the clauses relating to tari has perhaps given more trouble than the drafting of any other clauses of the Bill. Some of the members of the Committee saw the danger of a double duty being imposed on tari under the provisions of the Bill as introduced in Council. To obviate this danger, we first decided that clause 33 of the Bill, as originally introduced, should be taken out, and that necessary provision should be made in the general clauses relating to duty. We then found that we could get into a single clause all that we wanted to say with regard to prohibition of tari in notified areas. We then confined the power of imposing the duty on tari to districts notified under clause 14A (now 14).* I have thought it desirable that this explanation should be on record. I now move, Sir, that the Report be taken into consideration."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"May it please Your Honour, with Your Honour's permission I wish to make a few preliminary remarks on the Report of the Select Committee before it is taken into consideration clause by clause. In welcoming the introduction of the Excise Bill in this Council at its first meeting presided over by Your Honour, I ventured to express a hope that the Select Committee would do its work in a thorough-going spirit. Though much of this hope has been realised, I feel bound to voice the disappointment that the Report of the Committee and the amended Bill have caused in what have come to be termed the Temperance quarters. I concede with the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill that the Select Committee, has, in spite of the high pressure of work that it was called upon to do, much improved the Bill, and that the law we are about to pass will be a great improvement on the present. I further concede that it is impossible to pass a law which will satisfy every one in every respect; but I claim that a reasonable degree of satisfaction should be vouchsafed to the most important interests concerned; and I claim that Revenue interests are not the most important or paramount in this concern. It so happens in the present case that the Revenue side of the Governmental machinery has more than good reason to be fully satisfied, while the "Police" side as one of the Divisional Commissioners aptly puts it—which is really the side of popular interest and the Municipal side of the same machinery—has not half as good reasons to be satisfied.

"The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill in effect admits that temperance views of things have had to be largely ignored—firstly, because it is said that there are no questions on which greater divergence of opinion is to be found than on this temperance question and, secondly, because new principles could not be introduced without entailing reference to the Supreme Government, and we have the naïve admission 'that important modifications in principles or substance in the Select Committee are not many, while the alterations of expressions and arrangements are numerous.' If the present measure has been incubating in some shape or another for fifteen years, as many weeks of mature consideration of the completed form would not be too large a demand; and if such consideration proved the necessity of a fresh reference even for slight concessions in principles, time would indeed have been well spent on it. It is not much of a gratification that some advance has been made on recommendations of the Indian Excise Committee, and that we had to travel to Madras and even to Eastern Bengal for ideals and inspirations, while Bengal materials in their abundance had to be given the go-by to, because reference to the Government of India or the Secretary of State would be needed for their consideration with any degree of fulness.

"The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill congratulated the Select Committee on the measure of unanimity that has been obtained, and has appealed for co-operation and harmonious work in Council. That appeal, and emanating from such a quarter, is hard to resist. I have therefore a delicate, embarrassing and difficult task in inviting the Council to take a view of some aspects of the Bill different from that taken by the Select Committee, and I do not conceal from myself that the task foreshadowed in the amendments of which notice has been given by the non-official Members is more than difficult. I have, however, faith in the justice of the principles involved and in the sense of justice of those whom I appeal to, and I could do no less than bring these matters formally and definitely before the Council as matters of principle and in loyalty to the cause I represent—the cause of absolute protection to the rising generation, whose influence for good and evil is supreme. My task is still more arduous and difficult in the absence of expert representatives of the Temperance cause, who might well have been associated with expert representatives of the Revenue cause on the Council, whose ranks have been strengthened and augmented.

"The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill has told us that no suggestions or recommendations made by public bodies or individuals have been overlooked. I shall have occasion to draw the attention of the Council to some of these; and, having regard to the provisions of the amended Bill, the Hon'ble Member's statement must be taken to mean that many of the pious expressions of opinion and wishes of the good Temperance people have been far too impractical and impossible, and will be so considered at least till the next amendment in another ten years' time or so. No one not having the late Mr. Woodroffe's talents, decision or influence could, under such circumstances, ask for recommittal of the Bill to a Select Committee, as was done five years ago, and also for a reference to the Supreme Government, in the absence of which much of the good work that might otherwise be done would perforce have to be kept back. Even on the question of forms and expressions, efforts to improve which, according to the Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson, represent the bulk of the labours of the Select Committee, there might be plenty of room for consideration, judging from the number of amendments standing to the credit of the Hon'ble Member in charge and other Members of that Committee. If, therefore, I do not urge for reconsideration except in Council, it is not because I do not feel and believe that it is necessary, but because I apprehend and anticipate that such a proposal could not be entertained. It is none the less my duty to ask the Council to say whether unanimous public opinion on temperance matters connected with the Bill should not receive better, further and greater consideration than the Select Committee has thought fit or been able to accord to them. Such opinion, focussed in the excellent précis that has been circulated and which has, I am thankful to say, much lightened our work, makes it clear that the provisions of clause 21 (now 22) are too wide; that children should neither vend nor consume excisable articles—I am assuming that the innocent and refreshing Khejur Ras will not continue to be excisable—till they have attained at least legal majority; that women should not be allowed to vend either country or foreign liquor; that Municipal interest in the number and location of shops should be safeguarded; that statutory provisions for licensing Committees or at least Advisory Boards should be made; that licensing functions should not be in the sole control of the Revenue officials; that restrictions as to sites near factories, mills, bathing ghats, markets, etc., should be enforced in the law itself; that the power to compound offences should not be left with Excise Officials—at least below a certain grade; and that the administrative and rule-making powers under clauses 79 and 80 (now 85 and 86) and, I would also add clause 8 (now 7), should not be so wide, extensive and summary. Some of these opinions, Sir, are, I am glad and encouraged to find, shared by Divisional Commissioners and District Magistrates and by European and Anglo-Indian Associations of repute and standing, not wholly chargeable with Temperance shortcomings. And yet they have found no acceptance. If such a body of unanimous and influential opinion fails to make any impression on the Legislature, the chances of similar opinion appreciably influencing rule-making under the law are somewhat remote. In most of the matters I have drawn your attention to, the majority of the Select Committee, which must be taken as the official majority, have overruled and outvoted the non-official minority. Seeing that not a single reform has been passed that would affect Revenue (although quite a number of beneficial changes have undoubtedly been introduced, as I am free to admit), I venture to submit that the Council should give legislative sanction to some at least of the matters that the Select Committee has overruled and which would not absolutely involve a reference to the Government of India.

"This, Sir, is one of the last, but one of the most important, measures dealt with by the Council under existing conditions, and if, for pressing administrative reasons the nature of which has not been made apparent, it could not be held over till the new order of things comes into vogue next cold weather, let there at least be no room for the comment that the most fundamental root principles of Local Self-Government could not be vouchsafed a few short weeks before a larger and more important measure was granted. If a downright licensing Board is much too large a measure to begin with, let us at all events have an elastic Advisory Board, the frame of which will entirely be in the discretion of the Government, but which will give people a greater share of responsibility which is always and inseparably associated with power. In spite of the high authority that has been claimed for the sentiment to the contrary, public opinion is emphatic that local option in the sense understood elsewhere is not impracticable in this country in carefully-selected areas and under proper and well-defined conditions. The 'confusion, class tyranny and consequential serious political effects' predicated of the development of even restricted principles of local option are merely an Excise, if not excisable, aspect of things. Such 'class tyranny,' as it is termed, is known and tolerated in the most advanced and civilized countries, even where the 'poor man's beer' is supposed to be a downright necessity, but has nowhere operated prejudicially in the manner apprehended. Why should it do so in a country in which among the most numerous, influential and important communities like the Muhammadans and Hindus, who generally congregate in well-defined areas in and outside townships, drink is at best considered a superfluous and baneful luxury?"

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

He said:—"If you, Sir, see no objection, and if the Council have no objection, I would ask that identical amendments may be discussed and voted on together, and cognate amendments may be discussed together, and, if necessary, voted on separately. Under Rule 12 of the Rules of Business of the Council, I understand that it is usual for the Member in charge of the Bill to rise in his place to reply to the mover of an amendment at once, and I would ask that I may be permitted to defer my remarks in reply to an amendment until both movers of an identical amendment have spoken.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The proposal of the Hon'ble Member is quite in accordance with the practice of the Council, and unless any Hon'ble Member at any time objects, I think it may be agreed to.

"There are two identical and one cognate amendments. Numbers 5 and 7, standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal and in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, are identical, and No. 6, standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, is a consequential amendment. Unless those Hon'ble Members have any objection, these three can be discussed together."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 2.

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

(5) The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal to move that the words "or unfermented", in sub clause (19) (now 20) of clause 2 of the Bill be omitted.

(6) If the last foregoing amendment be carried, also to move that the words "up to a limit of four seers, for the domestic consumption of the said person," be omitted from the proviso to clause 14 (now 13) of the Bill and from other clauses of the Bill, wherever they occur.

(7) The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "or unfermented", in sub-clause (19) (now 20) of clause 2 of the Bill, be omitted.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"This is by no means a new amendment which I have the honour to move. An exactly similar amendment was moved and discussed in this Council in 1882, although the unanimity of all the non-official members failed to carry it. In the face of this depressing circumstance I have dared to raise this question again in the hope that in these days of progressive administration neither the Government nor the Legislature will cling to the traditions of the past, but will give it the support that it deserves. Tari, properly speaking, is fermented juice of the date or the palmyra and in this sense it is understood in this country. In its unfermented state the juice is known by the name of khejur ras or tal ras, as the case may be. It is an article of food and drink which is much cherished by the people. In the words of an eminent medical authority, quoted some time ago in this Council, 'it is a cool and refreshing drink, often recommended for its diuretic properties to those labouring under urinary diseases.' It would not have been difficult for me to convince my European colleagues of the refreshing and non-inebriating quality of this excellent beverage if they had once tasted it. The only objection that may be urged to the acceptance of this amendment is, that it would be difficult to make a distinction between fermented and unfermented juice. But as a matter of fact the Excise Department has been able to make such a distinction in the issue of license for the sale of fermented and unfermented juice. And tari is classified in the Excise report under two heads—fermented and unfermented. It would be thus seen that the Excise Department has already drawn a broad distinction between the unfermented juice and the fermented tari. I am afraid we have no moral right to tax the fresh juice which nature has given us, and which is both agreeable to the taste and beneficial for health.

"If khjur or tal ras is taxed because it generally gets fermented within eight or ten hours' time, what will be said of pántá bhát or stale rice which ferments if kept for some time and turns into pachwai? Would the Legislature, therefore, tax pántá bhát in order to prevent the possibility of the production of pachwai? Looked at from the point of view of temperance, the amendment which I have moved should be accepted. In the Bill provision has been made for exemption of tari for domestic consumption up to a limit of four seers from the operation of the Excise law. Now as tari includes both fermented and unfermented juice, the law unintentionally affords an opportunity to a person to get drunk by consuming four seers of fermented tari. If my amendment is accepted, this clause may be safely and justly omitted, as I hold it should not in any way be made easy for any person to get intoxicated. Again, four seers of unfermented juice is quite inadequate for a family for its domestic consumption. The quantity allowed ought to be reasonable and for each head of the members of the family. But all these difficulties will disappear if unfermented juice is excluded from the category."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"Sir, I do not wish to add many remarks to those that have fallen from the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal in supporting the amendment which is also mine, and I wish only to observe that, by placing unfermented juice within the category of excisable articles, we are only adding to the possibilities of the outturn and consumption of fermented liquor being much more on the increase than would otherwise be possible. I remember in my early days, the old familiar khejur-ras cry in the lanes and streets of Calcutta, which the young ones in those days used to look forward to with great gusto and zest, and which has practically disappeared, as Hon'ble Members acquainted with the northern part of the town will be able to testify, because of the limits that the law has thought fit to place on the consumption of khejur ras or tal ras, as the case may be. People trafficking in that article would much rather take to the sale of fermented liquor, which is more paying and less risky for the vendors to handle under the conditions of the Excise Department, and the result is that the consumption of unfermented liquor is less and less every day as the trifling duty realized in respect of it shows, and that which used to be consumed with great relish and benefit as the unfermented juice has by force to be treated and sold as fermented liquor because it will not keep for more than a few hours. Therefore, in the desire to keep down the consumption of this really excisable article, tari which, I admit, is a very commendable desire, the rules now in force practically make it possible for unfermented liquor to be consumed in large quantities. As another Member has observed, four seers is far too small an allowance for families in villages, specially those that have their own private trees, and selling what may not be required for household purposes, which finds its way into towns and cities. The result will be that even in those households where unfermented liquor would ordinarily be used, where fermented liquor would on no account be taken, there is a great deal of avoidable waste, because the surplus cannot be disposed of with that facility and that profit that used to be commanded in former days. I do not know, Sir, if there is at all any object in continuing the inclusion of unfermented juice in the category of excisable articles, excepting that it is difficult to deal differentially between the two articles, but such treatment is already in vogue, and, with a few more safeguards, this innocent beverage may be put out of bounds and the enjoyment of a considerable portion of the community would be enhanced. I would therefore ask, Sir, that the words "or unfermented", in sub-clause (19) (now 20) of clause 2 of the Bill, be omitted.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said :—"Would the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill care to make any remarks ?"

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said :—"I will reserve my remarks."

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said :—"It has just been brought to the notice of this Council that the Excise Department in its working differentiates the two kinds of tari—fermented and unfermented. This was not brought to the notice of the Select Committee. I do not know yet how they differentiate the two. I should be the last person to advocate any Excise law which is based on no higher principle than revenue consideration, and certainly, Sir, anything which has been found to be used among the people as an article of food, an innocent drink, should not be brought within the purview of the Excise law. In the case of tari, the definition includes unfermented and fermented juice. I was one of the persons who accepted this regulation, and I do it even now for this reason that it is extremely difficult for the Excise Department to control the consumption of this thing, because unfermented tari becomes fermented after a short time. Now, how long should it be outside the Excise law? When should it be taken under the control of the Excise Department? As the great object of all Excise legislation should be to have control over the use of such things or articles which are used as intoxicating substances, if there is any difficulty in exercising that control, certainly that control should have prominence over every other consideration. I should have been glad if the Hon'ble Member who wants to distinguish the unfermented from the fermented had thrown out some hints of a practical nature which would have been of help to the Excise Department to exercise the necessary control over this excisable article.

The Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI, BAHADUR, said:—"Your Honour,—I fully sympathise with the spirit which has actuated two Hon'ble colleagues to propose that the unfermented tari should be kept completely out of the purview of the Excise law. The Excise law as its preamble says has to deal only with intoxicating liquors and intoxicating drinks. As has been already told at this Council, the unfermented tari is in no sense an intoxicating liquor, but a cooling beverage, and I am sure it will appeal to the taste of even the most out and out teetotallers. Logically, therefore, it should not find a place in the Excise law of this country; but, Sir, when this question was debated upon in the Select Committee, the Hon'ble Member who represented the Excise Department of Your Honour's Government pointed out that there would be serious administrative and practical difficulties to exercise adequate control over the fermented tari, without at the same time bringing the unfermented tari under control. It is a well-known fact, as has been observed by my hon'ble friend, Mr. Das, that unfermented tari changes quickly, and almost without the necessity of subjecting to any process, (? a fermented condition,)it is also known that the sap, when it is drawn from the tari-producing trees, are (sic) in the first instance sweet tari. Under these circumstances it would require extraordinary vigilance on the part of the Excise officers to mark the process of transition from the unfermented to the fermented condition. Besides that, Sir, a reference to the annual Excise Reports will show that the aggregate duty annually collected in respect of sweet tari hardly in any year amounted to Rs. 1,000, indicating thereby the very small proportion of the sap which is consumed in its sweet condition. Having regard, therefore, to these practical difficulties, I cannot agree that the unfermented tari should not be kept under the control of the Excise Department, though I most sincerely support the idea that it should be made entirely duty free. On these grounds, Sir, I am not prepared to go the length of the Hon'ble Member's proposal to exclude unfermented tari from the definition of the word 'tari.'"

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I cannot accept these amendments, Sir. The reasons which were held to be conclusive in this Council in the years 1878 and 1882, when discussions occurred on similar motions for exception of the unfermented juice of the palm from the Excise law, had reference, not so much, as the two first speakers assert, to the difficulty of distinguishing between the fermented and the unfermented juice, as to considerations to which the two later speakers referred. It was shown by the Hon'ble Muhammad Yusuf in the debates of 1882 that unfermented tari has been an excisable article since the passing of Regulatipn I of 1808. Secondly, as stated by the Hon'ble Mr. Das and the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur, it would be impossible to control the use of fermented tari if unfermented tari be excepted from restriction. Neither, Sir, is it at all the case that revenue comes into consideration. The whole revenue derived from unfermented tari in this province is less than Rs. 1,000 a year as against a revenue of about 12 lakhs from fermented tari. I would refer the Members of the Council to a very interesting chapter relating to tari in the Indian Excise Committee's Report, 1905-06. It is stated in this Report that it is only in Bengal and Madras that any concession of freedom from taxation is given to tappers who desire to get and possess unfermented juice. In Madras the concession is coupled with a proviso that the pots used for holding the tari must be coated with lime in order to prevent fermentation.

Bengal is the province of India most free from restrictions in this matter of tapping and possessing the unfermented juice of the palm. Even with regard to sugar, it appears that in Madras the enforcement of what are known as the 'Sweet Toddy Rules' hampers the sugar manufacture by efforts made to keep the sweet juice under control, whereas in Bengal the manufacture of date sugar is entirely free from control. There is no intention of interfering with the date sugar industry in Bengal. For domestic consumption in Bengal owners are allowed to possess 4 seers of juice, fermented or unfermented, as they please; owners may also dispose of the juice of their trees to licensed vendors. The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal has performed what I may describe as a hereditary and filial duty in moving an amendment of this nature, for it was his father, the Hon'ble Babu Kristo Das Pal, who twice brought before the Council this question of exempting the unfermented juice of the palm from the provisions of the Excise Act; but, Sir, on two previous occasions, as I have said, the Council confirmed the policy of the Government, which is practically directed in this matter entirely in the interests of temperance."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said :—"Your Honour,—It is quite true that the matter was discussed in the years 1875 and 1882 and it is also a fact that unfermented tari has been an excisable article since 1808; but, Sir, as was pointed out at the time by the Hon'ble Member referred to, it was nominally under control, and unfermented juice was practically left out of excise operation. Then, Sir, it was also pointed out, and I believe, the practice is still in existence, that separate licenses were issued for unfermented juice. The alleged difficulty which was urged in 1875 and 1882, and which is urged on the present occasion, is that the Department would not be able to distinguish between fermented and unfermented tari. But, Sir, the difficulty is more imaginary than real; as I have pointed out, separate licenses were issued for the sale of unfermented tari, and in the Excise Report, as has been said by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, tari is classified under two heads—fermented and unfermented, the revenue from the latter being very small. All these facts show that it is not at all difficult to distinguish between the fermented and unfermented juice. Tari is only a misnomer for unfermented juice. When it is fermented it is called tari; that is the popular meaning of the word tari. Then, Sir, I am not a little surprised at the observations of my hon'ble friend, Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur, although I appreciate his sympathy with the motion. The British Indian Association, which is an influential and enlightened body of landholders, also objected to the inclusion of the unfermented juice in the definition of 'tari.' I do not know whether my hon'ble friend's views embody personal opinion, but this much I can say, that the views I have just expressed represent the opinion of that eminent public body, the British Indian Association, to which I have the honour to belong.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said :—"Is the Hon'ble Member certain that on the present occasion the British Indian Association have taken that view?"

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said :—"I regret, Your Honour, I have not been able to lay my hands on it at present, but I know this is the view of the British Indian Association, and it has been expressed over and over again. Sir, I may say in conclusion that the views which I have expressed in this Council before Your Honour is the view taken by the community to which I have the honour to belong. I do not think my hon'ble friend, Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur, has sufficiently emphasised that view. Sir, if it is practicable, which I humbly submit it is, to exclude unfermented juice from the definition of tari, it will release an innocent beverage, which is much enjoyed by the poor people, from the category of taxation."

Motions 5 and 7 were put and lost.

The said motions having been lost, motion No. 6 was not put.

Clause 5.

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the following proviso be added after sub-clause (1) of clause 5 of the Bill, namely:—

Provided that such limit shall not exceed three reputed quart bottles in the case of country spirit and four seers in the case of tari.

He said:—"The Select Committee observes in regard to this clause that the varying requirements of different parts of the province are a sufficient reason for not prescribing the limits in the Bill itself. Sir, this discretion was left in the present Act to the authorities, and the limit by the Board of Revenue rose from time to time made it possible for 12 bottles to be sold in ail ret, and the Calcutta Committee reduced it to 6 bottles, which is also very large. This large limit encourages illicit sales of liquor the whole night without fear of detection, and is an important factor in encouraging drunkenness. I would invite Your Honour's attention to paragraph 251 of the Indian Excise Committee's Report, and it will be seen that the statutory limit prescribed in Act XII of 1896 was only one quart bottle of country spirit and four seers of tari, which are the words of my amendment. The Excise Committee, after discussing the question, observed that, in most distillery districts, the limit can be reduced to one reputed quart bottle, and in some more remote outstill tracts it may be necessary for the present to allow the sale of as much as three bottles at a time. Having regard to these observations, the Government may well object to the proposed limit, which is large enough not to cause any sort of inconvenience in the administration. It must be noted that public feeling on this point is very strong, and the increased consumption and the consequent increase of drunkenness are chiefly ascribed to this limit of retail sale or possession, as also the auction system. The words of my amendment make a limitation with regard to tari also. Unfortunately, unfermented juice continues to remain within the category of tari, but that will not make me think that an unlimited consumption ought to be allowed in the case of the fermented article. A limitation ought certainly to be put down, and four seers of real tari is quite a liberal limitation with regard to the fermented article, whatever may be the case with regard to the unfermented juice, which is no more tari than it is beer or water. For these reasons, Sir, I move the amendment which stands to my name."

Clause 8 (now 7).

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson moved that, in sub-clause (d) of clause 8 (now 7, of the Bill, for the words "assigned to any officer under clause (c) of this section" the following be substituted, namely:—

assigned by or under this Act to any officer appointed under clause (c) of this section.

" He said:—This amendment is proposed, because I am advised that the amending words have a wider effect in enabling the Local Government to invest officers of departments other than Excise with all or any powers or duties of Excise officers. It is intended to take the fullest power for Government to assign powers and duties of Excise officers to officers of other departments, for instance in the police, or salt or customs department."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I cannot accept this amendment. In the first place, it is to be remembered that country spirit is of varying strength, ranging from the strength of ordinary beer to the strength of ordinary whiskey. Again the present limits of retail sale of country spirits vary with the conditions of the different districts. "From the point of view of existing uniformity, there is more to be said in favour of having a single retail limit of four seers in the case of tari, but here, too, some elasticity is required. So far as regards tari, it is likely that four seers will remain the limit of retail sale in ordinary cases. Hon'ble Members will have noticed that clause 5 speaks of placing a limit on retail sale as regards purchasers generally or any specified class of purchasers. Now, take the class of bakers of bread. It may be desirable for the Board to allow a larger limit of retail sale in the case of bakers of bread than in the case of the ordinary purchaser. I am informed that in Calcutta a baker of bread sometimes requires as much as 20 and 30 seers of tari a day. "For these reasons, Sir, I would oppose the amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The next three amendments are in the alternative. They stand in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari. If the Hon'ble Member agrees, they may be discussed together and voted on separately."

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

10. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that sub-clause (e) of clause 8 (now 7) of the Bill be omitted.

11. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move that the words "the Commissioner of a Division or the Excise Commissioner" be omitted from sub-clause (e) of clause 8 (now 7) of the Bill.

12. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move that for the words "the Commissioner of a Division or the Excise Commissioner," in sub-clause (e) of clause 8 (now 7) of the Bill, the words "or the Commissioner of a Division" be substituted.

13. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari also to move that sub-clause (g) of clause 8 (now 7) of the Bill be omitted.

14. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move that the words "the Commissioner of a Division, the Excise Commissioner or the Collector", and the words "or him," be omitted from sub-clause (g) of clause 8 (now 7) of the Bill.

15. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move that for the words "the Commissioner of a Division, the Excise Commissioner or the Collector", in sub-clause (g) of clause 8 (now 7) of the Bill, the words "or the Commissioner of a Division" be substituted.

16. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move that for the words "the Excise Commissioner or the Collector", in sub-clause (g) of clause 8 (now 7) of the Bill, the words "or the Excise Commissioner" be substituted.

He said:—"As the amendments appear on the paper, I need not read them out, and all that I desire to say with reference to the amendments is, that the power of delegation contained in these provisions, are far too wide even in these days of decentralisation. The Bill gives the Local Government enormous authority in clauses 3, 10, 12, 14, 14A, 18(3), 21, 26 and 28 [now 3, 9, 11, 13, 14, 19(4), 22, 27 and 29]. As the Bill originally stood, delegation as regards rule-making was also contemplated, so great was the desire for delegation but that has been left out by the Select Committee. The result of working sub-clauses (e) and (g) of clause 8 (now 7) together will be that the Board, the Commissioner of a Division, even a Collector will be able to delegate any one of these large powers to any person or class of persons that may be specified. I quite recognise, Sir, that Government Notification will lay down some conditions as to the person or class of persons to whom these powers will be delegated which will be some safeguard; but when the delegation comes so low down as the Collector, it may be questioned as to whether the limits of expediency may not be exceeded. I do not anticipate that the amendment will be successful, but I would offer one suggestion, and that is to keep the clause as it stands, and leave out the Collector. To this probably the objection would not be so great."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"That question does not arise in regard to the clauses we are discussing."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The Hon'ble Member, I think, is referring now not merely to the amendments 11 and 12, but also to the next group of amendments, 13, 14, 15 and 16. It is in sub-clause (g) that the Collector comes."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"I beg Your Honour's pardon. I thought Your Honour's direction was to deal with them all. Perhaps that would be more convenient, for anything I may have to say will apply to both the sub-clauses (e) and (g)."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I quite agree, and we will take them together."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"As the delegation to or by the Board, the Commissioner of a Division or the Excise Commissioner is strongly insisted on by the Hon'ble Member in charge, I would respectfully ask him to consider whether he would not draw the line at the Collector in clause 8 (now 7) and confine the delegation, both as regards the power and the power to delegate, to the Commissioner. I do not know, Sir, whether in this connection it is necessary to notice recent observations in the Press with regard to the likely abolition of the Board which was referred to in another connection namely the Sambalpur Bill, and whether there may not be difficulties in regard to the delegations by the Board. I saw it noticed in the Press and I thought it might be mentioned. The principal thing that I have urged on the Hon'ble Member in charge is, as to whether he would agree to leave out the Collector, though I do not expect that it will be accepted."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I understand, Sir, we are discussing amendments 10 to 16 together. I regret that I am not able to advise the Council to accept any of these amendments, which fall into two groups, viz. (1) with regard to delegation of powers of Government, and (2) with regard to delegation of powers of the Board, the Commissioner and the Collector. The existing Bengal Act, which has been described as a restricting Act, does not provide for delegation of the powers of Government at all. The Madras Act, which is to a large extent a permissive, or enabling, Act, gives power to the Governor in Council to delegate to any officer all or any of his powers. Our Bill falls far short of such an extension of powers as this. So far as regards delegation by the Board, the Commissioner of a Division, or the Excise Commissioner, power is taken under clause 79(b) [now 85(b)] of the Bill to make rules regarding delegation of powers, that is to say, the Local Government would restrict delegation. We cannot foresee, Sir, how exactly in the future it will be expedient to exercise administrative or executive powers. I see no reason for such distrust of the Government and subordinate authorities as would assume that unwise delegation of powers and duties is likely to be made. These are days in which decentralisation is called for; and; if we do not take powers under this Act to delegate and to decentralize, it is quite certain that those who come after us will have to provide for requirements by passing a Decentralising or Delegating Act."

All these motions were put and lost.

Clause 14 (now 13).

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari also moved that the words "a day" be inserted after the word "seers" in proviso (ii) to clause 14 (now 13) of the Bill.

He said :—"I hope it will appeal to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, if I want to make the limitation more distinct and more definite. A real check would be placed upon consumption if we were to lay down some limitation that applied to the whole 24 hours, otherwise it would be possible for the consumption of four seers to take place while another four seers is brewing, and so on all day, and the limitation would practically come to nothing, and an unlimited supply would be possible to be consumed."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would not accept this amendment, Sir. We are discussing clause 14 (now 13), which relates to manufacture. It does not appear to me that the amendment suggested would help the position. We have to look to the provisions of clause 17 (now 18) in this connection. The owner may only possess for domestic consumption to the limit of 4 seers; so it is clear that he will only be able to tap up to that amount at any one time for domestic consumption. The proviso to which the Hon'ble Member draws our attention was added by the Select Committee, because it was said that, though permission had been given to an owner to possess tari, he had not been protected in respect of manufacture, that is, in respect of tapping and drawing. That was the reason for the addition of the proviso by the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"The only thing I wish to point out, Sir, is that in clause 17 (now 18), I have suggested a similar addition, and if the amendment was accepted, a real limitation would have been placed on consumption as well as on tapping."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 14A (now 14).

The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal moved that, in sub-clause (1) of clause 14A (now 14) of the Bill, the words "Subject to provisoes (i) and (ii) of section 14" be substituted for the words "Notwithstanding anything contained in the proviso to section 14."

He said :—"Your Honour—Clause 14 (now 13) provides that no license is necessary for drawing tari by the person in possession of the tree, if it be for the purpose of using it in the manufacture of gur or molasses, or for domestic consumption up to a limit of four seers, but the very next clause, namely, 14A (now 14), takes away that statutory right. True, the Local Government has discretionary power to take away or retain it, and I have no doubt that this discretion will be wisely exercised, but it is not at all fair to take with one hand what has been given with the other. A very important indigenous industry, the manufacture of sugar, depends on the sap of the date and the palmyra. This industry will be greatly hampered if any restriction is imposed on the use of tari. Again, no person in possession of a tree shall be at liberty to use for domestic consumption, any quantity of khejur ras, however small. I believe this is not the intention of the Government, and therefore I beg to move the amendment which stands in my name."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said :—"I do not accept this amendment, Sir. I said that there was no intention of interfering with the sugar industry. Nor is there any immediate intention of even experimentally introducing clause 14A into any district in which the date sugar industry is practised. When any area is notified under clause 14A power will exist under sub-clause (3) to declare that its provisions shall not apply to trees tapped under such conditions as may be prescribed. I submit that this is a sufficient provision."

The motion was put and lost.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson, by leave of the President, withdrew the following motions of which he had given notice, namely :—

(19) that clause 16 (now 17) of the Bill be omitted,

(76) that sub-clause (f) [now (h)] and the word "or," at the end of sub-clause (ee) [now (g)] of clause 51 (now 46) of the Bill, be omitted.

He said:—"It was suggested to me that clause 16 (now 17) of the Bill was surplusage on the ground that clause 11 (now 10), read with the definition of the word 'transport,' covers the whole ground. But on further consideration, and specially after considering the definition of the word 'place' in the definition clause, it seems to me that there may be some doubt whether it would be safe to omit clause 16 (now 17). I therefore ask leave to withdraw this amendment and also the consequential amendment of clause 51 (now 46), which is No. 76 on the Notice paper.

Clauses 17, 18 and 19 (now 18, 19 and 20).

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

20. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the following words be added at the end of sub-clause (d) of clause 17 (now 18) of the Bill, namely:—

or kept in bond, pledge or hypothecation for valuable consideration.

22. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari also to move that the following be inserted after sub-clause (b) of clause 18 (now 19) of the Bill, namely:—

(bb) any foreign liquor which is kept in bond, pledge or hypothecation for valuable consideration.

25. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari also to move that the following be added at the end of clause 19 (now 20) of the Bill, namely:—

or (d) the sale of foreign liquor or country liquor by a person in possession of the same, when such possession has been acquired by virtue of any bond, pledge or hypothecation for valuable consideration.

He said:—"The principle involved in these three amendments is the same. All that I am aiming at in these amendments is to give some protection to those who, in the ordinary course of business, have advanced money on stock like this, either by way of bond, or by way of pledge or hypothecation. I seek to add the words "for valuable consideration" in order to have a proper safeguard against misuse of the protection of the provisions. People who possess liquors for consumption and buy for such purposes, will under certain circumstances mentioned in this section, have reasonably enough been afforded some relief, but these reasons apply in an equal degree to those who, in the course of business, may have advanced money, and ought to have a certain amount of protection of the kind that I indicate in my amendment. Of course, the matter will have to be safeguarded but if we insist upon this being permissible only in the case of a bond being of valuable consideration, all reasonable safeguards will be provided."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would not recommend that these three amendments be accepted. It would not be safe to protect hypothecation of excisable articles. The Bill only protects the sale of liquor when it is made in accordance with clause 19 (now 20). Before any person takes in bond or in hypothecation, he should seek the permission of the Collector. The Collector can give authority when he thinks proper, under sub-clause (2) (c) of clause 17 (now 18). I would recommend, therefore, Sir, that these three amendments should not be accepted by the Council."

The motions were put and lost.

Clause 17 (now 18).

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, by leave of the President, withdrew the following motion of which he had given notice, namely:—

that the words "a day" be inserted after the word "seers" in sub-clause (g) of clause 17 (now 18) of the Bill.

Clause 18 (now 19).

The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal moved that to sub-clause (1) of clause 18 (now 19), of the Bill, the following be added, namely :—

or (e) tari, up to a limit of four seers, when in the possession of the person possessing the tree from which it was drawn and intended to be used for his domestic consumption.

He said:—"By this amendment I propose to exempt tari up to limit of 4 seers for domestic consumption from the operation of sub-clause (1) of clause 18 (now 19), which provides that no person shall possess any excisable article in excess of the maximum limit fixed by the Board for retail sale of that article. I will omit sub-clause (d) with your permission."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would not accept this amendment, Sir. I think it has been moved in misunderstanding. Clause 18 (now 19) refers to the possession of excisable articles in excess of such limit as the Board has laid down for retail sale. The clause which refers to the possession of excisable articles not obtained from a licensed vendor is clause 17 (now 18), and in 17 (e) [now 18(e)] we have such a provision as the Hon'ble Member would wish to insert in 18 (now 19). Nothing would be gained by making such an addition to 18 (now 19)."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL also moved that to sub-clause (3) of clause 18 [now sub-clause (4) of clause 19] of the Bill the following be added, namely :—

Provided that no such prohibition shall apply to—

(a) tari intended to be used in the manufacture of gur or molasses, or

(b) tari intended to be used in the manufacture of bread by a person holding a permit to use tari for that purpose, or

(c) tari, up to a limit of four seers, when in the possession of the person possessing the tree from which it was drawn and intended to be used for domestic consumption.

He said:—"Sub-clause (3) of clause 18 [now sub-clause (4) of clause 19] gives the Local Government absolute power to prohibit any person to possess any excisable article in any quantity. With whatever powers the Local Government may be vested in this respect, these powers should not be extended over tari intended to be used for the manufacture of gur, the manufacture of bread, and up to the limit of four seers for domestic consumption. I believe it is the acknowledged principle of the Bill not to interfere with tari in these respects, and I hope that on this principle this amendment will be accepted."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I submit, Sir, that the amendment is unnecessary. The object of this sub clause (3) of clause 18 [now 19 (4)], as the Notes on Clauses tells us, is to obtain the necessary control over excisable articles, and to enable special measures of restriction to be taken in the case of cocaine and other intoxicating drugs. It is not reasonable to suppose that Government will use the power given by the sub-clause to nullify concessions which have been allowed for many years in favour of tari."

The motion was then put and lost.

New clause.

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the following be inserted after clause 19 (now 20) of the Bill, namely :—

Sale of foreign liquor and country liquor in the same premises.

19A. The Local Government may, by notification, declare that in any specified area, foreign liquor and country liquor shall not be sold in the same premises by a license-holder.

He said:—"This class of mixed license sometimes means a great abuse, and country liquor is turned into foreign liquor which is hurtful from more points of view than one, and is certainly injurious to revenue. The sale of country and foreign liquor on the same premises leads to abuses of other descriptions, places temptations in the way of poor people who, though accustomed to and seeking none other than the cheap and comparatively harmless country liquor, may not in time be quite content with the humble country product, and will gradually go on to the more expensive and more injurious foreign liquor, particularly if a result facilitated an undetected adulteration it be offered cheap. For both these considerations I ask that power may be reserved to Government, which may be exercised with caution, that in certain specified areas, foreign and country liquors should not be sold on the same premises. Of course, I am quite alive to the fact, Sir, that in some instances it may lead to a multiplicity of licenses, if different shops for the sale of foreign and country liquor are to be provided in the same area. But I believe that proper care and consideration of the requirements of the locality would enable the authorities to know at once as to whether shops of a particular kind are likely to be wanted there or not, and if there is any objection, this restriction, for the reasons I seek to anticipate, will not come into force; but there are areas where such a restriction would be helpful."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I do not advise the Council to accept this amendment. It does not seem to me that it would really help the cause of temperance. Government will have the power to regulate licensing and to forbid the vend of the two liquors on the same premises under the general power given by clause 79 (now 85), and in particular by sub-clause 79 (2) (j) [now 85 (2) (f)]. The separation of the vend of foreign and country liquor had the approval of the Indian Excise Committee and the Government of India; and the vend of the two liquors on the same premises is not allowed in the Mufassil in Bengal. The Committee which sat in Calcutta two years ago reported that it was impossible to separate the vend completely in Calcutta without increasing the total number of licensed houses. But a great deal has been since done in reducing the number of conjoint licenses, and the policy of the department is directed to this end, though for the reason given by the Calcutta Committee, it may be some time before the end is completely secured in Calcutta. I oppose the amendment not from any hostility to the principle of the separation of the vends, but because I think that the hands of Government would be rather weakened than strengthened by putting such a permissive provision into the law, which otherwise gives Government complete authority to do what is aimed at."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 20 (now 21).

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson moved that the words "and no exclusive privilege under section 21 in respect of country liquor," in clause 20 (now 21) of the Bill, be omitted.

He said:—This clause repairs the Commanding Officer in a cantonment to be consulted with regard to licenses and exclusive privilege. "I move this amendment, Sir, because while it seems to me quite right that a Commanding Officer, say, at Dinapore, or Barrackpore, should be consulted before any license for the sale of liquor within the limits of his cantonment is given, it would seem unnecessary to obtain the previous consent of the Commanding Officer before a contract is made for the supply of spirit, say, for the Patna district or the 24-Parganas district."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 21 (now 22).

The Hon'ble the President said:—"The next three amendments—two standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari and one in the name of the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur, cover much the same ground, and with the consent of the Hon'ble Members they may be discussed together and put to the vote separately."

The following motions were discussed together, namely :—

28. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarvadhikari to move that sub-clause (d) of clause 21 (now 22) of the Bill be omitted.

29. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prosad Sarbadhikari also to move that sub-clause (e) of clause 21 (now 22) of the Bill be omitted.

30. The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur to move that sub-clauses (d) and (e) of clause 21 (now 22) of the Bill be omitted.

The HON'BLE BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"I beg to move, Sir, both the amendments standing in my name. I adopt the arguments of my friends, the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami and Radha Charan Pal, contained in their notes of dissent, and I do not wish to take up the time of the Council by repeating them."

The HON'BLE RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI BAHADUR said :—" I have already, Sir, submitted my views in my note of dissent. I shall follow up by reminding the Council that the Anglo-Indian Association and the Calcutta Corporation have expressed the same opinion. Within a brief compass the former has put the case very forcibly, and I take the liberty to read it. The restriction which is now proposed, namely, to separate the vend from the manufacture of liquor, will, I believe, not prejudice the Excise administration nor lead to practical difficulties of any kind."

The HON'BLE MR. MACPHERSON said :—" This is a somewhat technical matter, Sir. Objection is taken to clause 21 (now 22), first, because it is said that it does not sufficiently provide for separation of manufacture from vend, and, secondly, because it does not require Government to obtain local opinion before grant of an exclusive privilege. With regard to the second point, my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, has an amendment (No. 31) to which we shall be coming shortly. This clause follows the Madras Act and the Indian Excise Committee's Bill. It is said to be wide enough to cover the grant of a farm or district monopoly or of a contract to supply spirit on the contract system. So far as regards farm of duties, the clause to some extent reproduces the provisions of sections 20 to 25 of our existing Act.* Whereas, however, under the existing Act* it is the Board who sanction farms and make rules as to farming, under the new Act the Local Government will have to approve unless it delegates its power. In fact, no farms of exciseable articles are at present given in this province. It has been suggested that the number of shops for the sale of tari might be considerably reduced if farms be given, but this suggestion has not yet been worked out or applied in any district of the province. The separation of the rights of wholesale supply and retail vend is enforced in all areas in which contract spirit is supplied, that is, about 19 districts of this province, and it is also in force in Calcutta. The distillers who supply Calcutta are not allowed to have retail shops. In the outstill areas, of course, manufacture and vend go together. It is the policy of Government to abolish the outstill system everywhere, but there are difficulties in the way. Government does not wish to give a large and exclusive monopoly of the supply of country spirit to a few persons only; and the construction of distilleries and warehouses is an expensive business, for which funds are not always forthcoming. I will give another instance of the difficulty of complete separation of wholesale supply and vend. Hon'ble Members know that the import of cocaine is restricted to certain firms of chemists and druggists, who perhaps may be said to have exclusive privileges. These authorised firms supply cocaine wholesale on orders received from hospitals and dispensaries, or from other licensed firms, but they also make retail sale to customers up to 20 grains, in compliance with medical prescriptions. In fact, the varying conditions of the trade in drink and drugs make it necessary that there should be varying systems of control. It is said that clause 21 (now 22) does not make it obligatory on Government to be guided by local opinion when it gives an exclusive privilege; and it is quite true that the clauses prescribing the procedure to be adopted for ascertaining public opinion do not apply in regard to wholesale supply, but they do apply in regard to any retail shops which may be opened in accordance with any exclusive privilege given. I shall have some more remarks to make with regard to the question of consulting the public on the next motion for amendment, but I would oppose these amendments (28 to 30) on the grounds that I have stated."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I support this amendment."

The said motions having been lost, motion No. 30 was not put.

The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal had given notice that he would move that after sub-clause (1) of clause 21 (now 22) of the Bill, the following proviso be inserted, namely:—

> Provided that, before granting any such exclusive privilege, the Local Government shall notify its intention in the area affected, and shall consider any objections which may be submitted to it by any public body or by any person residing within such area.

By leave of the President he moved that the proposed proviso should run as follows:—

> Provided that public notice shall be given of the intention to grant any such exclusive privilege, and that any objections made by any person residing within the area affected shall be considered before an exclusive privilege is granted."

He said:—"Your Honour, with your permission, I will move this amendment which has been kindly framed for me in modification of the original amendment, by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. The original amendment suggested that the Local Government only should notify its intention to grant exclusive privilege. The modified amendment requires any of the authorities empowered to grant such privilege to notify its intention. I believe, Sir, this amendment will be accepted by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. Clause 21 (now 22) of the Bill proposes to give wide powers to the Local Government to grant exclusive privileges for manufacture and sale of country liquor and drugs. Several public bodies have opposed this clause. The clause, as now framed, does not allow any opportunity to the public to question the decision in this matter. The proposed amendment is a very modest one, and it has the support of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. I believe it will be accepted by the Council."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I accept the amendment as moved by the Hon'ble Member."

The motion to amend the clause as in the amendment, put by leave of the President was then put and agreed to.

Clause 24 (now 25).

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The next two amendments, with the permission of the Hon'ble Member, may be discussed together."

The following motions were discussed together, namely,—

32. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that for the words "foreign liquor or country spirit," in lines 1 and 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 24 of the Bill, the words "any excisable article" be substituted.

33. If the last foregoing amendment be carried, also to move that for the words "liquor or spirit," in line 7 of sub-clause (1) of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill, the word "article" be substituted.

He said:—"No child should be employed in any liquor or drug shop where consumption takes place. There will be no hardship with regard to shops in which drugs are sold, but not allowed to be consumed. I submit therefore that a wider application of the principle that children ought not to be allowed to be associated with the sale of intoxicating articles ought to be insisted on. Without adoption of the whole of the amendment the object of the principle of exclusion of children for these dens of vice and immorality which the Select Committee has accepted, will be thwarted and baffled. The restriction will not operate harshly on grocery shops where drugs are sold, because they are not consumed there or ought not to be."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"Are we discussing only 32?"

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"32 and 33 together: 33 is only consequential on 32."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would not accept either of these amendments. It will be noticed that clause 24 (now 25) practically falls into two parts. The first part applies to children and the second part to women. Then it will be noticed that, whereas, when this Bill was introduced in Council, it applied only to public rooms of premises, the Select Committee have made it apply to any part of the premises in which liquor is consumed. We made this alteration because it was represented that liquor is consumed in courtyards as well as in rooms. On the other hand, we limited the application of the first part of the clause to foreign liquor or country spirit, both because of the wider application which we had made to every part of the premises in which liquor is consumed by the public, and also because it seemed to us to be unnecessary to prohibit the employment of children on premises where tari is sold or where ganja is sold as a part, e.g., of a grocery business. I am speaking, Sir, of the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari's motion for substituting the words 'any exciseable article' for the words 'foreign liquor or country spirit.' That, Sir, would in one sense restore the position to what was proposed when the Bill was introduced in Council. But in fact the position is greatly changed by the extended application so far as the premises are concerned. The English law as passed last year fell short of the provisions which we are considering. The English Act, known as the Children's Protection Act of 1908, which forbids a license-holder to allow a child to be at any time during open hours in the bar of licensed premises, defines a child as a person under 14 years of age. The English law does not forbid a child to be employed on licensed premises, but only forbids him to be employed in the bar of licensed premises; and the word 'bar,' as the Council will be aware, has a restricted meaning. But if the whole of the courtyard in which country spirit is sold be regarded as a bar, then so far as regards the sale of country spirit we have still gone as far as the English law goes, but in the case of a hotel or restaurant we have gone much further. For these reasons I would advise the Council not to accept this amendment."

Motion No. 32 was put and lost.

The said motion having been lost, motion No. 33 was not put.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The next five amendments standing in the name of three different Members—the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, and the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur—all deal with a single point, and they are more or less in the alternative. With the consent of the three Hon'ble Members, they may be all discussed together."

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

34. The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal to move that, in line 6 of sub-clause (1) of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill, the word "eighteen" be substituted for the word "fourteen."

35. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move that in line 6 of sub-clause (1) of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill, the word "sixteen" be substituted for the word "fourteen."

36. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that for the word "fourteen", in line 6 of sub-clause (1) of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill, the word "eighteen" be substituted.

37. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move that for the word "fourteen", in line 6 of sub-clause (1) of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill, the word "sixteen" be substituted.

38. The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur, to move that the word "sixteen" be substituted for the word "fourteen" in line 6 of sub-clause (1) of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"Public opinion is unanimous that there should be an age-limit for the employment of children in liquor-shops, and I thank the Government for fixing an age-limit in deference to that opinion. But I hope the Legislature will not overlook the fact that there is a consensus of opinion that the age-limit in the Bill should be raised from 14 to 18. Eighteen years is the age of discretion and majority in this country. It is generally presumed that a child of 18 years should be in a better position to resist the demoralising influence of a liquor-shop or any other place for the sale of intoxicating drugs than a child of fourteen. Public opinion is very strong on this point. The Society for the Protection of Children in India and the Calcutta Corporation suggest eighteen years as the minimum age. Even official opinion supports this view. The Commissioner of Burdwan goes further and suggests that the employment of children should be definitely prohibited in the sale of excisable articles generally and not merely in the premises where they are consumed. The Collector of Midnapore also suggests that the age-limit should be raised. The juvenile employees in these liquor-shops are recruited from the lower classes of society. Uneducated and of immature understanding they fall an easy prey to the temptations of such abominable surroundings. It is, therefore, all the more necessary that the age-limit should be raised. The protection and well-being of children is one of the most important duties of Government, and I am glad that Government is fully alive to it. I am, therefore, not without hope that my amendment will be accepted."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"Sir, I have also to thank the Government that it has at last seen its way to adopt some age-limit, and in moving for the limit being raised to 18, I realise the difficulty that in some cases in England the age-limit is 16. Popular opinions and ideas about affording drink facilities to women and children are, however, not the same in this country as in England, and it would not be too outrageous here for a young lad of 16 to be told that he cannot be served at the bar or supplied with liquor, considering that drinking is ordinarily looked upon with the greatest possible disfavour in our midst, and drinking by children is looked upon with great abhorrence. We therefore ask that at least the legal age-limit of 18 be fixed as the limit before which drinking facilities will not be openly given and encouraged. And the same remark applies to the seller as well as the consumer. What is good is good for all time, and the question is not simply one of making a beginning and fixing the age-limit at 14 to begin with. If we now fix upon 14, it will be difficult later on to ask for the age-limit to be raised. We have made a beginning and the beginning ought to be made well, and I am afraid, Sir, and submit that 14 is not at all the limit which meets with anything like public approval. I shall not go over the same ground as my friend, Babu Radha Charan Pal, in referring to the various amendments to be found in the names of different Hon'ble Members, but there is unanimous opinion in regard to the matter, and throughout it is considered that 14 is not at all a satisfactory age-limit. I do not think therefore in asking for the age-limit to be raised we are asking anything that will be objected to by the public; but if for any reason, 18 should appear to be far too large a demand, I have an alternative, and my friends also have an alternative in asking for the age-limit to be raised to 16. With Your Honour's permission, I am referring to this other amendment standing in my name so that the time of the Council may not be needlessly taken up in going over the same ground; and if Your Honour's Government decides that the age-limit of 18 is too large, 16 at all events ought to be accepted. That three Members of the Council have thought it necessary, quite independently of one another, to urge this point upon Your Honour's Government is proof enough of the feeling in regard to the matter; and as Government has been graciously pleased, after all, to give us a limit, we hope and pray, Sir, that that limit will be fixed at least at 16."

The Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI BAHADUR said:—"Your Honour—I congratulate Your Honour's Government on having for the first time recognised the importance of fixing a prohibitive age-limit in regard to retail grog shops. The question now before the Council is as to whether the age-limit decided upon by the Select Committee will be accepted, or whether it should be raised to 16 years. The Legislature in England for a number of years hovered between the two prohibitive age-limits, namely, 14 and 16, as the old statutes of England will testify. The Legislature in this country, and forsooth in England too, have evinced great anxiety to protect the property of minors, pushing the limit in age to 18 and 21 in varying circumstances, and, Sir, what we ask for is that similar anxious consideration for the protection of the morals of children in connection with Excise legislation. Your Honour must have noticed, in the excellent précis that has been prepared by the Secretary, the remarkable measure of unanimity in regard to fixing that limit of age at 16. The unanimity is remarkable, for persons and Associations holding different social and political views have agreed as to the prohibitory limit of age. That opinion is considerably strengthened by the opinion of high-placed officials in this country who have, as Your Honour may have noticed, also emphasised the propriety of the higher age-limit which I am pleading for. The correct age of a child must in most cases be a matter of inference, the general appearance being the only guide, and the period between 14 and 16 will, in the generality of cases, be a debatable ground. It is therefore desirable to lay down the higher limit, so that, at all events, it will ensure the exclusion of children up to the age of 14 from grog shops, where spirit is consumed, drunken antics and drunken brawls of the most lodious kind are not unusual concomitants. I assure Your Honour that the acceptance of the amendment proposed by me, which is the more modest of the two now before the Council, will satisfy one of the most clamant public demands in connection with the question of the Excise administration of this province. I hope, Sir, that the amendment proposed by me will be accepted by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill and also by the Members of this Council."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES ALLEN said:—"I do not know what view the Council will take of the exact age to be fixed. There are one or two considerations, however, which have not been put before the Council by Hon'ble Members, which I would like to state briefly. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari has referred only to the interests of the public and to the interests of temperance, but there is another interest to be considered in this matter, and that is the interests of the vendor. The sale of liquor is a legitimate trade, and any restriction which you place on the employment of the vendor's children must be prejudicial to the vendor for obvious reasons. Even the age of 14, if you impose this limit, will prevent the vendor from employing his children of that age, and he will have to employ servants in their place; and as you raise the limit to 16, or may be to 18, you will to a still larger extent increase this burden upon the vendor. I think this is a consideration (I do not say it should by any means outweigh all others), but I think it is a consideration which should be before the Council. There is another matter, Sir, in this connection. If I recollect aright, in England, when this matter was under consideration, a number of abuses were brought forward and proved as having resulted from the employment of children in liquor shops. It was shown that children acquired at an early age a taste for liquor. No such abuse has, so far as I am aware, been proved or even alleged in connection with this particular matter in this country. There is a third consideration, Sir, which I think should also be before us when we are speaking about age, and that is that a child of 14 in this country is certainly quite as old as a child of 16 in England. That I think is an admitted and accepted fact. I present these matters for the consideration of my hon'ble colleagues."

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said:—"The Hon'ble Members—the non-official Members to my left, have supported this amendment, and they have also said, Sir, that this amendment has been pressed before Your Honour in consequence of public feeling. The Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen has brought forward certain considerations which certainly ought to have weight in this Council. The question is the employment of the children of the vendor himself, and also it may be the employment of other children who are taken into service. As regards the children of the vendor himself, the argument that their employment in the premises would bring within their knowledge, at an early date, the undesirable scenes of an objectionable house ought not to carry much weight, Sir, because at any rate, perhaps, the vendor's children will be frequently going to the place and seeing these scenes there without even being employed. There is another view of the question and that is, it is not only what should be the age of the child employed. We should not look at the question only from the point of view that he is likely to degrade himself at an early age, but there is another view of the question and that is, at what age do the susceptibilities of such temptation develop in a child? I cannot imagine that a child of 7 or 8, even if he were to see these scenes of drinking propensities, would remember them again. The real question is at what age in this country the susceptibilities of degradation develop, and when is it likely that a child in this country would imitate the doings of others who are in the power of such degradation. The question is not free from difficulty, but if we, I submit, Sir, adopt the age that has been accepted in England, we shall at least have the force of conviction; and considering there is much public feeling, and considering that the difference in two years will not make much difference, I submit respectfully that we should be acting prudently if we accepted the English age. I do not attach any importance whatever to the age of majority because a man, when he is grown up, unless his character has been formed, if he is thrown in environments which are likely to lead him to ways of evil, is more likely to be led away to the paths of evil than when he is a child."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I think, Sir, that this is a difficult point. There is evidence of a considerable body of opinion in favour of protecting children to a more advanced age than 14. But there are considerations which I would wish to place more clearly before the Council than perhaps I was able to do in my remarks on the preceding motion. I wish first to point out to the Council how we have broadened the prohibition with regard to the employment of a child on premises licensed for sale of spirit, country or foreign. This is not a question of employment in a public room, but on premises. Therefore the licensee of country spirit will not under our Bill be allowed to employ his child on his premises; and the prohibition will exist not only with regard to handling of the liquor, but also with regard to bringing wood or water, or doing other work on the premises. The more we raise the age, the more we increase the difficulty of the licensed vendor in keeping his family in his house or in his yard, or employing his children, even on domestic work. I say that the prohibition has in this way made the position of the licensee a great deal more difficult, and I pointed out that the prohibition in England is not with regard to premises, but with regard to the bar on premises. Then, Sir, a mistake was made by an Hon'ble Member with regard to the age-limit in England. The age-limit for employment of children in licensed premises in England is not 16, but 14. The matter is provided for in the Children's Protection Act of last year, in which a child is defined as a person below the age of 14. A person below the age of 16 is a "young person" and does not come under the prohibition of employment.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"In private negotiation with two of the Hon'ble Members, I gave them some reason to expect that if a strong feeling was expressed on the subject of age, the Government would be prepared to consider the matter favourably. While we have heard what has fallen from three Hon'ble Members to-day who have moved amendments, on the other hand we have the opinion of the Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen and the Hon'ble Mr. Das; and what is more important than all to my mind, is the remark which has just been made by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill to the effect that the age-limit of employment in England is not 16, but 14. One reason why I thought 14 would be sufficient in this country was that I was under the impression that 16 was the limit at home, and as Orientals usually develop rather more rapidly than northern races, the age of 14 would correspond to the English age. If, however, the English age is 14, that argument disappears altogether. Therefore I am inclined to think that we should not accept any of these three amendments. After hearing the discussion, I cannot recommend the Council to do so."

Motions 34 and 35 were put and lost.

The said motions having been lost, motions 36, 37 and 38 were not put.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"Motions 39 and 40 stand in the name of the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur. Perhaps with the Hon'ble Member's permission, they may be taken together.

The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur, by leave of the President, withdrew the following motions of which he had given notice, namely:—

39. That the words "or any woman" be inserted after the word "years" in line 6 of sub-clause (1) of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill, and

40. if the last foregoing amendment be carried, that sub-clauses (1a) [now (2)] and (1b) [now (3)] of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill be omitted.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"Motions 41 and 42, standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, may, with his permission, be discussed together."

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

41. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "or country" be inserted between the words "foreign" and "liquor" in line 1, sub-clause (1a) [now (2)] of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill.

42. If the last foregoing amendment be carried, also to move that sub-clause (1b) [now (3)] of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill be omitted.

He said:—"A concession to public opinion has been made in this matter regarding foreign liquor, and no woman can be employed without the previous written permission of the Board. It is not quite apparent why country liquor has been omitted from the list of this wholesome reservation. I am aware that it has been urged that vendors' wives and daughters and other womenfolk may be employed either in the sale or otherwise on the premises, and it would operate harshly on them if they were not allowed to do so. With regard to this particular class of people and in particular backward tracts, whenever Revenue authorities consider them entitled to such special treatment, they can be dealt with with the assistance of previous permission, for which provision has been made in this clause. But leaving out the objection about employment of women altogether, with regard to the sale of country liquor, it has not found any justification in the opinions that have been placed before us, and the statement that no case has been made out for such exclusion does not count. The morals of people not drinking foreign liquor, but content with country spirits require equal protection. Of course, cases are always brought to the notice of those who have any degree of intimate acquaintance with these matters. That they do not often find their way into law courts or the press is not a matter to deter Legislature from making this wholesome provision applicable in the case of country liquor as well. It is considered objectionable on police grounds that women should have anything to do with places where liquor is consumed, and extension of the provision is consequently necessary. I submit that we have not got to prove that the reservation ought not to be made. Those who claim that country liquor ought to be placed out of the limits of this reservation in no way make out that there are good reasons for allowing such an exclusion. Such may possibly be necessary in the case of a certain class of people in certain areas, where women are forced to work, but their case can be well provided for by permission under this clause, and wholesale exemption can in no way be justified."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"The Hon'ble Member's amendment, Sir, is a very wide one. The words "country liquor" in clause (1a) [now (2)] would prevent the seller of tari from employing his wife in the business of sale. The Indian Excise Committee advised that sale of liquor by the wife of a licensee, or by a respectable women, is open to no valid objection on the score of sex. The tari-drawer is employed the greater part of the day in tapping his trees, while his wife sells the tari to customers. The prohibition of sale in such a case would be an unwarrantable hardship. So with pachwai, it is often the wife who makes the pachwai. The Select Committee on this Bill found that there is a good deal of opinion in favour of prohibiting the employment of women in country-spirit shops, one branch of the country liquor traffic; and they proposed only that the Local Government should be authorised to prohibit such employment in specified areas. It has not been stated that Indian women are extensively employed in country-spirit shops, or that any scandal has resulted from their employment in such shops, such as gave rise to the prohibition of the employment of barmaids in premises licensed to sell foreign spirits. I would therefore advise the Council, Sir, to reject this amendment."

Motion No. 41 was put and lost.

The said motion having been lost, motion No. 42 was not put.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The two amendments in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, 43 and 44, follow one on the other, and with his consent may be discussed together."

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

43. The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal to move that the words "without the previous written permission of the Board," in sub-clause (1a) [now (2)] of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill, be omitted.

44. If the last foregoing amendment be carried, also to move that sub-clause (2) [now (4)] of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill be omitted.

He said:—The employment of women in liquor shops has evoked universal opposition. From the point of view of both decency and morality the presence of women in liquor shops should be interdicted, and it should not be optional with the Board to permit their employment in liquor trade. Some of the important officials also support public opinion on this point. The Commissioner of the Tirhut Division considers the employment of women in the sale of spirits of all kinds to be demoralising, and he suggests that this should be prohibited. The Commissioner of Orissa also takes the same view, and the Collectors of Howrah and Hooghly would bar the employment of women in all excise shops. The Corporation of Calcutta recommends the prohibition of employment of children and women in all excise shops. Wine is accountable for many an act of illegality and criminality, and I hope its evil influence will not be further increased by the association of women with it.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would not accept this amendment, Sir, because the previous written permission of the Board of Revenue was the safeguard that was imposed in the Amending Act of 1903. It was not intended by the Legislature in 1903 to prevent a hotel-keeper or keeper of a restaurant from employing his wife, or daughter, or sister, or other near relative living with him in taking part in his business, but it was left to the Board to give the necessary permission in such cases."

Motion No. 43 was put and lost.

The said motion being lost, motion No. 44 was not put.

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the following be added to sub-clause (1a) [now (2)] of clause 24 (now 25) of the Bill, namely:—

This sub-section applies to a woman who is a license-holder.

He said:—"This explanation is intended to secure amending legislation. The salutary provision of this clause is likely to be evaded in the case of family proprietors or family license-holders. It would be very easy to evade the law by taking out a license for a woman where a woman is to be prohibited. The license-holder should also be prohibited from being employed, and she must be called upon to manage the business by a male representative."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"This amendment, Sir, may appear to be a logical consequence of the preceding clause, but there is, I would submit, a difference. It was not intended to impose absolute disqualification of sex in this matter. It is well known that many hotels and boarding-houses which take out hotel licenses for the sale of imported liquors are managed by women. This is a common arrangement in Calcutta and in Darjeeling, and when, Sir, it is a question of giving a license or not, I think that trust may be reposed in the local officers not to give licenses to women who should not have them. I would not accept this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal moved that the words "or tari" be inserted after the words "country spirit" in sub-clause (1b) [now (3)] of clause 24 [now (25)] of the Bill.

He said:—Tari shops, like liquor shops, should be under the control of the Local Government in the matter of employment of women. The evils arising out of the employment of women in tari shops are not less prominent than in the case of liquor shops, and in the interests of society the restriction ought to extend to the tari shops also.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would not recommend that this amendment be accepted, Sir. In previous remarks I have stated to the Council that it is the ordinary arrangement for the wife to sell the tari which her husband taps. If it should be thought necessary in any particular area to prevent such sale, it would be possible for Government to direct that an addition should be imposed in a license preventing the employment of women in a tari shop in any particular town or area, but it is a different matter to make such employment Penal. I would therefore advise the Council not to accept this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 25 (now 26).

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that, in line 1 of sub-clause (1) of clause 25 (now 26) of the Bill, the words "or Sub-divisional" be inserted between the words "District" and "Magistrate."

He said:—"The provision that has been made in this clause is quite a healthful one, but if it is limited only to District Magistrates, there may be serious difficulties in Sub-divisional towns the Magistrates of which ought to have powers like these."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said :—"I would accept this amendment with a slight verbal alteration which would run so that the words "or a Sub-divisional Magistrate" would be inserted after the words "District Magistrate."

The motion was put in the amended form and agreed to.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said :—"The next two amendments may be, I think, discussed together, if the Hon'ble Member agrees."

The following motions were discussed together, namely :—

48. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that, in line 2 of sub-clause (1) of clause 25 (now 26) of the Bill, the words "or the Commissioner of Police" be inserted after the words "Presidency Magistrate."

49. If the last foregoing amendment be carried, also to move that in line 4 of sub-clause (1) of clause 25 (now 26) of the Bill, the words "or Commissioner" be inserted after the words "such Magistrate."

He said :—"My reason for this amendment is, Sir, that if it is necessary to give the Chief Presidency Magistrate the power that this clause provides, it is still more necessary to exercise that power during hours that the Magistrate may not be in session, and these are the hours of greater difficulty. During these hours an official, such as the Commissioner of Police, should be trusted with such powers.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson, by way further of amendment, suggested that inmotion 49 the words "of Police" be inserted after the words "or Commissioner."

Motion No. 48 was put and agreed to, and motion No. 49 was put in the amended form and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari also moved that the words "for the preservation of the public peace," at the end of sub-clause (1) of clause 25 (now 26) of the Bill, be omitted.

He said :—"It may not always be considerations of public peace that require the closing of shops. There may be considerations of health, morality and public order which is under the same head as that of public peace, which may require the closing of shops for a short time, and I think the officers who are now being vested with the powers that this clause gives may well be trusted to judge whether the circumstances are such as warrant such a measure. In the past there have been (I may almost say the remote past) cases where the Commissioner of Police has wrongly interfered, but the growing requirements of the time demand that power should in exceptional cases be given to deal promptly with situations like these. I think the words that I mention ought to be omitted."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said :—"I would not accept this amend ment, Sir. I think that the authorities named should act in this matter only for the preservation of the peace, and that in other cases it should be left to the authorities who issue the license to take action to withdraw it."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said.—"I regret I cannot agree with my hon'ble friend in omitting the words 'for the preservation of the peace.' In Calcutta the Commissioner of Police is one of the officials in whom this power will be vested, and it is essential that the Commissioner of Police should exercise this power only for the preservation of the public peace. With regard to the morality of the people to which my friend has referred, the Legislature has laid down ample provision to safeguard these points. These points will be previously considered before the license is granted in respect of liquor shops, and I do not think that either the Commissioner of Police or the District Magistrate should interfere with any licensed liquor shop, except on the ground of preservation of the public peace."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal moved that to clause 25 (now 26) of the Bill the following be added, namely:—

> (4) The Local Government shall pay reasonable compensation to the licensee for any loss which he may sustain on account of the closing of any shop under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2).

He said:—"Sir, clause 25 (now 26) very properly invests the District Magistrate, or the Chief Presidency Magistrate, as the case may be, with powers to close any shop in which an excisable article is sold for the preservation of public peace. Any Magistrate or any Police Officer above the rank of a constable may also require any shop to be closed for such period as he may think necessary, if any riot or unlawful assembly occurs or is apprehended. While I fully recognise the value of this salutary provision, I venture to submit that the licensee, who has paid revenue to Government, may justly claim compensation for any loss which he may sustain through the rowdy conduct of others for which he is not in any way responsible. If no compensation is paid, it will be practically punishing the licensee by forcing him to suffer loss for the misconduct of others. This is opposed to the principles of justice and equity, and I believe Government never intended it to be the object of this clause."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would not accept this amendment, Sir. The licensee takes out his license with his eyes open to the possibilities of the case. Moreover the amendment is not necessary, because in clause 80 (5a) [now 86 (11)] we have taken power to make rules with regard to giving such compensation."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Council was then adjourned to the 28th July, 1909, at 11 A.M.

CALCUTTA; F. G. WIGLEY,

The 3rd August, 1909. Secretary to the Bengal Council.

THE BENGAL EXCISE BILL, 1909.

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said:—"Within the last few weeks the Vernacular Press of Orissa have urged the necessity of legalising the import of Garjat ganja and bhang into British Orissa.

"I have always considered it my duty to bring to the notice of Government the feelings and legitimate demands of the people. The Bill now under discussion does not contain a schedule of the excisable articles the "import" whereof will be permitted by Government. That is left to the Local Government. I cannot move an amendment in response to the wishes of the people, and I am not aware of any other opportunity to communicate to Your Honour how the existing rules regarding Garjat ganja are viewed by the people and how far the present arrangement has been successful in suppressing the smuggling and illicit consumption of the article.

"The object of all excise laws and rules should be to give the Government a control over the use of intoxicating articles by the people. This control should have a repressive, and not an encouraging, tendency. Direct control is impracticable, because the Government cannot undertake the duties of the moral or social reformer; it is impolitic, because direct repression could not be tolerated by the mildest people when they learn their rights in this matter. Direct control of any sort would be outside the scope of Government's duty. A Government which takes upon itself to interfere with the people in the choice of excisable articles for their use exercises a sort of censorship over the taste of the people which would place a discount on its claims to be a civilised Government.

"The imposition of an excise duty is a kind of indirect control which has the sanction of the whole world. It is a check on excessive and consequently injurious indulgence in intoxicating substances. The duty and consequently the Excise revenue must rise with the growth of the habit. These are, Sir, the fundamental principles which ought to regulate Excise administration.

Long before the Bengal Government formulated any scheme for the control of consumption of ganja and bhang in Orissa, the people had been accustomed to the use of Garjat ganja and bhang. Ganja was never cultivated in the Garjats, and yet it was and is even now found in large quantities. The Garjat ganja differs even in appearance from the Rajshahi cultivated article. No special training of the eye is necessary to distinguish the two articles. The Garjat ganja possesses a lower intoxicating strength, and is said to possess certain medicinal properties. This makes it a favourite luxury with those who make a drink of it in combination with a few other aromatic drugs having medicinal properties.

"The unanimous testimony of those who habitually use it as a drink points to its superior medicinal properties. I cannot lend the support of my personal experience to this testimony, but none of the Hon'ble Members representing the interests of Excise administration in this Council can oppose it by the weight of his personal experience.

"Regarding drink which is known as bhang, the Hemp Commission say:—

> There would seem to be a general use of bhang in moderation as a stimulant and digestive by the middle classes, especially in advancing years. Some of the most intelligent and enterprising classes of the community are among those who thus use bhang.

"The Garjats being outside British India, the Excise Department found it difficult to raise the estimated revenue from the consumption of Rajshahi ganja without stopping the illicit consumption of the Garjat ganja. To this end various schemes were tried, but each failed. At last the system now in existence was introduced. Under the existing system, the Government supplies Rajshahi ganja at cost price and free of duty to the Tributary States. The States levy the duty, and this goes to increase their revenue. In return for this, the Chiefs undertake to prohibit the growth of ganja in their States. Any one who has travelled through the Garjats and observed how the little villages lie scattered miles away from each other, with intervening thick jungles which are the haunts of tigers and wild elephants, and who has also examined the numerical strength and pay of the officers set apart for excise work in these States, must have been convinced that in the case of the small States at least no seriousness was attached to the undertaking.

"If it were possible for the Hon'ble Mr. Geake to hear all the admissions I have heard from persons who are habitual consumers of the Garjat ganja in the form of a drink, I have no doubt he would have pleaded with all the weight of official authority for the abolition of the existing arrangement. The middle and the rich classes, especially among the residents of Puri who use Garjat ganja as a drink, pay fabulous prices for the smuggled article.

"What then is the result of the existing arrangement? The consumer pays an exorbitantly high price. This is a premium on smuggling. When high price is the indirect result of heavy Excise duty it adds to the revenue which is spent for the benefit of the public. In the present case the high price fills the pocket of a clever smuggler.

"The partiality of the consumer to this particular drug, added to his readiness to pay exorbitantly high prices, exposes the subordinate officers of the Excise and other departments to temptation. But the worst result of the system is the successful evasion of the penalties of law during a long period. I consider it the worst result, for a systematic evasion of law engenders a disregard for law which it should be the duty of every Government to avoid, and yet a system of Excise administration which is formulated without any regard to the taste and habits of the people and which aims to force them to take to an excisable article which they are not accustomed to and which by experience they have found injurious to health—such a system of Excise administration is bound to prove a failure.

"The existing arrangement was introduced, because it had successfully stopped the cultivation of ganja in Cooch Behar. The similarity between Cooch Behar and the Tributary States of Orissa does not go beyond their political status as Tributary States. No one stopped to inquire whether the States in Orissa were similar to Cooch Behar in the extent of their jungles and the strength of the official staff available for controlling illicit growth and import. "No one stopped to inquire whether in the neighbourhood of Cooch Behar there were a class of people who considered the hemp grown in that State as having special medicinal properties and who were prepared to have it at any price.

"Is the Government justified in forcing upon the people an intoxicating drug which they do not like and which their experience pronounces injurious when used as a drink? Should not the people be left free to choose what they like?

"What would be the verdict of the civilised world about an Excise administration which prohibited the import of an article which the people liked, in order that by such prohibition Government might force the people to take to another article from which it expected a higher revenue?

"The Chinaman is partial to Indian opium. What would be the verdict of the civilised world if the Chinese Government were to prohibit the import of Indian opium with a view to force the people to take a Chinese produce in order that it might raise a better revenue?

"In this case the grounds for justification on the score of gain in revenue do not exist, for what the Government gains on the supposed efficacy of the arrangement with the Garjat States is more than covered by the loss of duty on the Rajshahi ganja supplied free of duty to them.

"The Hemp Commission gave their verdict against total prohibition because they considered it a violent measure. That Commission in their Report said. "The object should be to prevent the consumers, as far as may be possible, from doing harm to themselves and to lessen the inducements to the formation of the habit which might lead to such harm. In aiming at this object however, other considerations need to be kept in view. There is in the first place the question of illicit consumption. If the restriction imposed by Government is counterbalanced by a corresponding increase in smuggling, no advantage is gained, but on the contrary a moral wrong is done to the community, apart from the annoyance necessitated by such restriction."

"The people are anxious that the import of Garjat bhang should be legalised and arrangements made for the sale by licensed vendors of the article. Respectable people do not like continuous danger of prosecution which their partiality to an illicit article exposes them to. I am aware that this proposal will meet with a formidable array of objections under the name of practical difficulties in the way of controlling the import of Garjat ganja. But no argument ought in these days to be considered sufficient to support a coercive policy of the nature now in existence.

"The Excise Department believe that the present arrangement with the Garjat States has successfully weeded out the ganja plant from these States. If this belief is well founded, there ought not to be any difficulty. The Government might continue the existing arrangement with the States, with the exception of one or two States more favourably situated, for the import of ganja into British Orissa, and all that need be done is to arrange for the collection and import of the article from these one or two States.

"If, on the other hand, the Excise Department does not believe that the present arrangement has stopped the production of ganja in the Garjats, the system having proved a failure should be abandoned.

"In the present state of things the Government has to get a supply of ganja from the Eastern Bengal and Assam Government. A similar arrangement will have to be made with one or two of the Tributary States.

"I beg to draw Your Honour's attention to another serious difficulty. When the present Bill is passed into law Government ought under clause 26 [now 27],* sub-clause (b), to impose a duty on the Rajshahi ganja now supplied duty free to the Tributary States. That will disturb the existing arrangement.

"During the short period of Your Honour's rule, Your Honour has won the confidence of the people by lending a sympathetic ear to their just and legitimate wishes. In the light of this fact I do sincerely hope that the wishes of the people will receive due consideration at Your Honour's hands in exercising the powers under clause 10 [now 9]."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I do not understand that the Hon'ble Member asks the Council to take any action in connection with his remarks. They will receive due consideration in the Excise Department."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"That is all that the Hon'ble Member desires. Nothing here is possible, because there is no amendment before the Council.

"The Council will now proceed with the clauses of the Bill, and I call on the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal to deal with amendments 52 and 53."

Clause 26 [now 27].

52. The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, by leave of the President, withdrew the following motion of which he had given notice, namely:—

that sub-clause (1a) of clause 26 [now sub-clause (2) of clause 27] of the Bill be omitted.

Clauses 26 [now 27] and 27 [now 28].

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

53. The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal to move that, after sub-clause (1a) [now (2)] of clause 26 [now 27] of the Bill, the following be inserted, namely:—

Provided that no such duty shall be imposed on—

(i) tari intended to be used in the manufacture of gur or molasses, or

*The clauses and sub-clauses of the Bill having been re-numbered under the direction of the Council, the present number of each clause and sub-clause is inserted in brackets, wherever the new numbering differs from the old.

(ii) tari intended to be used in the manufacture of bread by a person holding a permit to use tari for that purpose, or

(iii) tari, up to a limit of four seers, when in the possession of the person possessing the tree from which it was drawn and intended to be used for domestic consumption.

57. The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal to move that sub-clause (e) [now (f)] of clause 27 [now 28] of the Bill be omitted.

58. The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal to move that the following be added at the end of clause 27 [now 28] of the Bill, namely :—

Provided also that no tax shall be levied in respect of any tree from which tari is drawn—

(a) for the manufacture of gur or molasses, or

(b) for the manufacture of bread by a person holding a permit to use tari for that purpose, or

(c) for domestic consumption, up to a limit of four seers, by the person in possession of the tree.

He said:—"Your Honour,—Under clause 14 [now 13], tari for the manufacture of gur or molasses or for domestic consumption is exempted from license, but under the next clause 14A [now 14], no tari can be drawn in any specified local area without a license. That being so, a person using tari for the manufacture of gur or for domestic consumption within any specified local area shall be bound to take license. Now sub-clause (1a) [now (2)] of clause 26 [now 27] provides that duty shall be imposed on any tari drawn under any license granted under sub-clause 14A [now 14]. This renders tari used for domestic consumption or for the manufacture of gur liable to duty, which, I believe, is not the intention of the Legislature. I, therefore, hope, that my amendment will be carried."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"If, Sir, the Hon'ble Member would continue his argument and take up with your permission his amendment 58 which provides for a similar addition in clause 27 [now 28], I should be glad to reply to him on the two matters together, and I may offer acceptance of a concession which, perhaps, he would consider sufficient. The words which the Hon'ble Member uses in the first two paragraphs of his proposed amendment of clause 26 [now 27] are 'tari intended to be used.' In amendment of clause 27 (now 28) the Hon'ble Member would use the words 'no tax shall be levied in respect of any tree from which tari is drawn for the manufacture of gur or molasses.' I should think, Sir, that both provisoes cannot be necessary. If the Hon'ble Member would be content with one proviso in one clause, either 26 [now 27] or 27 [now 28], I could indicate how I would meet his wishes with regard to the levying of duty in respect of trees tapped for the manufacture of gur or molasses, and I would explain why that concession cannot be so easily made in the other cases. If the Hon'ble Member would continue his argument with regard to amendment 58, I would then with your permission have some more remarks to make."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I would accept the amendment which the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill gives me, with reference to clause 27 [now 28] of the Bill, 'Provided also that no tax shall be levied in respect of any tree from which tari is drawn only for the manufacture of gur or molasses, and under such special conditions as the Board may prescribe.' There is one point I wish to draw the attention of the Hon'ble Member and the Council to, and that is that I have moved for permission that clause (e) [now (f)] of clause 27 [now 28] of the Bill be omitted, that is to say, the tree-tax, and I do not know if I shall be in order to take it up now.'

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I assumed, Sir, that 57 would necessarily go with 52, which the Hon'ble Member has withdrawn."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I am not sure whether it would necessarily do so. It will be convenient if the Hon'ble Member would consider 57, 58 and his present amendment together. Perhaps that would be possible."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I respectfully follow Your Honour's directions, but I do not quite understand, Sir, that the withdrawal of my motion with regard to the omission of clause (1a) [now (2)] of clause 26 (now 27) has any connection with sub-clause (e) of clause 27."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"It does not necessarily follow I agree."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"If that is so, Sir, I beg leave to withdraw my motion No. 53. I would move, Sir, with Your Honour's permission, that sub-clause (e) [now (f)] of clause 27 [now 28] of the Bill be omitted, and in doing so, I beg to observe, that the clause has not been well accepted by the public. Tree-tax was once tried in Bengal and was abandoned. There may arise great difficulty in controlling the tapping of tax-free and tax-paying trees side by side. Tree-tax will no doubt increase the revenue of Government, but it will increase the price of tari and thus drive people to the drinking of country liquor which is far more injurious than tari. The rise in the price of tari may also affect the gur industry. The system in the hands of the ill-paid underlings of the Excise Department will be productive of much harassment, and is likely to create unnecessary dissatisfaction among the people. On these grounds I ask for the acceptance of the amendment I have moved. If this is not accepted, then, Sir, I shall move the next.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would submit, Sir, that 27 (e) [now 28 (f)] cannot be omitted without stultifying 14A now 14) and 26 (1a) [now 27 (2)]. The Hon'ble Member had an amendment for omitting (1a) [now (2)] which he has withdrawn. It is not contemplated to impose a duty as distinct from a license fee, except by a tree-tax. It will be remembered that our object is not to raise revenue, but to check drunkenness and give better control in this matter. There is every intention, I may say, Sir, of exempting the sugar industry, should 14A (now 14) be extended, which is not now contemplated, to a sugar-producing district, and the Council may confidently rely on arrangements being made to give the necessary exemption under 14A (3) [now 14 (3)] of the Bill. I would oppose the amendment to omit 27 (e) [now 28 (f)]."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I do not know, Sir, whether any duty is now imposed on unfermented tari. In the Excise Report I find that a revenue amounting to over 11 lacs is derived from tari, both fermented and unfermented."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"No duties, Sir; only license fees."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I understand that the amendment before the Council is No. 57, which is that sub-clause (e) of clause 27 [now 28(f)] of the Bill should be omitted, that is, the clause in which the tree-tax is rendered permissible in Bengal. I should like to state, in addition to what the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill has said, that I happen to hold, and have long held, somewhat decided views on the tree-tax system. I am not personally in favour of it. This question happened to come up when I was Financial Secretary to the Bengal Government, and I opposed it as strongly as I could at that time. It was dropped, and the reason was that it involves the inspection of every tari-producing tree—not only those which are allowed to be tapped, and which are marked for that purpose, but also those which are not marked, in order to see that they are not being tapped; and as these trees exist by hundreds of thousands, and some of them, many of them, are within private compounds, it would involve the appointment of a whole army of underlings. I believe it would open the door to a great deal of trouble. These are the grounds on which I opposed it ten years ago, and successfully. But since then there has been the Report of the Excise Committee of 1905-07, and that Committee included some of the best Excise Officers that India has ever seen, including, I may mention, Mr. K. G. Gupta, who was Excise Commissioner for many years in Bengal, and who knew the Department thoroughly, and he urged the measure strongly. He believes that it can be worked without causing oppression, and will tend to check what he styles 'the undue consumption of tari, which is by no means so as innocuous a drink as is sometimes represented. On these grounds, in view of the strong recommendation of this capable Committee, I felt, when the matter came before me in the Government of India, that it was impossible to resist the introduction of the permissive system in Bengal, and for that reason it was accepted by the Government of India. Gentlemen, my apprehensions are not wholly removed. It is my intention to move with the greatest caution in the extension of this system to any part of Bengal. The intention is that we shall only extend it, in the beginning at all events, to one district. We shall employ a considerable staff on the working of it, and the result will be watched with the utmost care, but I do not think that, in view of the strong recommendation of the Committee, it is possible for me to resist the proposal.

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"We can take the amendments 53 to 58. Do you wish to make any further remarks?"

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I have already said what I have to say on that provision. Sir, I understand from the Hon'ble Member that he will accept this amendment in clause 27 (now 28) of the Bill."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"Will you permit me, Sir, to have a moment's discussion with the Hon'ble Member?"

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"Certainly."

After a short interval, the Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"With Your Honour's permission I would move the following amended provision, namely:—'Provided also that no tax shall be levied in respect of any tree from which tari is drawn only for the manufacture of gur or molasses and under such special conditions as the Board may prescribe'. Sir, in consultation with the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, I submit this amendment for acceptance. Although I accept this amendment, it would have been more satisfactory if the Hon'ble Member could see his way to include in the exception, domestic consumption up to a limit of four seers. However, Sir, I do not wish to press my motion at this stage. I must be content with what I have got."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"The Hon'ble Member has motions both with regard to clause 26 (now 27) and with regard to clause 27 (now 28), the motion which the Hon'ble Member has just proposed is in connection with clause 27 (now 28)."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I have withdrawn the amendment with regard to clause 26 (now 27), as I understand that the amendment which I have just moved will serve the same object which I have in view.

The motion was then put in the amended form and agreed to.

The motion No. 57 was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The next three amendments—54, 55, and 56—cover similar ground. If the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami and the Hon'ble Radha Charan Pal agree, they can be discussed together."

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

54. The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur, to move that, after the figures "1878", in sub-clause (i) of clause 26 (now 27) of the Bill, the words "or on denatured spirit manufactured in India" be inserted.

55. If the last foregoing amendment be carried, also to move that the words "or denatured spirit manufactured in India" and the words "or denatured spirit, as the case may be," in sub-clause (ii) of clause 26 (now 27) of the Bill, be omitted.

56. The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal to move that, in sub-clause (ii) of clause 26 [now 27] of the Bill, the words "or denatured spirit" and the words "or denatured spirit, as the case may be," be omitted.

The Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI, BAHADUR, said:—"Sir, denatured spirit, like the sweet tari, is neither an intoxicating drink nor an intoxicating drug, but it differs essentially from the sweet tari in that it is only by a very difficult chemical process that it can be transformed into a human intoxicant. The present law which deals with denatured spirit is rather an ancient relic of an Act of the India Council which was passed so far back as 1863. The provisions of that law with some modifications and additions have been incorporated into the present Bill. So far as the conversion of denatured spirit into a human intoxicant is concerned, I quite agree that it should come within the control of the Excise Department. The varied uses of industrial alcohol have been described in the very valuable review of 'The Industrial Position and Prospects in Bengal in 1908' by the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming, and with Your Honour's permission I shall read one paragraph:—

The great difficulty with which the chemical industry has to contend is in connection with industrial alcohol. It is occasionally mentioned in the press that the manufacture of crude alcohol for industrial purposes under proper Government regulations would be a fine swadeshi industry. Alcohol is required: (a) for chemical transformation, as in the manufacture of iodoform; (b) as a solvent or precipitant, as in the case of papain; (c) for burning; and (d) for the finished product as in the case of liquid extracts, tinctures, essences and liniments. Section V of the Board's Rules in the Excise Manual is prepared on the assumption that spirit prepared after the English fashion is for direct human consumption. Section IX deals with the making of spirit unfit for human consumption by the admixture either of caoutchine or of naphtha. Messrs. D. Waldie & Co. have a private distillery at Konnagar. The Bengal Chemical and Pharmaceutical Company at Maniktola purchase imported spirits 68° over proof at Re. 1-10 per gallon, which becomes Rs. 13-4 after duty has been paid: so the duty is nearly eight times the prime cost. This spirit is used in preparing tinctures, extracts and ether. At present the Government is willing to allow the spirit to be manufactured or stored in a bonded warehouse: full duty to be paid when it is removed to the factory, and refund to be granted of the duty of the amount lost in course of manufacture, after keeping only 5 per cent. ad valorem duty, The Bengal Chemical and Pharmaceutical Company ask that they be allowed to manufacture in a bonded factory under supervision of excise officers, and to pay after manufacture the full duty on the spirit contained in the preparation and 5 per cent. ad valorem on the amount of spirit lost. If it is the fact, as is asserted, that this concession is allowed to manufacturers in Europe, it is for consideration whether it may be allowed here. Government does not gain interest on the excess temporarily handled, whereas the private company feels the loss of the capital locked up in duty. From my inquiries in the Excise Department, I learn, however, that the request of the firm goes beyond what is allowed in Europe.

"I think that special concessions are required for the use of industrial alcohol in the lac trade. This will be mentioned later.

"It seems to appear, Sir, then, that this denatured spirit may play a very important part in furthering the industrial developments of this country. Under the Tariff Act a duty of 5 per cent. is levied in respect of imported denatured spirit, and in the present Bill the same limitation has been repeated, obviously keeping in view the provisions of the Indian Tariff Act. I do not think, Sir, that it is any part of the policy of Government to impose a counterveiling duty on every article that is manufactured or made here in this country, the like of which are also imported from foreign countries and which are liable to the imposition of tariff or customs duty. I therefore respectfully ask Your Honour and the Hon'ble Members of this Council to consider whether it is justifiable for the Legislature to introduce what is essentially a tariff question into an Act which professes to deal with intoxicating liquors and intoxicating drugs. Industrially backwards as Bengal is, and as no serious attempt has been made to manufacture denatured spirit here in considerable quantities, so as to give rise to the question of protection, it behoves the Government to render denatured spirit absolutely duty-free. It would be ridiculous to apply the analogy of the Indian excise duty on cotton to denatured spirit, and I am not going to rake up the old controversy based on protectionisms, which clouded the atmosphere at a certain past time. But, Sir, I enter my respectful protest against the introduction of a measure which will enable Government to levy a duty on what is merely by a perversion of language called an excisable article within the meaning of the Excise Act. I am glad to see that my hon'ble friend, Babu Radha Charan Pal, who is intimately connected with the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce (they were the persons who first sounded the note of protest) has brought forward a motion on similar lines, and I am sure that he will bring his experience of the working of that Association to bear upon this question, and will be able to throw more light on it than I have been able to do. These are the observations, Sir, which I have to make in connection with this."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said :—"I beg to support, Sir, the motion of my friend, the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur. In fact in the Select Committee both my hon'ble friend and myself objected to the inclusion of denatured spirit in clause 26 [now 27]. In this matter, the National Chamber of Commerce, with which I am associated, are at one with us.

If a duty is levied on denatured spirit manufactured in this country, it will hamper the rising industries of this country. The growth of indigenous industries depends largely on the support of the Government, and Government has always been willing to give this support. The quotation that was read from Mr. Cumming's report and the contention of the National Chamber of Commerce go to show that denatured spirit manufactured in India should be duty-free. I have nothing further to add to the observations that have fallen from my hon'ble friend, but would earnestly hope that this amendment may be accepted by Your Honour's Government."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—"In supporting this motion, Sir, I have only one word to add, that is, to draw the attention of the Council to clause 52A [now 48] of the Bill, which provides for very drastic penalties in cases of attempts to render fit for human consumption any spirit, whether manufactured in India or not, that has been denatured. This clause shows, Sir, that we are all alive to the fact that, except with great difficulty and considerable trouble and under the circumstances at prohibitive and unnecessary expenses, denatured spirit could hardly be brought within the category of spirits fit for human consumption. There can therefore be no apprehension as to loss of revenue and I submit that, in the interest of industrial development, the exemption now asked for should be granted.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said :—"As remarked by the first speaker, Sir, the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur, the law which regulates payment of denatured spirit required for use in manufactures is contained in a very old Act—the Act of 1863—which was amended by an Act of 1894. It declares that spirits intended to be used exclusively in arts and manufactures or in chemistry may be removed from any licensed distillery on payment of duty not exceeding 5 per cent. of the value of the spirit, provided that no spirit shall be removed until it has been rendered effectively and permanently unfit for human consumption. That 5 per cent. duty corresponds to the 5 per cent. ad valorem duty which is levied under the 'Tariff Act' on all imported denatured spirit; and under the Bill as it stands the position will remain exactly the same as under the existing law, unless the Local Government, with the approval of the Governor General in Council, see fit to impose a different tax, or not to take duty at all. The Indian Excise Committee recommended that assistance should be given to the development of an industry for producing denatured spirit, and so to other industries, such as the lac industry by removal of the duty, but the Government of India found two years ago that there was no pressing necessity for exemption of denatured spirit from the 5 per cent. ad valorem duty. If gentlemen interested in the use of spirit for industrial purposes can show that the 5 per cent. ad valorem duty on production of denatured spirit in this country is an excessive duty, I can promise that the Board of Revenue would give careful consideration to a representation in favour of reduction of such a duty, or of exemption. As the speaker has mentioned, the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming has drawn attention to this matter in his 'Review of the Industrial Position of Bengal.' If it be shown how exactly a tax of 5 per cent. on the value of denatured spirit made in a distillery in this country would press upon the industry, that proper safeguards would be provided, and that the 5 per cent. would more than cover the cost of the necessary preventive establishments, I should be glad to co-operate with the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming in framing proposals for the consideration of the Government. It will be understood that the use of spirit which has been denatured in such industries as the lac industry is quite another matter from the use of spirit which has not been denatured, e.g., for making perfumes or essences and which might still be drunk. With this explanation, Sir, I would ask that the amendment may not be pressed."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said :—"Number 55 is not moved. No. 56 is not absolutely identical with No. 55, but it has the same effect; so the Hon'ble Member may not wish to press it."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL replied that he would not do so.

Motion No. 54 was then put and lost.

The said motion having been lost, motions Nos. 55 and 56 were not put.

Clauses 34 [now 30] and 80 [now 86].

59. The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson moved that, in clause 34 [now 30] of the Bill, for the words and figures " in the form prescribed by rule made under section 80, clause (8)," the words "in a form prescribed by the Board" be substituted.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also moved that sub-clause (8) of clause 80 [now 86] of the Bill be omitted.

He said:—" In the Select Committee we thought it desirable to add the words 'in a form prescribed by rules made under section 80,' in order to provide for due information being given to the public in an intelligent form, especially with reference to the sites of shops for licenses. At the same time we added a sub-clause (8) to clause 80 [now 86], empowering the Board to prescribe forms. The effect of this condition was not seen at the time. Read with clause 82 [now 88], it might be held to require the Board to publish in the Gazette all its forms connected with Excise administration, registers and the like. This would be quite unnecessary. The purpose in view of the Select Committee can be attained in a simpler way by inserting the words 'in a form prescribed by the Board' in clause 34 [now 30], and I would ask therefore, Sir, that this amendment and amendment 97, which also stands in my name, should be taken together. I would move first amendment 59, and then if you permit, Sir, amendment 97. The two stand together."

The motions were put and agreed to.

Clauses 35 to 39 [now 31 to 35].

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said :—" Numbers 60, 61 and 63 in the name of the Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson, and No. 68 in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, all relate to the same subject, and, with the permission of the Hon'ble Members, they will be discussed together."

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

60. The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson to move that sub-clause (c) of clause 35 [now 31] of the Bill be omitted.

61. The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also to move that sub-clause (4) of clause 37 [now 33] of the Bill be omitted.

63. The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also to move that the words "or the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta," in sub-clause (b) of clause 39 [now 35] of the Bill, be omitted.

68. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "or the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta," in sub-clause (b) of clause 39 [now 35] of the Bill, be omitted.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"These amendments would have the effect of omitting mention of the Commissioner of Police for Calcutta in clauses 35, 37 and 39 [now 31, 33 and 35]. This matter came under recent discussion in connection with the Calcutta Police Bill which is now before the Council. It will be remembered that the Acts which regulate Police administration in Calcutta and the suburbs provide that before any license for the sale of spirituous liquors or intoxicating drugs can be given in the Calcutta district the applicant for a license must produce a certificate from the Commissioner of Police, stating that a license can be given without risk or detriment to the preservation of peace and good order. The Commissioner of Police exercises the power of refusing or withholding the certificate under the control of the Local Government. The Select Committee on the Police Bill have proposed, as I understand, that the Police Acts be slightly amended in this respect. Now, as the Police Acts fully provide for the concurrence of the Commissioner of Police, and as he must necessarily get the licensing lists in order that he may perform his functions under the Police Act, it seems unnecessary to make any provision in this Bill on the subject. Care will of course be taken to issue executive instructions to secure that the Commissioner of Police shall be fully informed and consulted."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"These amendments standing in my name lower down in the list, are in the alternative and for present purposes I fully accept the amendment of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. I am glad to be able to do so, Sir, because so far as Calcutta at all events is concerned, we have the recognition of the principle for which we are struggling, that with reference to license matters, the sole control should not be in the hands of the Revenue authorities and some authority other than they should have a reasonable share in them. That is an important concession and whatever the circumstances may be that have brought about the acceptance of that principle on the part of the Hon'ble Members, it is a matter in which we fully rejoice so far, for a second and associate authority is provided for Calcutta, namely the Police Commissioner. If we view the matter aright the Police Commissioner under the Police Act will be practically the sole authority, for without his certificate and consent no license can be granted in the Calcutta district. And now that he is to be omitted from the list of officials whose disputes are to go up before the Board for final decision his position is ever so much stronger. The principle now indirectly accepted is bound to be expanded and I shall move for such expansion later on. In the meantime it struck me in connection with clauses 38 [now 34] and 39 [now 35], as to whether it would not be necessary to provide some words to the effect that in case of any difference of opinion between the Commissioner of Police and the Excise Commissioner the objection of the Commissioner of Police shall be conclusive. Having regard to what the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill has said regarding the provisions of the Police Bill, which is now before the Select Committee, probably the addition of words to that effect may not be necessary, and it may look invidious to place the Commissioner of Police in a position different from that of other consulting officials in the district. It is more a matter for the consideration of the draftsman, the only reason I mentioned it was whether this absence would not make the present Act less self-contained. But I gladly accept the amendment at this stage, which, I hope, Sir, will not debar my moving the other and really more important amendments in this connection standing in my name."

Motions 60 to 63 were put and agreed to. Motion 68 being identical with motion 63, was not put.

Clause 37 (now 33).

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"Nos. 64 and 66, standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, may, with the consent of the Hon'ble Member, be discussed together."

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

64. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the following be inserted after sub-clause (a) of clause 37 [now 33] of the Bill, namely:—

(aa) any Association or public body connected with rate-payers residing in the ward (if any) to which such proposal relates

66 The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari also to move that the words "or Associations or public bodies" be inserted after the word "rate-payers" in sub-clause (i) of clause 37 [now 3] of the Bill.

He said:—"The reason that I move this amendment, Sir, is that the power proposed to be given by the section should not be limited only to individuals but be extended to bodies of individuals when they come together for a common purpose. Limitation of right of protest to individuals is obviously objectionable, and apart from Temperance associations not on the spot whose interference may not be welcomed, other public bodies may have much to say with reference to licensing in localities with which we are concerned. I am prepared to concede, Sir, that the wording of my amendment is a little wide, and it would be possible for associations whether connected with the localities concerned, or not, to put in a protest If, the word 'persons' had in some shape been used in sub-clause (a) of clause 37 [now 33], possibly my amendment would not be necessary, and if it is now accepted I should be prepared to limit the scope of my amendment, because under the General Clauses Act, 1897 'a person' would include any company or association or body of individuals, whether incorporate or not, and if sub-clause (a) ran somewhat like this, namely:—'persons paying municipal rates residing in any municipality', it would to a certain extent fulfil the object of my amendment, and it would also meet the possible objection that it is undesirable to give associations all and sundry, having direct or remote interest in localities, the power of making these representations. I do not know whether the Hon'ble Member would like to consider this suggestion, but if he sees his way to do so, I shall myself be prepared to give up my amendment of sub-clause (a), for such alteration would to a certain extent, meet the objects of my amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I had expected, Sir, that the Hon'ble Member would accept a modification of his amendments in a form of words which, as he pointed out, under the provisions of the General Clauses Act, would provide for all that he wishes to do in the way of making admissible representations by resident associations or public bodies. The form of words which was suggested to the Hon'ble Member provided for the substitution of the words 'persons having municipal rights' in sub-clause (a) of clause 37 [now 33], with reference to amendment 64. The word 'persons,' as the Hon'ble Member said, would include a public association or a public body. If the public body pays municipal rates, then it would have the right of objection, a statutory right. Similarly, in sub-clause (i) of clause 37 [now 33], for the word 'Rate-payers', the words 'persons paying municipal rates' should be substituted. If I rightly understand that the Hon'ble Member would accept these small modifications of his amendment, which in fact provide for the principle for which he contends, I would accept them.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON suggested, by way of amendment, that the motions should take the following form, namely:—

64. That, in sub-clause (a) of clause 37 [now 33] for the words "municipal rate-payers" the words "persons paying municipal rates and" shall be substituted.

66. That the words "persons paying municipal rates" be substituted for the word "rate-payers" in sub-clause (i) of clause 37 [now 33] of the Bill.

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"This is what I suggested, Sir."

These motions were put in the amended form and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari also moved that the words "within a radius of a quarter of a mile from" be substituted for the words "in the vicinity of," in lines 2 and 3 of sub-clause (b) of clause 37 [now 33] of the Bill.

He said :—"That will make sub clause (b) as follows: 'in the case of shops not situated in any municipality, persons owning or occupying land, or residing in the vicinity thereof' that is, within a radius of a quarter of a mile. The insertion of these words will make it possible to have some definite idea as to what distance will be allowed, and I think some limitation is desirable in order to have a clear idea of the clause. There have been legal difficulties for want of such a limitation and my suggestion is no way unreasonable, and I hope the amended amendment will be acceptable to the Hon'ble Member in charge and to the Council, for I did not mean to ask for the limitation of a mile as appearing in the printed paper, which would certainly be unreasonable.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said :—"I would not accept the amendment, Sir. A limit of 'a quarter of a mile' might be too little or might be too much."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 39 [now 35] and new clauses.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said :—"We now come to a very important group of amendments. Number 67 is the first of a group of amendments which relates to the proposal in connection with Licensing Boards, and thereafter from No. 69 down to No. 72, the amendments all relate to the same subject or to different branches of the same subject. With the consent of the Hon'ble Members, amendments No. 67 and Nos. 69 to 72 inclusive may be discussed together."

The following motions were discussed together, namely :—

67. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, to move that for the words "the Board, whose decision shall be final," in the last line of clause 39 [now 35] of the Bill, the following be substituted namely :—

> a Licensing Board, consisting of official and non-official members in such proportions as the Local Government may determine, and constituted in such manner and for such areas as the Local Government may, by notification, declare; and the decision of such Board shall be final.

69. The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL to move that, after clause 41 [now 37] of the Bill, the following be inserted, namely:—

41A. (1) The Local Government shall appoint, for the granting of licenses under this Act, a Licensing Board for Calcutta, and a Licensing Board for each of such other areas as the Local Government may think fit.

Appointment and functions of Licensing Boards.

(2) Such Boards shall consist,—

(a) in Calcutta, of the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta (who shall be President of the Board), the Commissioner of Police, the Excise Commissioner, and three members of the said Corporation; and

(b) in areas other than Calcutta, of the Collector (who shall be President of the Board), the Superintendent of Police or the District Magistrate, as the Local Government may direct, and such number of representatives of Municipalities or other local bodies as the Local Government may direct.

(3) Where a Licensing Board has been appointed under this section, the Collector shall send to such Board the objections, opinions and list referred to in section 38* sub-section (1), and the functions of the Collector under that section shall be discharged by such Board instead of by the Collector

* See Clause 34 (1).

70. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move that after clause 41 [now 37] of the Bill the following be inserted, namely :—

41A. (1) The Local Government shall appoint an Advisory Board for Calcutta and an Advisory Board for each of such other areas as the Local Government may think fit.

Appointment of Advisory Boards.

(2) Such Boards shall consist,—

(a) in Calcutta, of the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta (who shall be President of the Board), a representative of Temperance Associations, and six members of the said Corporation, and

(b) in areas other than Calcutta, of such number of representatives of the Municipality or Municipalities concerned as the Local Government may direct.

71. If the last foregoing amendment be carried, also to move that, in sub-clause (1) of clause 38 [now 34] of the Bill, for the words "shall consider the same, and shall, if necessary, revise the said list, and shall decide," the following be substituted, namely :—

shall refer the same to the Advisory Board (if any) for opinion, and shall, in consultation with that Board (if any), revise the said list, so far as it may need revision, and decide.

72. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that, after clause 41 [now 37] of the Bill, the following be inserted, namely :—

41A. Notwithstanding anything contained in this or any other Act, the Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, assign to the Corporation of Calcutta, or to any other Municipality or to any body or Board, such functions and powers as it may think fit in respect to the granting, withholding and withdrawal of licenses for the sale of excisable articles (being functions and powers which, but for such assignment, might lawfully be exercised by any officer of the Government), to be exercised by such Corporation, Municipality, body or Board, within the limits of its jurisdiction, under such conditions and subject to such rules as the Local Government may impose; and the Local Government may at any time withdraw and revoke any functions and powers which it has assigned under this section:

Provided that such functions and powers shall not be assigned as aforesaid without the consent of the Corporation, Municipality, body or Board concerned:

Provided also that no such conditions or rules shall be imposed by the Local Government after such assignment has taken place, except with the consent of the Corporation, Municipality, body or Board concerned.

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"Your Honour has been pleased to observe, and observe rightly that we now come to one of the most important questions involved in the Bill, and I venture to believe, Sir, that the time has come when some recognition of the principles of what are known as local option should be allowed in this country. That licensing matters should not be wholly in the hands of Revenue-officers has, I am glad to be able to say, been already conceded in this Council. In accepting a previous amendment of the Hon'ble Member in charge and myself the Council have, so far as Calcutta is concerned, consented that some authority different from the Revenue authority, namely the Commissioner of Police, will practically be the sole authority to decide as to what shops and sites will be allowed. I wish, Sir, to point out that the object of the present amendment is to follow up matters to their logical sequence and to ask that an authorised and authoritative Committee should deal with the licensing question as a whole and not only from the police point of view, as the Commissioner of Police will naturally do. It has long been recognised in England that licensing functions ought to be in the hands of authorities other than the Revenue Department. The Licensing Justices, the Borough Committees, the County Councils are all representative bodies, representative in the sense that people's interests are fully looked after either by their chosen representatives or other non-official agencies, such as Justices of the Peace, and licensing questions are dealt with on their merits; and not only from the Revenue point of view. In moving this amendment, I ask that we should have some semblance of such a body to deal with this all important question. I have tried to make the constitution of that Committee as elastic and workable as possible, because I understand that there are difficulties in the situation. We are only making a beginning, and for a time we must be content, and we are prepared to leave the whole question to the discretion of the Government. All that I plead for is that there should be some statutory provision for a mixed Committee. And to begin with, Government should be left to say how such bodies are to be formed and worked. If this amendment is accepted, it may not be possible to have the Committee entirely of officials, but the Committee may consist of officials in such proportion as the Government may determine, and it would be constituted in such a manner and in such order as the Local Government may be pleased to declare. Under safeguards and limitations like this the decision of such a Board may well be allowed to be final. Sir, I ventured to question the expediency of not making such a necessary and harmless provision on the day that the matter was referred to the Select Committee. I do not wish to take up the time of the Council by referring to the considerations I then urged, nor do I wish to refer at length to the précis of opinions in which influential bodies and people pleaded for the acceptance of principles like this, in some shape or another. This would be some real measure of self-government, which I think we are clearly entitled to ask for. We ask Your Honour's Government for a much smaller measure of self-government, about to be entrusted to us soon; but if powers like these cannot be safely delegated, the position later will be somewhat inconsistent and incongruous. All that we now ask for is that liberty should be reserved to Government to make such use of the power from time to time as may seem fit, and that there may be statutory powers to do so, instead of it being left to the Government by rules.

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"Your Honour, the question of popular control over licensing of liquor shops has an ancient history. It was very much discussed in the early seventies. The official correspondence on the subject shows that some of the responsible officers of Government recognised the necessity of granting popular control under proper safeguards. Mr. Alonzo Money, the Member of the Board of Revenue, observed in 1874 as follows:—

'I am not myself in favour of an alteration of the present system for granting licenses, but if a change were made, I would rather see it in the direction of local Licensing Boards. The idea was mooted as regards England by Mr. Arthur Arnold in the April number of The Fortnightly Review, 1872. Such a Board might consist of Collector, Superintendent of Police, and four or five influential men in the district, especially natives.'

"Then when the Abkari Bill was before the Legislative Council in 1875, an Indian Member took the initiative in the matter and urged in the Select Committee the insertion of a clause in the Bill, making over the duty of licensing liquor shops (at any rate in Calcutta) to Municipal bodies. A good deal of discussion took place, but the Select Committee could not see its way to adopt such a provision. The pressure of public opinion was brought to bear on the Government. The British Indian Association very strongly voiced public opinion on this subject. It was urged that the regulation of traffic in intoxicating drinks and drugs affected seriously the physical, social and moral condition of the people, and that the representatives of the people directly interested in the promotion of temperance in the locality they inhabited, would be better fitted to decide the number and location of shops in their locality than a single person at the head of the Department. His Honour the then Lieutenant-Governor, with that deference to public opinion, which always characterised Sir Richard Temple, consented to the insertion of a clause, which was much more liberal than section 84 of the present Act,* in that it did not require the sanction of the Governor-General in Council to the exercise of the power as in section 84. Thirty-four years have passed away since the power was granted. But it was never exercised because so far as the Corporation of Calcutta is concerned the Local Government did not assign the power to it and, as a consequence of this, the Corporation was not aware of the existence of this clause. I am sure, if it had been aware of its existence, it would never have failed to apply to the Government for permission to exercise this power.

...mit it is no argument for the repeal of section 84 of the Act* to say that because the Corporation or any other municipality had no opportunity in the past to exercise that power, it should therefore be taken away from it. The repeal of section 84 is, therefore, a retrograde policy, and unless substantial compensation is given to the Corporation and other municipalities in the shape of real control over the number and location of liquor shops and the grant of licenses, the action of the Government will be viewed with dissatisfaction by the public.

"There is a remarkable unanimity of opinion on this subject both amongst Indian and European representative bodies. The Commissioner of the Tirhoot Division, Mr. Greer, strongly urges for a further advance in the matter of local option. Although the Government may not be prepared to grant a complete system of local option, an attempt has been made in the various amendments suggested to render local opinion effective in the important matter of licensing. A mixed Licensing Board of official and non-official members would be some compensation for the repeal of section 84 of the existing Act.* Such a Board can safely be entrusted with the power which the legislature unhesitatingly granted to much larger public bodies in which the non-official element predominated. It would be quite inconsistent with the spirit of the present advanced policy of the Government, and highly disappointing to the public if the amendments are not accepted. The Government have acknowledged the necessity of following local opinion in granting excise licenses, and with that view, they appointed local Advisory Committees in Calcutta and other municipalities for which they are entitled to our grateful thanks. In Calcutta much useful work was done by the hearty co-operation of the Municipal Commissioners with the Excise executive under the presidentship of the Chairman of the Corporation. The work of the Committee has demonstrated that a mixed Licensing Board of representatives of the people and officials could not fail to be successful. I, therefore, hope your Honour be pleased to accept the proposed amendments."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I fear, Sir, that I must oppose all these amendments. I shall be short in what I have to remark because the position of Government has often been stated by higher authority. The position of Government on this matter is that it desires to prevent and punish drunkenness, and to discourage drinking by minimising temptation and by increasing so far as may be reasonable the costs of drink. But Government is not willing to deny drink in moderation to those who have acquired the habit of taking drink. And the Government is not prepared at present to transfer its responsibilities in this matter, or to allow the question of drink, or no drink, to be decided by any authority except its own officers. It is very undesirable that the exercise of this power of licensing should fall into the hands of a small number of persons, who because they do not want to drink themselves may think that no one else should be allowed to drink. In the fullness of time, Calcutta and the districts of Bengal may have Licensing Boards. But in the opinion of Government the time has not yet come to provide for the constitution of such authorities in an Act of the Legislature. It is not admitted that the question of liberty in this respect should be decided by the classes who would be represented on Licensing Boards, or that the matter is one in which even a small minority should be coerced by a majority. With regard to Advisory Committees, the Council knows that an Advisory Committee was appointed in Calcutta two years ago to advise as to the grant of foreign and country spirit licenses; and before the last settlements in the districts, under Your Honour's orders, Advisory Committees were appointed in all towns with a population of twenty thousand and over to advise on the licensing of liquor shops. I have no doubt that such Advisory Committees will become a permanent feature of the licensing system; and the procedure for the appointment of Advisory Committees has already been incorporated in the Board's Rules. But Government is not yet prepared to make a statutory provision requiring that such Advisory Committees must in every case be constituted; and a majority of the Select Committee did not consider it advisable to go beyond the provisions of sub-clause (u) of clause 79 [now 85 (l)] of the Bill, which gives full power to the Local Government to regulate the procedure to be followed before any licenses for any excisable article is granted for any locality. When I introduced this Bill in January last, I gave reasons why the Bill does not reproduce section 84 of the existing Act,* which has never been put in force. And I have to-day briefly stated the reasons why Government will not at present delegate its authority in this matter, except to its own officers. With regard to Municipal authorities, it may be said briefly that they have not been constituted to exercise control over Excise administration, and they can hardly be said to represent the classes affected by the Excise laws. Mr. Badshah, a late Commissioner of Excise in Bengal, wrote on this subject that it would be invidious to impose duties of this kind on municipal bodies, because their acquiescence even in a part of the Collector's proposals would expose them as a body and as individuals to reproach by their caste-people. No Muhammadan Municipal Commissioner, he said, may approve of any liquor shops without subjecting himself to public obloquy from his co-religionists. Some Hindu Commissioners would also, he said, be loth to incur odium in the public press by expressing approval of the Collector's proposals. For the reasons which I have stated, Sir, I would not accept any of the amendments before the Council."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES ALLEN said:—"I propose to say a few words to the Council with Your Honour's permission on one aspect of this question, and that is the connection of Municipalities with the control of the liquor traffic. This subject has been mentioned in the Council on more than one occasion during the course of this debate. For instance, the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, when speaking upon the occasion of the reference to the Select Committee, urged that Local Committees should be given 'a real determining voice and effective control' over the liquor traffic, and he thought if this were done, more than half those shops would disappear to-morrow, and with them the drinking facilities. Of the amendments now before the Council, one proposes to give the Corporation control over the liquor traffic of Calcutta, and in the proposals for the creation of Licensing Boards and Advisory Boards, the proposition that Municipalities should have a determining voice in the control of excise matters bulks rather largely. For instance, the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal's Licensing Boards would consist of six members, of whom three are to be nominated by the Municipality; and similarly one proposal with regard to Advisory Boards is that all the members should be nominated by the Municipality concerned. Further, we have had it put forward by the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari that one of the defects in the Report of the Select Committee is, that it has not given sufficient prominence to the most fundamental principles of local self-government. I think, therefore, it would be fair to say that in the minds of the Hon'ble Members who have proposed these amendments, the question of the extension of the functions of local bodies so as to include the control of the liquor traffic is very prominent.

"Now, Sir, I think it an important question to consider whether this is a legitimate direction in which the functions of local authorities should be extended, and I shall endeavour to lay before the Council certain considerations which suggest that a negative reply should be given to this question. In the first place, I suppose that my Hon'ble friends would admit that as an example of what they may hope to attain to in the direction of urban self-government, England may be admitted to lead the way. I think they will probably admit that. I do not know, however, whether they are aware that the control of the liquor traffic forms no part of the functions of English Municipalities. Now, with regard to that, Sir, I might refer to the list of matters which came under the scope of municipal jurisdiction in England as quoted by Albert Shaw, but I prefer to remind the Council of a recent debate which took place in the House of Commons during the discussion of the Licensing Bill. In the House of Commons a very moderate amendment was brought forward to the effect that no new license should be granted until the local authority had been consulted.

"The Council will see that that is a very moderate proposition, and it is one that has been actually introduced into the Bill now before the Council. Nevertheless, it is a fact that the Prime Minister objected to the inclusion of this clause in the Bill, and in doing so he deprecated the implied suggestion that the normal duty of a local authority was to give advice to the responsible officials in respect of such matters. During the debate strong objection was taken to the proposal on the ground that it was undesirable to give any local authority a statutory right to interfere in the discretion of licensing, or to set up the local authority as against the power of the officials. The amendment was finally rejected by a large majority.

"Now I contend, Sir, that if in England any control over the liquor traffic is considered not to be a legitimate function of Municipalities, this alone would be a sufficient reason for accepting the same principle in this country. But in addition to this argument, there are reasons peculiar to this country, which lead to the same conclusion. For instance, when we think, Sir, of the abhorrence to the consumption of liquor which is felt by the better class of Indians who are largely represented upon the Corporation and upon our Municipal Councils, we can appreciate the observations which fell from the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, in his speech yesterday, when he said that the strongest argument in favour of local option is that the number of licenses would in that case be largely reduced. In other words, he would put in the hands of gentlemen who hold such views as these, the decision of such matters as the right of a particular person to obtain a license to sell liquor in a particular locality. Well, Sir, I would put it to the Council whether it is likely that gentlemen who hold such views as these are likely to be able to arrive at an impartial decision on matters of this kind. Will they not be very strongly opposed to establishing a new liquor shop anywhere, and will they not be strongly prejudiced against the liquor vendor in a case of that kind?

"And then, Sir, as a last consideration, I would strongly urge upon the Council that it is undesirable in the interest of the purity of their administration that Municipalities should have anything to do with the liquor traffic. I do not know that I need labour this point for American experience demonstrates the temptations to dishonest dealing to which Municipal bodies which control the liquor traffic are subjected.

"I pass now to the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal's proposal for the formation of a Licensing Board, and I should like to point out, that the proposal goes far beyond the scope of the jurisdiction of English Municipal institutions, and what is more important, it goes in an opposite direction to what is there considered expedient. It also goes beyond the Corporation's proposals, because the Corporation left the final decision of all matters, subject to appeal, to the Chief Presidency Magistrate in Calcutta or to the District Magistrate of the 24-Parganas; and it goes beyond the proposals of the Calcutta Excise Committee which would have left the selection of the members of the Board in the hands of the Government. This amendment should therefore in my opinion be rejected.

"In conclusion I desire to emphasize the opinion that the delegation to Municipal bodies of authority over the liquor traffic, is altogether undesirable, and should not be permitted in this country in any shape or form."

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said:—"Your Honour, this is, as Your Honour observed, the most important amendment that has been introduced in this Council, and we have limited time. Representation is very much valued, so also what has been called by the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, local option. Representation, Sir, ought to be viewed in a peculiar light in this country. Take the case of a Municipal Commissioner who represents the voters who voted for him. He represents the voters in those matters where he and the voters have a common interest, and that interest in Municipal matters is sanitation and other public matters of a similar nature. As a matter of fact, as has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson, there is a great difference of opinion as regards the drinking question, if I may use such an expression. There is no doubt that there are some men who consider it a sin, a sin which ought to bring on loss of caste. Under these circumstances, that being the state of the country, I cannot say that a person who represents a certain class of people in matters strictly municipal ought to be taken as their representative in a matter in which, according to religion, according to his habits of life, they differ. Looking at the matter in that light, I should think, Sir, the time has not come and I do not think in India the time will ever come when a Municipal body on the present principles of representation and voting can be considered as the final determining authority with respect to licensing, but there cannot be, Sir, the same objection to have Advisory Boards, where the person who has the final determining power would consult the views of the people, but need not necessarily be bound by their views. I am sure it is the intention of the Government, at least of Your Honour's Government, to utilize the provision of sub-clause (n) [now(j)] of clause 79 (now 85) in that direction and to bring about gradually a state of things where local option in these matters may have such concession as may be legitimately given to them, without bringing into prominent relief points of conflict, contrast and contradiction between the different classes of the community. I can see some force in the argument which has been brought forward by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, when he said that he was not prepared to make a statutory provision for such a Board. I do not think, Sir, there need be any fear in that direction if powers of the functions of such an Advisory Board are definitely laid down in the statute book, yet I do not think a statutory provison would be of any gain either, if the Advisory Board has not any power. For myself, Sir, I am inclined to think that this power, in the matter of exercising the rights of local option and representation in a manner which would lead to right development and in a proper direction of the rights of the people, ought to be left in the hands of Government, and I know that in the present instance, it could not be left in better hands than in the hands of the gentleman who presides over this Council."

The Hon'ble Babu DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"I do not know whether my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, wishes to reply on one of the amendments."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"It rests with yourself to reply first, and the Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal can also reply, as he is a mover of one of these amendments. Both the Hon'ble Members are entitled to reply."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"Sir, we have heard to-day a much stronger statement of the case on the other side than I confess I have been accustomed to, and for the first time a grave doubt has been expressed by a Member as to whether the time will ever come in India when it will be possible to leave the consideration of questions like these to others than Government officials. This is far too large a question for this time and place, and I shall not attempt its detailed consideration. For the present purposes I shall content myself with the more sober statement of the case by the official Members that the time has not yet come when such powers could be safely entrusted to others than Government officers and that 'in the fullness of time', licensing Boards will be allowed under certain circumstances and terms, though nothing has been urged in support of the contention that the time has not come. Many of the observations of the Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen have been directed towards what is not just now before the Council, namely with regard to entrusting Municipal bodies with powers that I contend should be vested in Advisory Boards."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"Is the Hon'ble Member correct in that? We are also discussing 72, the amendment which relates to the municipalisation of this power."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—That is so, Sir, but that amendment, I take it, would be taken separately, although for the sake of convenience we are grouping them together. But if it be Your Honour's ruling that in dealing with this amendment, the other also is before the Council, that observation of mine will, of course, require modification."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I understood that the Hon'ble Members had agreed to that course."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—"That is so, Sir; but for the purpose of voting they must be kept separate, and what applies to one need not necessarily apply to the other. The Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen has referred to what I said when the Bill was being referred to the Select Committee. I then expressed more comprehensive and stronger (but none the less tenable views than those that my amendments represent. The Hon'ble Member will have observed that on realising the actual situation and the temper of the Government and the Council, the amendments we have ventured to bring before the Council are really much less in scope than what I ventured to indicate on the previous occasion, and I claim to have erred on the side of moderation and not over-statement. I realised that not nearly the whole of our requisitions would be accepted, and I am now advocating only for a very small measure of concession, and that is, that under certain circumstances it will be possible for the Government to give the people a Board like this, and a statutory provision should be embodied showing that that concession has been granted. As the two questions are discussed together, I may refer to the Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen's observations with regard to the question of expediency of allowing Municipalities to have anything to do with licensing. Sir, I venture to say that the observations with regard to exclusion of purely Municipal bodies in England are not quite applicable, because a distinction is made there between a Municipality and Licensing Justices, County Councils and Borough Committees, with reference to a matter of this description. True it is not what we understand as Municipalities but bodies like the last-named bodies that are entrusted with licensing powers. But we have nothing like that in this country, and because in the Municipalities is represented the achievement of all that can be claimed in the shape of popular representation our Government were obliged in the past enactment to look upon these institutions as likely bodies that might be entrusted with powers like these under prevailing circumstances. There might be reasons why certain Municipalities should not be vested with powers like these at the present, but in a place like Calcutta, where the power has been in existence for years, and for some reason or other not been exercised, I do not think any evil is likely to arise. The Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen's experience in Municipal matters is very great, and if he has reasons to fear that the purity of administration would be lowered because of powers that have been in existence for so many years, that is a matter to be settled beween him and the Municipality of which he was long the honoured head. I know not what the standard of prevailing purity may be now, for it is now many years since I was a member of the Corporation in very distinguished company when such purity could not be impeached with impunity. At any rate, Sir, I venture to think that we have no facts that would make us think that what is for the good of the administration, whether from the point of view of purity or justice, would be interfered with if powers like these were delegated to those bodies. If that is not desirable, it is right and proper that some body, which would be entirely in the hands of the Government, and the working of which would be under Government control for the present, ought to have jurisdiction in these matters. A reference has been made to the recently constituted Advisory Boards. With a certain amount of assistance their labours will, after all, have some tangible result, if statutory provision such as I plead for is vouchsafed. Sir, reference has also been made by Sir Charles Allen to the extreme temperance views on the part of Mahomedans and Hindus, but Sir Charles Allen has been long enough in office to know that when they are called upon to discharge their duties, Hindu Commisioners and Musulman Commissioners, or for the matter of that Hindu and Musulman policemen and Military have not been wanting in spite of their convictions and their creeds. And, Sir, we must remember in this connection that we are not handing the whole matter over to Hindus or Mahomedans, or to people having extreme views, who will only have their own say, but the whole of the Board will decide the matter in the same way as the officials are now deciding. All that we want is some official recognition of the principles of having these independent bodies so that real results may emanate from their operations. Having regard to these views, if we consider it undesirable that the people should participate in these matters whatever their abilities, resources and discipline may be, of course, the Hon'ble Mr. Das' conclusion will have to be accepted as true, but if on the other hand we rely upon, I shall not call it a promise, Sir, but the assurance of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill that in the fulness of time it will be possible to allow people powers like these, I do not doubt that the delegation will be almost immediately possible. I shall not repeat the observations that I ventured to make on the other occasion as reasons for moving this amendment, but will merely remind the Council that one District Magistrate said, that if 90 per cent. of the people of the locality were to evince feelings against liquor shops, liquor shops in the locality ought not to be in existence. It may be that sentiments like these ought not to be tolerated, but, Sir, when all sections have an opportunity of expressing their views and a settlement of the question is come to after due deliberation, I do not know why we should have any reason to distrust delegations like the one that I urge. Sir, the question is a most important one and public expectation has been raised high. I would humbly beseech the Council to accept the very moderate proposal which I now venture to make."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"Sir, in the first place, I must acknowledge the very sympathetic way in which, although opposing our amendments, the principle of our motions has been received by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. It is in marked contrast with the pronouncement of my Hon'ble friend to my right, Mr. Das, who thinks the time will not come when the country should be fit for having Licensing Boards. My friend seems to be under the impression that under the progressive British administration we shall not attain even such a small advantage. If what my Hon'ble friend now holds had been the character of British rule we should not see him here as the distinguished elected member for Orissa.

"Then, Sir, with reference to the observations of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill that the Advisory Board will be the prominent feature in the licensing of liquor shops, and that it will be provided in the rules to be framed, I desire to point out that it has been a general complaint, both in and outside this Council, that this piece of legislation is more or less rule making. Although I know full well, and thankfully acknowledge, that Government in the future will constitute Advisory Boards, it would have been some concession to public opinion, if instead of leaving it to rules, it had been granted as a statutary privilege. Sir, we are to day, thirty-five years after section 84 was first inserted in the Act (Ben. Act VII of 1878), discussing the propriety of appointing Advisory Boards. When this clause was incorporated in the Bill in August, 1875, under the direction of the then Lieutenant-Governor, it ran as follows:—

13*a*. Notwithstanding anything in this or in any other Act contained, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor to assign to the Justices of the Peace for the town of Calcutta, or to any other municipality, such functions and powers as he shall think fit in respect to the granting, withholding, and withdrawal of licenses for the sale of spirituous or fermented liquors and intoxicating drugs (being functions and powers which, but for such assignment, might legally be exercised by any officer of Government), to be exercised by such Justices or by such municipality within the limits of their respective jurisdictions, under such conditions and subject to such rules as the said Lieutenant-Governor may impose; and the Lieutenant-Governor may at any time withdraw and revoke any functions and powers which he has assigned under the provisions of this section.

"This clause was accepted by the then Chairman of the Corporation, Sir Stuart Hogg. Like the Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen, he was associated for a long, I should rather say much longer, period with the Corporation, and he did not think, like the Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen, that the Corporation was not fit to discharge these functions. I am greatly surprised to observe that the Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen is even opposed to the formation of Advisory Boards. He shakes his head; therefore, I may take it for granted that he will not oppose my motion for the inclusion of a provision for Advisory Boards in the Bill. The Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen suggests that I have gone beyond the recommendation of the Corporation in the matter of Licensing Boards. I venture to think I have not done so. I have in fact asked for much less than what the Corporation of Calcutta had asked. The Corporation of Calcutta suggested the formation of a Licensing Board consisting of the Chairman and twelve members of the Corporation, with the proviso that the decision of the Board should be subject to revision by the Magistrate only. It is true I have omitted the last provision, and my reason for doing so is this—I have asked for the appointment of a mixed Board, consisting of the Chairman, Commissioner of Police, the Excise Commissioner and three members of the Corporation, and not of 12 members only, excluding the officials. I am not one of those who would always like to work without the officials. I think, Sir, if we have an equal number of officials on the Board, it might not be necessary to provide for an appeal to the Magistrate. If, however, the Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen thinks that that proviso should be added, and if he would vote for my motion, I shall be very glad to do so. The question of Licensing or Advisory Boards should not be dismissed with the gloomy prediction that they would not work well. What has been the result of the working of the Advisory Board with which the Chairman of the Corporation was associated? Has not that Board worked satisfactorily? The question of caste and prejudice against drink has been raised. Did not both the Hindu and Mahomedan Commissioners heartily co-operate with the Excise officials regardless of caste considerations or of prejudice? There is another example. The Hindu and Mahomedan Commissioners are associated in the management of cow and pig slaughter-houses. Have they shrunk from their duty, through any consideration of caste and prejudice, to improve and expand the slaughter-houses? Sir, under British rule and British civilisation, caste distinction and caste prejudice are things of the past. The most orthodox of those members of the Hindu and Mahomedan communities are tolerant of the objectionable food and drink of others. I think, therefore, that the objections do not apply on the present occasion. Sir, as my hon'ble friend Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari has said, this question is watched with great interest by the public. European and Indian public opinions strongly urge the appointment of Licensing Boards, and we have, by different amendments, suggested alternative proposals, and I pray, if Your Honour's Government do not see fit to accede to our prayer for the formation of Licensing Boards, Your Honour will at least be pleased to grant us the Advisory Board, considering that the licensing power we got in 1875 is altogether wrested from us."

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said:—"The Hon'ble Members—the non official Members to my left, have supported this amendment, and they have also said, Sir, that this amendment has been pressed before Your Honour in deference to public feeling. The Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen has brought forward certain considerations which certainly ought to have weight in this Council. The question is the employment of the children of the vendor himself, and also the employment of other children who are taken into service. As regards the children of the vendor himself, the argument that their employment in the premises would bring within their knowledge, at an early date, the undesirable scenes of an objectionable house ought not to carry much weight, Sir, because at any rate, perhaps, the vendor's children will be frequently going to the place and seeing those scenes there without even being employed; but there is another view of the question, and that is, at what age do the susceptibilities to such temptation developed in a child? I cannot imagine that a child of 7 or 8, even if he were to see these scenes of indulgence in drinking propensities, would imitate them. The real question is at what age in this country the susceptibilities to degradation develop, and when is it likely that a child in this country would imitate the doings of others who are in the path to such degradation. The question is not free from difficulty, but if we, I submit, Sir, adopt the age that has been accepted in England, we shall at least have the force of precedent; and considering there is much public feeling, and considering that a difference of two years will not make much difference, I submit respectfully that we should be acting prudently if we accepted the English age. I do not attach any importance whatever to the age of majority because a man, when he is grown up, unless his character has been formed, if he is thrown in environments which are likely to lead him to ways of evil, is more likely to be led away along the paths of evil than when he is a child."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"This question of the formation of licensing bodies, whether merely advisory or vested with full powers, has received a large amount of public attention, possibly more than any other part of the Bill, and the speeches we have heard this morning reflect the interest that has been felt in it. Sir Charles Allen and the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill have explained fully and clearly the reasons which have led Government to the conclusion that none of these proposals can be accepted; but in view of the interest and importance of the matter, I should like to add a few brief remarks to supplement what they have said. I do not propose to touch on the municipal aspect of the question: that has been dwelt upon very strongly by Sir Charles Allen, who is a recognised authority on that side of the question. I will merely say that, in my judgment, the arguments brought forward by him were not in any way impaired by the subsequent speakers. In regard to the general principle that is involved, I must admit that I feel considerable sympathy with the view that the separation of the functions of licensing from the functions of administration and collection of revenue may rightly be regarded as an ideal which we may look forward to at some future date. I associate myself with the words that fell from the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill when he said, 'in the fullness of time'—words which have given rise to a good deal of discussion,—in the fullness of time we may attain to a separate licensing authority which will include a substantial proportion of non-official representation. But in my judgment the introduction of a system of that kind is for the present a matter which is quite beyond our reach, and I also hold that we are advancing towards that ideal at a pace which is quite as rapid as can be expected. I have been Financial Minister in the Government of India, and in that capacity it fell to my lot to deal with the Report of the Excise Committee of 1907. In August of that year, on the advice of that Committee, the Government of India issued a Resolution in which they instructed the Local Governments to establish Local Committees to advise on the number and location of liquor shops in the large urban areas of each province. Now, these orders are not yet two years old. They took some time to carry out, and I understand that in Bengal these Committees, where they have been formed at all, have been working not even one year—certainly it is not much more than a year. Well, I remember we had considerable difficulty in determining the constitution to be given to those Committees, and in the end we rightly, as I think, left a large measure of discretion to the Local Governments. So far as my information goes, the Committees that have been formed in Bengal have worked well, but it is manifest that the whole thing is still in an early experimental stage. It is quite impossible yet to affirm that the experiment has been successful everywhere. We cannot even say that the general outlines of it are correct; and it is impossible to say that the form which it has assumed hitherto is the best that can be devised. Under these circumstances, the only prudent course is to treat it as being still a young and untried experiment. It promises well, but has not yet been put to the proof. It would not be possible for me to advise the Government of India to convert the Local Committees we have already got into Licensing Boards with plenary powers, or even to give them the statutory recognition as Advisory bodies that is proposed in one of the alternative amendments. If these bodies which we have got now, and the new bodies which will come into existence under the rule-making power which we are taking under the Bill, should work well, and if, as one of the speakers puts it, they should evince a due sense of responsibility in the discharge of their duty, then, Gentlemen, when the law next comes under revision, a considerable advance will be made in the direction I have indicated. But until much more experience has been gained, I think the Council will be well advised to accept the provision in the Bill as it stands and reject these various amendments."

Motions 67, 69 and 70 were then put and lost.

The said motions having been lost, motion No. 71 was not put.

Clause 42 (now 38).

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson moved that the following words in sub-clause (1) of clause 42 (now 38) of the Bill be omitted, namely :—

> either generally by rule made under section 80, or specially in any particular instance.

He said:—"The reason for omitting these words is similar to that which was given by me in moving a former amendment this morning. It is unnecessary to direct that the Board should publish all their forms in the Gazette. Sub-clause f (a1) [now (10)] of clause 80 (now 86), which gives power to the Board to prescribe particulars to be contained in licenses and permits, will be retained; and a rule made on this subject will have to be published in the Gazette. It is not necessary to provide more than this, and the words specified by this motion may therefore be omitted from clause 42 (now 38)."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 49 (now 44).

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also moved that, at the end of sub-clause (1) of clause 49 (now 44) of the Bill, the following be added, namely:—

unless the license is liable to cancellation or suspension under section 47.

He said:—The object of this amendment is to prevent a licensee who has misbehaved and has thus rendered himself liable to cancellation of his license from surrendering it, and thereby escaping the penalty of forfeiture of his deposit which is provided in clause 47 (now 42). Such surrenders to avoid forfeiture are known at present."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 50 (now 45).

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also moved that, in clause 50 (now 45) of the Bill, for the words from "the Collector" to the words "any other person" the following be substituted, namely:—

the Collector may (in the case of a license, after the cancellation or surrender thereof, and, in the case of an exclusive privilege at any time)—

(a) take the grant under management, at the risk and loss of the person to whom it was made, or

(b) transfer the unexpired portion of the grant, at the risk and loss of the said person, to any other person.

He said:—"The object of this amendment is to make it clear that direct management, or transfer of a license, is a measure to be taken only after cancellation or surrender. It is not a measure alternative to cancellation. It would be subsidiary to and consequent upon cancellation."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 52 (now 47).

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that clause 52 (now 47) of the Bill be omitted.

He said:—"This, as appears from a marginal note, is a new section, that has been borrowed from the Madras Act. It is a distinct penal section, or rather, follows a penal section—section 78 of the old Act. It was laid down in a well-known case that penal provisions of the Act, should be construed strictly. The present penal section, I submit, is by no means within the spirit of that ruling. Crime is not to be presumed, and except in certain exceptional cases presumption must be always in favour of innocence, on the ground that a prosecutor must prove every fact necessary to substantiate his charge against a prisoner, or, in other words, that the law always presumes innocence in the absence of convicting evidence to the contrary. In criminal cases the burden of proof, unless shifted by legislative interference, always falls on the prosecuting party and in order to convict he must necessarily have recourse to negative evidence. The Legislature in England has now in some cases got rid of the necessity of proving negative matter, either by enactments creating the offence afresh and omitting all mention of the negative matter, but more generally by expressly enacting that the burden of proving authority, consent, lawful excuse, and the like shall be on the defendant. Thus the accused is by the statutes relating to the offences, bound to protect himself by showing affirmatively the existence of some lawful authority or excuse, where he is charged with sundry statutory offences. Such would be the case for example where a person is found drunk upon licensed premises; it then lies upon the holder of the license according to the English law to prove that he took all reasonable steps to prevent drunkenness on the premises. This provision is in our Bill also, and we are not objecting to it, but the line must be drawn somewhere, and I would draw it here, because the scope of the present clause is for too wide and large. Such safe-guard as may be claimed for this clause is already provided to a certain extent. A reference to section 114 of the Evidence Act will show that a certain amount of presumption in certain circumstances is permissible against the accused, if he fails to avail of opportunities to clear himself, but such permissibility cannot be expanded or amplified by special enactment, except upon a strong case being made out, and no case has been attempted to be made out in the present connection, except that the Madras Act has such a section. As Lord Stowell observed in a well-known case, 'to take presumption in order to swell an equivocal fact, a fact that is absolutely ambiguous in its own nature, into a criminal fact is a mode of proceeding of a very different nature, and would be an entire misapplication of the doctrine of presumption.' If under clauses 51 and 52 (now 46 and 47) of the Bill, the facts constituting the offence were proved first and then the connection between the accused and the offence were sought to be established by the prosecution, Lord Stowell's observations could not have so pointed a bearing. As things stand in the Bill the Court ought not to be allowed to presume that the accused is guilty. Special evidentiary rules in advance of the Indian Evidence Act can be sanctioned only under special circumstances such as called forth the Indian Criminal Law Amendment Act of 1908. But even there the limitations and safe guards are many, and only a very special Court is allowed to exercise the special power. The clause which we are dealing with not only expands the area of admissibility of evidence as the Criminal Law Amendment Act does under very special circumstances, but actually sanctions presumption of guilt. In the language of the judgment in another well-known case: 'In the inferior Courts in this country the right principle is occasionally reversed and a person is presumed to be guilty, the moment he is accused, and every attempt on his part to prove his innocence is regarded as vexatious.' It has already been laid down with sufficient clearness and emphasis in law that 'the presumption of innocence may be overthrown and a presumption of guilt raised by misconduct of the party in suppressing or destroying evidence,' and having regard to the class of courts that will have the administering of the extra powers now sought to be added, and also in absence of any case for such addition, I am justified in asking for its rejection, though it may be in favour of the public only. The Commissioner of Patna puts it very mildly, but sufficiently strongly according to the standard of official parlance, that the new clause is "rather a stretching of section 103 of the Indian Evidence Act," and creates a peculiar presumption. That presumption ought not to be allowed.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I cannot advise the Council to accept this amendment, Sir. The clause creates a presumption as to offence when possession is not satisfactorily accounted for. It follows the Madras Act and it follows our own Opium Act of 1878, but, whereas in the Madras Act and in the Opium Act the words are that "it shall be presumed" our Bill provides that "it may be presumed", which is a more lenient provision If possession be satisfactorily accounted for, then, of course, no presumption of guilt would arise. In an illustration given in the Indian Evidence Act, it is stated that a person found in possession of stolen property may be presumed to be guilty if he is found in possession shortly after the theft. It would be for a person in possession of a still, or of fermented mowha to show for what purpose he was in possession. If he could do so then no presumption of guilt would arise."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI, said:—"This legislation will be superfluous, and the difference between "shall" and "may" will sometimes be lost sight of, and the judgment arrived at may not always be condusive in the interests of justice."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 54 (now 51).

The Hon'ble Babu Doba Prasad Sarbadhikari also moved that the words "or intoxicated," be inserted after the word "drunk" in sub-clause (b) of clause 54 (now 51) of the Bill.

He said:—"I do not know, Sir, that this is the best word that could be used, but it is the only word that struck me in reference to the matter, and the reason of this amendment is that the word "drunk" will not cover the other cases of 'drugs.' Some reservation like this is necessary for application to excisable articles other than drink. If a man is advanced in intoxication through other drugs, I submit he ought to be placed in the same category of disability as a person who is intoxicated as the result of drink, and unless we have some word like the one I suggest, the limitation will be only in regard to spirituous liquors."

The Hon'ble Mr. MACPHERSON said:—"I accept this amendment, Sir. The acceptance of the amendment would involve consequential additions to other clauses. I would suggest that the motion should take the following form:—

(1) that, after the word "drunk," in sub-clauses (b) and (2) of clause 54 (now 51) of the Bill, the words "or intoxicated" be inserted,
(2) that, after the words "drunkenness," in sub-clause (d) of clause 54 (now 51) of the Bill, the word "intoxication" be inserted, and
(3) that, after the word "drunkenness," in both places in which it occurs in sub-clause (2) of clause 54 (now 51) of the Bill, the words "or intoxication" be inserted."

The motion was put in the amended form and agreed to.

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

79. The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami, Bahadur to move that the word "sixteen" be substituted for the word "fourteen" in sub-clause (c) of clause 54 (now 51) of the Bill.

80. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that for the word "fourteen" in sub-clause (c) of clause 54 (now 51) of the Bill, the word "sixteen" be substituted.

The Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI, BAHADUR, said:—"Sir, I feel as if I am leading a forlorn hope when I press this amendment for the acceptance of the Council. The motion with regard to the employment of children under 16 years has been rejected, but still I labour the question of forbidding the sale of intoxicants to children of 16 years and under, because I feel that there is an essential distinction and difference between the two cases. In the first case, the forbidding of the employment of children of 16 was combatted on the ground that it will put the vendor to inconvenience, that he will not be able to employ his children in helping him in his trade; but here the matter stands entirely on a different footing. Here what is forbidden is this, that intoxicating drinks should not be sold to children under 16 years. That is the amendment which I wish to press for your acceptance. Since there won't be inconvenience to any one, I think, Sir, there should be no objection to the substitution of the higher age limit. I believe I am right when I say that in England the sale of cigarettes to children of 16 is prohibited. I have not had time to look up how the point stands in regard to the sale of liquors to children in England, but I think, Sir, in the face of the strong public opinion in regard to the limit of age, Your Honour will at least accept the amendment in regard to forbidding the sale of intoxicating drinks to children under 16 years."

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"Sir, I am inclined to take a little more hopeful view of the situation with regard to this particular matter than my hon'ble friend Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur, and I do not think that we are leading quite a forlorn hope in asking that here at all events the age-limit of 16 may be adopted. I shall not refer to the economic grounds referred to by the Hon'ble Sir Charles Allen yesterday with regard to employment of children in the interests of the trade, and the present matter stands on quite a different footing. What Your Honour was pleased to say yesterday regarding the age-limit has, I am glad to say, no application to the present case. Since we were here yesterday, I have been looking up the matter, and I find that with regard to the sale of liquor different limits are prescribed in Scotland and England. Fourteen is the age-limit under the Intoxicating Liquors Act. Fourteen is also the age-limit under the Licensing Act of Scotland with regard to the sale of intoxicant liquors to children other than spirits, and 16 is the age-limit in Scotland under the same Act with regard to the sale of spirits to children, and in the recent Act of 1908, 16 is the age-limit for the sale of other things, such as tobacco and cigarettes. With regard to employment also, which argument is not quite applicable for my present purpose, I find that there is a difference in the definition of age-limit. Fourteen is the age indicated with regard to employment of a certain description, and 16 is the age-limit with regard to employment of other descriptions, but by the Act for the prevention of cruelty to children with regard to some matters they have fixed the age at 11. But as that particular matter is not before the Council any longer, no useful purpose would be served by bringing it to the notice of the Council. With regard to these limits, there is a further safeguard in the Employment Act, which says that nothing in that Act would prevent the employment by licensed vendors of a member in his family as a messenger to deliver intoxicating liquors. We have this fact standing out that in Scotland, which, if I may refer to Your Honour's own comment, is a still more northern country than England, they have thought that 16 years is the lowest age at which they will sanction for the sale of spirituous liquor to children, and we plead, Sir, that that limit ought to be adopted in this country. I do not know of course whether in regard to drink habits English lads are more precocious than their Scottish compeers, but it is a sort of precocity that we should not like imitated here. It is a sort of predilection that we would be very slow to assist in developing. Sir, it is true that this is an unfortunately situated country with regard to certain matters to which reference has been made. It is a kind of early development that we all deplore, but it is equally unfortunately unavoidable. With regard to avoidable matters, therefore, we are anxious that facilities might not be given and undesirable and avoidable habits should not develop even under the semblance of legislative sanction. I feel, Sir, that if in the case of employment, we could have no distinct concession we ought to do a little better in this case, and as we are making a beginning with regard to the age-limit of consumers, we claim that we ought to make a good beginning. Whatever may be enforced with regard to the employment of trades people's children, I do hope, Sir, that the Council will be inclined to take a more favourable view of things in this respect. It may be, as I have been told by one of the Hon'ble Members, that there will be some apparent hardship in regard to excisable articles other than spirituous drink if the age-limit was raised to 16; but the same difficulty would arise with regard to limits of less than 14. If a lad of 14 is not to be permitted to go and buy a pice worth of sidhi, and that is looked upon as a hardship, the same may be claimed for a lad of 13, 12 or 11. As was pointed out yesterday in another connection, it is difficult to make out whether a boy is 14 or 16, and you can only judge by appearance; and in order to be quite sure that a child of less than 14 is not served, it is safe and necessary that a slightly higher age-limit should be fixed. These considerations urge me, Sir, to move with some confidence for the adoption of the age of 16."

The Hon'ble Sir Bijay Mahtab, Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, supported this amendment.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I confess, Sir, with some humility that I have not made such careful study of the law of Scotland on this subject as has been made by the Hon'ble Member for the University. I have no doubt the Hon'ble Member has correctly stated to us the law of Scotland in the matter, but I am not quite sure that he has entirely appreciated the provisions of the Scottish law in connection with the clause we are discussing. Not only in Scotland, but in England, the law since 1872, and perhaps before 1872 has forbidden the sale of drink to a person under 16 for consumption on the premises. It was much later that the English Legislature went on to prohibit the sale to children of drink to be consumed off the premises. The provisions which were enacted were to the effect that liquor should not be sold to a child under 14, whether for consumption on or off the premises, except in a sealed and stoppered bottle. Then, Sir, as the matter of the employment of a child on licensed premises has again been mentioned, I will say that I was not aware that there is a prohibition of employment of a child under 16 on licensed premises, either in England or Scotland. The Act that I quoted to the Council yesterday was the Children's Protection Act of last year, in which a child is defined as a person under 14. I would call the attention of the Council to the fact that the clause which we are considering does not apply merely to the case of consumption by a child on the licensed premises, but applies to sale for consumption whether on or off the premises; that is to say, it will be illegal for a vendor to sell spirits or intoxicating drugs to a child under 14, whether in a stoppered bottle or in a sealed receptacle or not. To that extent it goes beyond the provisions of the English law and, so far as I know, the Scottish law. I mentioned yesterday that the presence of a child under 14 in a bar of licensed premises is also prohibited in England and Scotland by the Children's Protection Act of last year.

The provision in this Bill is a new restriction so far as regards statutory provision, and it is not very old as a rule and condition of license. Fourteen was the age-limit which was recommended by the Select Committee of 1904 for Bengal on the recommendation of the majority of the District Officers, and 14 was the age adopted some years ago by the Bombay Government. I do not recommend that at present it should be increased."

The motion 79 was put and lost.

The said motion having been lost, motion 80 was not put.

Clause 56 (now 53).

The following motions were discussed together namely :—

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that after the words "his business," at the end of line 4 of clause 56 (now 53) of the Bill, the following be inserted, namely :—

and not being his guest, friend or relative, and if he charges for such consumption.

82. If the last foregoing amendment be carried, also to move that for the words "not employed as aforesaid," in sub-clause (2) of clause 56 (now 53) of the Bill, the words "not excepted by sub-section (1)" be substituted.

He said :—"This, Sir, struck me as necessary, and it has been represented to be so in the interests of those who are accustomed to have drinks and who live on Dispensary premises with their families. A large number of dispensaries have come into existence in Calcutta owned by others than Indians who are bound to live on the premises and have to see friends and entertain them, and if the limitation is only with regard to their servants there may be a difficulty in the way of domestic and hospitable duties. I think, therefore, that if a man happens to live on the premises and receives friends and does not charge for the entertainment, a relaxation of the rule ought to be permissible."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I would not accept this amendment, Sir. The Hon'ble Member has noticed that this clause which imposes a penalty for the consumption of excisable articles in chemist shops, unless the articles be bonâ fide medicated for medicinal purposes, is more stringent than the existing law. The prohibition covers the whole 24 hours, whereas in the existing Act, the prohibition covers only the hours between sunset and sunrise, and the penalty also has been made more severe. The Hon'ble Member would, therefore, at least allow some hospitality on business premises. In one of the opinions received on the Bill, the question is asked whether a chemist is not to be allowed even to give a glass of brandy in the case of a street accident. The subject requires some attention. I find that the form of words used in this clause, except for the elimination of the words 'between sunset and sunrise' contained in the existing law, practically goes back to the Council Debates of 1875 when the subject of the abuse of the law by sale of liquor in dispensaries appears first to have attracted serious attention. We have undoubtedly curtailed the liberty of the chemist still further, so far as regards any hospitality on business premises. This matter does not appear to have attracted attention except from the Hon'ble Member for the University who has moved this amendment. I think that the words which he would insert would be dangerous, more dangerous than he thinks, in encouraging what has been described as an insidious form of excise offence. Such offences are well known in America, where sales of liquor are in some States allowed only in drug stores. I would, therefore, oppose the amendment. With regard to the case of a stimulant given in the case of a street accident, I notice that this point was considered as far back as 1875. The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier then said in Council that certainly no Magistrate would convict in such a case, and it may be added that there can be no prosecution for such an offence under the provisions of the Bill now before the Council, except on the complaint of an Excise Officer. I refer to clause 74 (now 77). Clause 74 (now 77) states the circumstances under which a prosecution may be initiated."

Motion 81 was put and lost.

The said motion having been lost, motion 82 was not put.

Clause 63 (now 62).

The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur moved that, in line 2 of clause 63 (now 62) of the Bill, the word and figures "section 54" be inserted after the word and figures "section 51."

He said:—"Clause 63 (now 62) deals with the punishment to be inflicted in cases of second or subsequent convictions. I find that enhanced punishment has been provided in respect of offences which are in the interest of revenue, but offences which are to be punished in the interest of public convenience, order or safety, are left out of clause 63 (now 62), and in this respect there is a remarkable departure from the old Act. The existing Act, in section 74, lays down that whenever any person is convicted against the provisions of that Act, punishable with a fine of Rs. 200 or upwards, after having been previously convicted of a like offence, he shall in addition to the penalty attached to such offence, be liable to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months. Your Honour must have seen that the prohibitions introduced in clause 24 (now 25) and clause 54 (now 51) have loomed largely before the public eye. At all events we attach very great importance to the proper working out of these prohibitions, and I propose that clause 54 (now 51) be added to the number of clauses in which enhanced punishment is allowed."

The Hon'ble MR. DAS said:—"I endorse the arguments of my friend the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"The Hon'ble Member's proposal is that an enhanced punishment should be provided in the case of a repetition of offences against clause 54 (now 51). Clause 54 (now 51) relates to offences of a licensee in regard to drunkenness on licensed premises, employing a woman or child in contravention of the provisions of the Act, supplying drink to a drunken person, and supplying drink to a child. I do not contest the justice of an enhanced penalty in the case of the repetition of such an offence, but I have to explain that the penal clauses of a Bill receive very close attention and special sanction from the higher authorities, that is from the Government of India and from the Secretary of State, and the enhancement of a penalty might mean a reference to such higher authority. Then, Sir, there is another effective penalty which can be imposed on a licensee who offends a second time, and that is the cancellation of his license, which may often be a greater punishment than a prosecution. On these considerations I would ask the Hon'ble Member not to press his motion."

The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur, by leave of the President, withdrew the motion.

Clause 68 (new 65).

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

84. The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that clause 68 (now 65) of the Bill be omitted.

85. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, to move, with the permission of His Honour the President, that, after the word "behalf" in line 2 of clause 68 (now 65) of the Bill, the words "not below the rank of Deputy Collector" be inserted.

86. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, to move, with the permission of His Honour the President, that, after the word "behalf" in line 2 of clause 68 (now 65) of the Bill, the words "not below the rank of Sub-Deputy Collector or Deputy Inspector" be inserted.

He said:—"In moving for the omission of clause 68 (now 65), which again is a new provision, I wish to emphasise the undesirability of allowing any authority to compound where penal offences like these have been committed, except with the knowledge and intervention of the Court. There may or may not be the necessity, under certain circumstances, of a provision like this, but at the same time I feel, Sir, that the chances of abuse are likely to be many. The system is likely to lend itself to corruption, considering that the power goes down to the lowest grade of Excise officials, but is also likely to increase harassment and vexation. It is conceivable that people who offend would find it cheaper to do so and pay whatever they may be called upon to do, away from Magistrate or Court, and from the business point of view it will, well pay. There are some cases, Sir, in which the punishment may go up to so much as Rs. 500 and the compounding may not be for over Rs. 200. We must therefore carefully consider the question of the class of officers who are to be allowed to compound. If that goes far enough down in the ranks, the story of the village constable will come back to the minds of many. A constable is much more powerful than the Magistrate or the Commissioner, said an arrested carter, and it is very much better that he should fine him on the spot than take all the trouble of going up to the Sudder and risk the chance of a prosecution. And the wise carter urged and pleaded this with success. This objection may be met by acceptance of amendment that I have lower down in the list, in case my principal amendment is lost. I felt bound to state the principle that compelled me to give notice of that amendment, but I fairly see that hopelessness of the amendment being carried. I have been in negotiation with the Hon'ble Member in charge and have induced him to think that some limitation ought to be placed by law on the officers allowed to compound. I have drawn two lines. If the Hon'ble Member in charge will please accept the first, it will make the Deputy Collector the official entitled to compound. Here we all know, Sir, that we have a perfectly reliable class of officials,—not only reliable, but also experienced. If that does not commend itself to the Hon'ble Member, I go down a little further and have an equally reliable official, but not so experienced. The only reason why I hesitate to draw the line lower is that the Sub-Deputy Collector may not have the requisite experience. I do not question their ability, but the question of experience very strikingly comes into these matters. Of course judicial discretion has to be exercised, but if away from the ordinary safe guards and surroundings the compounding officer Judges wrong, there is no machinery that can put him right. I therefore urge, Sir, that the second amendment may commend itself to the Hon'ble Member in charge."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—" With regard, Sir, to the Hon'ble Member's amendment No. 84 that clause 68 (now 65) of the Bill should be omitted, I must advise Council that this amendment should not be accepted. It is proposed to take powers for Collectors, or specially authorised officers to compound certain minor offences. When the Hon'ble Member said that he was able to convince me that the class of officers to be so empowered should be defined, I think he did not mean to imply that I was in favour of empowering officers generally in such a matter. It would never be contemplated that subordinates should be given such a power. It will be observed by the Council that except in the case of clause 60 (now 59), which relates to minor offences, it is only offences which are committed by licensees which may be compounded. This provision is taken from the Madras Act. Under the present Excise law in Bengal no power exists to compound even the smallest offence of a licensee, and licensees must either be prosecuted before a Magistrate, or their licenses must be cancelled if it is desired to punish them. We have precedents in the Forest Act and in the Stamp Act for allowing compounding of minor offences. The provision will have no application to the graver offences against the Excise law. I would defend the provision therefore, Sir, so as to enable minor offences to be dealt with, without the delay and stigma of a trial before a Magistrate. With regard to the Hon'ble Member's amendments 85 and 86, I would state, Sir, that I would accept amendment 85, providing that no officer below the rank of a Deputy Collector shall be empowered in this behalf."

Motion No. 84 was, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Motion No. 85 was then put and agreed to.

The said motion having been carried, motion No. 86 was not put.

Clause 69 (now 66.)

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson moved that the words "or Police officer", in sub-clause (c) of clause 69 (now 66) of the Bill, be omitted.

He said:—"These words are unnecessary because clause 8(d) [now 7(d)] empowers Government to invest any person with powers of an Excise officer, and the words may be ambiguous as intended to convey that only Police officers may be empowered."

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 70 (now 67).

The following motions were discussed together, namely:—

88. The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson to move, with the permission of His Honour the President, that the words "not below such rank as the Local Government may, by notification, prescribe," in sub-clause (a) of clause 70 (now 67) of the Bill, be omitted.

89. If the last foregoing amendment be not carried, also to move, with the permission of His Honour the President, that after sub-clause (b) of clause 70 (now 67) of the Bill, the following be inserted, namely:—

or (c) in any public or open place, any officer of the Excise, Police, Salt, Customs Opium or Land Revenue Department.

He said:—"The object of amendments 88 and 89 is to provide for a matter which was overlooked or was the subject of misunderstanding in the Select Committee. The question is whether in the case of graver offences against the Excise law, Excise or Police officers of the lowest rank, viz., constables and peons, should be given any powers of arrest or seizure without a warrant. For instance, a man is selling cocaine in the street, or is carrying smuggled liquor; our present Excise Act does not allow a peon or constable to arrest the vendor of cocaine or the smuggler of liquor even in the street. The constable or peon must call in an officer of higher rank. The Madras Act allows any officer of the Abkari, Salt, Police, Land Revenue or Customs Department, or any other person duly empowered to arrest without warrant in any public thoroughfare or open place other than a dwelling-house any person committing one of the graver offences against the Excise law. And the Indian Excise Act of 1896, which is in force in India and in Northern Burma, authorises any Excise officer to stop or detain any liquor or drug liable to confiscation and to arrest any person found in possession of such spirit or drug. Then, the Opium Act of 1878, which is in force in our province, allows any officer of the Excise, Police, Customs, Salt, Opium and Revenue Departments to seize in any open place, or in transit, opium liable to confiscation, and to arrest any person in possession of opium and others in his company. The Eastern Bengal and Assam Bill, which is now before the Council of the Eastern Province, proposes to authorise any Excise or Police officer in any public place to arrest without warrant, detain and search persons committing the graver Excise offences. As I think, there was an oversight in the Select Committee in this matter, for it will be seen that sub-clause (b) of clause 70 (now 67) authorises the Local Government to empower any person to arrest, detain and search, and no objection has been made to this clause. I think we were perhaps misled in the Select Committee by the comprehensiveness of sub-clause (b), but as I am advised by the Hon'ble Legal Remembrancer and by the learned Secretary to the Council, we have so worded clause 70 (a) [now 67 (a)] that we could not give any power at all under this clause to any constable or peon of the Excise Department. There is, as it seems to me, an incongruity in this matter, which came to notice when we began to draft the rules that we would propose to make. It does not seem to be necessary to bar the Government from giving any power to Police constables and peons when we have authorised Government to empower any person generally under this clause. If therefore, as I would wish, the Council will trust the Local Government to exercise power discreetly in this matter, I think the purpose in view can best be attained by acceptance of amendment 88. I would give the Council an assurance in this case that restriction will be imposed in the case of inferior officers, as indeed the clause already provides. If the Council should be unwilling to take this assurance, I would then ask them to accept the alternative amendment, which practically follows the Eastern Bengal and Assam Bill and provides for exercise of powers in public places by officers of any rank. But I would prefer the first amendment because it seems to me that the powers which a constable or peon should be allowed to exercise in this respect in a public place can best be regulated by a rule."

Motion No. 88 having been put and agreed to, motion No. 89 was not put.

Clauses 70, 73D and 74F (now 67, 74 and 83).

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson moved that, in sub-clause (i) of clause 70 (now 67) of the Bill, after the word and figures "section 51" the word and figures "section 52A" be inserted.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also moved that, in sub-clause (b) of clause 73D (now 74) of the Bill, after the word and figures "section 51" the word and figures "section 52A" be inserted.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also moved that, in sub-clause (a) of clause 74F (now 83) of the Bill, after the word and figures "section 51" the word and figures "section 52A" be inserted.

He said :—"I would ask leave, Sir, to move amendments 90, 91 and 94 together. Clause 52A (now 48) is one of the more serious offences defined in the Bill; it relates to attempts to make denatured spirit potable. It is fitting, therefore, that 52A (now 48) should be mentioned in clause 70 (now 67), which relates to arrest without warrant, in 73D (now 74), relating to investigation, and in 74F (now 83), which relates to institution of prosecutions.

I ask that section 52A (now 48), Sir, be inserted in all these clauses. The motions were put and agreed to.

Clause 73D (now 74).

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also moved that the word and figures "section 53", in sub-clause (b) of clause 73D (now 74) of the Bill, be omitted.

He said:—"It is proposed to omit this reference to clause 53 (now 49) in the specification made in clause 73D (now 74), because this clause, which deals with the offence of adulteration not amounting to an offence under the Penal Code, is not held to be one of the more serious offences, and it is not mentioned in the preceding clauses of Chapter X of the Bill.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, by leave of the President withdrew the following motion of which he had given notice, namely:—

"That sub-clause (2) of clause 73D (now 74) of the Bill be omitted."

Clause 79 (now 85).

The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, by leave of the President, withdrew the following motion of which he had given notice, namely:—

That, in sub-clause (3) of clause 79 (now 85) of the Bill, after the words "previous publication" the following be added, namely:—

and after considering the objections (if any) received from any person.

The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal also moved that the following proviso to sub clause (3) of clause 79 (now 85) of the Bill be omitted, namely:—

Provided that any such rules may be made without previous publication if the Local Government considers that they should be brought into force at once.

He said:—"As I have already said, Sir, the provision requires that when it is enacted that such rules may be brought into force at once without previous publication, such a provision cannot fail to be injurious. I earnestly hope that this provision will be omitted."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"The proviso requiring "previous publication" was added by the Select Committee and it was provided that rules may be made without "previous publication" if the Local Government consider that they should be brought into force at once. The term "previous publication" has a stereotyped meaning attached to it by the General Clauses Act. When it is stated in any Act of the Legislature that rules are to be made "after previous publication", the meaning, as laid down in the General Clauses Act, is that there must be a preliminary publication, or publication of rules in draft, for the information of the public, and that all objections and suggestions offered must be considered by the rule-making authorities before the rules are finally made. In fact it has been for nearly thirty years the standing rule of Government that any rules of importance affecting the public must first be published in draft, whether the Act under which they are made so requires or not, unless in circumstances of such urgency as to require that the delay involved should not be allowed. Looking to the matters specified in clause (79 now 85), I think that it would be unlikely that Government would often desire to make a rule regulating the matters named without previous publication. But it might be necessary to do this, and power should therefore be taken for an emergency. If a mistake be made in such a case it would be rectified by modification of such a rule on cause being shown. I would therefore oppose this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 82 (now 88).

The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur moved that the words and figures "Subject to the provisions of section 79 (now 85), sub-section (3)," be inserted at the beginning of clause 82 (now 88) of the Bill.

He said:—This amendment, Sir, is of a verbal character. Clause 82 seems to me to be in conflict with the proviso to clause 79 (now 85)—"The powers conferred by this section for making rules are subject," etc. Here all rules made shall be published in the Gazette. There seems to be a conflict between the two, and in order to put the thing clearly, I propose that these words "subject to the provisions of section 79 (now 85)," sub-section (3) "be added at the beginning of clause 82 (now 88)."

The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL said:—"I would ask Your Honour to permit me to move amendment No. 100, which is practically the same as that moved by my Hon'ble friend Rai Kishori Lal Goswami. I would accept his amendment, Sir, if it is carried, because it is practically only a verbal amendment, Sir, which will only ensure previous publication."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"No. 100 is not consistent with the provisions of sub-clause (3) of clause 79 (now 85) whereas the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur is consistent with it."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"The Hon'ble Rai Kishori Lal Goswami Bahadur's amendment No. 98| would require that there should be a previous publication, not only of all rules and notifications issued by Government, but also of all rules made by the Board. The Board's rules as well as the Government rules must, under the clause as it now stands, be published in the Calcutta Gazette. And if previous publication be required in the case of the Board's rules also, saving of urgent rules must be provided as in the case of Government rules. I can assure the Hon'ble Member that the Board has not ordinarily in the past and is not at all likely in the future to make rules in any important matters affecting the public in excise matters, and having the force of law without a preliminary publication, though of course the Board may issue instructions to its officers without publishing them all in the Gazette. For these reasons I would oppose the amendment."

This motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble Babu Radha Charan Pal, by leave of the President, withdrew the following motions of which he had given notice, namely:—

99. That the following words in clause 82 (now 88) of the Bill be omitted, namely:—

"and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act."

100. That the following be added to clause 82 (now 88) of the Bill, namely:—

"Provided that all rules made under this Act shall be subject to the condition that they be made after previous publication and after considering the objections (if any) received from any person by the respective authorities making the rules."

Clause 83 (now 89).

The Hon'ble Mr. Das moved that the words "lessee or assignee," wherever they occur in sub-clause (3) of clause 83 (now 89) of the Bill, be omitted.

He said:—"I would add nothing more to the reasons I have given for moving the amendment on page 13 of the Report attached to the Excise Bill."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I accept the amendment, seeing that the words may have wider scope than was contemplated."

The motion was put and agreed to.

New Clause.

The Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI BAHADUR, by leave of the President, withdrew the following motion of which he had given notice, namely:—

That, after clause 85 (now 90) of the Bill, the following be inserted, namely:—

"85A. No suit shall lie in any Civil Court for the recovery of any debt alleged to be due in respect of any liquor consumed on the premises where such liquor is sold."

He said:—I was privileged by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill to discuss my amendments with him and on the present question he drew my attention to clause 80(5)(iv) [now 86 (9)(v)] which empowers the Board to prohibit the sale of any excisable article except for cash. That is a much stronger but a desirable provision in the Excise Law, so I beg leave to withdraw my motion."

Clause 86 (now 91).

The Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that clause 86 (now 91) of the Bill be omitted.

He said:—"Sir, this clause is new, and no justification for it is pleaded except that it has travelled from Madras; we are not given any facts or any reason in support of the pratical closure of the King's Civil Court against those seeking redress at great cost and at greater risk in case of failure. I claim and maintain that legislation for which no adequate and satisfactory reason can be urged is not only unnecessary but harmful. The Bill contains many provisions for the punishment of defaulting excise men, who, judging by the rigour of some of them, are not deemed to be invariably model men. The Bill in this respect is like the village mother who would unmercifully belabour her child by way of discipline, but would not brook so much as a neighbour's frown. But is the King's Civil Court, supreme belief in which is one of the best assets of the Government in this country, so very rank and unwelcome and outsider? And what right have we to take away the free citizen's right to go to his Sovereign's Court if he is so inclined to do at his own risk, which is tremendous in case of failure? In the words of the Lord Chief Justice of England 'let there be no encroachment on the jurisdiction of the Law Courts and the liberty of the people, who are as a matter of right entitled to the protection of His Majesty's Judges against the abuse of powers by public servants.'

"As the clause has been framed, bad faith will have to be pleaded by a plaintiff before he can put his plaint on the file, and thereby a heavy onus of proof is at once thrown upon him which is a severe handicap. The burden of proof as to the usual facts of the case of course lies on the plaintiff in every case, and this burden would be heavier still if the plaintiff grounds his right of action upon a negative allegation, namely, the absence of good faith on the part of the defendant, and the establishment of this negative would consequently be an essential element in support of his claim. I do not for one moment deny that public officers require protection, and possibly plenty of it. But I also maintain that such protection is already forthcoming, and protection of the Madras pattern such as is claimed in the Bill and some others has not been vouchsafed even by the Protection of Public Authorities' Act in England. All that they have attempted there are certain limitations and conditions as to notice, time limit for suits, place of institutions, pleading of the general issues procedure and special modes of awarding costs in case of apology or prior amends, but no class of suits has been positively barred as is now being attempted.

"This would ordinarily be of little use, for several well known decisions have established that boná fides is not alone sufficient to bring a case within the privilege of these Acts of Parliament. 'It would be wild work,' observed Justice Willis in a well known case, 'if a party might give himself protection by merely saying that he believed himself acting in pursuance of a statute. Protecting clauses of this sort would of course be useless if it were necessary that the person claiming their benefit should have acted quite rightly. The case to which they refer must lie between a mere foolish imagination and a perfect dreamer of the statute.' In another well known case Justice Willis laid down that 'there must be some facts upon which a belief could be based, and a defendant would not be entitled to act upon mere guess work or suspicion and without anything that could be called belief at all, as, for instance, when he acted without any grounds for belief whatever, without the knowledge of any facts such as a belief could be based upon.' These and other well known Judicial dicta are distinctly against wholesale and indiscriminate protection even of a lower degree than the one we are called upon to legislate, and a strong case has to be made out for expansion of the area of protection. There is a reasonable degree of protection already, for if we refer once again to the provisions of section 114 of the Evidence Act, we find that it will be presumed that judicial and official acts have been regularly performed. The measure of special protection reserved for Judges or Magistrates under the different prevailing enactments were the products of special circumstances in special times, nothing in the nature of which has been urged or brought forward in the present instance. Those that act aright have nothing to fear. Pollock in his Book on Torts says: 'As to executive acts of public officers, no legal wrong can be done by the regular enforcement of any sentence or powers of law, nor by the necessary use of force for preserving the peace.' Similar protection for Custom and Revenue officers is provided by law, 'unless they are unreasonable,' or have been 'guilty of clear abuse of authority.' In Jacobson versus Slacke it was ruled that, 'if honestly believing that goods are liable to seizure they take or detain them, and the decision of the matter is referred to the proper authority, they are not responsible for the detention of the property, although it may turn out that their judgment on the matter was erroneous, and that the goods ought to have been examined and passed.' Case after case has laid down stating the general rule that 'when the discharge of a public duty involves the exercise of a discretion, no action lies if the discretion has been fairly and honestly exercised.' Quotations like these could be multiplied manifold in support of the proposition that public officers doing their duty under law honestly can have no damages awarded against them, which is all that honest officials can reasonably demand.

"And no case has been made out or even suggested for a sweeping change like this. I hope it will not be argued that what I have urged is in itself sufficient justification for the clause by way of clearing up the doubtful and emphasizing the undoubted. There can be no need for legislating that which is gratuitous, nor justification for legislating that which is objectionable, for the clause is both gratutious and objectionable. The clause makes good faith the cardinal test as to whether a suit will lie or not. But here an immense difficulty arises which I can hardly persuade myself the framers of the clause have not sufficiently considered. What is good faith? It is nowhere defined in the Bill, and is differently defined in two places, namely, the Indian Penal Code of 1860 and the General Clauses Act, 1897. The chief element of the former interpretation is due care and attention. According to leading commentators, 'mere good faith, in the sense of simple belief, actual belief, without any grounds for believing, is not sufficient: the belief must be a reasonable and not an absurd belief, that is, there must be some reasonable grounds for it. Good faith in act or belief requires due care and attention to the matter in hand. The law cannot mark, except in this vague way, the amount of care and attention requisite; but if a man takes upon himself an office or duty requiring skill or care, and a question arises whether he has acted thereon in good faith, he must show not merely a good intention, but such care and skill as the duty reasonably demands for its due discharge. The degree of care requisite will vary with the degree of danger which may result from a want of care. Where the peril is the greatest, the greatest care is necessary. Simple belief may negative malice and is a strong argument against any criminal intention; but where the question is whether a Magistrate or other public servant is justified in doing a certain thing, his judgment must have a better foundation than his mere private belief; for a man may be very foolish in believing himself justified, and the law could not adopt so vague and unsafe a criterion.' The Penal Code interpretation therefore would be more suitable and have a reasonable protective element. The interpretation in the General Clauses Act is however less drastic and more liberal, for according to it 'a thing shall be deemed to be done in good faith where it is in fact done honestly whether it is done negligently or not.' According to the authorities the latter interpretation is based on the principles and wording of section 90 of the English Bills of Exchange Act, and section 62 of the Sale of Goods Act, and can hardly be applicable to or is intended for cases of this description, merely because civil remedies by way of damages are involved. While an 'honest blunderer' may act in good faith within the meaning of the General Clauses Act, an 'honest blunderer can never act in good faith within the meaning of the Penal Code, for being negligent he has not acted with due care and attention.' The definition in the General Clauses Act condones negligence and carelessness, if only there was honesty; while the Penal Code regards honesty as immaterial, and the presence of due care and attention as the most important element. What then is the interpretation applicable to the intended Indemnity clause? Even if the retention of this clause be insisted upon, this should be cleared up, or otherwise rules of interpretation will be positively in the way, and there will be needless litigation. And above all it should be provided that due care and attention should be a sine qua non of the good faith demanded and prescribed. If the object of the clause is to clear up, collect and codify the law, scattered over the various judicial pronouncements, text-books and enactments, as in the case of a Public Officer's Protection Act, the result has been by no means happy for the clause absolutely overreaches itself."

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON said:—"I must defend this clause. The clause occurs in the Madras Act, except that in the Madras Act the words used are 'bonâ fide,' and we have preferred to put the provision in English words. The clause also occurs in the Bombay Act. It has not been challenged by any person except the Hon'ble Member who moves the amendment; and the Select Committee accepted the clause as it stands. I am advised that the application of the General Clauses Act would apply. The words 'in good faith' would be interpreted by the Courts under the terms of the General Clauses Act. Reading the clause again, Sir, I find nothing unreasonable in it, and I would submit that it would be right to have such a provision, not only in this Act but in Acts generally, for the protection of public officers honestly doing their duty. I would therefore ask the Council not to accept this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson moved that the Secretary be directed to re-number the clauses, sub-clauses and Chapters of the Bill in consecutive order, and to make corresponding alterations in all cross-references thereto.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Macpherson also moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

He said:—"I move, Sir, that the Bill as settled in Council, be passed, and I have to add one remark only, Sir, to express my thanks to the Hon'ble Members of this Council, for the cordial response which they have made to my request for co-operation in expediting progress in the difficult piece of legislation that has been before us.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said:—"Your Honour, in spite of the lateness of the hour, I hope your Honour will allow me to make a few observations. We must all be glad that the long drawn exertions of the Council are over, and the result is something of which we need not be quite sorry. In the Select Committee and in Council, important results have been obtained, the beginning of which was made many years ago, and to achieve which many hands and many minds have honestly and unceasingly worked. The work is not of course finished, and the struggle to get better results will continue. Our very defeat will show us in future how to avoid and to get round the pitfalls which have swallowed up many an important reform which we had set our hearts on. From the Hon'ble Member in charge and from your Honour, we have had every courtesy, every assistance and every consideration, and our defeat has not been in all cases due to the official majority. The non-official members who have taken part in the Debate, have as freely differed among themselves as they differed from the Hon'ble Member in charge and other official members. This is a healthy sign, and however much I may deplore the results, which by the way could not have been affected by a combination, it is helpful in showing that there was no combination with regard to this Bill among non-official members. Some non-official members have been absent throughout the Debate, and some have taken no part in it. In this state of affairs the work of the official members was easy, and not even the semblance of a debate was attempted. The non-official members recognised the realities of the situation and took up no more of the time of the Council than could be helped—a bare statement of the position was all that was attempted, replies that were as a matter of right were freely disclaimed, and some amendments were withdrawn or abandoned. I claim therefore that we have responded to the appeal of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill for harmony and co-operation, and the Hon'ble Member in charge has been good enough to acknowlege as much. We are thankful to recognise and record that whatever we have been able to achieve has been through his courtesy and Your Honour's grace. Your Honour's assurance that Advisory Boards in an acceptable shape will not be long deferred has filled us with hope and makes our future work easy. And we are almost in hopes that the expressions of opinion in and outside the Council regarding this important measure, though they have made little impression on the work in Council, will to a certain extent influence the framing of the rule. The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill said on more than one occasion thats he did not oppose some of the amendments in a spirit of hostility, and that he was in fact in sympathy with some that he thought might be dealt with under the rules. If that is done, some more advance will have been made. We recognise and are thankful that we have a better, a more righteous and more practical Excise law than we had in the past; and though it is not quite as good as we may have wished, the defect is in accordance with the normal imperfections of human ordination which will give way to a better order of things to quote the felicitous and hopeful expression of the Hon'ble Member in charge in the fullness of time."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I desire to congratulate the Hon'ble Members of the Council on the termination of their arduous and prolonged labours, and to express my acknowledgments for the extremely courteous spirit and manner in which Hon'ble Members have conducted the proceedings. I can assure them that we have done our utmost to meet them, and I am only sorry that we have not been able to go quite so far as they may always have desired."

The Council was then adjourned to a date to be notified hereafter.

Rangoon river—Depth of water in the channel.

No. 293 (third publication).—

Subject.—The least depth of water found in the channel by soundings taken on the 7th and 8th July 1909, is as follows:—

(1) Liffey Reach—

16 feet, about 300 feet westward of D'Silva lights in line.
19 feet on the line of D'Silva lights.
22 feet, about 400 feet channelwards, i.e, eastward of line of lights.

Remarks.—The locality of the above reported water is to be found when abreast of the Oil Moorings.

(2) Middle Bank—

22 feet reduced on the line of Deserters Creek lights, between C.M.B. and L.M.B. buoys.

The locality is steep to and shoals to 14 feet just northward of the line of lights. No shoal water is obtainable to southward of the line of lights.

Remarks.—The line of Deserter's Creek lights should be considered as the very northern limit of this channel.

PARTICIPATION OF STUDENTS AND SCHOOLBOYS IN POLITICAL AGITATION.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT—POLITICAL.

RESOLUTION—No. 2493P.

IN view of the announcement of political meetings to be held in connection with the forthcoming celebration of the anniversary of the Boycott, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor considers it opportune to invite the special attention of the Heads of Colleges and Schools, and of all parents and guardians, to the inexpediency of permitting students and schoolboys to take part in such gatherings. In Sir E. Baker's opinion it is most undesirable that immature minds should be subjected to the excitement and disturbance which are inseparable from political agitation, and he believes that this view is shared by all right thinking men. His Honour trusts, therefore, that all who are responsible for the education and behaviour of students and schoolboys will use their influence to induce them to abstain from taking part in, or from being present at, any form of political demonstration.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. G. H. ALLEN,

Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

ANNUAL REPORT ON THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1908-09.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1190Medl.—The 30th July, 1909.—The following extracts (paragraphs 1 to 12) from the Annual Report on the Government Cinchona Plantation and Factory in Bengal for the year 1908-09 are published for general information.

H. WHEELER,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

FORTY-SEVENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GOVERNMENT CINCHONA PLANTATION AND FACTORY IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1908-09.

Weather and General.—The latter half of the year was marked by unusual drought at Mungpoo, which reacted badly on the old plantation there, only 1·13 inches of rain falling between the 4th October 1908 and the end of the financial year. The total rainfall at Mungpoo was 98·23 inches spread over 148 days, against an average rainfall of 123 inches. At Munsong the rainfall was 84·92 inches, against an average of 88 inches, and the rainfall was distributed over 160 days. The heaviest rainfall at Mungpoo was 8·42 inches in one day, at Munsong 2·71 inches in one day. It will be seen that at Munsong the rainfall was much nearer the average than at Mungpoo, and more evenly distributed.

2. Plantation and Crop.—Extensions have now ceased on the Mungpoo Plantation for reasons that have already been explained to Government and that scarcely call for repetition here. At Munsong 52·41 acres—about the usual annual amount of extension hitherto on that plantation—were planted up with selected Cinchona Ledgeriana trees. The average annual extensions for both plantations taken together for the last eight years is 158 acres. As extensions have ceased on Mungpoo Plantation, it would now seem advisable to increase the annual extensions on Munsong to about 100 acres. This would still be over 50 acres below the past average for both plantations, but as the general instructions of Government are that the extensions at Munsong are not to proceed very rapidly, probably about 100 acres per annum would be enough. In Mungpoo cultivation has been maintained just enough to meet the requirements of a rapidly declining plantation. At Munsong the plantation has been kept in a good state of cultivation throughout, and a good deal of heavy pioneer work, such as road-making, etc., as a necessary preliminary to the contemplated extensions beyond the boundaries of the present Munsong Division, has been accomplished. Although the insect blight Helopeltis has appeared at Munsong and spread to some extent, the damage caused by it has been but trivial.

The cuttings of No. 2 Hybrid, which were transferred from Mungpoo to Munsong last year, naturally suffered from their uprooting and replanting after a journey of 28 miles, so that their number remains practically as in last year's report. They are now, however, producing cuttings plentifully.

Cinchona plants of all sorts standing on the permanent plantations on the 31st March 1909 numbered 2,958,704. Of this, 2,299,483 were Cinchona Ledgeriana, fairly evenly divided between Mungpoo and Munsong; the former, however, having some 40,000 more trees than the latter. Hybrid No. 1 amounted to 321,514—all on the Mungpoo Plantation; Hybrid No. 2, to 90,689, most of which were on the Mungpoo Plantation. Cinchona succirubra numbered 247,018, again mostly on the Mungpoo Plantation.

The decrease in the number of trees on the two plantations taken together since last year amounts to 512,512 plants. With the old plantation at Mungpoo rapidly failing, with the entire cessation of replanting thereon, and with extensions at Munsong restricted, this decrease is inevitable and will go on probably for several years until the extensions at Munsong gradually make up leeway. The total quantity of bark harvested from both plantations amounted to 451,768 lbs. Of this, 403,996 lbs. were Ledger bark, 227,793 lbs.

being taken off Mungpoo and 176,203 off Munsong. The remainder, 47,772 lbs., were from Cinchona succirubra and Hybrids No. 1 and No. 2—almost all from Mungpoo. The quantity of bark harvested was 6,130 lbs. in excess of last year's amount. The amounts harvested for some years to come are likely to show a considerable decrease, owing to the declining condition of Mungpoo and to the fact that 'thinning' has been practically completed at Munsong, so that little or no more bark will be available from the latter plantation until it appears advisable to harvest the first year's planting there. When that will be depends upon the future condition of the Cinchona market and the state of the plantation, but, ceteris paribus, it would seem advisable to keep the trees in the ground as long as they continue to show a reasonable increase in size and continue healthy, so that the plantation should form a living reserve on the ground supplementary to the actual Quinine reserve—now in active formation—in the store-rooms.

3. Factory and Outturn.—The total quantity of bark put through the Factory was 938,800 lbs. Of this, 739,025 lbs. were of Ledger bark harvested from the plantation, 91,700 lbs of purchased Java Ledger, and the remainder, 108,075 lbs. of Hybrid and succirubra bark off the plantation. When the extensions of the Factory were completed in 1906 it was estimated that it would be possible to manufacture up to 30,000 lbs. of Quinine annually. During the year, however, actually 36,619 lbs. 5½ oz. of Quinine Sulphate and 7,281 lbs. 12 oz. of Cinchona Febrifuge were manufactured, while 285 lbs. 8 oz. of Amorphous (Residual) Alkaloid were collected, the total output for the year being 43,901 lbs. 1¼ oz. As far as the Quinine Sulphate is concerned, the increase over last year's outturn is 9,055 lbs. 5¼ oz, while the total output of all products is 12,967 lbs. 1½ oz. in excess of last year's total. The output of Quinine has been practically trebled since 1904. The Java bark yielded 6·71 per cent., the plantation bark 3·59 per cent. of Quinine Sulphate. The latter shows a considerable and encouraging rise—23 per cent.—on last year's percentage of 2·9.

In addition to the analytical work in connection with the chemical control of the Factory working and experiments for still further improvements in Factory methods, the Quinologist and Assistant Quinologist devoted some time to the production of Quinine Sulphate in tablet form. The results were quite satisfactory, and, if required to do so, the Factory could turn out tablets in any required quantity with the necessary additional machinery. Entirely new arrangements have been made for the re-crystallisation of Quinine Sulphate, and a new Quinine drying-room has been built with the necessary machinery for maintaining a constant supply of dry air.

4. General charges.—The charges against the Department as a whole, amount to Rs. 19,543-8-9 as against Rs. 21,834-8-6 charged last year.

5. Plantation charges.—The total charges against both plantations amount to Rs. 94,006-7-11, being Rs. 3,291-6-8 in excess of last year's expenditure. Against the total charges for both plantations is the bark harvested—451,768 lbs., valued at Rs. 67,336-3-1, the valuation being based upon the average market rates for similar quality of different species of bark.

6. Factory charges.—The total factory charges were Rs. 1,47,203-11-2. Of this sum, Rs. 99,952-14-11 were spent on the manufacture of Quinine, and Rs. 18,204-6 in making Cinchona Febrifuge, and Rs. 47,250-12-3 on the purchase of bark. The value of the 938,800 lbs. of bark worked up in the Factory was Rs. 1,61,518-5-7.

7. Issue of manufactured articles.—During the year 18,585 lbs. 15½ oz. of Sulphate of Quinine, 136 lbs. 4 oz. of Sulphate of Cinchonidine, 3,408 lbs. 4 oz. of Cinchona Febrifuge, 185 lbs. 8 oz. of Residual Alkaloids, and 740 lbs. of Cinchona bark were sold. The amount of Quinine sold is 1,628 lbs. 9 oz in excess of last year's sales, and is not far off the quantity (20,000) lbs. that was estimated, when the extensions were sanctioned, that the Factory would be called upon to supply. There has been no great change in the quantities indented for by the various depôts and officers. The only point worth particular mention is the increase from 4,000 lbs. to 5,000 lbs. for Quinine for pice-packets. The coming year is likely to show a much greater increase under this head.

8. Expenditure and Receipts.—The total year's expenditure for the Department amounted to Rs. 2,60,753-11-10, being Rs. 19,543-8 9 general charges

Rs. 94,006-7-11 plantation charges, and Rs. 1,47,203-11-2 factory charges. The total budget grant for the year was Rs. 2,67,485-4, so that there was a saving of Rs. 6,731-8-2. The total receipts for the year amounted to Rs. 2,29,698-4. This is an increase of Rs. 6,017-2 on last year's receipt, but is less than the year's expenditure by Rs. 31,055-7-10. The policy of Government to build up a reserve of Quinine can be given effect to only by manufacturing a good deal more Quinine every year than is likely to be sold; so that so long as the reserve is actually in formation, the receipts are bound to be below the actual expenditure. Thus, during the year, while 43,901 lbs. 1½ oz. of Factory products were manufactured, only 22,315 lbs. 15¾ oz. were sold. There was, therefore, added to stock, during the year, the difference between the two quantities, consisting of 18,033 lbs. 6 oz. Quinine Sulphate, 3,873 lbs. 8 oz. Cinchona Febrifuge, 100 lbs. Residual Alkaloids. The value of these, calculated at the present average market rate for products of similar purity, amounts to Rs. 2,07,218-5-3. Even if it is assumed as safer that Quinine is likely to go down in value still further than it has, and that Cinchona Febrifuge may also be reduced in the future, and if, in view of this, the Quinine were valued at Rs. 7 per pound and Cinchona Febrifuge at Rs. 5 per pound, the value of the stock, added to the reserve during the past year, would be practically Rs. 1,45,000. The difference between even these lower figures and Rs. 31,055-7-10, the sum by which the actual receipts fell short of the actual expenditure, leaves the Factory with a quite substantial balance in the shape of Quinine over the year's working.

The receipts consisted of Rs. 66,362-12-6 in cash and Rs. 1,63,335-7-6 by book credit. Of the cash sales, Rs. 41,963-7 were for Sulphate of Quinine, Rs. 22,526-10 for Cinchona Febrifuge, Rs. 740 for Residual Alkaloids, Rs. 399-6 for Sulphate of Cinchonidine, Rs. 282 for Cinchona bark, and Rs. 451-5-6 for miscellaneous items. The outstandings on 31st March 1908 were all recovered.

9. Stock account.—On the 31st March 1909 the stock consisted of Sulphate of Quinine, 32,380 lbs. 1½ oz., valued at Rs. 3,19,753-6-9; Cinchona Febrifuge, 5,716 lbs. 8 oz., valued at Rs. 42,873-12; Residual Alkaloid, 15,052 lbs., valued at Rs. 13,146-14; Sulphate Cinchonidine, 625 lbs. 12 oz., valued at Rs. 6,257-8; Cinchona bark, 45,547 lbs., valued at Rs. 14,610-13-4·2; oil, 12,705 gallons, at Rs. 9,111-6-3; Chemicals, 165,586 lbs at Rs. 13,334-7-6; and sundries at Rs. 5,224-2-9. The total value calculated on the average market-rate for stock of similar quality is Rs. 4,24,312-6-7·2. It will be seen that the policy of Government to form a reserve of Quinine against emergencies has been steadily pursued, so that, despite the increase in the sale of Quinine during the year, the stock in hand at the end of it is more than double that at the end of last year.

10. Profit and Loss account.—The surplus on the year's working—deducting non-recurring charges—is Rs. 1,29,805-1-0·2. This is estimating the value of the Quinine on the same basis that the selling price is fixed. It is not, however, probable that Government would entirely realise the sum mentioned, if all the Quinine and Cinchona Febrifuge at present in the stock were suddenly thrown upon the open market, as the selling price is based rather upon the highest market rate than the average, or even the lowest market rate.

11. Sale of pice-packets.—The amount of Quinine issued to the Inspector-General of Prisons for conversion into pice-packets was 5,000 lbs.—an increase of 1,000 lbs. over the preceding year.

12. Miscellaneous—(a) Land-rent.—Revenue from land-rent and grazing fees amounted to Rs. 3,858-7-9, paid into the Darjeeling Treasury, no credit being taken for it to the plantation.

(b) Fuel Plantation.—A good deal of attention has been given to the re-establishment of a fuel reserve for the future use of the Factory and also to recuperate the old plantation, now no longer fit for replanting with Cinchona. Altogether about 363 acres have been planted up at Mungpoo during the year.

(c) Inspection Bungalow at Munsong.—During the year the site for this bungalow was levelled and building materials, as far as possible, prepared and collected.

RETURN OF JOINT-STOCK COMPANIES FOR THE YEAR 1908-09.

No. 3535, dated Calcutta, the 31st May 1909.

From—NAWAB SYUD MAHOMED, KHAN BAHADUR, Inspector-General of Registration, Bengal,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, General Department.

I HAVE the honour to forward, in original, the report submitted by the Registrar of Companies, Bengal, on the working of the Indian Companies Act VI of 1882 for the year 1908-09 with the ten tabular statements prescribed by the Government of India.

No. 60, dated Calcutta, the 25th May 1909.

From—MOULVI SYUD ABDUS SALAM, Registrar of Joint-Stock Companies, Bengal.

To—The Inspector-General of Registration, Bengal.

I HAVE the honour to submit my annual report on the working of the Indian Companies Act VI of 1882 in Bengal for the year 1908-1909 together with the ten statistical statements prescribed by the Government of India.

2. At the close of the year under report the number of Companies limited by shares was 530 which worked with an aggregate paid-up capital of Rs. 23,05,52,551 against 512 Companies with an aggregate paid-up capital of Rs. 20,54,65,731 which existed in the preceding year. There was thus an increase of 18 in the number of Companies registered and of Rs. 2,50,86,820 in the paid-up capital during the year. The total number of Companies limited by guarantee which worked during the year was 21 against 15 in the previous year.

3. The 71 new companies limited by shares registered during the year as shown in Statement II are classified as follows :—

Banking and Loan	... 1
Insurance	... 4
Trading	... 32
Mills and Presses	... 8
Tea and other Planting Companies	... 9
Mining	... 12
Land and Building	... 1
Brewery	... 1
Sugar Manufacturing Companies	... 2
Other Company	... 1
Total	... 71

The number of trading Companies registered are classified thus :—

Navigation	... 3
Railways and Tramways	... 2
Printing and Publishing	... 3
Others	... 24
Total	... 32

The number of mining (coal) companies registered, as will appear from the above classification during the year, was only 12 against 48 Companies registered in the previous year. The decrease in registration is due to the fall in the share market. Owing to the opening of large number of collieries during coal boom, the supply was greater than the demand and speculators ceased to buy shares for small dividend.

4. In the number of Companies registered during the year it is worth noticing that four Insurance Companies and three Navigation Companies are of native enterprise. One Insurance Company, viz, the Pan Indian Insurance Company, Limited, was registered with a nominal capital of Rs. ten crores. One Brewery Company was also registered during the year.

5. The total number of Companies, limited by guarantee registered during the year was seven against five in the preceding year. Of these, two are Native Provident Societies.

6. One hundred and forty-seven Companies increased their capital during the year, of these, five Companies increased their nominal capital, 135 Companies paid-up capital and the remaining seven Companies increased both their nominal and paid-up capitals. No Company reduced its capital during the year under review.

7. Eighteen Companies went into liquidation, of which one Company was finally dissolved, and 35 Companies became defunct during the year. Five companies which went into liquidation in previous years have submitted their final reports during the year.

8. One Company limited by guarantee became defunct during the year.

9. The following table shows the different kinds of documents registered during the year, viz.:—

Balance sheets	546
Summary of capital with list of share-holders	480
Notice of situation and removal of registered office	181
Memorandum and Articles of Association	155
Special resolutions	49
Order of Government of Bengal	1
Miscellaneous	88
Papers under Act XXI of 1860	127
Total ...	1,627

10. The provisions of section 69 of the Act were complied with everywhere as far as it could be ascertained, except by one Native Provident Society, viz.:—the Swadeshi Assurance and Wedding Company, Limited, in the district of Puri. The District Magistrate has been asked to take necessary action in the matter.

11. The following eight societies were registered under Act XXI of 1860 during the year:—

1. National Medical College of India.
2. Behar National College.
3. The Devalaya.
4. The Refuge.
5. Ramkrishna Society Anath Bhandar.
6. The Calcutta Medical Club.
7. The Church Education League.
8. The Seebpur Ramkrishna Daridra Bhandar.

12. The fees levied during the year amounted to Rs. 26,658-15-0 against Rs. 32,658-2-0 realized in the previous year. The decrease in fees in the year under report was due to the fact that during the past year many Coal Companies were registered with large amount of nominal capital. The following statement shows the fees realized under different headings:—

		Rs.	A.	P.
Act VI of 1882 ...	New Companies	21,040	0	0
	Other documents	4,604	0	0

Act XXI of 1860	New Societies	400	0	0
	Total ...	26,658	15	0

13. The expenditure during the year was Rs. 1,197-14-3, while in the previous year it was Rs. 1,028-11-4. The increase of expenditure being slight.

14. A comparative statement showing the income, expenditure and surplus during the past six years is given below:—

	Income			Expenditure.			Surplus.
	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.	Rs.	A.	P.
1903-04	8,349	0	0	994	15	6	7,354	0	6

NOTIFICATION.

No. 456S.R.—The 30th July 1909.—The following extracts from the Report of the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal, on the administration of the Salt Department in the Province during the year 1908-09, and from the letter of the Board of Revenue reviewing the Report, are published for general information.

H. WHEELER,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 3680B., dated Calcutta, the 20th July 1909.

From—SRIGOPAL BHATTACHARJI, ESQ., M.A., B.L., Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P., Miscellaneous Revenue Department,

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Financial Department.

Member in charge:
THE HON'BLE MR. W. C. MACPHERSON, C.S.I., I.C.S.

I AM directed to submit the accompanying report, received from the Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal, on the administration of the Salt Department in the year 1908-09. This report does not cover the preventive operations in Bihar which are still controlled by the Commissioner of the Northern India Salt Revenue, but includes within its scope the preventive work in the districts of Chittagong and Noakhali, which continues to be under the Commissioner of Salt, Bengal.

* * * * * *

4. Salt bonding arrangement in Calcutta. * * * In November 1908 the Government of India accepted the necessity for the removal of the salt golas from the Kidderpore Docks and approved of the construction of new golas at Munshiganj on Tolly's Nala. In March last the Collector of Customs reported that he had obtained the consent of the salt bonders to the concentration of the bonding business at Sulkea on the west side of the river; and on the Board's representation to Government that concentration of the bonding at Sulkea had many advantages in economy of initial outlay and in recurring expenditure for supervision, the Government of India, in their order No. 2779Exc., dated the 3rd June 1909, approved of the proposal to abandon the scheme to build golas at Munshiganj and, in lieu thereof, sanctioned the extension of the accommodation at Sulkea. Pending the construction of the permanent golas, sanction has been given to the construction of five temporary golas at Sulkea, in order to meet the increasing demands of the trade. An increase in the rate of rent for bonding salt, viz., from Rs. 3 to Rs. 4 per mensem for every 1,000 maunds, has been made with effect from 1st July 1909.

5. Credit system for payment of duty on salt.—The Indian Salt Duties Act, X of 1908, came into force from September 1908, and rules have been made under the Act providing for the payment of duty on salt within a period not exceeding six months from the date on which payment is due, and for the furnishing of security for such payment. Further details for giving effect to credit system are under consideration.

6. Imports. * * * There was a continued and considerable increase in the quantity of salt imported into Bengal by sea during the year, as compared with the two previous years, but the quantity of Madras Salt imported by land into Orissa decreased by 13,790 maunds This decrease is attributed by the Salt Commissioner to failure of crops and high prices of food-grains in the district of Cuttack and to the large increase in the import of Madras salt in the previous year.

7. Consumption and prices. * * * According to the method of calculation by which the consumption of salt in the province is estimated, * * * the quantity of salt which passed into consumption in the province during the year under review amounted to 85,06,448 maunds as against 82,81,916 maunds in the previous year. There was a slight decrease of 1 anna 8 pies in the average wholesale price per maund of salt, and the average retail price for the province fell from 11 pies a seer in 1907-08 to 10 pies a seer.

8. * * * There was a substantial increase in the number of seizures of illicit salt and in the number of prosecutions under the Salt Laws during the year, as compared with the previous year. In the 24-Parganas, the number of cases under section 9 of Act XII of 1882 was 61 against 38 of the previous year. The increase is ascribed by the Commissioner to the outbreak of salt crime on account of scarcity prevailing in the district. In the districts of the Orissa Division, there was also an increase in the number of cases, and the increase is attributed to the distress prevailing in those districts owing to failure of crops.

9. Receipts and charges. * * * The financial results of the year, as compared with those of 1907-08, show an increase of over 4½ lakhs, or 4·2 per cent. in receipts, and of Rs. 20,425, or 4·3 per cent. in expenditure; the net revenue exceeding that of the previous year by 4·2 per cent.

No. 2768., dated Calcutta, the 26th June 1909.

From—The Hon'ble Mr. E. Geake, i.c.s., Commissioner of Excise and Salt, Bengal,
To—The Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P., Miscellaneous Revenue Dept.

I have the honour to submit the following consolidated report on the administration of the Salt Department in Bengal for 1908-09. Preventive operations under the Indian Salt Act, XII of 1882, continued to be controlled during the year by the Commissioner of Excise and Salt and operations under Act VII (B.C.) of 1864 by the Board of Revenue.

Charge of Department.

2. Mr. B. Foley was in charge of the Department from the 1st April 1908 to the 26th February 1909. I held charge for the rest of the year.

CHAPTER I.—GENERAL.

Control of the Salt Department in districts.

3. The administration of the Salt Department in districts underwent no change during the year. Preventive operations in the districts of Noakhali and Chittagong remained under my control at the instance of the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam and with the concurrence of the Government of Bengal.

* * * * *

Rate of duty.

6. The rate of duty on salt remained at Re. 1 per maund throughout the year.

Rebate of salt duty for fish-curing.

7. At the instance of the Commissioner of Fisheries an experimental fish-curing yard was established about the close of February 1909 at Dhamra in the district of Balasore, the Raja of Kanika bearing the initial cost of construction of the yard on his own land. Fifty maunds of salt were issued duty-free with the sanction of the Board of Revenue from the bonded warehouses at Chandbali for the use of fishermen in this yard under the supervision of a Sub-Inspector deputed from the Chandbali range. A set of rules was also framed for regulating the work of fish-curing yards, and the same was forwarded to the Fisheries Commissioner for his opinion. On receipt of his suggestions and after consulting the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, the matter will be placed before Government with details of the arrangements under which the concession sanctioned by the Government of India will be worked.

* * * * *

9. On the request of the Port Commissioners for the removal of the existing salt golas at the Kidderpore Docks, a scheme for the construction of new salt golas at Munshiganj on Tolly's Nala was framed by the Collector of Customs. After being sanctioned by the Government of India, this scheme was subsequently abandoned by the present Collector of Customs, who proposed instead the extension of the salt warehouses at Sulkea. His chief objection to the Munshiganj scheme was the probability that the estimate of expense, already almost prohibitive, would be largely exceeded. On the other hand, the proposal for extending the warehouses at Sulkea and concentrating all bonding at that place had, in his opinion, the important advantage, besides others, of economy both in initial outlay and in recurring expenditure for supervision. Moreover, it was urged that the proposal had received the unanimous assent of the salt bonders at a conference held for that purpose. The proposal has been accepted by the Board and the Local Government. * * *

Evacuation of the salt golas at Kidderpore.

10. Concurrently with the submission to the Supreme Government of the new project for extending the Sulkea golas, the Board asked for sanction to the immediate erection of additional temporary golas at Sulkea for bonding purposes, the necessity having arisen owing to the arrival of an unusually large quantity of salt, such abnormal importation being due to cheap freight. In anticipation of sanction, the work of constructing three such golas at a cost of Rs. 3,000 each was taken in hand with the approval of the Local Government.

Construction of temporary golas at Sulkea.

11. The rate of rent charged for bonded salt both at the Kidderpore and Sulkea golas was increased from Rs. 3 to Rs. 4 per month for every 1,000 maunds of salt with effect from the 1st April 1909. * * * The increased rate was levied in order to recoup the interest on the capital expenditure involved in construction of additional golas and to meet the cost of future maintenance and establishments.

Increase of gola rent.

In recognition, however, of the co-operation of the bonders in supporting the more economical scheme at Sulkea, and in the view that it would be reasonable to give a longer period of notice during a transition period before raising the rate of rent, the Board recommended that the existing rent of Rs. 3 should not be raised to Rs. 4 until the 1st July 1909, instead of on 1st April 1909 as sanctioned. The recommendation was supported by the Government of Bengal. * * *

CHAPTER II.—STOCKS, IMPORTS AND CLEARANCES.

* * * * * *

The stocks of salt in all the golas, both public and private, at the beginning of the year were over 9½ lakhs of maunds more than on the 1st April 1907. The clearances exceeded those of the previous year by more than half a lakh of maunds. In addition to the closing balance there were at the close of the year 4,13,841 maunds of salt lying afloat in the port of Calcutta against 3,63,100 maunds at the end of 1907-08.

The percentage of total importations of salt bonded in the Sulkea and Kidderpore golas was 76, the same as in the previous year. The importations were the largest ever received at the port of Calcutta, and the quantity bonded was greater than in any of the past five years.

13. * * * The importations show an increase of 4·6 per cent. over last year, the largest quantity coming from the United Kingdom, then from Spain, Salif, Aden, Bombay and Germany in the order named. The quantity imported from the United Kingdom increased by over 2 lakhs of maunds. Salif salt has quite maintained its position and with Spanish salt enjoys the greatest popularity in the market. There was no Madras salt imported during the year owing, it is said, to increased demand for it in the local market.

Imports.

14. * * * In Calcutta the sales from the importing vessels direct and from bond show an increase of 13·8 and 1·5 per cent., respectively; 21 per cent. was sold from shipboard and 79 per cent. from bond against 19 and 81 per cent., respectively, in the previous year. Of the vessels carrying salt into Calcutta during the year 99 per cent. were steamers.

Sales of imported salt from ship-board and bond.

15. The total salt transactions at the Sulkea and Kidderpore golas for the last five years are shown below:—

Years.	Maunds.
1904-05	1,62,70,908
1905-06	1,67,67,724
1906-07	1,77,57,526
1907-08	1,92,86,421
1908-09	1,95,75,642

No difficulty was experienced in providing bonding accommodation until the end of the year when heavy importations necessitated the use of all available storage space. The quantity of salt handled at Sulkea in maunds was 1,44,70,324 against 1,29,25,489 in the preceding year, and at Kidderpore 51,05,318 against 63,60,932.

The Kidderpore golas received 25 per cent. of the total quantity bonded against 30 per cent. in the previous year.

Two new pontoons were completed at Sulkea and put into use. The scale jetty was also extended and a small pontoon added so as to make one alignment. A third pontoon has been sanctioned and is in course of construction.

* * * * * *

17. There were only two bonded warehouses in the province as in the previous year, both being situated at Chandbali in the district of Balasore and owned by Messrs. Turner, Morrison and Company. The quantity of salt despatched to these warehouses as well as to the bonded warehouses transferred to the new province was 10,92,690 maunds (10,74,690 maunds from shipboard and 18,000 maunds from golas in Calcutta) against 14,31,464 maunds (11,44,646 maunds from shipboard and 2,86,818 maunds from golas in Calcutta) in the previous year. The quantity of salt despatched to the warehouses at Chandbali alone from shipboard amounted to 1,41,330 maunds against 1,20,240 maunds in the previous year, showing an increase of 18 per cent.

Inland bonded warehouses.

* * * * * *

20. The quantity of Madras karkatch and refined salt imported into Orissa during the year was 11,80,739 maunds against 11,94,529 maunds in the previous year, a decrease of 13,790 maunds. This is attributable to failure of crops and high prices of food-grains in the district of Cuttack. The large increase in the import of Madras salt in the previous year is also to some extent responsible for the decreased import.

Import of Madras salt into Orissa by land.

* * * * * *

21. The figures given below show the consumption of Bombay salt in the Tributary States during the last four years. The salt is imported by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway:—

Import of Bombay Salt.

	1905-06.	1906-07.	1907-08.	1908-09.
	Mds.	Mds.	Mds.	Mds.
Jharsaguda	7,404	26,336	13,599	7,675
Sambalpur	32,354	43,370	31,228	27,229
Total	39,758	69,706	44,827	34,904

There was a decrease of 9,923 maunds in the consumption of Bombay salt as compared with the previous year, but the decrease was more than balanced by the increase of 15,030 maunds in the consumption of Madras salt in those States.

CHAPTER III.—CONSUMPTION AND PRICES.

Consumption in Bengal.

22. The total quantity of salt which passed into consumption in the Province during the year under report was 85,06,448 maunds. This is exclusive of 27,98,876 maunds, the net export by land, but inclusive of 24,112 maunds educed from saltpetre.

* * * * * *

Prices of salt in Bengal generally.

24. * * * There was a slight decrease of 1 anna 8 pies in the average wholesale price per maund, which is attributable to ordinary fluctuations. The retail prices in the saliferous districts, for which alone information is available, remain the same as in the previous year, the price per seer ranging from 9 pies to 1 anna 3 pies.

Exclusive of duty the average wholesale price of Liverpool salt per 100 maunds as sold from the ship's side in the port of Calcutta was Rs. 50-0-2 against Rs. 54-7-4 in 1907-08.

CHAPTER IV.—PREVENTIVE MEASURES.

Attachments, releases and confiscations in the saliferous districts, including Orissa.

25. Illicit salt was attached and confiscated in 457 and 481 cases against 99 and 93 cases, respectively, in the previous year. The quantities attached and confiscated were, respectively, 51 and 48 maunds against 7 and 4 maunds during the year 1907-08. There was thus an increase of 44 maunds in the quantity attached. No salt was released during the year.

Number of seizures and unsuccessful house-searches.

26. The total number of seizures of salt or salt-earth was 472 against 137 in the previous year. There were two unsuccessful house-searches against nil in the previous year.

27. * * * * * *

Number of cases instituted under Act VII of (B.C.) 1864 and XII of 1882.

In the 24-Parganas, the number of prosecutions was 61 against 38. The increase is ascribed to the outbreak of salt crime on account of scarcity prevailing in the district. In Howrah, there was one case against nil during the previous three years. No cases were sent up in Midnapore, Khulna, Chittagong and Noakhali. In Cuttack, there were 43 cases against 11 in the previous year, in Balasore 23 cases against 9, while in Puri there were 27 cases against nil in the previous year. The increase is attributed to the distress prevailing in these districts owing to failure of crops. It is reported from Cuttack that illicit salt manufactured in Puri was freely imported into that district. Repressive measures were relaxed in Puri owing to prevailing scarcity, and the poorer classes took immediate advantage of this leniency. Experience in Orissa leads to the conclusion that the salt force cannot be reduced without danger to the revenue.

There were no cases under section 5 of Act VII (B.C.) of 1864 and no cases were reported by the Police under Act XII of 1882.

Thirty-seven opium cases were detected by Salt officers against 17 in the previous year. Eight cases of illicit distillation in the 24-Parganas and 1 in Khulna, 3 cases of illicit sale of ganja in Howrah, 1 in Midnapore and 4 in Khulna, as well as 6 tari cases in Howrah were detected by Salt officers. Assistance generally was rendered to the Excise Department in detection and inspection work and the salt establishments rendered useful service in other respects in some districts.

28. The fines and forfeitures realized were Rs. 314 and the rewards paid Rs. 629 against Rs. 232 and Rs. 296 in the previous year.

Fines, forfeitures and rewards.

29. * * * * * *

Manner in which cases under Act XII of 1882 were disposed of.

There were 662 cases for disposal during the year against 249 in the previous year. Of these, 279 were written off as unsustainable, 228 were dealt with departmentally and 155 were sent up for trial. As compared with the previous year, there was an increase of 269 detected cases and 150 undetected cases.

CHAPTER V.—FINANCIAL RESULTS.

30. * * * The results of the year, as compared with 1907-08, show an increase of Rs. 4,57,411 or 4·2 per cent. in receipts and of Rs. 20,425 or 4·3 per cent. in expenditure, the net revenue being Rs. 1,07,57,737 which exceeds that of the previous year by Rs. 4,36,986, or 4·2 per cent. The charges do not include a proportionate share of the cost of the Customs Preventive Service, which is largely employed in safeguarding the salt revenue. The increase in receipts, Rs. 4,57,411, occurs mainly under the heads "Import Duty on Salt" and "Rent of Warehouses" and is due to the importation of a larger quantity of salt.

Receipts and charges.

* * * * * *

CHAPTER VI.—MISCELLANEOUS.

* * * * * *

33. The quantity of salt educed in the manufacture or refinement of saltpetre during the year and removed on payment of duty from all the refineries in Bengal was 24,112 maunds against 18,104 in the previous year.

Trade in saltpetre in Bengal.

34. There were three licensed saltpetre refineries—one at Soorah and two at Kakurgachi—against two in the previous year. The refinery at Soorah and one at Kakurgachi educe salt from saltpetre; the other merely purifies saltpetre.

Saltpetre refineries in Calcutta and its environs.

35. The quantity of refined saltpetre produced in the refineries was 11,151 maunds against 6,237 maunds in the previous year. The quantity of salt educed rose from 753 maunds to 1,145 maunds, and the quantity of sitta or impure salt left in the course of refinement was 1,381 maunds against 784 maunds in the previous year. Three hundred and forty-eight maunds of educed salt and 10 maunds of sitta were sold during the year. The license fees realized from the three refineries amounted to Rs. 150 and the duty recovered was Rs. 353.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE GOVERNMENT STEAM TRAWLER GOLDEN CROWN FOR THE QUARTER ENDING 30TH JUNE 1909.

THE following report is published for general information.

C. G. H. ALLEN,
Offg. Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA,
The 31st July 1909.

DURING the quarter under review the Golden Crown made two voyages to the Bay of Bengal. For the nine months ending 30th June, fifteen voyages were made, giving an average of five voyages per quarter, or $1\frac{2}{3}$ per month.

The dates of the voyages for the current quarter were:—

1. March 30th to April 7th.
2. April 15th to 25th.

Since 28th April the Golden Crown has been in dry dock for sundry repairs.

DETAILS OF JOURNEYS.

Both voyages made during this quarter were to the west side of the Bay. The first voyage was almost entirely devoted to trawling in the neighbourhood of Gopalpur: for the most part in depths of about 26 fathoms in coral ground. The second voyage, which was to some extent interfered with by heavy weather, was to the Orissa coast in depths of from 23 to 25 fathoms. Altogether the trawler was away from harbour on the first voyage nine days, and on the second eleven days; twenty days in all. On the first voyage there was five days' actual fishing, and on the second six and three quarter days.

WEIGHT AND DESCRIPTION OF FISH LANDED.

The total weight of fish landed was:—

	lbs.
1st voyage	18,262
2nd "	25,736
Total ...	43,998

In addition, two turtles were caught on the first trip and three on the second.

The details of the fish are as follows:—

Whiting	3,695	3,612
Gurnards	2,821	5,585
Begtis	5,422	2,965
Red Flats	749	...
Prawns	469	2,449
Small flats	1,827	1,636
Pomfrets	185	580
Conger Eels	585	6,447
Halibut	281	171
Skate	1,946	1,748
Soles	139	294
Smelts	143	125
Mackerel	...	124
Total ...	18,262	25,736

In all 19 tons 12 cwts. 3 qrs. 10 lbs.

COMPARISON WITH PREVIOUS QUARTERS.

As regards the catch per voyage or catch per day's fishing, the present quarter shows a decided improvement and very possibly still better results may be obtained by going further south.

In all 19 tons 12 cwts. were caught as a result of 11¾ days' fishing. This gives an average daily catch of nearly 33·4 cwts., as compared with 23 cwts. for the previous quarter, and for each day's absence from port an average of 19·6 cwts., as against 13·8 for the previous quarter. The average duration of voyages was 10 days; for the quarter ending March 31st it was 8·84 days.

A chart showing the results of the voyages of the Golden Crown has been prepared and a copy may be had on application to the Commissioner of Fisheries, 18, Royd Street, Calcutta.

* The report is for the week ending the 24th July 1909.

GENERAL SUMMARY.—The rainfall during the week was heavy in Cuttack and Sambalpur, moderate in parts of the Presidency Division as well as in parts of Birbhum, Midnapore, Shahabad, Darjeeling, Balasore, Angul, Ranchi and Palamau, and light elsewhere. Transplantation of winter rice continues, but its progress is being retarded in parts of Midnapore, in Burdwan and Hazaribagh for want of sufficient moisture. More rain is wanted in Lower Bengal and also in Champaran, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas and Angul. Sugarcane, jute and other autumn crops are doing well. Harvesting of jute has commenced in parts of Burdwan, Nadia and Purnea Insects are still doing injury to jute and autumn paddy in Nadia. The price of common rice has risen in Birbhum, Bankura, Howrah, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Singhbhum, and has fallen in Jessore, Gaya, Shahabad, Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Angul, Puri, Sambalpur, Palamau and Manbhum. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient all over the Province. Cattle-disease is reported from Burdwan, Bankura, Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Patna, Gaya, Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Angul, Sambalpur, Ranchi and Palamau. The number of persons on gratuitous relief in Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga was 20,914. It is reported, however, from Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga that all relief operations were closed finally with effect from the 30th and 31st July, respectively. Relief operations are also being closed in pargana Japla in the district of Palamau.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

CORRECTION OF A MATERIAL ERROR IN THE RECORDS OF-RIGHTS OF CERTAIN AREAS IN THE SONTHAL PARGANAS.

ORDER.

No. 2699.—The 10th August 1909.—Whereas the following material error has been discovered in the final records-of-rights made under the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation (III of 1872) in respect of the areas in the district of the Sonthal Parganas noted in the margin, namely, in paragraph 12 of each of the said records-of-rights, it has been recorded that during the term of the settlement it is the right of the proprietor to recover rent at full settlement rates for so much of the village waste as raiyats reclaim, and this portion of the said paragraph conflicts with the provisions of clause (i) of sub-section (1) of section 24 of the Sonthal Parganas Rent Regulation, 1886 (II of 1886) ;

1. Bengali khas villages of pargana Mohamedabad ;
2. Bengali khas villages of pargana Sultanabad ; and
3. Khas villages of the Rajmahal subdivision.

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by sub-section (3) of section 25 of the said Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation (III of 1872), the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to direct the Settlement Officer of the Sonthal Parganas to revise the said records-of-rights so as to bring the said portion of the said paragraph 12 into conformity with law.

DECLARATION.

No. 2335J.—The 9th August 1909.—Whereas certain land was acquired by the Bengal Government, under the provisions of Act I of 1894 and Act XVIII of 1885, for a public purpose, viz., for such portion of the Dhanbaid-Katrasgarh Branch of the East Indian Railway as is edged with pink on the plan hereinafter referred, and whereas coal mines are situate under the said land, and whereas the Sendra Coal Company, Limited, have given notice to the Government of Bengal, in accordance with the provisions of Act XVIII of 1885, that the said Company intend to work the seam known as No. 14 seam, and whereas the mines have been inspected by the officer appointed by the Bengal Government for the purpose under section 5 (1) of Act XVIII of 1885, and whereas it appears to the Bengal Government that the working out of the coal of the mines underlying the said land is likely to cause damage to the surface of the said land and to the works constructed thereon, and whereas the said Sendra Coal Company, Limited, have agreed not to work and get minerals underlying the land acquired for their siding, or underlying the land acquired for the branch or other lines with which the siding is connected or underlying the land of the branch or branches connecting the said siding with the main line, in such a manner as to injure or to endanger the safety of the undertaking or any part thereof, nor to claim any compensation for any restricted working:

Manbhum.

Now, therefore the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased to declare, under section 5, sub-section (2), clause (b), of the abovementioned Act XVIII of 1885, that the working shall be carried on by the said Sendra Coal Company, Limited, in the manner and subject to the restrictions below specified, viz :—

(a) Arches shall be built in Nos. 10 and 11 Inclines, eight feet wide and eight feet high. The abutments shall be one foot six inches thick where there is open cover, and two feet six inches thick underground. The thickness of the arches shall be one foot three inches, and the minimum width of each arch stone shall not be less than six inches. The arches and abutments shall be constructed of approved rubble masonry, with mortar consisting of one part screened lime to two parts sand, soorkhi, or ashes, thoroughly mixed and used in a wet state. Where there is open cover each arch shall be filled in over the haunches up to the level of the crown of the arch with concrete, and above the crown level up to the original surface of the ground with earth or stone. Underground each arch shall be filled in with sand to six inches above the level of the crown of the arch.

(b) The arches are to be built approximately in the positions shown on the sections on the plan, provided that the arches shall be continued until the distance from the natural surface to the top of the crown of the arch in No. 10 Incline is fifty feet and in No. 11 Incline forty feet, and provided that a length of at least six feet of arching is built underground in No. 10 Incline.

(c) No galleries shall be driven or any coal extracted where the distance from the natural surface to the top of the gallery is less than fifty feet, except that Nos. 10 and 11 Inclines may be driven down in the direction of the red arrows shown on the plan.

(d) Where the distance from the natural surface to the top of the gallery if driven is fifty feet or more, galleries may be driven as follows:—

A connecting gallery eight feet wide by eight feet high may be driven in the direction of the level course to connect the two inclines.

A line of pillars and galleries shall be formed between the Inclines immediately to the dip of this gallery, the galleries to be driven parallel with the dip and rise and with the strike, and the pillars to be five in number and of equal size by measuring along the centre of the connecting gallery in the level direction, and being fifty-two feet centre to centre in the direction of the dip and rise. On the further side of each main Incline one more pillar shall be formed parallel to the above being not less than fifty-two feet centre to centre in the level direction measuring along its shortest side, and fifty-two feet centre to centre in the direction of the dip and rise.

(e) The remaining pillars shall be parallel to the above, and shall be formed with centres fifty-two feet by fifty-two feet, provided that the pillars next to each Incline or each side of it shall not be less than fifty-two feet centre to centre measuring along the shortest side, in the level direction. With the exception of the connecting gallery all galleries shall not be more than twelve feet wide by twelve feet high leaving pillars at least forty feet square for the support of the acquired land.

(f) Manholes not exceeding six feet in height by three feet in width by four feet in depth may be made where required by any rules made under the Indian Mines Act, 1901.

(g) Any inrush of water, quicksand or soft material shall be reported to the Chief Inspector of Mines without delay.

(h) These restrictions shall apply to No. 14 seam only and to the area edged with pink upon the plan, and the Sendra Coal Company, Limited, shall give notice under section IV of the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act, 1885, of their intention to work any other seam under such area or to work coal under any other area of acquired land; and that in all the above cases no further excavation shall be made in any of the galleries which already have been driven, the actual heights and widths of which have been carefully recorded on the plan marked LAMA No. 125 signed by the Chief Inspector of Mines.

The plan referred to may be seen in the office of the Chief Inspector of Mines in India by the parties concerned.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 6th August 1909.

No. 76Marine.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 5 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884, and in supersession of the rules sanctioned under the Notification of this Government, No. 100Marine, dated the 14th August 1903, and its amending Notification No. 10Marine, dated the 31st January 1905, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following amended rules to regulate the transport and importation of explosives, other than those mentioned in section 14 of the Act, in the Port of Calcutta.

These rules are supplementary to the revised rules relating to the transport and importation of explosives, made by the Governor-General in Council and published under the Notification of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 4555—4, dated the 31st May 1907.

The Notification of this Department, No. 44Marine, dated the 24th May 1909, is hereby cancelled.

N.B.—"Explosive," as defined in section 4, Act IV of 1884, and as used in these rules—

(a) means gunpowder, nitro-glycerine, dynamite, gun-cotton, blasting powder, fulminate of mercury or of other metals, coloured fires, and every other substance, whether similar to those above mentioned or not, used or manufactured with a view to produce a practical effect by explosion or a pyrotechnic effect; and

(b) includes fog-signals, fireworks, fuses, rockets, percussion caps, detonators, cartridges, ammunition of all descriptions and every adaptation or preparation of an explosive as above defined. It also includes any dangerous substance which may have been ordered by the Governor-General in Council, under section 17 of the Indian Explosive Act, 1884, to be deemed an explosive.

1 Except as is hereinafter provided for, no vessel shall have on board, within the limits of the port, any explosives, as defined in section 4, Act IV of 1884, except 2 storm or danger signals and 6 smaller lights of the same description, 24 blue lights, 12 rockets, and 24 detonating signals with friction tubes, or in lieu thereof, 24 one-pound charges of gunpowder for use in a gun. Detonators and their friction tubes to be stored separately. All explosives which vessels are by this rule permitted to keep on board in port shall be stored in all cases in separate, detatched and completely enclosed magazines for each description of signals. The magazines should be kept in a house on deck and stowed or ranged as far apart as possible, so that in the event of fire they can be removed or thrown overboard.

All explosives which by this rule may be ordinarily retained on board vessels in port shall be discharged before a vessel is taken into dry dock.

2. All inward-bound vessels carrying explosives in excess of the signals of distress named in rule 1, are prohibited from proceeding above Budge-Budge, and the Master of any vessel lying within the port, which shall have on board any explosives in contravention of these rules, shall be liable to a fine which may extend to the sum mentioned in clause (a) or clause (b), as the case may be, of the proviso to section 5 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884.

3. Explosives of classes 1, 6 and 7, as laid down in the rules issued under Government of India, Commerce and Industry Department, Notification No. 4555—4, dated 31st May 1907, that is to say, gunpowder, ammunition and fireworks in excess of the quantity prescribed in rules 1 and 2, shall be landed and deposited in the magazine at Moyapore.

4. For the convenience of vessels having ship's gunpowder on board, a properly constructed powder-boat will be always in attendance off the magazine, for landing and shipping the powder. No charge will be made for the use of the boat for landing ship's powder, but the responsibility of the keeper in respect of the ship's powder shall not commence until it is landed on the bank, and shall cease as soon as it is shipped on board the boat. Every precaution will be taken to insure the safety of the powder while in the boat, but the landing and shipping shall be at the risk of the vessel.

5. Vessels bringing consignments of trade explosives shall be allowed the use of the magazine boat; but should passing vessels require the use of the boat to put out or take in ship's powder, such vessels shall be accommodated before the boat can be used to discharge explosives brought as cargo. The landing of such consignments, whether the station boats or private boats are employed, shall be at the risk and expense of the consignees of the explosives, and no liability shall be accepted for damage sustained while in course of landing or until the consignments are stored in the magazine.

6. Explosives specified in the first division, class 6 of the rules published under Government of India, Commerce and Industry Department, Notification No. 4555—4, dated 31st May 1907, viz., safety cartridges, safety fuzes for blasting, railway fog-signals, and percussion caps brought as part of a general cargo and which have been placed on board the vessels while lying in dock at ports of shipment may be brought into port and landed at the docks or jetties in accordance with the regulations prescribed in that behalf in the Port Commissioners' bye-laws.

The term "safety fuze" means a fuze for blasting which burns and does not explode, and which does not contain its own means of ignition, and which is of such strength and construction, and contains an explosive in such quantity, that the burning of such fuze will not communicate laterally with other like fuzes.

The expression "safety cartridges" means cartridges for small-arms of which the case can be extracted from the small-arm after firing, and which are so closed as to prevent any explosion in one cartridge being communicated to other cartridges. The term also includes rifle-calibre machine-gun cartridges if they are of the above description, whether they are for use with machine-guns having chambers identical with those of rifles or with machine-guns which have special chambers.

The maximum diameter at which a small-arm or machine-gun cartridge can be accepted as "safety" is one inch.

7. In order to avoid unnecessary detention, Masters of vessels requiring the use of the powder-boat shall hoist a flag at the fore-topmast head on coming in sight of the magazine, as a signal to the keeper to have the boat and coolies in attendance.

8. Masters of vessels shall mark the names of their respective vessels on the barrels and packages of ship's gunpowder previously to their being landed; if not marked, they shall not be received by the magazine boat.

9. Explosives shall not be landed within the port or at Moyapore or Diamond Harbour at any time when artifical lights are required to be used, and no explosives shall be landed, received into, or delivered from, the magazine when artifical lights are required to be used.

10. The magazine-keeper shall give to the Master of any vessel landing emplosives at the magazine, a receipt for the number of packages, and the magazine-keeper shall be accountable to such Master for the re-delivery of such packages.

11. Before entering the limits of the port, the Master of every vessel having explosives on board shall make and sign a declaration in writing that to his knowledge and belief there is not on board any explosive exceeding the quantity prescribed in these rules.

12. A clerk shall be always in attendance in the powder-boat, and shall receive from the Master the declaration specified in the foregoing rule.

13. If any vessel shall be prevented, by stress of weather or by being in distress, from landing or depositing such explosives in excess of the quantity allowed as aforesaid, such vessel may be permitted to come up to the lower limits of the port, but shall not proceed above Matteabrooj Ghât; and the Master of such vessel shall forthwith give notice to the Harbour Master of his having such explosives on board, and shall obey the Harbour Master's directions relating to the same.

14. Masters of vessels, outward bound, who may require distress signals and ship's gunpowder for their outward voyage, shall not take such distress signals and gunpowder on board in any part of the river above Budge-Budge, with the exception of a quantity not exceeding that named and sanctioned in rule 1.

15. Masters of vessels who have deposited ship's powder at the magazine shall inform the Harbour Master of the date on which the vessel will pass the magazine outward bound, and on receipt of this information, orders shall be forwarded to the keeper to place the powder in the boat, and send it off in such time as to avoid any detention of the outward-bound vessel. Before taking the powder on board, the receipt granted by the magazine-keeper shall be given up.

16. Boats shall be permitted to take on board at the Moyapore Magazine and bring as far as Neemuk Mehal Ghât, under cover of passes to be granted by the Commissioner of Police and the Port Commissioners, 50lbs. of trade gunpowder, the property of dealers and consignees.

17. Delivery of trade powder into boats at the Moyapore Magazine for conveyance to Calcutta shall only be granted upon orders issued by the Port Commissioners.

18. No boat containing powder, under the provisions of rules 16 and 17, shall be allowed to proceed above Neemuk Mehal Ghât. All such powder shall be landed at Neemuk Mehal Ghât, and no powder shall be landed at any other ghât, except with the special permission of the Port Commissioners.

19. No smoking, and no fire or light of any description, except the red lamp between sunset and sunrise, shall be permitted on board of any boat having explosives on board.

20. Masters of vessels having on board explosives belonging to the following classes, as laid down in the rules prescribed in the notification of the Government of India, Commerce and Industry Department, No. 4555—4, dated 31st May 1907, shall make their own arrangements for the discharge of the explosives:—

CLASS 2.—Nitrate mixture.
" 3.—Nitro compound.
CLASS 4.—Chlorate mixture.
" 5.—Fulminate.

21. Explosives of the classes specified in the foregoing rule shall not be landed at the Moyapore Magazine. They shall only be allowed to enter and pass through the port under the supervision of the Port Police and subject to such restrictions as may, from time to time, be ordered by the Commissioner of Police and the Port Commissioners, in addition to the restrictions laid down in the rules promulgated by the Government of India, Commerce and Industry Department, Notification No. 4555—4, dated 31st May 1907. But they may be landed at Diamond Harbour and conveyed thence by rail to Durgapur: provided they are taken direct from the vessel to wagons; or if there be no wagons ready to receive them, arrangements are made for their safe custody after leaving the vessel.

22. Boats containing explosives of the classes specified in the two foregoing rules may anchor at Diamond Harbour if it is intended to land the explosives at that place, but shall, in no case, anchor within port limits, or be made fast at any part of the river bank or alongside any vessel, stage, jetty, or pier within the limits of the port. Such boats, if allowed to enter port, shall proceed direct through the port to the place licensed by the Local Government for the landing and storage of the explosives.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta,

or
the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or
the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909, together with the Bill as amended by the Committee, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1909.

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE.

We, the undersigned, members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909, have considered the Bill, and have the honour to submit this, our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed hereto. The amendments which we have made in the Bill are, as far as possible, printed in antique type, and all amendments of any importance are mentioned in the following paragraphs.

Clause 3.

2. We have struck out of the definition of "Officer in charge of a police-station" the words "or, when the Lieutenant Governor so directs, any other Police-officer so present," We consider it sufficient to declare, as the definition does, that when the officer in charge of a police-station is absent from the station-house or is unable to perform his duties, his functions may be discharged by the Police-officer present who is next in rank and is above the rank of constable.

Clause 4.

3. We have struck out the latter portion of the definition of "place of public entertainment" from clause 4 of the Bill as introduced in Council. It declared that certain kinds of houses, e.g., boarding-houses, should be included in the expression "place of public entertainment." The definition, however, is only required for the purposes of sub-clause (g) of the first section in clause 14 of the Bill (giving power to make rules for regulating the means of entrance and exit, and lighting, and for providing for public safety and the prevention of disturbance), and it is not necessary that it should cover any of the houses in question.

Clause 4A.

4. This clause is new. It introduces section 32 of the City of Bombay Police Act, 1902, detailing the duties of Police-officers.

Clause 6.

5. Upon the suggestion of several of the Associations who have criticised the Bill, we have made at the end of this clause an addition corresponding to section 19 of the City of Bombay Police Act, 1902, which provides a penalty of imprisonment up to a limit of six months, or fine up to a limit of Rs. 500, for vexatious entries, searches, seizures, arrests and detentions, and for certain other offences by Police-officers.

Clause 8.

6. We have made an addition to this clause to declare that all orders by the Commissioner of Police as to the constitution of divisions or sections must be published in the Calcutta Gazette and in the manner prescribed by clause 25 for the publication of public notices.

Clause 9.

7. This clause provides a fine of twenty rupees for trespass on land, buildings, boats or vessels. We have inserted the words "vehicle," so as to penalise a wrongful entry into a carriage.

Clause 9A.

8. Section 36 of the Calcutta Act declares that a license for the sale of spirit or intoxicating drugs shall not be granted under the Excise Law without a certificate from the Commissioner of Police. The same section declares that such a license shall not be renewable without a fresh certificate, and section 37 declares that the Commissioner's certificate may impose conditions on licensees. Sections 36 and 37, respectively, declare that in granting fresh certificates and in imposing conditions the Commissioner shall be subject to the direction and control of the Lieutenant-Governor; but the Act contains no such declaration in respect of the grant of original certificates. This is an omission which should, in our opinion, be rectified, and we have inserted in the Bill a clause (numbered 9A) for this purpose. The clause is framed so as to apply also to the Suburban Act, which has the same defect.

Clause 12.

9. We have, in order to meet suggestions made by the Indian Association, inserted amendments—

(a) to require the Commissioner of Police to reduce to writing the information on which he issues a warrant to search for explosives, and

(b) to declare that such warrants may be directed only to a Police-officer not below the rank of Sub-Inspector.

Clause 14.

10. The first section introduced by this clause authorizes the Commissioner of Police, with the previous sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and after publication in draft for criticism, to make rules for regulating traffic, the playing of music in streets or public places, the illumination of streets and public places, and other matters. We have made the following alterations in the section :—

(1) we have altered the wording of sub-clause (b) so as to extend the traffic rules to motorists;

(2) in sub-clause (c) we have inserted "bamboos," which are commonly carried through the streets;

(3) we have made additions to sub-clause (f), to exempt music, when played within the precincts of public buildings, from interference by the Police;

(4) we have also altered sub-clause (f), and inserted sub-clauses marked (f 1) and (f 2), with the objects of—

(a) withdrawing the proposed power to license the illumination of streets and public places;

(b) withdrawing the power to control the illumination of the exterior of buildings, and

(c) substituting, for the power to prohibit illuminations, power to make rules for controlling the erection of structures for illuminations and for authorizing and regulating the removal, by the Police, of any appliances or structures for illuminations, when the Commissioner of Police considers that they are likely to cause obstruction, danger or damage to residents or passengers.

(5) we have altered sub clause (4), so as to make the penalty for breach of rules relating to illuminations a fine which may extend to Rs. 100, instead of (as in the Bill as introduced in Council) imprisonment up to eight days or a fine up to Rs. 50.

11. Sub-section (1) of the section marked A which is introduced by clause 14 of the Bill empowers Police-officers of the higher grades to give directions to the public on the occasion of processions and assemblies, and for preventing obstructions, and keeping order, in public places, and for regulating and controlling music and noises in public places. We have made the following alterations in this sub-section :—

(1) in the opening clause we have expressly saved the provisions of licenses granted under the preceding section;

(2) we have altered sub-clause (a) so as to limit the directions which may be given under it to the matter of "securing the orderly conduct" of processions and assemblies;

(3) we have altered sub-clause [(e) (relating to music and noises)] by striking out the reference to singing, and by limiting the sub-clause to streets and public places themselves. We do not think this sub-clause should extend, as was provided in the Bill as introduced in Council, to music and noises "near" streets or public places.

12. Sub-section (2) of the same section A empowers the Commissioner of Police to prohibit certain acts, with a view to preserving the public peace or safety. In order to meet objections that have been taken to sub-clause (ii), we have altered that sub-clause so as to give power to prohibit, not the "carrying, collection and preparation of stones or other missiles", as was proposed in the Bill as introduced in Council, but the "carrying, collection and preparation of stones or other articles intended to be used as missiles."

13. The section marked B in clause 14 of the Bill empowers Magistrates and Police-officers to enforce orders issued under the preceding section marked A. In the Bill as introduced in Council this power was conferred on Police-officers generally; but we have altered the section so as to allow only officers of or above the rank of Sub-Inspector to enforce orders under some of the more important clauses of section A.

14. The section marked C in clause 14 of the Bill empowers the higher grades of Police-officers to give directions to prevent disorder at places of public amusement, or at assemblies or meetings of a public character. We have struck out the words "or breach of the law", so as to limit the interference of the Police strictly to the purpose of "preventing serious disorder or manifest and imminent danger"; and, with a similar object in view, have altered the words "peaceful and lawful conduct" to "peaceful and orderly conduct".

Clauses 16 and 17.

15. We have added an Explanation to these clauses, with the object of preventing conflict between sub-clause (c) and provisions in other Acts (e.g., the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898) giving powers of arrest.

Clause 20.

16. We have added a sub-clause, based on section 544 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (Act V of 1898), to empower the Commissioner of Police to order payment of the expenses of persons attending before a Police-officer for the purposes of any investigation referred to in this clause.

Clause 21.

17. This clause empowers the Commissioner of Police to issue a warrant to search for persons wrongfully confined. We have amended it so as—

(a) to confine the action of the Commissioner to cases in which he receives information on oath and in which it is impracticable to make an application to a Magistrate (e.g., when the information is sworn late at night), and

(b) to provide that such a warrant shall be issued only to a Police-officer not below the rank of Sub-Inspector.

Clause 22A.

18. This clause is new. It introduces section 104 of the City of Bombay Police Act, 1902, providing a procedure for the making of searches in the presence of witnesses.

Clauses 25 and 25A.

19. We have amended the proposed section marked C so as to except orders made under the proposed section 78A of the Calcutta Act or the proposed section 47A of the Suburban Act from the provision admitting the use of a stamp for impressing the signature of the Commissioner of Police on documents.

Clause 26.

20. We have altered the form of certificate on enrolment by substituting the words "a member of the Calcutta Police Force" for the words "a constable in the Calcutta Police Force."

21. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

The 5th August, 1909.

NOTES OF DISSENT.

THE Bill was introduced in Council on Tuesday, the 13th of July 1909, and was published in the Calcutta Gazette for the first time on the following day. The first meeting of the Select Committee was held on Thursday, the 15th of July, 1909, and the second meeting was held the following day. No opinions of public bodies had then been asked for or obtained. On the representation of the non-official members and with the kind permission of His Honour the President, for which we are all very thankful, opinions of certain public bodies were decided to be obtained, and ten days' time was all that could be allowed to them for sending in their opinions. We gave the names of such public bodies as occurred to us. The Bill does not, however, seem to have been sent for opinion to other bodies and institutions that are ordinarily, or ought to be, consulted on such occasions. Among those so omitted is the High Court of Calcutta, and the omission is regrettable, especially in view of clause 23 of the Bill, about which, to a certain extent, there may possibly be some question regarding its jurisdiction. This is all the more regrettable in the absence of the Advocate-General—the most responsible Law Officer of the Crown.

2. The main necessity of the Calcutta Police Act and the Suburban Police Act, which are both Acts of 1866, was to provide special Police procedure, regulations and powers for Calcutta and its suburbs, to which, at the time it was thought, the special Police sections, if I may so call them, of the existing Criminal Procedure Code should not apply. The extension of the corresponding sections of the Criminal Procedure Code during its successive amendments was not considered necessary or desirable, though the Calcutta and the Suburban Acts have several times been amended.

3. The Hon'ble Mr. Duke, in introducing the Bill, was pleased to observe that though the number of amendments was considerable—extending over 29 clauses, and though "it had been considered whether the time had not come completely to recast these two Acts," upon the whole it had been thought that there was no necessity for a wholesale revision. To this I find it difficult to agree. Though, in the words of the Hon'ble Mr. Duke, "the changes proposed are nothing revolutionary," they are many, and in some cases radical. That these changes have been taken almost verbatim from the City of Bombay Police Act is some indication that local conditions and requirements could not have been adequately considered and provided for.

Nor have the proposed Bombay innovations been sufficiently long before the local public.

4. The Indian Association has, with some force, brought out the fact that "the statistics of crime show that while the criminality of the Bombay and the Madras Presidencies is on an average represented by over 80 in every 10,000 of population, that in Bengal and Assam is represented by only 24." The City of Bombay Police Act is admittedly on the lines of the Bombay District Police Act, and not much differentiation between the city and the districts had apparently been needed in the Western Presidency. But that such differentiation is necessary here, is illustrated by the non-extension of the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code to Calcutta, when the Code was several times amended since 1866, when the present Police Act was passed.

5. The practically wholesale application to Metropolitan conditions of what may have been considered necessary in districts with a remarkable criminal record, is a measure at best of questionable utility. With a separate Legislature of our own, we might well be expected to work out a law suited even to the changed condition of things referred to by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill; and before drastic regulations considered necessary for a Seaport city of mixed interests and population are drafted, almost verbatim, for adaptation amongst differing surroundings, greater opportunities for deliberate consideration of the measure are rightfully due to the public and the Council.

6. These considerations made me bring the claims of consolidation before the Select Committee; and, as they could not be recognised there, I have to submit such claims for the consideration of the Council. Consolidation in the present instance is of greater necessity, having regard to the embarrassments necessarily caused by two differing, and now much more comprehensive, Acts having to be administered by the same official in two contiguous and similarly situated areas. The only objection urged against the feasibility of such consolidation, as I understand, is that some sections of the Criminal Procedure Code apply to the suburbs only. Difficulties like these can be amply met in the course of a proper and well-considered consolidation, as was done in the case of the Calcutta Municipal Act.

7. One other objection against consolidation is that it would involve a reference to the Supreme Government and, therefore, delay. Neither in the speech in Council of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, nor in the detailed Statement of Objects and Reasons, nor in the course of the proceedings of the Select Committee, was the necessity of special expedition for passing the measure made apparent. The necessities for change urged in the Hon'ble Member's speech are of the every-day and normal kind, and are by no means of an immediately exigent nature. They are chiefly of the following order:— Vagueness of expression, archaic and obsolete phraseology, reference to a non-existent state of things, and general non-reference to some of the existing. These are matters clearly and essentially within the scope of considered consolidation and not emergent and temporary amendment, admitting of no delay. The "doubts and uncertainties as to police powers" referred to in the Hon'ble Member's speech have neither been enumerated nor even remotely illustrated. The complaint is far too general and indefinite, and the existing situation is amply provided for—at least for the time being—by the existing law. General and recurring defects of the kind indicated above can hardly be met by hurried amendments, that may overlook much in the sections not touched, and may re-enact with needless and extra rigour that which is already provided for in possibly an inconvenient and inconsistent manner. Efficiency and expedition in these matters are ordinarily inconsistent.

8. The last meeting of the Select Committee was held on Tuesday, the 3rd of August, 1909, and the report of the Committee and the amended Bill, with some of the clauses, partially redrafted for the first time, were received by non-official members on the evening of Thursday, the 5th of August, with a request to return the report signed by the following evening. As the meeting of the Council for presentation of the report, fixed for Monday, the 9th instant, had already been announced, sufficient time for considering and recording a dissent could not be allowed, and I have time barely to indicate some only of the salient features of the Bill, they and others being necessarily left over for substantive amendments in Council. The chief objections to the amended Bill are:—

(1) too wide a definition of:—

(a) "place of public amusement";

(b) "place of public entertainment";

(c) "public place";

(d). "street";

(2) want of some protection to Police-officers summarily suspended or dismissed by the Commissioner of Police;

(3) substitution of the words "wilfully enters or remains in" for the words "wilfully trespasses" in the existing section 29 of the Calcutta Act, which might entail criminality on innocent persons straying into public or private buildings or grounds;

(4) repeal of the words "in the day time" in the search sections (60 of the Calcutta Act and 37 of the Suburban Act), which may involve much harassment and inconvenience to innocent householders;

(5) absence of express provision for consideration of public opinion on the draft rules before publishing them under the Act;

(6) undue Police interference with processions and assemblies in the streets and in the neighbourhood of places of public worship [vide section A(1), in clause 14 of the Bill];

(7) Commissioner's notifications prohibiting cries and singing of songs and delivery of what has been termed harangues [vide section A(2), in clause 14 of the Bill];

(8) Commissioner's prohibition of assemblies, which is not even limited to "public places" and may include private meetings, social, religious or political, and similar processions [vide section A(3), in clause 14 of the Bill];

(9) power of interference at places of public amusement and assemblies (vide section C, in clause 14 of the Bill);

(10) larger power of arrest without warrant in non-cognizable cases (clauses 16, 17);

—9. The wide and hitherto unknown and unnecessary powers of arrest, restraint and interference indicated above are by no means covered by the general observations and complaint of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, and no grounds have been urged and no case made out for the delegation of such large powers. Public bodies, so widely differing from one another in opinion in other matters, as the British Indian Association, the Marwari Association, the National Chamber of Commerce and the Indian Association, are unanimous against such extension of powers to the Police, as at present constituted and worked, especially having regard to recent facts and circumstances to which a detailed reference here is hardly necessary. The Central National Muhammadan Association observe that "some very responsible powers have been given in the Bill to the subordinate Police-officers under the sections marked A, B and C in clause 14," and their Committee suggest that provision be made in the Bill for the exercise of those powers under the direct supervision of the Commissioner of Police. This has not been provided in the Amended Bill, as, having regard to the manifold powers in question, such a provision would be obviously impossible and wholly impracticable, and the delegation must be to subordinate officers.

10. The British Indian Association observe that the people will feel the requisitions and restrictions of these sections (A, B and C) "as harassing and vexatious", and that "when a man finds that almost at every step in his daily life he is required to do something and to refrain from doing something, that he cannot attend a public meeting without being watched, that he cannot sing a song in the streets without any fear of police interference......it breaks the quiet and even tenor of his daily life, and conflicts with his temper and habits." "With these clauses in the Statute Book, every one, high and low, will feel that there is restraint and interference in every direction", and "legislation on such lines is not calculated to enlist the sympathies and affections of the people," and they plead for 'reduction to a minimum of the interference by the police with the public in their domestic and social relations.'

11. Considerable modifications in the Bill, not only with regard to the details, which are all that the Select Committee could deal with, but also with a regard to principles, would be needed, which would be possible only on further reconsideration upon proper instructions and with fuller materials than are forthcoming. The immediate present is hardly an opportune moment for undertaking such a delicate and complicated task, having regard to the prevailing tension of feeling that makes calm and unbiassed judgment or criticism difficult. In the presence of immediate and emergent necessities such considerations could of course hardly prevail or warrant delay; but no such necessities are urged or made out.

12. In the hurry of the moment, I suppose, there has been omitted from the Bill and the Report the healthy provision that no arrest shall take place under sub-clause (ii) in clause 16 and clause 17 of the Bill (refusal to give name and address) if the person concerned offers to accompany the Police-officer to the police-station. The insertion of such a provision was agreed to by the Select Committee, as I understood. I should like the provision referred to to be extended also to the case mentioned in sub-clause (i) (persisting in committing an offence after being warned by a Police-officer), and would limit the power of arrest in both cases to an officer above the rank of constable.

13. Our obligations are due to the official members and the Secretary to the Council for the unvaried courtesy and assistance extended to us during the passage of the Bill through the Select Committee. To such harmonious working is due to the excision of many of the objectionable features of the Bill noted in the Report, which I sign subject to this dissent.

14. Our obligations, and those of the community, are doubly due to His Honour the President for the ready acceptance of the suggestion that the safeguards of sections 19, 32 and 104 of the City of Bombay Police Act should be incorporated in the Bill. The insertion of these sections will tend to soften down some of the rigour of the proposed measure.

DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI.

The 6th August, 1909.

I SIGN the Report of the Select Committee subject to the following Note of Dissent.

2. In this Bill, I find that in some cases definitions are given and the meanings of words are clearly expressed. But in other cases words and expressions have been used which have not been defined, e.g., the word "fraudulently" in clause 11 (1), and "good faith" in clause 23.

3. Clause 9 seems to me to be unnecessary. The provision in the present Act is quite sufficient to deal with trespassers into public or private places. At any rate, the clause should be modified by substituting the word "trespasses" for the words "enters or remains."

4. Clause 12.—I cannot assent to the repealing of the words "in the day time" occurring in section 60 of the present Act. The Select Committee, in deference to public opinion, have inserted in the Bill clause 22A, which prescribes the procedure in making searches. Still, I am afraid for obvious reasons, public opinion will be strongly opposed to night-searches.

5. Clause 14.—Section 62 of the present Act gives sufficient power to the Police to regulate and control assemblies and processions, and to keep order in public streets. For the better regulation of traffic, etc., however, I have no objection to supplementing the section by the addition of sub-clauses (a), (b), (c), (d) and (e) of the first section in clause 14 of the Bill. The remaining portions of this section are unnecessary and vexatious. It would, for example, be unnecessarily irritating to public feeling if the Commissioner of Police be vested with power to remove any structure or any appliances for the outward illumination of any house. Power is proposed to be taken in the Bill for the Local Government to control the illumination of streets and public places. The object of this control, we were told in Select Committee, is to secure that the structures or appliances might be strong and firmly fixed to the exterior of the buildings according to the directions given in the regulations. It should be clearly laid down that the Commissioner of Police may be permitted to interfere only in cases of non-compliance with these regulations.

As the rules to be made under this section will have the force of law, it is necessary to provide that all such rules should be submitted to the local Legislative Council for approval.

6. Clause 14.—The section marked A in clause 14 of the Bill, amplifies the existing section (62) of the Act, and thereby gives unlimited power to Police-officers of the lower ranks to interfere with processions and assemblies and with music. Even under the existing law, the Police have been known to abuse their powers and to be overbearing to the public. The law as it stands at present does not in any way hamper the Commissioner of Police in dealing with the cases contemplated by this section.

7. The new sub-clauses (3) and (4) in the section marked A in clause 14 of the Bill give extensive powers to the Commissioner of Police. Under the existing law, the Local Government, the Commissioner of Police, and any Presidency Magistrate already enjoy ample powers in this respect. I would submit that these sub-clauses, which propose to confer this plenary power on the Commissioner of Police, and which have given rise to a great deal of dissatisfaction among the public, should be omitted.

8. As regards the punishment of one month's imprisonment or less, with or without hard labour, which is provided for in sub-clause (4) of the first section in clause 14 of the Bill, and in sub-clause (5) of the section marked A in the same clause, I submit that fine will amply meet the case, when the Police have power, under the Act, to arrest any person who disobeys their order or warning. The arrest prevents the commission or continuance of the offence.

9. The section marked C in clause 14 of the Bill proposes to give undue liberty to the Police to enter private premises and to interfere unnecessarily and vexatiously with what is going on within. The existing law amply provides for any breach of the peace and disorderly conduct in any place. I do not see any objection to the Police giving reasonable directions for the mode of admission of the public and for securing the orderly conduct of persons attending a meeting at a public place, when, on account of the crowd, there is manifest and imminent danger to the persons assembled. But if sub-clause (g) of the first section in clause 14 of the Bill remains as it is, there would be no necessity for enacting the section marked C in clause 14 of the Bill.

10. Clause 23.—This clause, which introduces a section to replace section 99 of the Calcutta Act and to be inserted as section 50A in the Suburban Act, regarding indemnity of Police-officers from punishment and from payment of damages on the ground of their acting in good faith, has been vigorously opposed by the public. People are afraid that this provision will make the Police more reckless in their conduct than at present. Moreover, even under the existing law convictions of Police-officers have been very rare. I am therefore of opinion that the old section 99 should be retained, and that clause 23 of the Bill should be omitted. I am, however, grateful to Government for their kindly inserting in clause 6 of the Bill section 19 of the City of Bombay Police Act, which empowers the public to sue a Police-officer for vexatious proceedings.

11. These are the main points on which I beg to dissent from the Report of the Select Committee. I have previously drawn the attention of the Hon'ble Members of the Committee to some of the most objectionable features of this Bill. It proposes to put restraints upon a citizen at almost every step of his daily life. Freedom of action, which is the proud privilege of every British subject, is proposed to be considerably curtailed. The Indian Penal Code, the Criminal Procedure Code and the Arms Act, which have lately been supplemented by other Acts of the Governor-General in Council, notably the Prevention of Seditious Meetings Act, 1907, and the Explosive Substances Act, VI of 1908, have not been found inadequate to cope with the present situation. The existing Calcutta Police Act has also worked well. During recent times, no emergency has occurred for which the authorities have found the existing law to be without a remedy. Meetings have been interdicted, inflammatory speeches have been suppressed, disorderly conduct has been put down, and the unlawful possession of weapons and explosive substances has been vigorously dealt with. No strong case has been made out for any change in the existing law. Instances of abuse of power by the Police, even under the present law, are not uncommon, and one looks with dismay to what may occur in the future under the proposed law.

12. There has also been unusual haste in the progress of the Bill since its first introduction in Council on the 13th July last. The Report of the Select Committee, with the amended Bill, was received by me on Thursday night last, with the direction to return it with my note the next day before 6 o'clock in the evening. I could not, therefore, go fully into the other points of the Bill in my Note of Dissent.

13. I cannot conclude my note without expressing my sincere gratitude to His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor for his kindly consenting, in deference to the opinion of the two non-official members of the Select Committee, to refer the Bill to certain public bodies in Calcutta for opinion; and, although the time allowed to them for submitting their views was very short, there has been much valuable criticism on the Bill, from which the Select Committee have undoubtedly derived much benefit. I wish that the Bill had been referred to the Hon'ble High Court for opinion, for the opinions of the Hon'ble Judges would no doubt have been of great help to the Council.

THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1909

further to amend the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866.

CONTENTS.

CLAUSE.

THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1909

A Bill further to amend the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866. Ben. Act IV of 1866. Ben. Act II of 1866.

[NOTES.—(1) The figures "1902," on the margin of the Bill, refer to the City of Bombay Police Act, 1902 (Bom. Act IV of 1902).

(2) Amendments made by the Select Committee are, as far as possible, printed in antique type.]

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866, in the manner hereinafter appearing; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Act, 1909.

Definitions.

2. The expression "the Calcutta Act," as used in this Act, means the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the expression "the Suburban Act," as used in this Act, means the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866. Ben. Act IV of 1866. Ben. Act II of 1866.

Additions to section 3 of Calcutta Act.

3. To section 3 of the Calcutta Act the following shall be added, namely:—

"the phrases 'investigation,' 'offence' and 'cognizable offence' shall respectively have the meanings assigned thereto by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898; [1902, s. (8e).] Act V of 1898.

'Officer in charge of a police-station' shall include, when the officer in charge of the police-station is absent from the station-house or unable from illness or other cause to perform his duties, the police-officer present at the station-house who is next in rank to such officer and is above the rank of constable; [1902, s. 3 (c); Act V of 1898, s. 4 (p).]

'Police-officer' shall mean any member of the Police force for the town of Calcutta appointed under this Act, and shall include the Commissioner of Police and a Deputy or Assistant Commissioner of Police." [1902, s. 3(b).]

Additions to section 3 of the Calcutta Act and section 51 of the Suburban Act.

4. To section 3 of the Calcutta Act, and to section 51 of the Suburban Act, the following shall be added, namely:—

"'explosive substance' shall be deemed to include any materials for making any explosive substance; also any apparatus, machine, implement or material used, or intended to be used, or adapted for causing, or aiding in causing, any explosion in or with any explosive substance; also any part of any such apparatus, machine or implement; [Act VI of 1908, s. 2.]

'place of public amusement' shall mean any place, enclosure, building, tent, booth or other erection, whether permanent or temporary, where music, singing, dancing or any diversion or game, or the means of carrying on the same, is provided, and to which the public are admitted, either on payment of money or with the intention that money may be collected from those admitted, otherwise than for a bonâ fide charitable purpose; and shall include a race-course, circus, theatre, music-hall, billiard-room, bagatelle-room, gymnasium and fencing-school; [1902, s. 3 (g).]

'place of public entertainment' shall mean any place, whether enclosed or open, to which the public are admitted, and where any kind of food or drink is supplied for consumption on the premises for the profit or gain of any person owning or having an interest in, or managing, such place; [1902, s. 3 (h).]

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clause 4A.)

'police-station' shall mean any post or place declared, generally or specially, by the Lieutenant-Governor to be a police-station, and shall include any local area specified by the Lieutenant-Governor in this behalf; [Act V of 1898, s. 4 (s).]

'public place' shall include the banks of the river, the docks, the jetties, warehouses to which the public have access, the precincts of every public building or monument, and all places accessible to the public for drawing water, washing or bathing, or for purposes of recreation; [1902, s. 3(f).]

'street' shall mean any road, lane, footway, square, court, alley or passage, whether a thoroughfare or not, to which the public have, permanently or temporarily, a right of access; [1902, s. 3(i).]

'vehicle' shall mean any carriage, cart, van, dray, truck, hand-cart or other wheeled conveyance of any description capable of being used on the streets, except a tram-car; and shall include a bicycle, tricycle, motor-car and motor-cycle." [1902, s. 3(k).]

New section 10A for the Calcutta Act and 4A for the Suburban Act.

4A. The following section shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as section 10A and in the Suburban Act as section 4A, namely:—

"(1) It shall be the duty of every Police-officer— [1902, s. 32.]

Duties of Police-officers.

(a) promptly to serve every summons and obey and execute every warrant or other order lawfully issued to him by competent authority, and to endeavour by all lawful means to give effect to the lawful commands of his superiors;

(b) to the best of his ability, to obtain intelligence concerning the commission of cognizable offences or designs to commit such offences, and to lay such information and to take such other steps, consistent with law and with the orders of his superiors, as are best calculated to bring offenders to justice or to prevent the commission of cognizable offences, or the commission of non-cognizable offences within his view;

(c) to the best of his ability, to prevent the commission of public nuisances;

(d) to apprehend all persons whom he is legally authorized to apprehend and for whose apprehension there is sufficient reason;

(e) to aid any other Police-officer, when called on by him or in case of need in the discharge of his duty, in such ways as would be lawful and reasonable on the part of the officer aided;

(f) to discharge such duties as are imposed upon him by any law for the time being in force;

(g) to afford every assistance within his power to disabled or helpless persons in the streets, and to take charge of intoxicated persons and of lunatics at large who appear to be dangerous or to be incapable of taking care of themselves;

(h) to take prompt measures to procure necessary help for any person under arrest or in custody who is wounded or sick, and, while guarding or conducting any such person, to have due regard to his condition;

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clauses 5, 6.)

(i) to arrange for the proper sustenance and shelter of every person who is under arrest or in custody;

(j) in conducting searches, to refrain from needless rudeness and the causing of unnecessary annoyance;

(k) in dealing with women and children, to act with strict regard to decency and with reasonable gentleness;

(l) to use his best endeavours—

(a) to prevent any loss or damage by fire, and

(b) to avert any accident or danger to the public;

(m) to regulate and control the traffic in the streets, to prevent obstruction therein, and to the best of his ability to prevent the infraction of any rule or order made under this Act or under any other law for the time being in force for observance by the public in or near the streets;

(n) to keep order in the streets, and at and within public bathing, washing and landing places, fairs and all other places of public resort, and in the neighbourhood of places of public worship during the time of public worship;

(o) to regulate resort to public bathing, washing and landing places, to prevent overcrowding thereat and in public ferry-boats, and, to the best of his ability, to prevent the infraction of any rule or order lawfully made for observance by the public at any such place or on any such boat; and

(p) to perform all duties imposed on him by rules for the time being in force under this Act, in the manner and subject to the conditions therein prescribed.

(2) All persons shall be bound to conform to the reasonable directions of a Police-officer given in fulfilment of any of the said duties.

(3) A Police-officer may restrain or remove any person resisting, or refusing or omitting to conform to, any such direction as aforesaid."

Amendment of section 13 of the Calcutta Act.

5. In section 13 of the Calcutta Act, for the word "constable" the words "Police-officer" shall be substituted.

New sections 13A to 13C for the Calcutta Act and 8A to 8C for the Suburban Act.

6. The following sections shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as sections 13A, 13B, and 13C, and in the Suburban Act as sections 8A, 8B, and 8C, namely:—

Police-officers prohibited from other employment.

"A. The Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner of Police shall not, without the permission of the Lieutenant-Governor, and a Police-officer of lower rank than that of Deputy Commissioner shall not, without the permission of the Commissioner of Police, [1902 either as principal or agent,—

(a) engage in any trade, or

(b) be in any way concerned in the purchase or sale of any immovable property within the town or suburbs of Calcutta or of any interest therein, or

(f) holds out to an accused person any threat or promise not warranted by law, shall be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term which may extend to six months, or to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or to both."

New section 14A for the Calcutta Act and 8D for the Suburban Act.

7. The following section shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as section 14A, and in the Suburban Act as section 8D, namely:—

[1902, s. 20.]

False statement to obtain employment or release.

"Any person who knowingly makes a false statement or uses a false document, for the purpose of obtaining for himself or any other person employment or release from employment as a Police-officer, shall be liable to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term which may extend to three months, or to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or to both."

New section 21A for the Calcutta Act and 15A for the Suburban Act.

8. The following section shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as section 21A, and in the Suburban Act as section 15A, namely:—

[1902, s. 11 (1).]

Constitution of divisions and sections.

"(1) Subject to the control of the Lieutenant-Governor, the Commissioner of Police shall, by order,—

(a) constitute such and so many Police divisions as he thinks fit, and

(b) sub-divide such divisions into such and so many sections as he thinks fit, and

(c) define the limits and extent of such divisions and sections.

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clauses 9-12.)

(2) Every such order shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and in the manner prescribed by this Act for the publication of public notices."

New section 29 for the Calcutta Act and 15B for the Suburban Act.

9. The following section shall be substituted for section 29 of the Calcutta Act, and shall be inserted in the Suburban Act as section 15B, namely:—

[1902, s. 111.]

Wilful trespass.

"Whoever, without satisfactory excuse, wilfully enters or remains in or upon any dwelling-house or private premises or any land or ground attached thereto, or any ground, building, monument or structure belonging to the Government or appropriated to public purposes, or any vehicle, boat or vessel, shall, whether he causes any actual damage or not, be liable to fine which may extend to twenty rupees."

Amendment of section 36 of the Calcutta Act and section 19 of the Suburban Act.

9A. For the words "subject to the order and control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal," in section 36 of the Calcutta Act, and for the words "subject to the order and control of the said Lieutenant-Governor," in section 19 of the Suburban Act, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"The Commissioner of Police shall, in granting or refusing certificates under this section, be subject to the direction and control of the Lieutenant-Governor."

Amendment of section 33 of the Suburban Act.

10. In section 33 of the Suburban Act, for the words "police-office" the words "police-station" shall be substituted.

New section 54A for the Calcutta Act and 33A for the Suburban Act.

11. The following section shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as section 54A and in the Suburban Act as section 33A, namely:—

[Act XXI of 1857, s. 2; Burma Act IV of 1899, s. 31 1902, s. 114.]

Possession or dealing with thing stolen or fraudulently obtained.

"(1) Whoever has in his possession, or conveys in any manner, or offers for sale or pawn, anything which there is reason to believe to have been stolen or fraudulently obtained, shall, if he fails to account for such possession or act to the satisfaction of the Magistrate, be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term which may extend to three months.

(2) If any person charged under sub-section (1) in respect of anything declares that he received such thing from some other person, or that he was employed as a carrier, agent or servant to convey such thing for some other person, the Magistrate may cause such other person, and any former or pretended purchaser or other person through whose possession such thing is alleged to have passed, to be brought before him and examined, and may examine any witnesses who are produced to testify to such receipt, employment or possession; and, if it appears to the Magistrate that any person so brought before him had possession of such thing and had reasonable cause to believe that it was stolen or fraudulently obtained, the Magistrate may punish him with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or with imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term which may extend to three months.

Amendment of section 60 of the Calcutta Act and section 37 of the Suburban Act.

12. In section 60 of the Calcutta Act, and in section 37 of the Suburban Act,—

(1a) after the word "oath" the words "and reduced to writing" shall be inserted;

(1b) after the words "Police-officer" the words "not below the rank of Sub-Inspector" shall be inserted;

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clauses 13, 14.)

(1) the words "in the day-time" are hereby repealed ;

(2) for the word "gunpowder," wherever it occurs, the words "explosive substance" shall be substituted; and

(3) after the words "this Act" the words "or any other law or any rule made thereunder" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 61 of the Calcutta Act and section 38 of the Suburban Act.

13. In section 61 of the Calcutta Act, and in section 38 of the Suburban Act, for the word "gunpowder," in each place in which it occurs, the words "explosive substances" shall be substituted.

New sections substituted for section 62 of the Calcutta Act and section 39 of the Suburban Act.

14. The following sections shall be substituted for section 62 of the Calcutta Act, being numbered 62, 62A, 62B and 62C, respectively, and shall also be substituted for section 39 of the Suburban Act, being numbered 39, 39A, 39B and 39C, respectively, namely:—

Power of Commissioner to make rules for regulation of traffic, etc.

"(1) With the previous sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, [1902, s. 23.] the Commissioner of Police may, after previous publication, from time to time make rules—

(a) for licensing and controlling persons offering themselves for employment at quays, wharves or landing-places for the carriage of passengers' baggage, and fixing and providing for the enforcement of a scale of charges for the labour of such persons when so employed;

(b) regulating traffic of all kinds in streets and public places, and the use of streets and public places, by persons riding, or driving, leading or riding in vehicles, or leading or accompanying cattle, or walking, so as to prevent danger, obstruction or inconvenience to the public;

(c) regulating the conditions under which vehicles may remain standing in streets and public places, and the use of streets as halting places for vehicles or cattle;

(d) prescribing the number and position of lights to be used on vehicles in streets and public places;

(e) regulating and controlling the conveyance of timber, bamboos, scaffold-poles, ladders, iron girders, beams or bars, boilers or other unwieldy articles through the streets, and the route and hours for such conveyance;

(f) for licensing, controlling, or, in view to preventing obstruction, inconvenience, annoyance, risk, danger or damage to residents or passengers in the vicinity, prohibiting,—

(i) the playing of music in streets or in public places other than the precincts of public buildings, or

(iii) the carrying of any explosive substance in streets or public places;

(f1) for controlling the illumination of streets and public places, and the erection of structures on or over any street or public place, or against the exterior of any building abutting thereon, for the purposes of illumination;

(f2) for authorizing and regulating the removal, by the Police, of any structures referred to in clause (f.) of this section or any appliances for illumination, when the Commissioner of Police considers that the same are likely to cause obstruction, danger or damage to residents or passengers in the vicinity; or

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clause 14.)

(g) regulating the means of entrance and exit at places of public amusement, entertainment and assembly and the lighting thereof when used by the public, and providing for the maintenance of public safety and the prevention of disturbance therein:

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect the provisions of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, or the Indian Explosives Act, 1884. XI of 1878. IV of 1884.

(2) Any rules made under this section may, with the like sanction, be altered, after previous publication of the alteration, or be rescinded, by the Commissioner of Police.

(3) Every rule and alteration of a rule made under this section, and every rescission of any such rule, shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette and in the manner prescribed by this Act for the publication of public notices.

(4) Whoever contravenes any rule made under this section shall be liable,— [1902, s. 137.]

(i) if the rule were made under clause (a), clause (b), clause (c), or sub-clause (i) of clause (f) of sub-section (1)—to fine which may extend to fifty rupees, or

(ii) if the rule were made under clause (d), clause (e), or sub-clause (iii) of clause (f) of sub-section (1)—to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term which may extend to eight days, or to fine which may extend to fifty rupees, or to both, or

(iii) if the rule were made under clause (f1), clause (f2) or clause (g) of sub-section (1)—to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

"A. (1) The Commissioner of Police, and, subject to the orders of the Commissioner of Police, every Police-officer of a rank not inferior to that of Sub-Inspector, may, from time to time as occasion may require, but not so as to contravene any rule made under the last foregoing section or the provisions of any license granted under any such rule, give all such directions, either orally or in writing, as he may consider necessary to— [1902, s. 23.]

Power of Commissioner and other officers to give directions to the public.

(a) secure the orderly conduct of persons constituting processions and assemblies in streets;

(b) prescribe the routes by which and the times at which any such procession may, or may not, pass;

(c) prevent obstructions on the occasion of all processions and assemblies and in the neighbourhood of all places of worship during the time of public worship, and in all cases when any street or public place or place of public resort may be thronged or liable to be obstructed;

(d) keep order on and in all streets, quays, wharves and landing-places, and all other public places or places of public resort; or

(e) regulate and control music, the beating of drums, tom-toms and other instruments, and the blowing or sounding of horns or other noisy instruments, in any street or any public place other than the precincts of public buildings.

(2) The Commissioner of Police may also, whenever and for such time as he may consider it necessary to do so for the preservation of the public peace or public safety, by notification, publicly promulgated or addressed to individuals, prohibit—

(i) the carrying of swords, spears, bludgeons, guns or other offensive weapons in any public place;

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clause 14.)

(ii) the carrying, collection and preparation of stones or other articles intended to be used as missiles, or of instruments or means of casting or impelling missiles;

(iii) the exhibition of persons, corpses, figures or effigies in any public place;

(iv) the public utterance of cries, singing of songs or playing of music; and

(v) the delivery of harangues, the use of gestures or mimetic representations, and the preparation, exhibition or dissemination of pictures, symbols, placards or any other object or thing, which may be of a nature to outrage morality or decency, or which, in the opinion of the Commissioner of Police, may probably inflame religious animosity or hostility between different classes, or incite to the commission of an offence, to a disturbance of the public peace, or to resistance to, or contempt of, the law or of lawful authority.

(3) The Commissioner of Police may also, by order in writing, prohibit any assembly or procession, whenever and for so long as he considers such prohibition to be necessary for the preservation of the public peace or public safety:

Provided that no such prohibition shall remain in force for more than seven days without the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor.

(4) The Commissioner of Police may also, subject to the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor, by public notice, temporarily reserve for any public purpose any street or public place, and prohibit persons from entering the area so reserved save under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Police.

(5) Whoever contravenes any direction, order or prohibition lawfully given or made under this section shall be liable,— [1902, s. 127.]

(i) if the direction, order or prohibition were given or made under sub-section (1) or sub-section (4)—to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees; or

(ii) if the prohibition were made under sub-section (2) or sub-section (3)—to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for a term which may extend to one month, or to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or to both.

"B. (1) Whenever a notification, order in writing or public notice has been duly issued under sub-section (2), sub-section (3) or sub-section (4) of the last foregoing section, any Magistrate, or any of the following Police-officers, namely:— [1902, s. 88.]

Enforcement of orders issued under the last foregoing section.

(a) in the case of a notification issued under clause (i), clause (ii) or clause (iii) of the said sub-section (2), or in the case of a public notice issued under the said sub-section (4), any Police-officer, or

(b) in the case of a notification issued under clause (iv) or clause (v) of the said sub-section (2), or in the case of an order issued under the said sub-section (3), any Police-officer of or above the rank of Sub-Inspector, may require any person acting or about to act contrary thereto to desist or to abstain from such action, and, in case of refusal or disobedience, may arrest such person.

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clauses 15, 16.)

(2) Any Magistrate or Police-officer acting under sub-section (1) may also seize anything used or about to be used in contravention of such notification, order or notice as aforesaid, and anything so seized shall be disposed of as any Magistrate having jurisdiction may order.

Power to give directions to prevent disorder at places of public amusement, etc.

"C. (1) For the purpose of preventing serious disorder or manifest and imminent danger to the persons assembled at any place of public amusement, or at any assembly or meeting to which the public are invited or which is open to the public, [1902, s. 26.]

the Police-officer of highest rank, superior to that of Head Constable, who is present may, subject to such rules, directions, and orders as may have been lawfully made, give such reasonable directions as he may think necessary as to the mode of admission of the public to, and for securing the peaceful and orderly conduct of persons attending at, such place, assembly or meeting; and all persons shall be bound to conform to such directions.

(2) The Police shall have free access to every such place of public amusement, assembly or meeting, for the purpose of giving effect to the provisions of sub-section (1) and to any direction given thereunder.

(3) Whoever disobeys or fails to conform to any lawful and reasonable direction given by any Police-officer under sub-section (1), shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees." [1902, s. 127.]

Amendment of section 66 of the Calcutta Act and section 40 of the Suburban Act.

15. After clause (4) of section 66 of the Calcutta Act, and after clause (4) of section 40 of the Suburban Act, the following shall be inserted, namely:—

Exposing articles for sale so as to cause obstruction.

"(4a) whoever exposes any article for sale so as to cause obstruction in any public thoroughfare." [Act XLVII of 1860, s. 19, cl. 12.]

New section 72 (1) for the Calcutta Act.

16. The following sub-section shall be substituted for section 72 of the Calcutta Act, namely:—

Power to arrest without warrant.

"72. (1) Subject to the restrictions imposed by clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 62B in the case of offences there referred to, any Police-officer may arrest without a warrant any person committing in his presence in any street or public place any offence punishable under— [1902, s. 34(1).]

(a) any section of this Act other than section 68B, or

(b) any rule made under this Act, or

(c) any other law for the time being in force,

if such person,—

(i) after being warned by a Police-officer, persists in committing such offence, or

(ii) refuses, on being required so to do by a Police-officer, to give his name and address, or gives a name or address which the Police-officer has reason to believe to be false, or

(iii) refuses to accompany the Police-officer to a police-station on being required so to do.

Explanation.—This sub-section does not restrict the exercise by any Police-officer of any power of arrest conferred upon him by any other law."

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clauses 17-20.)

New section 43 (1) or the Suburban Act.

17. The following sub-section shall be substituted for section 43 of the Suburban Act, namely:— [1902, s. 34 1.]

"43. (1) Subject to the restrictions imposed by clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 39B in the case of offences there referred to, any Police-officer may arrest without a warrant any person committing in his presence in any street or public place any offence punishable under—

Power to arrest without warrant.

(a) any section of this Act other than section 41A, or

(b) any rule made under this Act, or

(c) any other law for the time being in force,

if such person,—

(i) after being warned by a Police-officer, persists in committing such offence, or

(ii) refuses, on being required so to do by a Police-officer, to give his name and address, or gives a name or address which the Police-officer has reason to believe to be false, or

(iii) refuses to accompany the Police-officer to a police-station on being required so to do.

Explanation.—This sub-section does not restrict the exercise by any Police-officer of any power of arrest conferred upon him by any other law."

New sub-section (2) for section 72 of the Calcutta Act and section 43 of the Suburban Act.

18. After the said sub-section (1) of section 72 of the Calcutta Act, and after the said sub-section (1) of section 43 of the Suburban Act, the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"(2) Should the true name and residence of any such person not be ascertained within twenty-four hours from the time of arrest, or should he fail to execute a recognizance for his appearance before a Magistrate, or, if so required, to furnish sureties, he shall forthwith be forwarded to a Magistrate having jurisdiction." [1902, s. 34 (2).]

Amendment of sections 76 and 77 of the Calcutta Act and sections 45 and 46 of the Suburban Act.

19. For the words "station-house," wherever they occur in sections 76 and 77 of the Calcutta Act, and for the words "Police station-house" in section 45 of the Suburban Act, and for the words "station-house" wherever they occur in section 46 of the latter Act, the words "police-station" shall be substituted.

New sections 78A of the Calcutta Act and 47A for the Suburban Act.

20. The following section shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as section 78A, and in the Suburban Act as section 47A, namely:—

"(1) If, in the course of any investigation, the Commissioner of Police has reason to believe that a cognizable offence has been committed, he may, by order in writing, require the attendance, before himself or before any officer serving under him who is investigating a cognizable offence, of any person then being within the limits of the town or suburbs of Calcutta, or within thirty miles or such limits, who, from the information given or otherwise, appears to be acquainted with the facts or circumstances of the case; and such person shall attend as so required. [1902, ss. 62, 61(5).]

Power of Commissioner of Police to require attendance and obtain statements of witnesses.

(2) The Commissioner of Police, or any officer aforesaid, may examine orally any person so attending, and may reduce into writing any statement made by him; and such person shall be bound to answer all questions relating to the case put to him by the Commissioner or such officer, other than questions the answers to which would have a tendency to expose him to a criminal charge or to a penalty or forfeiture.

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clauses 21-22A.)

(3) The Commissioner of Police may, in any case, forward to the Superintendent of Police of the district in which any person, from whom any information is required relating to the facts or circumstances of the case under investigation, is believed to be, such questions and such statement as may be necessary for the purpose of obtaining the information desired; and such Superintendent shall, on receipt thereof, cause such person to be examined orally, and his statement to be reduced into writing, in the same manner and subject to the same provisions as if an investigation were being made into such offence in such district, and shall forward the statement reduced into writing to the Commissioner of Police.

[Act V of 1898, s. 544.]

(4) Subject to any rules made by the Lieutenant-Governor with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, the Commissioner of Police may, if he thinks fit, order payment, on the part of the Government, of the reasonable expenses of any person attending for the purposes of any investigation before himself or any other Police-officer under this section."

New sections 80A for the Calcutta Act and 47B for the Suburban Act.

21. The following section shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as section 80A, and in the Suburban Act as section 47B, namely:—

[1902, s. 69.]

Power to search for persons wrongfully confined.

"If information is given on oath to the Commissioner of Police that any person is confined under such circumstances that the confinement amounts to an offence, and if it is for any reason impracticable to make an application to a Magistrate under section 100 or section 552 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, the Commissioner may issue a search-warrant to any Police-officer not below the rank of Sub-Inspector; and the officer to whom such warrant is directed may search for the person indicated in such warrant, in accordance with such directions as may be given therein; and the person, if found, shall immediately be taken before a Magistrate, who shall make such order as in the circumstances of the case seems proper."

V of 1898.

New section 80B for the Calcutta Act.

22. The following section shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act after the said section 80A, namely:—

[1902, s. 68, Act V of 1898, s. 166.]

When officer in charge of police-station may require another to issue search warrant.

"80B. (1) An officer in charge of a police-station in the town of Calcutta may require any officer in charge of a police-station in any part of Bengal, whether within or without the town of Calcutta, to cause a search to be made in any place, in any case in which the former officer might cause such search to be made within the limits of his own station.

(2) Such officer, on being so required, shall proceed in accordance with the provisions of section 80 of this Act, or section 165 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, whichever is applicable, and shall forward the thing found (if any) to the officer at whose request the search was made."

V of 1898.

New section 80C for the Calcutta Act and 47C for the Suburban Act.

22A. The following section shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as section 80C and in the Suburban Act as section 47C, namely:—

[1902, s. 104

Procedure in making searches.

"(1) Before any officer makes a search under this Act, he shall call upon two or more respectable persons to attend and witness the search.

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clauses 23, 24.)

(2) The search shall be made in the presence of such persons, and a list of all things seized in the course of the search, and of the places in which they are respectively found, shall be prepared by the said officer and signed by the said witnesses; but no person witnessing a search under this section shall be required to attend the Court as a witness of the search unless specially summoned by it.

(3) The occupant of the place searched, or some person in his behalf, shall, in every instance, be permitted to attend during the search; and a copy of the list prepared under sub-section (2), signed by the said witnesses, shall be delivered to such occupant or person at his request."

New section 99 for the Calcutta Act and 50A for the Suburban Act.

23. The following section shall be substituted for section 99 of the Calcutta Act, and shall be inserted in the Suburban Act as section 50A, namely:—

[1902, s. 140.]

Indemnity, limitation, and tender of amends.

"(1) No Magistrate or Police-officer shall be liable to any penalty or to payment of damages on account of any act done in good faith in pursuance or intended pursuance of any duty imposed or authority conferred on him by this Act or any rule, order or direction lawfully made or given hereunder.

(2) No public servant or person duly appointed or authorized shall be liable as aforesaid for giving effect in good faith to any such order or direction issued with apparent authority by the Lieutenant-Governor or by a person empowered in that behalf under this Act or any rule made hereunder.

(3) In any case of an alleged offence by a Magistrate, Police-officer or other person, or of a wrong alleged to have been done by a Magistrate, Police-officer or other person, by any act done under colour or in excess of any such duty or authority as aforesaid, or wherein it appears to the Court that the offence or wrong, if committed or done, was of the character aforesaid, the prosecution or suit shall not be entertained, or shall be dismissed, if instituted more than three months after the date of the act complained of.

(4) The plaint in any such suit shall be rejected if it does not expressly allege that the act complained of was done maliciously and without reasonable or probable cause; and any such suit shall be dismissed if, in the case of an action for damages, tender of sufficient amends has been made before the suit was brought or a sufficient sum of money is paid into Court, with costs, by or on behalf of the defendant, after the institution of the suit."

New sections 100 and 101 for the Calcutta Act.

24. For sections 100 and 101 of the Calcutta Act the following shall be substituted, namely:—

[1902, s. 47.]

Police to take charge of unclaimed movable property.

"100. (1) The Police shall, for the purpose of safe custody, take temporary charge of—

(a) all unclaimed movable property found by them, and

(b) all movable property found lying in any public street, if the owner or the person in charge of such property, on being directed to remove the same, refuses or omits to do so;

and may, for the said purpose, take temporary charge of any unclaimed movable property made over to them.

(2) Property of which the Police have taken charge under sub-section (1) shall be handed over to the Commissioner of Police.

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clause 25.)

Disposal of such property.

[1902, ss. 48, 49.]

"101. (1) If the said property appears to have been left by a person who has died intestate, and not to be under two hundred rupees in value, the Commissioner of Police shall communicate with the Administrator-General, with a view to its being dealt with under the Administrator-General's Act, 1874, or any other law for the time being in force.

II of 1874.

(2) In every other case the Commissioner of Police shall issue a proclamation specifying the articles of which such property consists, and requiring any person who may have a claim thereto to appear before himself or some other officer whom he appoints in this behalf and establish his claim within six months from the date of such proclamation.

(3) If the property, or any part thereof, is subject to speedy and natural decay, or consists of live-stock, or if the property appears to be of less value than five rupees, it may forthwith be sold by auction under the orders of the Commissioner of Police; and the net proceeds of such sale shall be dealt with in the same manner as is hereinafter provided for the disposal of the said property.

(4) The Commissioner of Police shall, on being satisfied of the title of any claimant to the possession or administration of any property referred to in sub-section (2), order the same to be delivered to him, after deduction or payment of the expenses properly incurred by the Police in the seizure and detention thereof.

(5) The Commissioner of Police may, at his discretion, before making any order under sub-section (4), take such security as he may think proper from the person to whom the said property is to be delivered; and nothing hereinbefore contained shall affect the right of any person to recover the whole or any part of such property from the person to whom it may have been delivered pursuant to such order.

(6) If no person establishes his claim to such property within the period prescribed in sub-section (2), it shall be at the disposal of the Government; and the property, or such part thereof as has not already been sold under sub-section (3), may be sold by auction under orders of the Commissioner of Police."

New sections 102A and 102B for the Calcutta Act and 49A and 49B for the Suburban Act.

25. The following sections shall be inserted in the Calcutta Act as sections 102A and 102B, and in the Suburban Act as sections 49A and 49B, respectively:—

Public notices how to be given.

[1902, s. 13.]

"A. Any public notice required to be given under any of the provisions of this Act shall be in writing, shall be signed by the Commissioner of Police, and shall be published in the locality to be affected thereby, by affixing copies thereof in conspicuous public places, or by proclaiming the same with beat of drum, or by advertising the same in such local newspapers, English or Vernacular, as the Commissioner of Police may deem fit, or by any two or more of these means and by any other means he may think suitable.

Consent, etc., of Commissioner of Police or Police-officer how to be proved.

[1902, s. 188.]

"B. Whenever under this Act or any rule made hereunder the doing or the omitting to do anything or the validity of anything depends upon the consent, approval, declaration, opinion or satisfaction of the Commissioner of Police or of any other Police-officer, a written document signed by the Commissioner of Police or by such officer, purporting to convey or set forth such consent, approval, declaration, opinion or satisfaction, shall be sufficient evidence thereof."

The Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1909.

(Clauses 25A-27.)

Proceedings of the Bengal Legislative Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Abstract of the Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, assembled under the provisions of the Indian Councils Acts, 1861 and 1892.

THE Council met in the Council Chamber on Monday, the 9th August, 1909, at 11 A.M.

Present:

The Hon'ble SIR EDWARD BAKER, K.C.S.I., Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, presiding.
The Hon'ble MR. F. A. SLACKE, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble MR. W. C. MACPHERSON, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble MR. E. W. COLLIN.
The Hon'ble MR. F. W. DUKE.
The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES ALLEN, KT.
The Hon'ble MR. J. G. CUMMING.
The Hon'ble MR. H. WHEELER.
The Hon'ble MR. E. P. CHAPMAN.
The Hon'ble MR. F. L. HALLIDAY, M.V.O., C.I.E.
The Hon'ble MR. E. GEAKE.
The Hon'ble RAI KISHORI LAL GOSWAMI BAHADUR, M.A., B.L.
The Hon'ble SIR BIJAY MAHTAB, K.C.I.E., MAHARAJADHIRAJA BAHADUR OF BURDWAN.
The Hon'ble BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI, M.A., B.L.
The Hon'ble BABU RADHA CHARAN PAL.
The Hon'ble MR. M. S. DAS, C.I.E.
The Hon'ble IHTISHAM-UL-MULK RAESUDDOWLA AMIR-UL-OMRA NAWAB ASEF KADR SYUD WASIF ALI MEERZA KHAN BAHADUR MAHABAT JANG, Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad.
The Hon'ble RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

DACOITY.

The Hon'ble the NAWAB BAHADUR of Murshidabad, AMIR-UL-OMRA, asked :—

Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the several cases of dacoity noticed in the Englishman of the 29th April, 1909, and does the Government propose to adopt any special means for detection and suppression?

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES ALLEN replied :—

"Last cold weather the attention of Government was drawn to the prevalence of dacoity in the 24-Parganas, Hooghly and Howrah districts, and measures to deal with it were concerted in consultation with the Inspector-General of Police.

"Two new police-stations were opened in neighbourhoods where many bad characters were believed to reside, and a number of specially selected officers were deputed by the Criminal Investigation Department to conduct the investigations. These measures have proved successful; two local gangs have been detected and broken up, and the members are now awaiting trial.

"As a result dacoities have practically ceased in these districts."

REDUCTION IN THE VACCINATION FEE.

The Hon'ble the NAWAB BAHADUR of Murshidabad, AMIR-UL-OMRA, asked :—

Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a paragraph that appeared in the Amrita Bazar Patrika of the 14th April, 1909, in which it is suggested that, in view of popularising Vaccination, the fee of four annas per head for Vaccination at home be either abolished or reduced to a nominal sum of one anna?

If so, will the Government be pleased to say whether it has any intention of making any alteration in the fees?

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER replied :—

"Government has seen the paragraph referred to by the Hon'ble Member. In places in which the Vaccination Act is in force, the law provides for the levy of a fee not exceeding eight annas for each operation performed by request otherwise than at a public vaccine station. This fee has been fixed by rule at four annas, but this may be remitted on the ground of poverty in the case of a female, who, from the custom of the country, is unable to attend at a public vaccine depôt. Operations done at a public vaccine station are free. The Lieutenant-Governor is not aware that any great hardship results from the working of the existing rules, but in order to encourage vaccination, he is willing to consider the reduction, outside the town of Calcutta, of the fee charged for any number of operations performed in one family on the same day at one house to eight annas. The fees chargeable in the town of Calcutta are regulated by the Corporation."

WANT OF AMBULANCES IN CALCUTTA.

The Hon'ble the NAWAB BAHADUR of Murshidabad, AMIR-UL-OMRA, asked :—

Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an article in the Englishman of the 25th May, 1909 (Dâk Edition), complaining of the want of ambulances in the city of Calcutta for the removal of cholera and small-pox patients to hospital?

Will the Government be pleased to state whether it will take such action as will ensure the keeping of at least two ambulances at each important police-station in the city, which may be available when necessity arises?

The Hon'ble MR. WHEELER replied :—

"The attention of the Government has been drawn to the article cited.

"The provision of ambulances in Calcutta is a matter which is dealt with by the Corporation, which is at present considering proposals to increase the number of ambulances available for the removal of infectious cases to hospital.

"Under these circumstances Government will await information as to the decision which may be arrived at by the Corporation."

THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1909.

The Hon'ble MR. DUKE presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866. He said :—

"I beg leave to present the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866. I do not propose at this stage to take the Council through the details of the Bill, and the observations which I have to make are purely of a general character. The Select Committee has given close attention to every provision of the Bill at four sittings, each of considerable length, and I would desire first of all to acknowledge the laborious assistance which throughout has been given by the non-official members and the full consideration and patient examination which they have accorded to every point of difficulty. While I regret that two of them have been unable to accept the recommendations of the Select Committee without recording notes of dissent, I rejoice in the acknowledgment of the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari that the Committee has worked with entire harmony in trying to improve the Bill and to render it unobjectionable to the public. Writers and speakers frequently appear to believe that official and non-official members must regard such a measure as this from absolutely opposite points of view. No doubt in many respects they appear to do so and will be found contending for opposing principles. Yet surely the points of agreement should always be more frequent than the points of divergence. All must desire that a Police Act should be so drawn as to provide sufficiently for the maintenance of peace and order. The non-official member cannot desire that its provisions should be so weakened that the Police would be hampered or rendered inefficient in dealing with crime and disorder, nor on the other hand can the official desire that the public should be subjected without redress or remedy to the arbitrary caprice of Police-officers It is natural and right that the non-official should be more disposed to examine the provisions in order to ascertain how members of the public may be injuriously affected, and it is impossible that this or any other measure of the kind should be so drafted that it cannot be made to appear that, if all the authorities are unreasonable and unite and persist in applying the most stringent measure and the severest penalty at their disposal to the weakest case, injustice and hardship may result. The official looks more to the general intention and natural application of the measures which he designs. He assumes that Police-officers and Magistrates have some degree of common-sense and reasonable feeling, and he may overlook the fact that these are not invariably present and operative. But it is the function of Select Committees to reconcile and harmonise these points of view. While I regret that in this respect we have not been completely successful, I believe that in fact much has already been obtained, and that even the dissenting members realise that some provisions which they believed at first would be arbitrary and dangerous are not so in fact. On the other hand, Government and the majority of the Committee, by introducing many safeguarding provisions into the Bill, have given the best possible proof that they have no desire to place the Police above the law or to shield them from the consequences of evil-doing. That the accord has not been more complete is, I fear, due to an element of prejudice which has been imported into the discussion, and has, perhaps, produced some effect. Government has been accused of seeking to enact drastic provisions which greatly strengthen the hands of the Police, without having previously consulted the public. Since the Council last met, in accordance with suggestions made by members of the Committee, various public bodies have been consulted and some of their recommendations have been adopted. To explain why this was not done earlier I must refer to what I said when introducing the Bill. Almost every provision which it contains has been taken from the Bombay Act of 1902, and has therefore been in operation there for seven years. That Act was certainly passed after mature deliberation. It was a general and consolidating Act. It was not, as far as I have ever heard, passed at a time of political excitement or for any special political purpose. It therefore never occurred to us that the first principles of each of the provisions which we desired to borrow should be examined afresh. It appeared that the conditions of Police administration in the cities of Bombay and Calcutta are in essentials very similar. These towns are nearly of equal size, both are at once ports and manufacturing centres. Both contain a heterogeneous population largely drawn from distant districts and speaking various languages. I am still of opinion that these facts afford primâ facie grounds for thinking that in essentials the same system of Police administration is suitable to both cities, and I have been much surprised by the argument advanced by the Indian Association and referred to in his note of dissent by the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, that criminality is more than three times greater in Bombay than in Bengal, and that we were attempting to apply to the peaceful population of Calcutta an Act originally devised for districts with a remarkable criminal record. The argument is entirely fallacious, for it is based on the statistics of crime in the provinces as a whole, and has no application whatever to the Presidency towns. As a matter of fact, there is a remarkable agreement between the volumes of crime dealt with by the police in Calcutta and in Bombay. Calcutta is now somewhat more populous than Bombay. We do not know exactly how much, because in Bombay, which had been scourged by plague, the population was temporarily reduced when the census was taken in 1901. But, in any case, the difference of population between the two cities bears only a small proportion to the total. The volume of crime dealt with by the police in Calcutta is one-ninth larger than in Bombay, the exact figures in 1908 being 45,533 cases dealt with in Calcutta, against 40,387 in Bombay. It is true that there are great variations in the details of the figures, for in Calcutta there are more than three times as many cases under the Penal Code as in Bombay, while Bombay has about one-sixth more cases under local Acts than Calcutta. For the purpose of mere dialectic advantage I might press this point against those who aver that Bombay is so much more criminal a city than Calcutta. For, if Penal Code offences are to be taken as the measure of real criminality, Calcutta is more than three times as criminal as Bombay. But I do not think that the argument would be a genuine one. It is much more probable that in Bombay under a more efficient modern Act, the Police are able to deal in a summary way with thousands of petty offences, obstructions and the like, which in Calcutta have to be dealt with under the Penal Code. I need not point out that it is more satisfactory to the Administration, and no doubt even to the offenders, that they should be dealt with under a law which defines their offence precisely and punishes it with a small and appropriate penalty rather than that they should be brought up under a general definition with the risk of a much heavier punishment. I do not desire to push too far the inference which can be obtained from this comparison of figures, but it is, so far as it goes, favourable to the similarity of conditions in the two cities, and therefore to the applicability of Bombay provisions to Calcutta. I hope that, when the Bill is finally discussed in Council, some weight will be given to these arguments, and that it will be realised that Government has reason on its side in using the most modern and effective model which it can discover for the purpose of replacing provisions which have become out of date and unsuited to the times."

The Council was then adjourned to Wednesday, the 25th August, 1909, at 11 A.M.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 23.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 30th July, 1909:

No. 3 OF 1909.

THE INDIAN FACTORIES BILL.

CONTENTS.

The Indian Factories Bill.

(Chapter I.—Preliminary. Chapter II.—Inspectors and Certifying Surgeons.)

Marginal references:
A.—Existing Act.
B.—Commission's Draft.

A Bill to Consolidate and amend the law regulating labour in factories.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law regulating labour in factories; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, commencement and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Factories Act, 190 .

(2) It shall come into force on ; and

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

[B, cl. 35.] "Child."

(1) "child" means a person who is under the age of fourteen years:

[A, s. 2.] "Employed."

(2) a person who works in a factory, whether for wages or not,—

(a) in a manufacturing process or handicraft, or

(b) in cleaning any part of the factory used for any manufacturing process or handicraft, or

(c) in cleaning or oiling any part of the machinery, or

(d) in any other kind of work whatsoever incidental to, or connected with, the manufacturing process or handicraft, or connected with the article made or otherwise the subject of the manufacturing process or handicraft therein, shall be deemed to be employed therein:

[B, cl. 2 (7).] "Actually employed."

(3) a person shall not be deemed to be actually employed during any period notified under section 37 for which all work in a factory is discontinued:

"Factory."

(4) "factory" means any premises wherein steam, water or other mechanical power is used in aid of any process for, or incidental to, making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing or otherwise adapting for use, transport or sale any article or part of an article; and every part of a factory shall be deemed to be a factory except any part used exclusively as a dwelling:

Provided that nothing in this definition shall apply to—

(a) any indigo-factory, or

(b) any premises situated on and used solely for the purposes of a tea or coffee plantation, or

(c) any factory wherein less than fifty persons are on any day simultaneously employed:

"Mill-gearing."

(5) "mill-gearing" includes every shaft, whether upright, oblique or horizontal, and every wheel, drum, pulley, rope, driving strap or band, by which the motion of the first moving power is communicated to any machine:

"Prescribed."

(6) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act:

"System of shifts."

(7) "system of shifts" means a system of relays in which the time of the beginning and ending of the actual employment of each person in each relay is fixed:

[B, cl. 7 (a).] "Textile factory."

(8) "textile factory" means a factory wherein is carried on any process for or incidental to making, altering, repairing, ornamenting, finishing or otherwise adapting for use, transport or sale, cotton, wool, hair, silk, flax, hemp, jute, tow, china-grass, cocoa-nut fibre or other like material, either separately or mixed together, or mixed with any other material, or any fabric made thereof:

Provided that print works, bleaching and dyeing works, lace warehouses, paper mills, flax scutch mills, rope works and hat works shall not be deemed to be textile factories: and (9) "week" means the period between midnight on Sunday night and midnight on the succeeding Sunday night.

CHAPTER II.

INSPECTORS AND CERTIFYING SURGEONS.

Inspectors.

3. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, appoint such persons as it thinks fit to be inspectors of factories within such local limits as it may assign to them respectively.

(2) Every such inspector shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860.

The Indian Factories Bill.

(Chapter II.—Inspectors and Certifying Surgeons.—Chapter III.—Health and Safety.)

4. Subject to any rules in this behalf, an inspector may, within the local limits for which he is appointed,—

Powers of inspector.

(a) enter, with such assistants (if any) as he thinks fit, any factory whenever he has reason to believe that any person is employed therein;

(b) make such examination of the premises and machinery, and of the registers hereinafter prescribed, and take on the spot or otherwise such evidence of any persons as he may deem necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act; and

(c) exercise such other powers as may be necessary for carrying this Act into effect.

5. The Local Government may appoint such persons practising medicine or surgery as it thinks fit to be certifying surgeons for the purposes of this Act within such local limits as it may assign to them respectively.

Certifying surgeons.

6. A certifying surgeon shall, at the request of any person desirous of being employed in a factory situated within the local limits for which he is appointed, or of the parent or guardian of such person, or of the manager of the factory in which such person desires to be employed, examine such person and grant him a certificate in the prescribed form stating his age, as nearly as it can be ascertained from such examination, and whether he is fit for employment in a factory.

Grant of certificate.

[B, cl. 6 (3).] 7. A certifying surgeon may authorize any qualified medical practitioner to exercise the functions assigned to him by section 6, and may revoke such authority:

Authorization of medical practitioner's functions.

Provided that a certificate issued by a medical practitioner so authorized shall not, unless confirmed, on personal examination of the person named therein, by the certifying surgeon who conferred the authority, be valid after the first date subsequent to the issue thereof on which such certifying surgeon visits the factory in which the person named therein is employed.

CHAPTER III.

HEALTH AND SAFETY.

[B, cl. 17.] 8. The following provisions shall apply to every factory:—

Sanitary provisions.

(a) it shall be kept clean, and free from effluvia arising from any drain, privy or other nuisance;

[B, cl. 17.] (b) it shall not be so overcrowded while work is carried on therein as to be dangerous or injurious to the health of the persons employed therein;

[B, cl. 17.] (c) it shall be ventilated in such a manner as to render harmless, as far as practicable, any gases, vapours, dust or other impurities generated in the course of the work carried on therein that may be injurious to health.

9. If in a factory in which any process is carried on by which dust or other impurity is generated and inhaled by the workers to an injurious extent it appears to the inspector that such inhalation could be to a great extent prevented by the use of a fan or other mechanical means, the inspector may serve on the manager an order in writing, directing that a fan or other mechanical means of a proper construction for preventing such inhalation be provided, maintained and used within a reasonable time. [B, cl. 18.]

Provision as to ventilation by fans in certain factories.

10. (1) Every factory shall be sufficiently lighted. [B, cl. 19.]

Lighting.

(2) In the case of any factory which is not, in the opinion of the inspector, so lighted, the inspector may serve on the manager of the factory an order in writing specifying the measures necessary for the attainment of a sufficient standard of lighting, and requiring him to carry them out before a specified date.

11. In any factory in which humidity of the atmosphere is produced by artificial means, the water used for the purpose of producing humidity shall be taken either from a public supply of drinking water or from some other source of water ordinarily used for drinking, or shall be effectively purified to the satisfaction of the inspector before being used for the purpose of producing humidity. [B, cl. 20.]

Purity of water used for humidifying.

12. Every factory shall be provided with suitable latrine accommodation, and, if the Local Government so requires, with separate urinal accommodation for the persons employed in the factory. [B, cl. 21.]

Provision of latrines and urinal accommodation.

13. In every factory there shall be maintained a sufficient water-supply for the use of the persons employed in the factory. [B, cl. 22.]

Water-supply.

14. In every factory, the construction of which is commenced after the commencement of this Act, the doors of each room in which more than thirty persons are employed shall, except in the case of sliding doors, be constructed so as to open outwards. [B, cl. 23.]

Doors of factory to open outwards.

15. (1) Every factory shall be provided with such means of escape in case of fire for the persons employed therein as can reasonably be required in the circumstances of each case. [B, cl. 24.]

Provision of means of escape in case of fire.

(2) In the case of any factory which is not so provided the inspector may serve on the manager of the factory an order in writing specifying the measures necessary for providing such means of escape, and requiring him to carry them out before a specified date.

16. No smoking shall be permitted and no naked lights shall be used in the immediate vicinity of any inflammable material in any factory.

Precautions against fire.

17. (a) Every fly-wheel directly connected with a steam-engine, water-wheel or other mechanical power in any part of a factory, every part of a steam-engine or water-wheel, and every other [B, cl. 25.]

Fencing.

The Indian Factories Bill.

(Chapter III.—Health and Safety. Chapter IV.—Hours of Employment and Holidays. Chapter V.—Textile Factories.)

part of the machinery or mill-gearing of a factory which may, in the opinion of the inspector, be dangerous if left unfenced, shall, while the same is in motion, and (b) every hoist or teagle, and every hoist-well, trap-door or other similar opening near which any person is liable to pass or be employed, shall at all times be kept by the manager of such factory securely fenced to the satisfaction of, and in accordance with any orders given by, the inspector.

18. No woman or child shall be allowed to clean any part of the mill-gearing or machinery of a factory while the same is in motion, or to work between the fixed and traversing parts of any self-acting machine while such machine is in motion by the action of the steam-engine, water-wheel or other mechanical power, as the case may be.

19. No woman or child shall be employed in any factory for pressing cotton in the vicinity of a cotton-opener.

Explanation.—If the feed-end of a cotton-opener is in a room separated from the delivery-end by a partition extending from the floor to the roof, then women and children employed in the room in which the feed-end is situated shall not be deemed to be employed in the vicinity of the cotton-opener.

[B, cls. 18 (2) & 25 (2).] Appeal from orders under sections 9, 10, 15, or 17.

20. Any person on whom an order under section 9, section 10, section 15 or section 17 has been served may within seven days appeal against such order to the Local Government or such authority as it may appoint in this behalf who may confirm, modify or reverse any such order.

CHAPTER IV.

HOURS OF EMPLOYMENT AND HOLIDAYS.

Periodical stoppage of work.

21. In every factory there shall be fixed for each working day, at intervals not exceeding six hours, periods of not less than half an hour, during which all work shall be discontinued.

Exceptions.—Nothing in this section shall apply to—

(a) any factory in which a system of shifts approved by the inspector is in force, or

Weekly holiday.

22. (1) The manager of a factory shall allow not less than one whole holiday in each week to every person employed in such factory.

(2) Unless the manager gives general or special notice to the inspector that in the case of all or any of the persons employed in his factory the holiday prescribed by sub-section (1) will be allowed on a day other than Sunday, such holiday shall be allowed on Sunday.

(3) Any person who is employed in a factory on a holiday fixed by or in pursuance of this section shall be deemed to be employed contrary to the provisions of this Act.

Exception.—Nothing in this section shall apply to any foreman, mechanic, artisan or labourer, working only in repairing either the machinery in or any part of a factory.

Power to exempt from sections 21 and 22.

23. Subject to the control of the Governor General in Council, the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, exempt any class of factories or any class of persons employed in factories from the operation of section 21 or section 22.

Employment of children.

24. With respect to the employment of children in factories the following provisions shall apply:—

(a) no child shall be employed in any factory unless he is in possession of a certificate granted under section 6 showing that he is not less than nine years of age and is fit for employment in a factory; [B, cl. 9 (1).]

(b) no child shall be employed in any factory before half-past five o'clock in the morning or after seven o'clock in the evening; [B, cl. 9 (2).]

(c) no child shall be employed in any factory for more than eight and a half hours in any one day; [B, cl. 9 (4).]

Employment of women.

25. With respect to the employment of women in factories the following provisions shall apply:—

(a) no woman shall be employed in any factory, except a factory for ginning cotton, before half-past five o'clock in the morning or after seven o'clock in the evening; [B, cl. 11.]

[B, cl. 12.] Prohibition of employment of woman or child in two factories on same day.

26. No woman or child shall be employed on any day in any factory who has to the knowledge of the manager already been employed on the same day in any other factory.

Hours to be fixed.

27. The manager of a factory shall fix specified hours for the employment of each woman and child employed in such factory, and no woman or child shall be employed except during such hours.

Limit of actual employment in a textile factory.

28. No person shall be actually employed in any textile factory for more than twelve hours in any one day.

Exception.—Nothing in this section shall apply to any case exempted by rules from the operation thereof.

The Indian Factories Bill.

(Chapter V.—Textile Factories. Chapter VI.—Notices and Registers. Chapter VII.—Rules.)

29. No person shall be employed in any textile factory before half-past five o'clock in the morning or after seven o'clock in the evening.

Limit of total employment in a textile factory.

Exception.—Nothing in this section shall apply to any case exempted by rules from the operation thereof.

30. The period for which mechanical power is used in any textile factory shall not in any one day exceed twelve hours.

Limit of use of machinery in a textile factory.

Exception.—Nothing in this section shall apply to any case exempted by rules from the operation thereof.

31. Nothing in section 29 or section 30 shall apply to any factory for ginning cotton or for pressing cotton or jute, or to any factory in which a system of shifts approved by the inspector is in force.

Exceptions to sections 29 and 30.

32. No child shall be actually employed in any textile factory for more than six hours in one day.

Limit of actual employment of children in a textile factory.

33. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, apply all or any of the provisions of this Chapter to any other specified class of factories.

Power to extend certain provisions to specified class of factories.

CHAPTER VI.

NOTICES AND REGISTERS.

[B, cl. 34.] 34. (1) Every person shall, within one month after he begins to occupy a factory, send to the inspector a written notice containing the name of the factory and of the place where it is situate, the address to which he desires his letters to be directed, the nature of the work performed in such factory, the nature and amount of the moving power therein, and the name of the manager of the factory.

Person beginning to occupy factory to give notice.

(2) If the manager of the factory is changed, the occupier shall send to the inspector, within seven days from the date on which the change was made, written notice of the change.

[B, cl. 28.] 35. When any accident occurs in a factory causing death or bodily injury, whereby the person injured is prevented from returning to his work in the factory during the forty-eight hours next after the occurrence of the accident, the manager shall send notice of such accident to such authorities in such form and within such time as may be prescribed.

Notice to be given of accident.

[B, cl. 13.] 36. In every factory there shall be kept a register of the children (if any) employed in such factory, and of their respective employment, and a register of all other persons below the age of sixteen years employed in the factory.

Registers of children and of persons under the age of sixteen years.

[B, cl. 14.] 37. (1) There shall be affixed in some conspicuous place near the main entrance of every factory a notice in English and the language of the majority of the operatives in such factory showing for the current month—

Notice fixing hours of employment, etc.

(a) the periods during which all work is discontinued under section 21;

(b) any other periods of not less than half an hour during which all work is discontinued;

(c) the hours of beginning and ending work for each shift (if any);

(d) the hours of employment of women (if any);

(e) the hours of employment of children (if any) according to the different sets; and

(2) A copy of the notice prescribed by sub-section (1) shall be sent to the inspector so as to reach him not later than the first day of each month.

CHAPTER VII.

RULES.

38. (1) Subject to the control of the Governor General in Council, the Local Government may make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

Power to make rules.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for—

(a) the inspection of factories;

(b) the manner in which inspectors are to exercise the powers conferred on them by this Act;

(c) the duties to be performed by certifying surgeons;

(d) the form of the certificate prescribed by section 6;

(e) the methods to be adopted in order to secure cleanliness and freedom from effluvia;

(f) the proportion which the number of cubic feet of space in any room shall bear to the number of persons employed at one time therein;

(g) standards of sufficient ventilation, and the methods to be adopted in order to secure their observance;

(h) standards of latrine and urinal accommodation;

(i) standards of water-supply;

(j) exemptions from the operation of section 21, section 28, section 29 or section 30, and the conditions on which such exemptions shall be granted;

(k) the form of the notice prescribed by section 35, and the time within which and the authority to whom it shall be sent;

The Indian Factories Bill.

(Chapter VII.—Rules. Chapter VIII.—Penalties and Procedure.)

(l) the form of the registers prescribed by section 36; and

(m) the manner in which appeals under this Act shall be presented and heard.

Returns.

39. The Governor General in Council may from time to time make rules requiring occupiers or managers of factories to furnish such returns, occasional or periodical, as may in his opinion be necessary for the effectual carrying out of this Act.

Prior publication of rules.

40. The power to make rules conferred by clause (e), clause (f), clause (g) and clause (i) of section 38 and by section 39 is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

Commencement of rules.

41. Rules made under this Chapter shall be published in the local official Gazette or the Gazette of India, as the case may be, and shall thereupon have effect as if enacted in this Act.

CHAPTER VIII.

PENALTIES AND PROCEDURE.

Penalties.

42. Any manager of a factory who—

(a) employs any person, or allows any person to be employed, contrary to any of the provisions of this Act;

(b) neglects to comply with any of the provisions of sections 8 and 10 for cleanliness, over-crowding, ventilation, and lighting;

(c) neglects to comply with the provisions of section 11;

(d) neglects to provide latrine or urinal accommodation in accordance with the provisions of section 12;

(e) neglects to maintain a sufficient supply of water for the persons employed in accordance with the provisions of section 13;

(f) constructs and maintains any door in contravention of section 14;

(g) neglects to comply with any order of an inspector under sections 9 and 15;

(h) neglects to fence any machinery, mill-gearing, hoist, teagle or opening as required by section 17;

(i) neglects to keep the registers prescribed by section 36;

(j) neglects to set up and maintain the notice required by section 37 or to send a copy thereof to the inspector;

(k) neglects to furnish any notice or return required by this Act, or by rules made under it; shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees:

Provided that—

(i) no prosecution under this section shall be instituted except by, or with the previous sanction of, the inspector;

(ii) no prosecution under clause (e) or clause (g) of this section shall be instituted until either the time prescribed by section 20 for the presentation of an appeal has expired or such appeal, if made, has been determined;

(iii) no person shall be liable in respect of a repetition of the same kind of offence from day to day to a fine exceeding two hundred rupees, except— [1 Ed. 7, c. 22, s. 143.]

(a) where the repetition of the offence occurs after a prosecution has been instituted in respect of the previous offence; or

(b) where the offence is one of employing or allowing to be employed two or more persons contrary to the provisions of this Act.

Penalties for certain offences.

43. Any person who—

(a) wilfully delays an inspector in the exercise of any power under section 4, or fails to produce, on demand by an inspector, any registers or other documents, kept in pursuance of this Act, or conceals or prevents or attempts to prevent any person employed in a factory from appearing before or being examined by an inspector;

(b) smokes or uses naked lights in the immediate vicinity of any inflammable material in contravention of section 16; or shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees:

(c) does or omits to do any other act prohibited or prescribed by this Act or any order or rule made thereunder;

Provided that no one shall be required to answer any question or to give any evidence to criminate himself.

Using false certificate.

44. Any person who knowingly uses or attempts to use as a certificate granted to himself under section 6, a certificate granted to another person under that section, or who, having procured a certificate under the said section, knowingly allows it to be used or an attempt to use it to be made, by another person, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees. [A, s. 15 (2).]

Presumption as to employment.

45. If a person over the age of six years is found inside any room or other part of a factory in which any manufacturing process or work incidental to any manufacturing process is being carried on, he shall, until the contrary is proved, be deemed to be employed in that factory. [B, cl. 32.]

Evidence as to age.

46. (1) When an act or omission would, if a person were under or over a certain age, be an offence punishable under this Act, and such person is in the opinion of the Court apparently under such age, it shall be on the accused to prove that such person is not under such age. [A, s. 16.]

(2) A declaration in writing by a certifying surgeon that he has personally examined a person employed in a factory and believes him to be under or over the age set forth in such declaration shall, for the purposes of this Act, be admissible as evidence of the age of that person.

CHAPTER IX.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

[A, s. 20.] 47. The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, apply all or any of the provisions of this Act to all or any factories, not being indigo-factories or premises situated on and used solely for the purposes of a tea or coffee plantation, wherein any specified number of persons, not being less than twenty, are on any day simultaneously employed.

Power to extend application of Act.

48. The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, direct, in respect of any area in which the hours of the day are not ordinarily reckoned according to local mean time, that for the hours specified in section 24, clause (b), section 25, clause (a), and section 29, hours reckoned according to the standard of time ordinarily observed in such area shall be substituted :

Special provision regarding computation of time.

Provided that no direction made under this section shall authorize a variation of more than fifteen minutes from the hours specified in the said sections.

49. This Act shall apply to factories belonging to the Crown. [A, s. 19]

Application to Crown factories.

50. In case of any public emergency, the Local Government may, by an order in writing, exempt any factory from this Act to such extent and during such period as it thinks fit.

Powers to exempt from Act.

51. The Governor General in Council may, if he thinks fit, exercise any power which is by this Act conferred upon the Local Government.

Exercise of powers by Governor General in Council.

52. The Indian Factories Act, 1881, and the Indian Factories Act, 1891, are hereby repealed : XV of 1881. XI of 1891.

Repeal and savings.

Provided that all appointments made and all certificates given under the said Acts shall be deemed to have been made or given under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to consolidate and amend the law in India relating to factories. The Indian Factories Acts of 1881 and 1891 will be repealed and the new Act will take their place. The Report submitted by the Factory Labour Commission in 1908 disclosed the existence of abuses in factories, particularly in connection with the employment of children and the length of the hours for which the operatives generally were employed. The Commission made proposals with the object of checking these abuses, and also submitted proposals for strengthening the law on several points so that inspection might be more effective and the administration of the law improved. It is now proposed to undertake legislation to give effect to these recommendations in so far as they have been approved by Government. The opportunity has been taken to remodel the framework of the existing law, and to redraft several of its provisions.

2. The report of the Commission showed that excessive hours were not worked except in textile factories. The restrictions which it is considered necessary to impose in the case of textile factories are the following:—

(1) No person shall be actually employed for more than 12 hours in any one day.

(2) No person shall be employed before 5-30 in the morning or after 7 in the evening.

(3) The period for which mechanical power is used shall not in any one day exceed 12 hours.

(4) No child shall be employed for more than 6 hours in any one day.

Of the above restrictions, the second and third will not apply to any factory in which a system of shifts approved by the inspector is in force, nor to any factory for ginning cotton or for pressing cotton or jute. Power is also taken to grant exemption in special cases from restrictions (1), (2) and (3).

The Government of India will be empowered to extend by notification the provisions of the law relating to textile factories to any other specified class of factories should the necessity arise. In the case of non-textile factories, certain new restrictions have been proposed in the case of women and children, which are explained in the notes on clauses 24 and 25.

3. The existing Act contains no substantive provisions providing for the health and safety of the operatives, except one section which deals with the fencing of machinery. In accordance with the recommendation of the Factory Labour Commission, a number of provisions for securing the health and safety of the operatives have been included in Chapter III of the Bill. These provisions are in some cases borrowed from the English Factory and Workshop Act of 1901, and in others are based on rules which are already in force in several Provinces.

4. Several provisions have been inserted in the Bill with the object of making inspection more effective, increasing the powers of the inspectors and providing generally for the better administration of the Act. The existing law makes the occupier of the factory primarily liable for any breach of its provisions and of the rules and orders made thereunder. It has been found difficult to enforce this responsibility, and in the Bill it is now proposed that, in place of the occupier, the manager of the factory shall be held responsible when any offence is committed against the Act.

5. The important changes in the law are explained in the subjoined notes on clauses.

The 27th July 1909. W. L. HARVEY.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 2.—

Sub-clause (3).—A definition of the term "actually employed" has been inserted vide section 10 (2) of the existing Act).

Sub-clause (4).—The words "for not less than four months in the whole in any one year" which occur in the definition of a "factory," in section 2 of the existing Act have been omitted. The effect of this change will be to bring seasonal factories within the purview of the Act as recommended by the Factory Labour Commission.

Sub-clause (8).—A definition of the term "textile factory" has been inserted on the model of section 149 of the English Factory and Workshop Act, 1901.

Sub-clause (9).—The meaning of the term "week" has been defined with reference to clause 22 which prescribes a weekly holiday. The effect of this definition is that, when another day is given as a holiday in lieu of the Sunday, any one of the six days immediately preceding the Sunday can be substituted.

Clause 3 (3).—Under the existing law the District Magistrate is, by virtue of his office, an inspector of all factories in his district. In future, while he will retain the powers of an inspector, he will not, unless specially appointed by the Local Government, be the inspector to perform in any local area the duties imposed on the inspector by the Act.

Clause 4 (c).—This provision reproduces section 119 (1) (g) of the English Statute. Clause (c) of section 4 of the existing Act is no longer necessary, as the employment of a child who is not in possession of an age certificate will be made an offence.

Clause 6.—As it is proposed that the possession of age certificates by children should be compulsory, the fee which is at present levied for the grant of such certificates will be abolished.

Clause 7.—It is considered probable that delay may sometimes occur before children, whom it is proposed to employ in a factory, can be passed for age by the certifying surgeon. In order to prevent the inconvenience which might thus be caused, this clause provides for the grant of a provisional certificate by a qualified medical practitioner authorized by the certifying surgeon.

Clauses 8, 12 and 13.—In the present Act there are no substantive provisions dealing with ventilation, over-crowding, etc., and doubt has been expressed whether rules made under section 18, sub-section (1), clauses (b), (c) and (d) would be held by the Courts to be "consistent with the Act." To remove all doubt on th[illegible]nt, clauses 8, 12 and 13 have been inserted in the Bill. Clause 8 is based on section [illegible] the English Statute.

Clause 9.—In several classes of factories, more particularly cotton-presses, rice-mills, flour-mills and paper-mills, the amount of solid impurities in the atmosphere is sometimes so large as to cause serious danger to the health of the operatives. In some of the better managed factories mechanical appliances have been used which entirely obviate this danger, and it is proposed that power should be taken to insist on the provision of such appliances wherever they are needed (vide section 74 of the English Statute).

Clause 10.—It is considered desirable that, in the interest of the operatives, the inspector should have power to insist on proper arrangements for lighting.

Clause 11.—The water used for humidifying purposes is in some cases drawn from impure sources. This clause has been framed on the model of section 94 (1) of the English Statute in order to rectify this. It imposes no burden on factories which have at present a supply of reasonably pure water.

Clause 14.—This clause, which is modelled on section 16 (2) of the English Statute, will provide a useful precaution against accidents.

Clause 15.—In many factories no adequate provision is made for the escape of the operatives from the upper storeys in case of fire. Most factories in India with more than one storey are cotton factories; and in view of the danger of fires occurring there and the rapidity with which they spread, it is considered essential that this defect should be remedied. A provision similar to this clause will be found in section 14 of the English Statute.

Clause 16.—In order to secure the safety of the operatives, it is necessary that smoking and the use of naked lights in certain portions of the factory should be forbidden. The want of this precaution led to fires in two cotton-presses which resulted in serious loss of life.

Clause 17.—This clause reproduces section 12 of the present Act, with amendments requiring hoists or teagles, and hoist-wells, trapdoors and other similar openings near which people are liable to pass or be employed, to be kept at all times fenced, the fencing to be to the satisfaction of, and in accordance with any orders given by, the local inspector. Experience has shown that hoists are more dangerous when at rest than while in motion, as there is then nothing to draw attention to the well.

Clause 18.—This clause is based on section 8 of the present Act. The prohibition of the employment of children in certain kinds of dangerous work has been extended to women.

Clause 19.—The object of this clause is to prevent the employment of women in front of the machines known as "openers" which are used in cotton-presses. A considerable number of women have been burnt to death in the past owing to fires occurring in the opener. The machine is of a dangerous character, and fires frequently occur owing to the presence of matches in the raw cotton or to sparks caused by stones or similar bodies coming in contract with exposed portions of the metal works inside the opener.

Clause 21.—Under section 5-A of the present Act, in every factory, except where a system of shifts is in force, there must be a stoppage of all work for half an hour between noon and two o'clock. In place of this, the Bill prescribes that in every factory there shall be fixed, at intervals not exceeding six hours, periods of not less than half an hour during which all work shall be discontinued. It is considered that under the conditions prevailing in India no operative should be required to work for more than six hours continuously, and that the law should make this clear. Provision is made for exempting any specified kinds of work from the stoppage by sub-clause (b), and clause 23 empowers the Local Government to exempt specified classes of factories altogether.

Clause 22.—This clause is based on section 5-B of the present Act, but its provisions have been redrafted. It provides that when a day other than Sunday is given as the weekly holiday, general or special notice must be given to the inspector. Clause 23 empowers the Local Government to exclude any class of factories, or any class of persons employed in factories, from the weekly holiday. The term "week" is defined in clause 2 (9).

Clause 24.—This clause is based on section 7 of the present Act, but certain important amendments are proposed. At present no child may be employed if he is under nine years of age; in future he must be in possession of a certificate that he is not less than nine years of age and is fit for employment in a factory. At present no child may be employed except between 5 A. M. and 8 P. M. In future the limits will be 5-30 A. M. and 7 P. M. The provision prescribing an interval of rest during the period of employment has been omitted, but a new sub-clause has been inserted, providing that no child may be employed for more than eight and a half hours in any one day from the time at which he first arrived at the factory.

Clause 25.—This clause follows section 6 of the present Act. As in the case of children the hours during which the employment of women is permissible have been shortened. Exceptions to the general rule in this matter will be allowed only in cotton-ginning factories. No exception will be made as under the present law in the case of factories which work in shifts. The intervals of rest amounting in the aggregate to 1½ hours prescribed for women by the present law are found in practice to be too long and are seldom taken advantage of, and the provision prescribing them has been omitted. The general power of exemption from the provisions of section 6 of the existing Act vested in the Governor General in Council is not reproduced.

Clause 27.—This provision is considered necessary in order that inspection may be effective and compliance with the law secured.

Clause 34.—This clause reproduces section 14 of the existing Act and requires, in addition, that, if the manager is changed, notice shall be given to the inspector within seven days.

Clause 36.—This clause prescribes, in addition to the registers required under section 9 of the present Act, the maintenance of a register of persons under the age of 16 years. It is thought that this register will be of assistance to the inspector in detecting cases of the employment, as full-timers, of children who are under, but near, the age of 14.

Clause 37.—This clause is based on section 10 of the present Act, but is fuller and more complete.

Clauses 38 to 41.—These clauses are based on section 18 of the existing Act. Sub-clause (a) of section 18, regarding the fencing of machinery, has been omitted, as clause 17 makes further provision for this matter unnecessary.

Clause 42.—Section 17 of the present Act provides that every occupier of a factory shall be deemed primarily liable for any breach of the Act or of any order or rule made thereunder. It has been found difficult in practice to enforce the responsibility which the law has placed on the occupier, and it is now proposed to take a different course. This clause makes the manager of a factory liable to punishment for offences against the Act. Proviso (iii) follows section 143 of the English Statute.

Clause 43.—For the proper administration of the Act it is essential that the inspector should be protected from interference in the discharge of his duties. Sub-clause (a) has therefore been inserted on the model of section 199 (3) of the English Statute. Sub-clauses (b) and (c) provide for the punishment of persons, other than the manager, for offences against the Act.

Clause 44.—The word "knowingly" has been substituted for the word "corruptly" which occurs in section 15 (2) of the existing Act. The former is the recognised statutory word and the one used in section 139 of the English Statute.

Clause 45.—This clause is intended to remove a difficulty which is often experienced in proving that children under age, who are found by the inspector in a factory, have been employed there. It is not considered possible to prohibit the presence in factories of such children, but the clause provides that, if any person above the age of six years is found in any part of a factory, where any manufacturing processes are carried on, he shall be deemed to be employed there, unless the contrary is proved.

Clause 48.—In any place where the hours of the day are ordinarily computed by local mean time, no difficulty will arise in observing the hours for beginning and ending work prescribed by clauses 24, 25 and 29 of the Bill. But where the hours of the day are reckoned according to Indian standard time, there might be wide variations in the actual time of starting and stopping work at different places. At Karachi, for instance, mills might start work ninety minutes earlier in the day than those in Calcutta. This clause therefore empowers each Local Government, to fix once for all, for each industrial centre where standard time is recognized, the equivalent of 5-30 A. M. and 7 P. M. local mean time in terms of Indian standard time to the nearest quarter of an hour.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Secretary to the Government of India.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 30th July, 1909:

No. 4 OF 1909.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1882.

VI of 1882.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Companies Act, 1882; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act, 1909.

VI of 1882.

Insertion of new sections after section 73.

2. After section 73 of the Indian Companies Act, 1882, the following shall be inserted, namely:—

Payment of interest out of capital.

[8 Edw. 7, c. 69, s. 91.]

Power of Company to pay interest out of capital in certain cases.

"73A. Where any shares of a Company are issued for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of the construction of any works or buildings or the provision of any plant which cannot be made profitable for a lengthened period, the Company may pay interest on so much of that share capital as is for the time being paid up for the period and subject to the conditions and restrictions in this section mentioned, and may charge the same to capital as part of the cost of construction of the work or building, or the provision of plant:

Provided that—

(1) no such payment shall be made unless the same is authorized by the Company's articles of association or by special resolution;

(2) no such payment, whether authorized by the articles of association or by special resolution, shall be made without the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council;

(3) before sanctioning any such payment, the Governor General in Council may, at the expense of the Company, appoint a person to inquire and report to him as to the circumstances of the case, and may, before making the appointment, require the Company to give security for the payment of the costs of the inquiry;

(4) the payment shall be made only for such period as may be determined by the Governor General in Council, and such period shall in no case extend beyond the close of the half-year next after the half-year during which the works or buildings have been actually completed or the plant provided;

(5) the rate of interest shall in no case exceed four per cent. per annum or such lower rate as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, prescribe;

(6) the payment of the interest shall not operate as a reduction of the amount paid up on the shares in respect of which it is paid;

(7) the accounts of the Company shall show the share capital on which, and the rate at which, interest has been paid out of capital during the period to which the accounts relate;

(8) nothing in this section shall affect any Company to which the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1895, or the Indian Tramways Act, 1902, applies.

X of 1895.

Re-issue of Redeemed Debentures.

[8 Edw. 7, c. 69, s. 104]

Power to re-issue redeemed debentures in certain cases

"73B. (1) Where either before or after the passing of this Act a Company has redeemed any debentures previously issued, the Company, unless the articles of association or the conditions of issue expressly otherwise provide, or unless the debentures have been redeemed in pursuance of any obligation on the Company so to do (not being an obligation enforceable only by the person to whom the redeemed debentures were issued or his assigns), shall have power, and shall be deemed always to have had power, to keep the debentures alive for the purposes of re-issue, and where a Company has purported to exercise such a power the Company shall have power, and shall be deemed always to have had power, to re-issue the debentures either by re-issuing the same debentures or by issuing other debentures in their place, and upon such a re-issue the person entitled to the debentures shall have, and shall be deemed always to have had, the same rights and priorities as if the debentures had not previously been issued.

(2) Where with the object of keeping debentures alive for the purpose of re-issue they have either before or after the passing of this Act been transferred to a nominee of the Company, a transfer from that nominee shall be deemed to be a re-issue for the purposes of this section.

(3) Where a Company has either before or after the passing of this Act deposited any of its debentures to secure advances from time to time on current account or otherwise, the debentures shall not be deemed to have been redeemed by reason only of the account of the Company having ceased to be in debit whilst the debentures remained so deposited.

(4) The re-issue of a debenture or the issue of another debenture in its place under the power by this section given to, or deemed to have been possessed by, a Company, whether the re-issue or issue was made before or after the passing of this Act, shall be treated as the issue of a new debenture for the purposes of stamp-duty, but it shall not be so treated for the purposes of any provision limiting the amount or number of debentures to be issued:

Provided that any person lending money on the security of a debenture re-issued under this section which appears to be duly stamped may give the debenture in evidence in any proceedings for enforcing his security without payment of the stamp-duty or any penalty in respect thereof, unless he had notice or, but for his negligence, might have discovered, that the debenture was not duly stamped, but in any such case the Company shall be liable to pay the proper stamp-duty and penalty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall prejudice—

(a) the operation of any decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction passed or made before the date of the passing of this Act as between the parties to the proceedings in which the decree was passed or the order made, and any appeal from any such decree or order shall be decided as if this Act had not been passed; or

(b) any power to issue debentures in the place of any debentures paid off or otherwise satisfied or extinguished, reserved to a Company by its debentures or the securities for the same."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to make provision for the payment of interest out of capital by Companies during the period of construction of works or buildings, and to grant to Joint Stock Companies the power to re-issue redeemed debentures in certain circumstances. The amending clauses follow, with the necessary modifications, clauses 91 and 104 of the Companies (Consolidation) Act, 1908 (8 Edw. 7, ch. 69).

(Part I.—Preliminary. Part II.—Supply of Energy.)

[The bracketed marginal references relate to sections of the Indian Electricity Act, 1903, unless otherwise specified.

The italicised portions indicate fresh matter or alterations as compared with the Act of 1903.]

A Bill to amend the law relating to the supply and use of electrical energy.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to the supply and use of electrical energy; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

[s. 1.] Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Electricity Act, 1909.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India, inclusive of British Baluchistan and the Santhal Parganas; and

(3) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct in this behalf.

[s. 2.] XIII of 1885. Definitions.

2. In this Act, expressions defined in the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, have the meanings assigned to them in that Act, and, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "aërial line" means any electric supply-line which is placed above ground and in the open air:

(b) "area of supply" means the area within which alone a licensee is for the time being authorized by his license to supply energy:

(c) "consumer" means any person who is supplied with energy by a licensee, or whose premises are for the time being connected for the purposes of a supply of energy with the works of a licensee:

[e.] (d) "daily fine" means a fine for each day on which an offence is continued after conviction therefor:

[f.] (e) "distributing main" means the portion of any main with which a service line is, or is intended to be, immediately connected:

[g.] (f) "electric supply-line" means a wire, conductor or other means used for conveying, transmitting or distributing energy for any purpose, together with any casing, coating, covering, tube, pipe or insulator enclosing, surrounding or supporting the same or any part thereof or any apparatus connected therewith for the purpose of so conveying, transmitting or distributing such energy:

[i.] (g) "energy" means electrical energy:

[k.] (h) "licensee" means any person licensed under Part II to supply energy:

[l.] (i) "main" means any electric supply-line through which energy is, or is intended to be, supplied by a licensee to the public generally:

(j) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under the Act:

[n.] (k) "purpose" includes any purpose except the transmission of a message:

[o.] (l) "service line" means any electric supply-line through which energy is, or is intended to be, supplied by a licensee to a consumer either from a distributing main or immediately from the licensee's premises:

[p.] (m) "street" includes any way, road, lane, square, court, alley, passage or open space, whether a thoroughfare or not, over which the public have a right of way, and also the roadway and footway over any public bridge or causeway: and

[q.] (n) "works" includes electric supply-lines and any buildings, machinery or apparatus required to supply energy and to carry into effect the objects of a license granted under Part II.

PART II.

SUPPLY OF ENERGY.

Licenses.

[s. 4 (1).] Grant of licenses.

3. (1) The Local Government may, upon an application submitted in the prescribed form and with the prescribed particulars, and on payment of the prescribed fee (if any), grant to any person a license to supply energy for any purpose in any specified area, and also to lay down or place electric supply-lines for the conveyance and transmission of energy from a generating station situated outside such area to the boundary of such area in any case in which the energy to be supplied is to be generated outside such area, or between points within such area across any intervening area not included therein.

(2) In respect of every such license and the grant thereof the following provisions shall have effect, namely:—

(a) any person applying for a license under this Part shall publish a notice of his application in the prescribed manner and with the prescribed particulars, and the license shall not be granted

(i) until all objections received by the Local Government with reference thereto have been considered by it:

[s. 40.] Provided that no objection shall be so considered unless it is received before the expiration of three months from the date of the first publication of such notice as aforesaid: and

(ii) until, in the case of an application for a license for an area including the whole or any part of any cantonment, fortress, arsenal, dockyard or camp or of any building or place in the occupation of the Government for naval or military purposes, the Local Government has ascertained that there is no objection to the grant of the license on the part of the Commander-in-Chief in India;

(b) where an objection is received under clause (a) from any local authority concerned, the Local Government shall, if in its opinion the objection is insufficient, record in writing and communicate to such local authority its reasons for such opinion;

(c) no application for a license under this Part shall be made by any local authority except in pursuance of a resolution passed at a meeting of such authority held after one month's previous notice of the same and of the purpose thereof has been given in the manner in which notices of meetings of such local authority are usually given;

(d) a license under this Part may prescribe such terms as to the persons to whom and the purposes for which energy may be supplied, as to the limits within which, and the conditions under which, the supply of energy is to be compulsory or permissive, and as to the limits of price to be charged in respect of the supply of energy, and generally as to such matters as the Local Government may think fit;

(e) the grant of a license under this Part for any purpose shall not in any way hinder or restrict the grant of another license to another person within the same area of supply for a like purpose;

(f) the provisions contained in the Schedule shall be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under this Part, save in so far as they are expressly added to, varied or excepted by the license, and shall, subject to any such additions, variations or exceptions which the Local Government is hereby empowered to make, apply to the undertaking authorized by the license:

Provided that, where a license is granted, in accordance with the provisions of clause IX of the Schedule for the supply of energy to other licensees for distribution by them, then, in so far as such license relates to such supply, the provisions of clauses IV, V, VI, VII, VIII and XII of the Schedule shall not be deemed to be incorporated with the license.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the grant of a single license authorising the licensee to supply energy generally for any purpose as well as to other licensees for distribution by them.

[New, cf. Act IX of 1890 s. 7 (2).] (4) The exercise of the powers conferred on the Local Government by this section shall be subject to the control of the Governor General in Council.

Revocation or amendment of licenses. 4. (1) The Local Government may if in its opinion the public interest so requires, revoke a license in any of the following cases, namely:— [s. 4 (2).]

(a) where the licensee, in the opinion of the Local Government, makes wilful and unreasonably prolonged default in doing anything required of him by or under this Act;

(b) where the licensee breaks any of the terms or conditions of his license the breach of which is expressly declared by such license to render it liable to revocation;

(c) where the licensee, not being a local authority, fails, within the period fixed in this behalf by his license or any longer period which the Local Government may substitute therefor by order under sub-section (3), clause (b), and before exercising any of the powers conferred on him thereby in relation to the execution of works,—

(i) to show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that he is in a position fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license, or

(ii) to make the deposit or furnish the security required by his license;

(d) where the licensee is, in the opinion of the Local Government, unable, by reason of his insolvency, fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed on him by his license;

(e) where the licensee, not being a local authority, shows, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, at any time after the commencement of his license, that his undertaking cannot be carried on with profit and ought to be abandoned;

(f) where the licensee supplies energy by means of some system not provided for under section 26, sub-section (1).

(2) Where the Local Government might, under sub-section (1), revoke a license, it may, instead of revoking the license, permit it to remain in force subject to such further terms and conditions as it thinks fit to impose, and any further terms or conditions so imposed shall be binding upon, and be observed by, the licensee, and shall be of like force and effect as if they were contained in the license. [s. 4 (3).]

(3) Where in its opinion the public interest so permits, the Local Government may, on the application or with the consent of the licensee, and, if the licensee is not a local authority, after consulting the local authority (if any) concerned,— [s. 4 (2) (c).]

(a) revoke a license as to the whole or any part of the area of supply upon such terms and conditions as it thinks fit, or

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy.)

(b) make such alterations or amendments in the terms and conditions of a license, including the provisions specified in section 3, sub-section (2), clause (f), as it thinks fit.

[s. 5.]

5. Where the Local Government revokes, under section 4, sub-section (1), the license of a licensee, not being a local authority, the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

Provisions where license of licensee, not being a local authority, is revoked.

(a) the Local Government shall serve a notice of the revocation upon the licensee, and, where the whole of the area of supply is included in the area for which a single local authority is constituted, upon that local authority also, and shall in the notice fix a date on which the revocation shall take effect; and on and with effect from that date all the powers and liabilities of the licensee under this Act shall absolutely cease and determine;

(b) where a notice has been served on a local authority under clause (a), the local authority may, within one month after the service of the notice and with the written consent of the Local Government, by notice in writing, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, the undertaking to the local authority on payment of the value of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant of the licensee suitable to, and used by him for, the purpose of the undertaking, such value to be, in case of difference or dispute, determined by arbitration :

Provided that the value of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant shall be deemed to be their fair market-value at the time of purchase, due regard being had to the nature and condition for the time being of such lands, buildings, works, materials and plant, and to the state of repair thereof, and to the circumstance that they are in such a position as to be ready for immediate working, and to the suitability of the same for the purposes of the undertaking, but without any addition in respect of compulsory purchase or of goodwill or of any profits which may be or might have been made from the undertaking, or of any similar considerations;

(c) where no purchase has been effected by the local authority under clause (b), and any other person is willing to purchase the undertaking, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, with the consent of the licensee, or without the consent of the licensee in case the price is not less than that for which the local authority might have purchased the same, require the licensee to sell, and thereupon the licensee shall sell, the undertaking to such other person;

(d) where a purchase has been effected under clause (b) or clause (c), the undertaking shall vest in the purchasers free from any debts, mortgages or similar obligations of the licensee or attaching to the undertaking; and the revocation of the license shall extend only to the revocation of the rights, powers, authorities, duties and obligations of the licensee from whom the undertaking is purchased, and, save as aforesaid, the license shall remain in full force, and the purchaser shall be deemed to be the licensee;

(e) where no purchase has been effected under clause (b) or clause (c), or where the whole of the area of supply is not included in the area for which a single local authority is constituted, the Local Government shall have the option of purchasing the undertaking and, if the Local Government elects to purchase, the licensee shall sell the undertaking to the Local Government upon terms and conditions similar to those set forth in clauses (b) and (d), save that the license shall, in so far as the Local Government is concerned, cease to have any further operation;

(f) where no purchase has been effected under any of the foregoing clauses, the Local Government may forthwith cause the works of the licensee to be removed and every street in, under, over, along or across which, or part of which, such works have been placed to be reinstated, and recover the cost of such removal and reinstatement from the licensee;

(g) if the licensee has been required, under clause (b) or clause (c), to sell the undertaking, and if the sale has not been completed by the date fixed in the notice issued under clause (a), the purchaser may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, work the undertaking pending the completion of the sale.

[s. 6.]

6 (1) Where the Local Government revokes the license of a local authority under section 4, sub-section (1), and any person is willing to purchase the undertaking, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, require the local authority to sell, and thereupon the local authority shall sell, the undertaking to such person on such terms as the Local Government thinks just.

Provisions where license of local authority is revoked.

(2) Where no purchase has been effected under sub-section (1) the Local Government may forthwith cause the works of the licensee to be removed and every street in, under, over, along, or across which, or part of which, such works have been placed to be reinstated, and recover the cost of such removal and reinstatement from the licensee.

[s. 7.]

7. (1) Where a license has been granted to any person not being a local authority, and the whole of the area of supply is included in the Purchase of undertaking.

area for which a single local authority is constituted, the local authority shall, on the expiration of such period, not exceeding forty-two years, and of every such subsequent period, not exceeding ten years, as shall be specified in this behalf in the license, have the option of purchasing the undertaking, and, if the local authority, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, elects to purchase, the licensee shall sell the undertaking to it upon terms and conditions similar to those set forth in section 5, clauses (b) and (d).

(2) Where the local authority does not elect to purchase under sub-section (1), or where the whole of the area of supply is not included in the area for which a single local authority is constituted, the Local Government shall have the like option upon the like terms and conditions, save that the license shall, in so far as the Local Government is concerned, cease to have any further operation.

(3) Not less than two years' notice in writing of any election to purchase under this section shall be served upon the licensee by the local authority or the Local Government, as the case may be.

(4) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, a local authority may, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, waive its option and enter into an agreement with the licensee for the working by him of the undertaking until the expiration of the next subsequent period referred to in sub-section (1), upon such terms and conditions as may be stated in such agreement.

[s. 8.] 8. Where, on the expiration of any of the periods referred to in section 7, sub-section (1), neither a local authority nor the Local Government purchases the undertaking, and the license is, on the application or with the consent of the licensee, revoked, the licensee shall have the option of disposing of all lands, buildings, works, materials and plant belonging to the undertaking in such manner as he may think fit:

Provisions where no purchase and license revoked with consent of licensee.

Provided that, if the licensee does not exercise such option within a period of six months, the Local Government may proceed to take action as provided in section 5, clause (f).

[s. 9.] 9. (1) The licensee shall not, at any time without the previous consent in writing of the Local Government, acquire, by purchase or otherwise, the license or the undertaking of, or associate himself with, any person supplying, or intending to supply, energy under any other license, and, before applying for such consent, the licensee shall give not less than one month's notice of the application to every local authority, both in the licensee's area of supply, and also in the area or district in which such other person supplies, or intends to supply, energy:

Licensee not to purchase, or associate himself with, other licensed undertakings or transfer his undertaking.

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be construed to require the consent of the Local Government for the supply of energy by one licensee to another in accordance with the provisions of clause (IX) of the Schedule.

(2) The licensee shall not at any time, assign his license or transfer his undertaking, or any part thereof, by sale, mortgage, lease, exchange or otherwise without the previous consent in writing of the Local Government.

(3) Any agreement relating to any transaction of the nature described in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), unless made subject to such consent as aforesaid, shall be void.

[s. 10.] 10. Notwithstanding anything in sections 5, 7 and 8, the Local Government may, subject to the control of the Governor General in Council, in any license granted under this Act,—

General power for Government to vary terms of purchase.

(a) vary the terms and conditions upon which the licensee shall be bound to sell his undertaking, or

(b) direct that, subject to such conditions and restrictions (if any) as it may think fit to impose, the provisions of the said sections or any of them shall not apply.

[s. 11.] 11. (1) Every licensee shall, unless expressly exempted from the liability by his license, prepare and render to the Local Government or to such authority as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf, on or before the prescribed date in each year, an annual statement of accounts of his undertaking made up to such date, in such form, and containing such particulars, as may be prescribed in this behalf.

Annual accounts of licensee.

(2) The licensee shall keep copies of such annual statement at his office and sell the same to any applicant at a price not exceeding one rupee per copy.

Works.

[s. 12.] 12. (1) Any licensee may, from time to time but subject always to the terms and conditions of his license, within the area of supply, or, when permitted by the terms of his license to lay down or place electric supply-lines without the area of supply, without that area—

Provisions as to the opening and breaking up of streets, railways and tramways.

(a) open and break up the soil and pavement of any street, railway or tramway;

(b) open and break up any sewer, drain or tunnel in or under any street, railway or tramway;

(c) lay down and place electric supply-lines and other works;

(d) repair, alter or remove the same; and

(e) do all other acts necessary for the due supply of energy:

Provided that the licensee shall, when exercising the powers conferred upon him by this sub-section, in respect of any street, observe any rules or bye-laws for the time being in force for the regulation of the repairs thereof or facilitating traffic thereon.

(2) Nothing contained in sub section (1) shall be deemed to authorize or empower a licensee, without the consent of the local authority or of the owner and occupier concerned, as the case may be, to lay down or place any electric supply-line or other work in, through or against any building, or on, over or under any land not dedicated to public use whereon, whereover, or whereunder any electric supply-line or work has not already been lawfully laid down or placed by such licensee :

Provided that any stay or strut required for the sole purpose of securing in position any support of an aërial line may be fixed on any building or land or, having been so fixed, may be altered, notwithstanding the objection of the owner or occupier of such building or land, if the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town, the Commissioner of Police by order in writing so directs :

Provided, also, that, if at any time the owner or occupier of any building or land on which any such stay or strut has been fixed shows sufficient cause, the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town, the Commissioner of Police may by order in writing direct any such stay or strut to be removed or altered.

(3) Every order made by a District Magistrate or a Commissioner of Police under sub-section (2) shall be subject to revision by the Local Government.

(4) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorize or empower any licensee to open or break up any street not repairable by the Government or a local authority, or any railway or tramway, except such streets, railways or tramways (if any), or such parts thereof, as he is specially authorized to break up by his license, without the written consent of the person by whom the same is repairable, unless with the written consent of the Local Government :

Provided that the Local Government shall not give any such consent as aforesaid, until notice has been given, by advertisement or otherwise as the Local Government may direct, to the person by whom the street, railway or tramway concerned is repairable, and until all representations or objections received in accordance with the notice have been considered by the Local Government.

[s. 13.]

Notice of new works.

13. (1) Where the exercise of any of the powers of a licensee in relation to the execution of any works involves the placing of any works in, under, over, along or across any street, part of a street, railway, tramway, canal or waterway, the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

(a) not less than one month before commencing the execution of the works (not being a service line immediately attached, or intended to be immediately attached, to a distributing main, or the repair, renewal or amendment of existing works of which the character or position is not to be altered), the licensee shall serve upon the person or authority responsible for the repair of the street or part of a street (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the repairing authority") or upon the person or authority for the time being entitled to work the railway, tramway, canal or waterway (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), as the case may be, a notice in writing describing the proposed works, together with a section thereof on a vertical scale which shall not be smaller than one inch to eight feet, and a detailed plan thereof on a scale which shall not be smaller than sixteen inches to the mile, and intimating the manner in which, and the time at which, it is proposed to interfere with or alter any existing works, and shall, upon being required to do so by the repairing authority or owner, as the case may be, from time to time give such further information in relation thereto as may be desired ;

(b) if the repairing authority intimates to the licensee that it disapproves of such works, section or plan, or approves thereof subject to amendment, the licensee may, within one week of receiving such intimation, appeal to the Local Government, whose decision, after considering the reasons given by the repairing authority for its action, shall be final ;

(c) if the repairing authority fails to give notice in writing of its approval or disapproval to the licensee within one month, it shall be deemed to have approved of the works, section and plan, and the licensee, after giving not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing to the repairing authority, may proceed to carry out the works in accordance with the notice and the section and plan served under clause (a) ;

(d) if the owner disapproves of such works, section or plan, or approves thereof subject to amendment, he may, within three weeks after the service of the notice under clause (a), serve a requisition upon the licensee demanding that any question in relation to the works or to compensation, or to his obligations to others in respect thereof, shall be determined by arbitration, and thereupon the matter shall, unless settled by agreement, be determined by arbitration ;

(e) where no requisition has been served by the owner upon the licensee under clause (d), the owner shall be deemed to have approved of the works, section and plan, and in that case, or where after a requisition for arbitration the matter has been determined by arbitration, the works may, upon payment or securing of compensation, be executed according to the notice and the section and plan, subject to such modifications as may have been determined by arbitration or agreed upon between the parties ;

(f) where the works to be executed consist of the laying of any underground service line immediately attached, or intended to be immediately attached, to a distributing main, the licensee shall, not less than forty-eight hours before commencing the work, serve upon the repairing authority or the owner, as the case may be, a notice in writing of his intention ;

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy.)

(g) where the works to be executed consist of the repair, renewal or amendment of existing works of which the character or position is not to be altered, the licensee shall, except in cases of emergency, give to the repairing authority or to the owner, as the case may be, not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention to execute such works, and, on the expiry of such notice, such works shall be commenced forthwith and shall be carried on with all reasonable despatch, and, if possible, both by day and by night until completed.

(2) Where the licensee makes default in complying with any of these provisions, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this section, the licensee may, in case of emergency due to the breakdown of an underground electric supply-line, after giving notice in writing to the repairing authority or the owner, as the case may be, of his intention to do so, place an aërial line without complying with the provisions of sub-section (1):

Provided that such aërial line shall be used only until the defect in the underground electric supply-line can be made good, and in no case (unless with the written consent of the Local Government) for a period exceeding six weeks, and shall be removed as soon as may be after such defect is removed.

[s. 14.] 14. (1) Any licensee may alter the position of any pipe (not forming, in a case where the licensee is not a local authority, part of a local authority's main sewer), or of any wire under or over any place which he is authorized to open or break up, if such pipe or wire is likely to interfere with the exercise of his powers under this Act; and any person may alter the position of any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee under or over any such place as aforesaid, if such electric supply-lines or works are likely to interfere with the lawful exercise of any powers vested in him.

Alteration of pipes or wires.

(2) In any such case as aforesaid the following provisions shall, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary between the parties concerned, apply, namely:—

(a) not less than one month before commencing any alteration, the licensee or other person desiring to make the same (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the operator") shall serve upon the person for the time being entitled to the pipe, wire, electric supply-lines or works, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), a notice in writing, together with a section on a vertical scale which shall not be smaller than one inch to eight feet, and a plan on a scale which shall not be smaller than sixteen inches to the mile, describing the proposed alteration, and intimating the time when it is to be commenced, and shall subsequently give such further information in relation thereto as the owner may desire;

(b) within fourteen days after the service of the notice, section and plan upon the owner, the owner may serve upon the operator a requisition to the effect that any question arising upon the notice, section or plan shall be determined by arbitration, and thereupon the matter shall, unless settled by agreement, be determined by arbitration;

(c) every arbitrator to whom a reference is made under clause (b) shall have regard to any duties or obligations which the owner is under, and may require the operator to execute any temporary or other works so as to avoid as far as possible interference therewith;

(d) where no requisition is served upon the operator under clause (b), or where such a requisition has been served and the matter has been settled by agreement or determined by arbitration, the alteration may, upon payment or securing of any compensation accepted or determined by arbitration, be executed in accordance with the notice, section and plan and subject to such modifications as may have been determined by arbitration or agreed upon between the parties;

(e) the owner may, at any time before the operator is entitled to commence the alteration, serve upon the operator a statement in writing to the effect that he desires to execute the alteration himself and requires the operator to give such security for the repayment of any expenses as may be agreed upon or, in default of agreement, determined by arbitration;

(f) where a statement is served upon the operator under clause (e), he shall, not less than forty-eight hours before the execution of the alteration is required to be commenced, furnish such security and serve upon the owner a notification in writing intimating the time when the alteration is required to be commenced, and the manner in which it is required to be made; and thereupon the owner may proceed to execute the alteration as required by the operator;

(g) where the owner declines to comply, or does not, within the time and in the manner prescribed by a notification served upon him under clause (f), comply with the notification, the operator may himself execute the alteration;

(h) all expenses properly incurred by the owner in complying with a notification served upon him by the operator under clause (f) may be recovered by him from the operator.

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy.)

(3) Where the licensee or other person desiring to make the alteration makes default in complying with any of these provisions, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

[s. 15.] Laying of electric supply-lines or other works near sewers, pipes or other electric supply-lines or works.

15. (1) Where—

(b) any duly authorized person requires to dig or sink any trench for laying down or constructing any new pipes or other works, near to which any electric supply-lines or works of a licensee have been lawfully placed,

the licensee or such duly authorized person, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the operator"), shall, unless it is otherwise agreed upon between the parties interested or in case of sudden emergency, give to the Local Government or local authority, or to such duly authorized person, or to the licensee, as the case may be (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the owner"), not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing before commencing to dig or sink the trench, and the owner shall have the right to be present during the execution of the work, which shall be executed to the reasonable satisfaction of the owner.

(2) Where the operator finds it necessary to undermine, but not to alter, the position of any pipe, electric supply-line or work, he shall temporarily support it in position during the execution of the work, and before completion shall provide a suitable and proper foundation for it where so undermined.

(3) Where the operator (being the licensee) lays any electric supply-line across, or so as to be liable to touch, any pipes, lines or service pipes or lines belonging to any duly authorized person or to any person supplying or using energy under this Act, he shall not, except with the written consent of such person and in accordance with section 34, sub-section (1), lay his electric supply-lines so as to come into contact with any such pipes, lines or service-pipes or lines.

(4) Where the operator makes default in complying with any of the provisions of this section, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof.

(5) Where any difference or dispute arises under this section, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

(6) Where the licensee is a local authority, the references in this section to the local authority and to sewers, drains, water-course or works under its control shall not apply.

[s. 16.] Streets, railways, tramways, sewers, drains or tunnels broken up to be reinstated without delay.

16. (1) Where any person, in exercise of any of the powers conferred by or under this Act, opens or breaks up the soil or pavement of any street, railway or tramway, or any sewer, drain or tunnel, he shall—

(a) immediately cause the part opened or broken up to be fenced and guarded;

(b) before sunset cause a light, sufficient for the warning of passengers, to be set up and maintained until sunrise against or near the part opened or broken up;

(c) with all reasonable speed fill in the ground and reinstate and make good the soil or pavement, or the sewer, drain or tunnel, opened or broken up, and carry away the rubbish occasioned by such opening or breaking up; and,

(d) after reinstating and making good the soil or pavement, or the sewer, drain or tunnel, broken or opened up, keep the same in good repair for three months and for any further period, not exceeding nine months, during which subsidence continues.

(2) Where any person fails to comply with any of the provisions of sub-section (1), the person having the control or management of the street, railway, tramway, sewer, drain or tunnel in respect of which the default has occurred, may cause to be executed the work which the defaulter has delayed or omitted to execute, and may recover from him the expenses incurred in such execution.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of the expenses incurred under sub-section (2), the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

[s. 17 (1)] Notice to telegraph-authority.

17. (1) A licensee shall, before laying down or placing within ten yards of any part of any telegraph-line, any electric supply-line or other works (not being service lines immediately attached or intended to be immediately attached to a distributing main, or electric supply-lines for the repair, renewal or amendment of existing works of which the character or position is not to be altered), give not less than ten days' notice in writing to the telegraph-authority, specifying—

(a) the course of the works or alterations proposed,

(b) the manner in which the works are to be utilized,

(c) the amount and nature of the energy to be transmitted, and

(d) the extent to, and manner in, which (if at all) earth returns are to be used; and the licensee shall conform with such reasonable requirements, either general or special, as may be laid down by the telegraph-authority for preventing any telegraph-line from being injuriously affected by such works or alterations:

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy.)

Provided that, in case of emergency (which shall be stated by the licensee in writing to the telegraph-authority) arising from defects in any of the electric supply-lines or other works of the licensee, the licensee shall be required to give only such notice as may be possible after the necessity for the proposed new works or alterations has arisen.

(2) Where the works to be executed consist of the laying of any underground service-line immediately attached, or intended to be immediately attached, to a distributing main, the licensee shall, not less than forty-eight hours before commencing the work, serve upon the telegraph-authority a notice in writing of his intention.

[s. 17.] Aërial lines.

18. (1) Save as provided in section 13, sub-section (3), nothing in this Part shall be deemed to authorize or empower a licensee to place any aërial line along or across any street unless and until the Local Government has communicated to him a general approval in writing of the methods of construction which he proposes to adopt:

Provided that the communication of such approval shall in no way relieve the licensee of his obligations with respect to any other consent required by or under this Act.

(2) Where any aërial line has been placed or maintained by a licensee in breach of the provisions of sub-section (1), the Local Government may require the licensee forthwith to remove the same, or may cause the same to be removed and recover from the licensee the expenses incurred in such removal.

(3) Where any tree, standing or lying near an aërial line, interrupts or interferes with, or is likely to interrupt or interfere with, the conveyance or transmission of energy, a Magistrate of the first class may, on the application of the licensee, cause the tree to be removed or otherwise dealt with as he thinks fit.

(4) When disposing of an application under sub-section (3), the Magistrate shall, in the case of any tree in existence before the placing of the aërial line, award to the person interested in the tree such compensation as he thinks reasonable, and such person may recover the same from the licensee.

[s. 18.] Compensation for damage.

19. (1) A licensee shall, in exercise of any of the powers conferred by or under this Act, cause as little damage, detriment and inconvenience as may be, and shall make full compensation for any damage caused by him or by any one employed by him.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount or the application of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Supply.

[s. 19.] Power for licensee to enter premises and to remove fittings or other apparatus of licensee.

20. (1) A licensee or any person duly authorized by a licensee may, at any reasonable time, and on informing the occupier of his intention, enter any premises to which energy is or has been supplied by him, for the purpose of—

(a) inspecting and testing the electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works and apparatus for the supply of energy belonging to the licensee;

(b) ascertaining the quantity of energy consumed or supplied; or

(c) removing, where a supply of energy is no longer required, or where the licensee is authorized to take away and cut off such supply, any electric supply-lines, fittings, works or apparatus belonging to the licensee.

(2) A licensee or any person authorized as aforesaid may also, in pursuance of a special order in this behalf made by the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town, by the Commissioner of Police, and after giving not less than twenty-four hours notice in writing to the occupier, enter any premises to which energy is or has been supplied, by him, for the purpose of examining and testing any electric wires, fittings, works and apparatus for the use of energy therein.

[s. 20.] Restrictions on licensee's controlling or interfering with use of energy.

21. (1) A licensee shall not be entitled to prescribe any special form of appliance for utilizing energy supplied by him, or, save as provided by section 23, sub-section (2), or by section 27, sub-section (6), in any way to control or interfere with the use of such energy:

Provided that no person may adopt any form of appliance, or use the energy supplied to him, so as unduly or improperly to interfere with the supply by the licensee of energy to any other person.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises under this section, the matter shall be either referred to an Electric Inspector and decided by him or, if the licensee or consumer so desires, determined by arbitration.

[s. 21.] Obligation on licensee to supply energy.

22. Where energy is supplied by a licensee, every person within the area of supply shall, except in so far as is otherwise provided by the terms and conditions of the license, be entitled, on application, to a supply on the same terms as those on which any other person in the same area is entitled in similar circumstances to a corresponding supply:

Provided that no person having a private generating plant shall be entitled so to demand a supply in order to use the energy supplied only in the event of accident to his plant.

[s. 23.] Charges for energy to be made without undue preference.

23. (1) A licensee shall not, in making any agreement for the supply of energy, show undue preference to any person, but may, save as aforesaid, make such charges for the supply of energy as may be agreed upon, not exceeding the limits imposed by his license, and may allow such rebates thereon as the Local Government may by general or special order permit.

(2) No consumer shall be entitled, except with the consent in writing of the licensee, to utilize for one purpose energy supplied to him at a lower rate for any other purpose.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises between a consumer and a licensee as to any matter provided for in sub-section (1), the matter shall either be referred to an Electric Inspector and decided by him or, if the licensee or consumer so desires, be determined by arbitration.

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy.)

[s. 24.] 24. Where any person neglects to pay any charge for energy or any other sum due from him to a licensee in respect of the supply of energy to him, the licensee may, after giving not less than seven clear days' notice in writing to such person and without prejudice to his right to recover such charge or other sum by suit, cut off the supply and for that purpose cut or disconnect any electric supply-line or other works through which energy may be supplied, and may discontinue the supply until such charge or other sum, together with any expenses incurred by him in cutting off and re-connecting the supply, are paid, but no longer:

Discontinuance of supply to consumer neglecting to pay charge.

Provided that the provisions of this section shall not apply in any case in which any difference or dispute of the nature described in section 27, sub-section (7), has been referred for the decision of an Electric Inspector as therein provided until such Inspector has given his decision.

[s. 25.] 25. Where any electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works or apparatus belonging to a licensee are placed in or upon any premises, not being in the possession of the licensee, for the purpose of supplying energy, such electric supply-lines, meters, fittings, works and apparatus shall not be liable to be taken in execution under any process of any Civil Court or in any proceedings in insolvency against the person in whose possession the same may be.

Exemption of electric supply-lines or other apparatus from attachment in certain cases.

[Sch. cl. IV.] 26. (1) Every licensee shall supply energy only by means of some prescribed system or of some other system for the time being approved by the Local Government.

System of supply.

[s. 29.] (2) If at any time it is established to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that a licensee is supplying energy contrary to the provisions of sub-section (1), the Local Government may, by order in writing, specify the matter complained of and require the licensee to remedy it in such manner as shall be specified in the order, and may also in like manner forbid the use of any electric supply-line or works until the order is complied with or for such time as is specified in the order.

[s. 30.] 27. (1) In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the amount of energy supplied to a consumer or the electrical quantity contained in the supply shall be ascertained by means of a correct meter, and the licensee shall, if required by the consumer, cause the consumer to be supplied with such a meter:

Meters.

Provided that the licensee may require the consumer to give him security for the price of a meter and enter into an agreement for the hire thereof, unless the consumer elects to purchase a meter.

(2) Where the consumer so enters into an agreement for the hire of a meter, the licensee shall keep the meter correct, and, in default of his doing so, the consumer shall, for so long as the default continues, cease to be liable to pay for the hire of the meter.

(3) Where the meter is the property of the consumer, he shall keep the meter correct, and in default of his doing so, the licensee may, for so long as the default continues, cease to supply energy through the meter.

(4) The licensee or any person duly authorized by the licensee shall, at any reasonable time and on informing the consumer of his intention, have access to, and be at liberty to inspect and test, and for that purpose, if he thinks fit, take off and remove, any meter referred to in sub-section (1); and, except where the meter is so hired as aforesaid, all reasonable expenses of, and incidental to, such inspecting, testing, taking off and removing shall, if the meter is found to be otherwise than correct, be recovered from the consumer; and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such reasonable expenses, the matter shall be referred to an Electric Inspector, and the decision of such Inspector shall be final:

Provided that the licensee shall not be at liberty to take off or remove any such meter if any difference or dispute of the nature described in sub-section (7) has arisen until the matter has been determined as therein provided.

(5) A consumer shall not connect any meter referred to in sub-section (1) with any electric supply-line through which energy is supplied by a licensee, or disconnect the same from any such electric supply-line, without giving to the licensee not less than forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention.

(6) In addition to any meter which may be placed upon the premises of a consumer in pursuance of the provisions of sub-section (1), the licensee may place upon such premises such meter or other apparatus as he may think fit for the purpose of ascertaining or regulating either the amount of energy supplied to the consumer, or the number of hours during which the supply is given, or the rate per unit of time at which energy is supplied to the consumer, or any other quantity or time connected with the supply:

Provided that the meter or apparatus shall not, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, be placed otherwise than between the distributing mains of the licensee and any meter referred to in sub-section (1).

(7) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether any meter referred to in sub-section (1) is or is not correct, the matter shall be decided, upon the application of either party, by an Electric Inspector; and, where the meter has, in the opinion of such Inspector, ceased to work, such Inspector shall estimate the amount of the energy supplied to the consumer or the electrical quantity contained in the supply on the basis of the previous supply; and the decision of such Inspector shall be final: but, save as aforesaid, the register of the meter shall, in the absence of fraud, be conclusive proof of such amount or quantity.

Explanation.—A meter shall be deemed to be "correct" if it registers the amount of energy supplied, or the electrical quantity contained in the supply, within the prescribed limits of error.

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(Part II.—Supply of Energy. Part III.—Transmission and use of Energy. Part IV.—General.)

Supply of energy outside area of supply.

28. Notwithstanding anything in this Act, the Local Government may, by order in writing, authorise any licensee to supply energy to any person outside the area of supply, and to lay down or place electric supply-lines for that purpose:

Provided, first, that such authority shall not be conferred unless the person to whom the supply is to be given has entered into a specific agreement with the licensee for the taking of such supply:

Provided, secondly, that a licensee on whom such authority has been conferred shall not be deemed to be empowered outside the area of supply to open or break up any street, or any sewer, drain or tunnel in or under any street, railway or tramway, or to interfere with any telegraph-line, without the written consent of the local authority or person by whom such street, sewer, drain or tunnel is repairable, or of the telegraph-authority, as the case may be:

Provided, thirdly, that, save as aforesaid, the provisions of this Act shall apply in the case of any supply authorized under this section as if the said supply were made within the area of supply.

Supply by non-licensees.

[Q. s. 3.]

Sanction required by non-licensees in certain cases.

29. (1) No person other than a licensee shall, for the purpose of supplying energy to the public generally or to any licensee, open or break up the soil or pavement of any street, railway or tramway, or any sewer, drain or tunnel in or under any street, railway or tramway, except with the previous sanction of the Local Government and in accordance with such conditions as the Local Government may fix in this behalf.

(2) Any agreement made without such previous sanction between any such person and a local authority purporting to authorise him to do any such acts as are described in sub-section (1), shall be void.

(3) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether energy is or is not supplied or to be supplied to the public generally within the meaning of sub-section (1), the matter shall be referred to the Local Government, and the decision of the Local Government thereon shall be final.

PART III.

Transmission and USE OF ENERGY.

[s. 31.]

Control of transmission and use of energy.

30. (1) No person, other than a licensee duly authorized under the terms of his license, shall transmit or use energy for any purpose at a rate exceeding two hundred and fifty watts,—

(a) in any street, or

(b) in any place,

(i) in which one hundred or more persons are likely ordinarily to be assembled, or

(ii) which is a factory within the meaning of the Indian Factories Act, 1881, or [XV of 1881.]

(iii) which is a mine within the meaning of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, [VIII of 1901.]

without giving not less than seven clear days' notice in writing of his intention to the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town, to the Commissioner of Police, and complying with such of the provisions of Part IV, and of the rules made thereunder, as may be applicable:

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to energy used for the public carriage of passengers, animals or goods on, or for the lighting or ventilation of the rolling-stock of, any railway or tramway subject to the provisions of the Indian Railways Act, 1890: [IX of 1890.]

Provided, also, that the Local Government may, by general or special order and subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be specified therein, exempt from the application of this section or of any such provision or rule as aforesaid any person or class of persons using energy on premises upon or in connection with which it is generated, or using energy supplied under Part II in any place specified in clause (b).

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to whether a place is or is not one in which one hundred or more persons are likely ordinarily to be assembled, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government, and the decision of the Local Government thereon shall be final.

PART IV.

GENERAL.

Protective Clauses.

[s. 26.]

Protection of railways and canals, docks, wharves and piers.

31. No person shall, in the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy, in any way injure any railway, tramway, canal or water-way or any dock, wharf or pier vested in or controlled by a local authority or obstruct or interfere with the traffic on any railway, tramway, canal or waterway.

[s. 27(1).]

Protection of telegraphic, telephonic and electric-signalling lines.

32. (1) Every person generating, transmitting, supplying or using energy (hereinafter in this section referred to as the "operator"), shall take all reasonable precautions in constructing, laying down and placing his electric supply-lines and other works and in working his undertaking, so as not injuriously to affect, whether by induction or otherwise, the working of any wire or line used for the purpose of telegraphic, telephonic or electric-signalling communication, or the currents in such wire or line.

[s. 27 (3).]

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises between the operator and the telegraph-authority as to whether the operator has constructed, laid down or placed his electric supply-lines or other works, or worked his undertaking, in contravention of sub-section (1), or as to whether the working of any wire, line or current is or is not injuriously affected thereby, the matter shall be referred to the Governor General in Council; and the Governor General in Council, unless he is of opinion that the wire or line has been placed in unreasonable proximity to the electric supply-lines or works of the operator after the construction of such lines or works may direct the operator to make such alterations in, or additions to, his system as may be necessary in order to comply with the provisions of this section, and the operator shall make such alterations or additions accordingly:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to the repair, renewal or amendment of any electric supply-line so long as the course of the electric supply-line and the amount and nature of the current transmitted thereby are not altered.

27 (4).] (3) Where the operator makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall make full compensation for any loss or damage incurred by reason thereof, and, where any difference or dispute arises as to the amount of such compensation, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, a telegraph-line shall be deemed to be injuriously affected by a work if telegraphic communication by means of such line is, whether through induction or otherwise, prejudicially interfered with by such work or by any use made thereof.

[s. 28.] 33. (1) Every person shall, within twenty-four hours of the occurrence, send to the Electric Inspector, and also to the District Magistrate or, in a Presidency-town, to the Commissioner of Police, notice in writing of any accident in connection with the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy resulting or likely to have resulted in loss of life or personal injury in any part of such person's works or circuits, or in connection with the same, and also notice of any loss of life or personal injury actually occasioned by any such accident.

Notice of accidents and inquiries.

(2) The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, require any Electric Inspector, or any other competent person appointed by it in this behalf, to inquire and report—

(a) as to the cause of any accident affecting the safety of the public, which may have been occasioned by or in connection with the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy, or

(b) as to the manner in, and extent to, which the provisions of this Act or of any license or rules thereunder, so far as those provisions affect the safety of the public, have been complied with.

[s. 29 (a).] 34. (1) No person shall, in the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy, permit any part of his circuits to be connected with earth except so far as may be prescribed in this behalf or may be specially sanctioned by the Governor General in Council.

Prohibition of connection with earth and power for Government to interfere in certain cases of default.

[s. 29 (b).] (2) If at any time it is established to the satisfaction of the Local Government—

(a) that any part of a circuit is connected with earth contrary to the provisions of sub-section (1), or

(b) that any works for the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy are attended with danger to the public safety or to human life or to any telegraph line or other metallic pipe, structure or substance, whether in consequence of such connection with earth or otherwise, the Local Government may, by order in writing, specify the matter complained of and require the owner or user of such works to remedy it in such manner as shall be specified in the order, and may also in like manner forbid the use of any electric supply-line or works until the order is complied with or for such time as is specified in the order.

Administration and rules.

[s. 32.] 35. (1) The Governor General in Council may, for the whole or any part of British India, and each Local Government may, for the whole or any part of the Province, by notification in the Gazette of India or the local official Gazette, as the case may be, constitute an Advisory Board.

Advisory Boards.

(2) Every such Board shall consist of a chairman and not less than two other members.

(3) The chairman and, where there are more than two other members, two of the other members, or, where there are only two other members, one of the other members, shall be nominated by the Governor General in Council or the Local Government, as the case may be, and the remaining members shall be nominated by such local authorities, Chambers of Commerce or other Associations as the Governor General in Council or the Local Government, as the case may be, may direct.

(4) The Governor General in Council or the Local Government, as the case may be, may, by general or special order,—

(a) define the duties and regulate the procedure of any such Board,

(b) determine the tenure of office of the members of any such Board, and

(c) give directions as to the payment of fees to, and the travelling expenses incurred by, any member of any such Board in the performance of his duty.

[Act VIII of 1901, s. 4.] 36. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoint a duly qualified person to be Chief Electric Inspector, and one or more other such persons to be Deputies to such Chief Electric Inspector, and the Chief Electric Inspector shall, by himself or through any such Deputy, exercise all such powers and perform all such functions as the Governor General in Council may direct.

Appointment of Electric Inspectors.

(2) The Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette, appoint duly qualified persons to be Electric Inspectors within such areas as may be assigned to them respectively; and every such Inspector shall exercise all such powers and perform all such functions as the Local Government may direct.

[s. 33.] 37. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules, for the whole or any part of British India, to regulate the generation, transmission, supply and use of energy, and, generally, to carry out the purposes and objects of this Act.

Power for Government to make rules.

6 a

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(Part IV.—General.)

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

(a) prescribe the form of applications for licenses and the payments to be made in respect thereof;

(b) regulate the publication of notices;

(c) prescribe the manner in which objections with reference to any application under Part II are to be made;

(d) provide for the preparation and submission of accounts by licensees in a specified form;

(e) provide for the securing of a regular, constant and sufficient supply of energy by licensees to consumers and for the testing at various parts of the system of the regularity and sufficiency of such supply, and for the examination of the records of such tests by consumers;

(f) provide for the protection of persons and property from injury by reason of contact with, or the proximity of, or by reason of the defective or dangerous condition of, any appliance or apparatus used in the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy;

(g) for the purposes of electric traction, regulate the employment of insulated returns, or of uninsulated metallic returns of low resistance, in order to prevent fusion or injurious electrolytic action of or on metallic pipes, structures or substances, and to minimise, as far as is reasonably practicable, injurious interference with the electric wires, supply-lines and apparatus of parties other than the owners of the electric traction system, or with the currents therein, whether the earth is used as a return or not;

(h) provide for preventing telegraph-lines and magnetic observatories or laboratories from being injuriously affected by the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy;

(i) prescribe the qualifications to be required of Electric Inspectors;

(j) authorize any Electric Inspector or other officer of a specified rank and class to enter, inspect and examine any place, carriage or vessel in which he has reason to believe any appliance or apparatus used in the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy to be, and to carry out tests therein, and to prescribe the facilities to be given to such Inspectors or officers for the purposes of such examinations and tests; and (k) authorize and regulate the levy of fees for any such testing or inspection and, generally, for the services of Electric Inspectors under this Act.

(3) In making any rule under this Act, the Governor General in Council may direct that every breach thereof shall be punishable with fine which may extend to three hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing breach, with a further daily fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

38. (1) The power to make rules under section 37 shall be subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication. [s. 34.]

Further provisions respecting rules.

(2) The date to be specified in accordance with clause (3) of section 23 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, as that after which a draft of rules proposed to be made under section 37 will be taken into consideration shall not be less than three months from the date on which the draft of the proposed rules was published for general information. X of 1897.

(3) Any rule to be made under this Act shall, before it is published for criticism under sub-section (2), be referred to the Advisory Board (if any) constituted for the whole of British India, or, if no such Board has been constituted, then to such Board or Boards (if any) as the Governor General in Council may direct; and the rule shall not be so published until such Board or Boards (if any) has or have reported as to the expediency of making the proposed rule and as to the suitability of its provisions.

(4) All rules made under section 37 shall be published in the Gazette of India and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

Criminal Offences and Procedure.

39. Whoever dishonestly abstracts, consumes or uses any energy shall be deemed to have committed theft within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code. [s. 39 (1).] XLV of 1860.

Penalty for theft of energy.

40. Whoever maliciously causes energy to be wasted or diverted, or, with intent to cut off the supply of energy, cuts or injures, or attempts to cut or injure, any electric supply-line or works, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both. [s. 39 (2).]

Penalty for maliciously wasting energy or injuring works.

41. Whoever, in contravention of the provisions of section 29, opens or breaks up the soil of any street, railway or tramway or any sewer, drain or tunnel therein or thereunder shall be punishable with fine which may extend to three thousand rupees, and, in the case of a continuing contravention, with a daily fine which may extend to three hundred rupees.

Penalty for unauthorized breaking up of streets.

Penalty for illegal or defective supply or for non-compliance with order.

42. Whoever— [s. 39 (3).]

(a) being a licensee, save as permitted under section 28 or section 51 or by his license, supplies energy or lays down or places any electric supply-line or works outside the area of supply; or

(b) being a licensee, in contravention of the provisions of this Act or of the rules thereunder or in breach of the conditions of his license and without reasonable excuse, the bur- den of proving which shall lie on him, discontinues the supply of energy or fails to supply energy; or shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence or default, with a daily fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

(c) makes default in complying with any order issued to him under section 26, sub-section (2), or section 34, sub-section (2);

[s. 39 (4).] 43. Penalty for illegal transmission or use of energy. Whoever, in contravention of the provisions of section 30, transmits or uses energy without giving the notice required thereby, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with a daily fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

[s. 39 (5).] Penalty for interference with meters or licensee's works and for improper use of energy. 44. Whoever—

(a) connects any meter referred to in section 27, sub-section (1), with any electric supply-line through which energy is supplied by a licensee, or disconnects the same from any such electric supply-line, without giving to the licensee forty-eight hours' notice in writing of his intention; or

(b) lays, or causes to be laid, or connects up any works for the purpose of communicating with any other works belonging to a licensee, without such licensee's consent; or

(c) maliciously injures any meter referred to in section 27, sub-section (1); or

(d) improperly uses the energy of a licensee;

shall be punishable with fine which may extend to three hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing offence, with a daily fine which may extend to thirty rupees.

[s. 39 (6).] 45. Penalty for extinguishing public lamps. Whoever maliciously extinguishes any electric light supplied for the public use shall be punishable with fine which may extend to three hundred rupees.

[s. 39 (7).] 46. Penalty for negligently wasting energy or injuring works. Whoever negligently causes energy to be wasted or diverted, or negligently breaks, throws down or damages any electric supply-line, post, pole or lamp or other apparatus connected with the supply of energy, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

[s. 39 (8).] 47. Penalty for offences not otherwise provided for. Whoever, in any case not already provided for by sections 39 to 46 (both inclusive), makes default in complying with any of the provisions of this Act, or with any order issued under it, or, in the case of a licensee, with any of the conditions of his license, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, and, in the case of a continuing default, with a daily fine which may extend to twenty rupees:

Provided that, where a person has made default in complying with any of the provisions of sections 13, 14, 15, 17 and 32, as the case may be, he shall not be so punishable if the Court is of opinion that the case was one of emergency and that the offender complied with the said provisions as far as was reasonable in the circumstances.

48. Penalties not to affect other liabilities. The penalties imposed by sections 39 to 47 (both inclusive) shall be in addition to, and not in derogation of, any liability in respect of the payment of compensation or, in the case of a licensee, the revocation of his license, which the offender may have incurred. [s. 39 (9).]

49. Penalties where works belong to Government. The provisions of sections 39, 40, 44, 45 and 46 shall, so far as they are applicable, be deemed to apply also when the acts made punishable thereunder are committed in the case of energy supplied by or of works belonging to the Government. [s. 39 (10).]

50. Institution of prosecutions. No prosecution shall be instituted against any person for any offence against this Act or any rule, license or order thereunder except at the instance of the Government or an Electric Inspector, or of a person aggrieved by the same. [Act VIII of 1901, s. 23.]

Supplementary.

51. Exercise in certain cases of powers of telegraph-authority. Notwithstanding anything in sections 12 to 16 (both inclusive) and sections 18 and 19, the Governor General in Council may, for the placing of appliances and apparatus for the transmission of energy for any purpose, confer upon any public officer or licensee, subject to such conditions and restrictions (if any) as he may think fit to impose, any of the powers which the telegraph-authority possesses under, and subject to the provisions of, the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, with respect to the placing of telegraph lines and posts for the purposes of a telegraph established or maintained by the Government or to be so established or maintained. [s. 35.] XIII of 1885.

52. Arbitration. Where any matter is, by or under this Act, directed to be determined by arbitration, the matter shall, unless it is otherwise expressly provided in the license of a licensee, be determined by such person or persons as the Governor General in Council or the Local Government may nominate in that behalf on the application of either party; but in all other respects the arbitration shall be subject to the provisions of the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899. [s. 36.] IX of 1899.

53. (1) Service of notices, orders or documents. Every notice, order or document by or under this Act required or authorized to be addressed to any person may be served by post or left,— [s. 37.]

(a) where the Government is the addressee, at the office of the Secretary in the Public Works Department;

(b) where a local authority is the addressee, at the office of the local authority;

(c) where a company is the addressee, at the registered office of the company;

(d) where any other person is the addressee, at the usual or last known place of abode or business of the person.

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(Part IV.—General.—The Schedule.—Provisions to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II.)

(2) Every notice, order or document by or under this Act required or authorized to be addressed to the owner or occupier of any premises shall be deemed to be properly addressed if addressed by the description of the "owner" or "occupier" of the premises (naming the premises), and may be served by delivering it, or a true copy thereof, to some person on the premises, or, if there is no person on the premises to whom the same can with reasonable diligence be delivered, by affixing it on some conspicuous part of the premises.

Recovery of sums recoverable under certain provisions of Act.

54. Every sum declared to be recoverable by section 5, clause (f), section 6, sub-section (2), section 14, sub-section (2), clause (h), section 16, sub-section (2), section 18, sub-section (2) or sub-section (4), or section 27, sub-section (4), and every fee leviable under this Act, may be recovered, on application to a Magistrate having jurisdiction where the person liable to pay the same is for the time being resident, by the distress and sale of any moveable property belonging to such person.

Delegation of certain functions of Local Government to Electric Inspectors.

55. (1) The Local Government may, by general or special order, authorize the discharge of any of its functions under sections 13, 18 or 26 or clause V, sub-clause (2), or clause XIII of the Schedule by an Electric Inspector, and may cancel any sanction or order given by an Electric Inspector discharging any such function, or attach thereto any condition which the Local Government might have imposed if the sanction or order had been given by itself.

(2) A condition imposed under sub-section (1) shall for all the purposes of this Act have the same effect as if it were attached to a sanction or order given by the Local Government.

[s. 41.]

Protection for acts done in good faith.

56. No suit, prosecution or other proceeding shall lie against any public officer, or any servant of a local authority, for anything done, or in good faith purporting to be done, under this Act.

I of 1894.

Amendment of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

57. (1) In section 40, sub-section (1), clause (b), and section 41, sub-section (5), of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, the term "work" shall be deemed to include electrical energy supplied, or to be supplied, by means of the work to be constructed.

[Act XI of 1886, s. 7 (3).]

(2) The Local Government may, if it thinks fit, on the application of any person, not being a company, desirous of obtaining any land for the purposes of his undertaking, direct that he may acquire such land under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, in the same manner and on the same conditions as it might be acquired if the person were a company.

III of 1903. [s. 42.]

Repeals and savings.

58. (1) The Indian Electricity Act, 1903, is hereby repealed:

Provided that every license granted under the said Act shall be deemed to have been granted under this Act.

(2) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to affect the terms of any license which was granted, or of any agreement which was made, by or with the sanction of the Government for the supply or use of electricity before the commencement of the Indian Electricity Act, 1903: but, save as aforesaid, every such license shall be deemed to be a license granted under this Act, and all rules made under this Act shall apply to all persons to whom such licenses were granted or with whom such agreements were made.

THE SCHEDULE.

PROVISIONS TO BE DEEMED TO BE INCORPORATED WITH, AND TO FORM PART OF, EVERY LICENSE GRANTED UNDER PART II.

[See section 3, sub-section (2), clause (f).]

Security and accounts.

[Sch cl. I.]

Security for execution of works of licensee not being local authority.

I. Where the licensee is not a local authority, the following provisions as to giving security shall apply, namely:—

(a) The licensee shall, within the period fixed in that behalf and before exercising any of the powers by the license conferred on him in relation to the execution of works, show, to the satisfaction of the Local Government, that he is in a position fully and efficiently to discharge the duties and obligations imposed upon him by the license throughout the area of supply.

(b) The licensee shall also, within the period fixed in that behalf and before exercising any of the powers conferred on him in relation to the execution of works, deposit or secure to the satisfaction of the Local Government, such sum (if any) as may be fixed by the license or, if not so fixed, by the Local Government.

(c) The said sum deposited or secured by the licensee under the provisions of this clause shall be repaid or released to him on the completion of the works or at such earlier dates, and by such instalments, as may be approved by the Local Government.

[Sch., cl. II]

Audit of accounts of licensee not being local authority.

II. Where the licensee is not a local authority, the following provisions as to the audit of accounts shall apply, namely:—

(a) The annual statement of accounts of the undertaking shall, before being rendered under section 11 of the Indian Electricity Act, 1909, be examined and audited by such person as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf, and the remuneration of the auditor shall be such as the Local Government may direct, and his remuneration and all expenses incurred by him in or about the execution of his duties, to such an amount as the Local Government shall approve, shall be paid by the licensee on demand.

(b) The licensee shall afford to the auditor, his clerks and assistants, access to all such books and documents relating to the undertaking as are necessary for the purposes of the audit, and shall, when required, furnish to him and them all vouchers and information requisite for that purpose, and afford to him and them all facilities for the proper execution of his and their duty.

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(The Schedule.—Provisions to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II.)

(c) The audit shall be made and conducted in such manner as the Local Government may direct.

(d) Any report made by the auditor, or such portion thereof as the Local Government may direct, shall be appended to the annual statement of accounts of the licensee, and shall thenceforth form part thereof.

[Sch., cl. III.] Separate accouns. III. The licensee shall, unless the Local Government otherwise directs, at all times keep the accounts of the capital employed for the purposes of the undertaking distinct from the accounts kept by him of any other undertaking or business.

Compulsory works and supply.

[Sch., cl. VI.] Execution of work after commencement of license. IV. The licensee shall, within a period of three years after the commencement of the license, execute to the satisfaction of the Local Government all such works as may be specified in the license in this behalf or, if not so specified, as may be necessary for the full and efficient discharge of the duties and obligations imposed upon him by the license throughout the area of supply.

[Sch., cl. VIII.] Provisions as to laying down of further distributing mains. V. (1) Where, after the expiration of two years and six months from the commencement of the license, a requisition is made by six or more owners or occupiers of premises in or upon any street or part of a street within the area of supply or by the Local Government or a local authority charged with the public lighting thereof, requiring the licensee to provide distributing mains throughout such street or part thereof, the licensee shall comply within six months with the requisition, unless,—

(a) where it is made by such owners or occupiers as aforesaid, the owners or occupiers making it do not, within fourteen clear days after the service on them by the licensee of a notice in writing in this behalf, tender to the licensee a written contract duly executed and with sufficient security binding themselves to take, or guaranteeing that there shall be taken, a supply of energy for not less than two years to such amount as will in the aggregate produce annually, at the current rates charged by the licensee, a reasonable return to the licensee; or,

(b) where it is made by the Local Government or a local authority, the Local Government or local authority, as the case may be, does not, within the like period, tender a like agreement binding itself to take a supply of energy for not less than two years for the public lighting of such street or part thereof.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises between the licensee and such owners, occupiers or local authority as to the sufficiency of the security offered under this clause, or as to the amount of energy to be taken or guaranteed as aforesaid, the matter shall be referred to the Local Government and either decided by it or, if it so directs, determined by arbitration.

(3) Every requisition under this clause shall be signed by the maker or makers thereof and shall be served on the licensee.

(4) Every requisition under this clause shall be in a form to be prescribed by rules under the Indian Electricity Act, 1909; and copies of the form shall be kept at the office of the licensee and supplied free of charge to any applicant.

[Sch., cl. IX.] Requisition for supply to owners or occupiers in vicinity. VI. (1) Where a requisition is made by the owner or occupier of any premises situate within one hundred yards from any distributing main requiring the licensee to supply energy for such premises, the licensee shall, within one month from the making of the requisition, supply, and, save in so far as he is prevented from doing so by cyclones, floods, storms or other occurrences beyond his control, continue to supply, energy in accordance with the requisition, unless the person making it fails, within fourteen days after the service on him by the licensee of a notice in writing in this behalf, to tender to the licensee a written contract, duly executed and with sufficient security, binding himself to take a supply of energy for not less than two years to such amount as will produce, at current rates charged by the licensee, a reasonable return to the licensee:

Provided, first, that the cost of so much of any service line as may be laid down or placed for the purposes of the supply upon the property in respect of which the requisition is made, and of so much of any service line as it may be necessary for the said purposes to lay down or place for a greater distance than one hundred feet from the licensee's distributing main, although not on that property, shall, if the licensee so requires, be paid by the owner or occupier making the requisition:

Provided, secondly, that the licensee may, after he has furnished a supply of energy for any premises, by notice in writing require the owner or occupier, within seven days after the date of the service of the notice, to give him security for the payment of all money which may become due to him in respect of the supply, in case the owner or occupier has not already given that security, or in case any security given has become invalid or is insufficient; and, if the owner or occupier fails to comply with the terms of the notice, the licensee may discontinue to supply energy for such premises so long as such failure continues:

Provided, thirdly, that, if the owner or occupier of any such premises as aforesaid adopts any appliance, or uses the energy supplied to him by the licensee for any purposes, or deals with it in any manner, so as unduly or improperly to interfere with the efficient supply of energy to any other person by the licensee, the licensee may discontinue the supply o energy for such premises until the matter has been decided in accordance with section 21,

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(The Schedule.—Provisions to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II.)

sub-section (2), of the Indian Electricity Act, 1909:

Provided, fourthly, that the licensee shall not be bound to furnish a supply of energy to any premises if an Electric Inspector is satisfied that the electric wires, fittings, works and apparatus therein are not in good order and condition, and are consequently likely to affect injuriously the use of energy by the licensee, or by other persons :

Provided, fifthly, that in the event of any alterations of, or additions to, any electric wires, fittings, works or apparatus within such premises as aforesaid, all such alterations or additions shall be notified to the licensee by the owner or occupier before being connected to the source of supply, with a view to their being examined and tested :

Provided, sixthly, that, in the event of any requisition being made for a supply of energy from any distributing main of which the licensee can prove, to the satisfaction of an Electric Inspector,—

(a) that it is already loaded up to its full current-carrying capacity, or

(b) that, in case of a larger amount of current being transmitted by it, the loss of pressure will seriously affect the efficiency of the supply to other consumers in the vicinity, the licensee may refuse to accede to the requisition for such reasonable period, not exceeding six months, as such Inspector may think sufficient for the purpose of amending the distributing main or laying down or placing a further distributing main : and

Provided, seventhly, that, where the owner or occupier has required a licensee to supply him at a specified maximum rate, he shall not be entitled to alter that maximum except after one month's notice in writing to the licensee, and the licensee may recover from the owner or occupier any expenses incurred by him by reason of the alteration in respect of the service-lines by which energy is supplied to the premises, to the extent prescribed in the first proviso, or of any fittings or apparatus of the licensee upon those premises.

(2) Where any difference or dispute arises as to the cost of any service-line or as to the sufficiency of the security offered by such owner or occupier, or as to the improper use of energy, or as to any alleged defect in any wires, fittings, works or apparatus, or as to the amount of energy be taken or guaranteed as aforesaid, or as to the amount of the expenses incurred under the seventh proviso to sub-clause (1), the matter shall be either referred to an Electric Inspector and decided by him or, if the owner, occupier or licensee so desires, determined by arbitration.

(3) Every requisition under this clause shall be signed by the maker or makers thereof and shall be served on the licensee.

(4) Every requisition under this clause shall be in a form to be prescribed by rules under the Indian Electricity Act, 1909; and copies of the form shall be kept at the office of the licensee and supplied free of charge to any applicant.

[Sch., cl. VII.]

VII. (1) Where in pursuance of a special agreement a requisition is made by any person for the supply of energy, within the area of supply, the licensee shall, before commencing to lay down or place in any street any electric supply-line, serve upon the local authority (if any) and upon the owner or occupier of all premises abutting on so much of the street as lies between the points of origin and termination of the electric supply-line so to be laid down or placed a notice stating that the licensee intends to lay down or place the electric supply-line, and intimating that, if within the said period any two or more of such owners or occupiers require in accordance with the provisions of the license that a supply shall be given to their premises, the necessary distributing main will be laid down or placed by the licensee at the same time as the electric supply-line intended for the particular person.

Provisions as to laying electric supply-lines under special agreement.

(2) The provisions contained in the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh provisos to sub-clause (1) and in sub-clause (2) of clause VI shall, so far as may be, apply to every case in which a requisition for the supply of energy is made under this clause as if the person were an owner or occupier within the meaning of those provisions.

[Sch., cl. X.]

VIII. (1) Where a requisition is made by the Local Government or by a local authority requiring the licensee to supply for a period of not less than two years energy for any public lamps within the distance of one hundred yards from any distributing main, the licensee shall supply, and, save in so far as he is prevented from doing so by cyclones, floods, storms or other occurrences beyond his control, continue to supply energy for such lamps in such quantities as the Local Government or the local authority, as the case may be, may require.

Supply for public lamps.

(2) The provisions contained in the first, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh provisos to sub-clause (1) and in sub-clauses (2) and (3) of clause VI shall, so far as may be, apply to every case in which a requisition for the supply of energy is made under this clause as if the Local Government or local authority were an owner or occupier within the meaning of those provisions.

Supply by bulk-licensees.

[3 Edw. VII, c. 241, ss. 42, 45, 55.]

IX. (1) Where, and in so far as, the licensee (hereinafter in this clause referred to as "the bulk-licensee") is authorized by his license to supply energy to other licensees for distribution by them (hereinafter in this clause referred to as "distributing licensees"), the following provisions shall apply, namely :—

Special provisions apply-ing to supply by bulk-licensees.

(a) any distributing licensees within the bulk-licensee's area of supply may make a requisition on the bulk-licensee, requiring him to give a supply of energy, and specifying the point, and the maximum rate per unit of time, at which such supply is required, and the date upon which the supply is to commence, such date being fixed after the date

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(The Schedule.—Provisions to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II.)

of receipt of the requisition so as to allow an interval that is reasonable with regard to the locality and to the length of the electric supply-line and the amount of the plant required;

(b) such distributing licensee shall, if required by the bulk-licensee so to do, enter into a written agreement to receive and pay for a supply of energy for a period of not less than seven years of such an amount that the payment to be made for the same at the rate of charge for the time being charged for such supply shall not be less than such an amount as will produce a reasonable return to the bulk-licensee on the outlay (excluding expenditure on generating plant then existing and any electric supply-line then laid down or placed) incurred by him in making provision for such supply;

(c) the maximum rate per unit of time at which a distributing-licensee shall be entitled to be supplied with energy shall not exceed what is necessary for the purposes for which the supply is required by him, and need not be increased except upon a fresh requisition made in accordance with the foregoing provisions;

(d) if any difference or dispute arises under this clause, it shall be determined by arbitration, and in the event of such arbitration, the arbitrator shall have regard to the following amongst other considerations, namely:—

(i) the period for which the distributing-licensee is prepared to bind himself to take energy;

(ii) the amount of energy required and the hours during which the bulk-licensee is to supply it;

(iii) the capital expenditure incurred by the bulk-licensee in connection with the aforesaid supply of energy; and

(iv) the extent to which the capital expended by the bulk-licensee in connection with such supply may become unproductive upon the discontinuance thereof.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in sub-clause (1) the bulk-licensee shall give a supply of energy to any distributing licensee within his area of supply applying therefor, even although the distributing-licensee desires to be supplied with only a portion of the energy required for distribution:

Provided that the distributing-licensee shall, if so required by the bulk-licensee, enter into an agreement to take such energy upon special terms (including a minimum annual sum to be paid to the bulk-licensee) to be determined, if necessary, by arbitration, in the manner laid down in sub-clause (1) (d).

(3) The maximum price fixed by a license for energy supplied to a distributing licensee shall not apply to any partial supply given under sub-clause (2).

(4) Every distributing-licensee who is supplied with energy by a bulk-licensee and intends to discontinue to receive such supply, shall give not less than twelve months' notice in writing of his intention to the bulk-licensee:

Provided that, where the distributing-licensee has entered into a written agreement with the bulk-licensee to receive and pay for a supply of energy for a certain period, such notice shall be given so as not to expire before the end of that period.

Charges.

Methods of charging. [Sch., cl. XI.]

X. In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, the licensee may charge for energy supplied by him to any consumer—

(a) by the actual amount of energy so supplied; or

(b) by the electrical quantity contained in the supply; or

(c) by such other method as may be approved by the Local Government:

Provided, first, that, where the licensee charges by any method so approved by the Local Government, any consumer who objects to that method may, by not less than one month's notice in writing, require the licensee to charge him, at the licensee's option, either by the actual amount of energy supplied to him or by the electrical quantity contained in the supply, and thereafter the licensee shall not, except with the consent of the consumer, charge him by another method:

Provided, secondly, that before commencing to supply energy through any distributing main, the licensee shall give notice, by public advertisement, of the method by which he proposes to charge for energy so supplied; and where the licensee has given such notice, he shall not be entitled to change that method of charging without giving not less than one month's notice in writing of such change to the Local Government, to the local authority (if any) concerned, and to every consumer of energy who is supplied by him from such distributing main:

Provided, thirdly, that, if the consumer is provided with a meter in pursuance of the provisions of section 27, sub-section (1), of the Indian Electricity Act, 1909, and the licensee changes the method of charging for the energy supplied by him from the distributing main, the licensee shall bear the expense of providing a new meter, if such is necessary by reason of the new method of charging.

Maximum charges. [Sch., cl. XII.]

XI. Save as provided by clause IX, sub-clause (3), the prices charged by the licensee for energy supplied by him shall not exceed the maxima fixed by his license, or, in the case of a method of charge approved by the Local Government, such maxima as the Local Government shall fix on approving the method:

The Indian Electricity Bill.

(The Schedule.—Provisions to be deemed to be incorporated with, and to form part of, every license granted under Part II.)

Provided that, if, at any time after the expiration of seven years from the commencement of the license, the Local Government considers or is satisfied that the maxima so fixed or approved as aforesaid should be altered, it may, after such inquiry (if any) as it thinks fit, make an order accordingly, which shall have effect from such date as may be mentioned therein :

Provided, also, that, where an order in pursuance of the foregoing proviso has been made, no further order altering the maxima fixed thereby shall be made until the expiration of another period of seven years.

[Sch. cl. XIII.] Charge for supply for public lamps.

XII. The price to be charged by the licensee and to be paid to him for energy supplied for the public lamps, and the mode in which those charges are to be ascertained, shall be settled by agreement between the licensee and the Local Government or the local authority, as the case may be, and, where any difference or dispute arises, the matter shall be determined by arbitration.

Testing and inspection.

XIII. The licensee shall, at any place within reasonable distance from any distributing-main, establish at his own cost and keep in proper condition such number of testing stations as the Local Government may direct for the purpose of testing the supply of energy in the main, and shall supply and keep in proper condition thereat, and on all premises from which he supplies energy, such instruments for testing as an Electric Inspector may approve, and shall supply energy to each testing station for the purpose of testing.

XIV. The licensee shall afford all facilities for inspection and testing of his works and for the reading, testing and inspection of his instruments, and may, on each occasion of the testing of his works or the reading, testing or inspection of any instruments, be represented by an agent, who may be present, but shall not interfere with the reading, testing or inspection.

XV. On the occasion of the testing of any works of the licensee by an Electric Inspector reasonable notice thereof shall be given to the licensee; and the testing shall be carried out at such suitable hours as, in the opinion of the Electric Inspector, will least interfere with the supply of energy by the licensee, and in such manner as the Electric Inspector may think fit; but, except under the provisions of an order made in each case in that behalf by the Local Government, the Electric Inspector shall not be entitled to have access to, or interfere with, the works of the licensee at any points other than those at which the licensee has reserved for himself access to the same :

Provided that the licensee shall not be held responsible for any interruption in the supply of energy which may be occasioned by or required by the Electric Inspector for the purpose of any such testing as aforesaid :

Provided, also, that the testing shall not be made in regard to any particular portion of the works oftener than once in any three months, unless in pursuance of an order made in each case in that behalf by the Local Government.

Plans.

[Sch. cl. XVIII.] Plan of area of supply to be made and kept open for inspection.

XVI. (1) The licensee shall, after commencing to supply energy, forthwith cause a plan to be made of the area of supply, and shall cause to be marked thereon the line and the height above or the depth below the surface of all his then existing electric supply-lines, street distributing boxes and other works, and shall once in every year cause that plan to be duly corrected so as to show the electric supply-lines, street distributing boxes and other works for the time being in existence. The licensee shall also, if so required by an Electric Inspector, cause to be made sections showing the level of all his existing underground works other than service lines.

(2) Every such plan shall be drawn to a scale which shall not be smaller than sixteen inches to the mile.

(3) Every such section shall be drawn to a horizontal scale which shall not be smaller than sixteen inches to the mile and to a vertical scale which shall not be smaller than one inch to eight feet.

(4) Every plan and section so made or corrected, or a copy thereof, marked with the date when it was so made or corrected, shall be kept by the licensee at his principal office or place of business within the area of supply, and shall at all reasonable times be open to the inspection of all applicants, and copies thereof shall be supplied on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed by rules under the Indian Electricity Act, 1909.

(5) The licensee shall, if required by an Electric Inspector or, where the licensee is not a local authority, by the local authority (if any) concerned, supply free of charge to an Electric Inspector or local authority, as the case may be, a copy of every such plan or section duly corrected so as to agree with the original kept at the principal office or place of business of the licensee.

Additional notice of certain works.

XVII. On the day next preceding the commencement of any such works as are referred to in section 13 of the Indian Electricity Act, 1909, the licensee shall, in addition to any other notices which he may be required to give, serve upon the Electric Inspector, or such officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf for the area of supply, a notice in writing stating that he is about to commence the works, and the nature and position of the same.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

WHEN the Indian Electricity Act, 1903, was passed it was clearly recognized to be a somewhat tentative measure, and it was anticipated that amending legislation would be called for at an early date. Having regard to the experience gained in the practical working of the Act, the Government of India in 1907 came to the conclusion that the time had arrived for undertaking this amending legislation, and they referred various difficulties which had arisen in its working to a Committee on which electro-technical and commercial interests were represented.

2. The Act as at present framed vests its administration in Local Governments, with whom rests the power to grant licenses; but the authority or the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council is required in regard to so many matters that the practical result has been a dual administration. In the case of cantonments and similar "places in the occupation of Government for naval or military purposes" the administration of the Act is by section 40 placed in the hands of the Governor General in Council, but these places frequently are situated within larger areas, in respect to which the Local Government is empowered to grant licenses, with the result that separate, and not necessarily consistent, licenses have been granted by the Governor General in Council and the Local Government, respectively, to the same licensee, for the same purpose, in one and the same place. The practical effect of the present system has been delay, as it has hitherto been virtually impossible for a company to obtain a license under two or three years. Delays of this nature are obviously most detrimental to the attraction of capital for the development of the resources of the country as the financial position may, and in fact frequently does, change completely between the date of the application and the granting of the license.

3. Under the Bill as now drafted the general administration of the Act and, subject to the control of the Governor General in Council, the granting of all licenses, is left in the hands of the Local Government. The rule making power, and the delegation of the powers of the Telegraph authority to licensees, are reserved to the Governor General in Council.

4. Among the more important modifications in the Bill are the following:—

(i) The existing provision making licenses compulsory has been taken out, the question of supply to the public without license being otherwise dealt with. It is by no means certain that licenses are either necessary or desirable in the case of industrial companies of certain classes.

(ii) Provision is made for the grant of licenses for "bulk supply," that is to say, to meet cases where the applicant company proposes to generate energy and supply it in large quantities to distributors, who would retail it under a separate license to small consumers.

(iii) The amendment of licenses has been provided for. At present it is necessary to revoke a license and grant a fresh one in order to effect this object.

(iv) The question of compulsory purchase has been dealt with, in regard both to the splitting up of undertakings and to those cases where purchase may be impracticable. The Act provides for the modification, but not for the omission from a license, of the purchase clauses. But these clauses, conceived as they are in the interests of the local authority concerned in a small area, are entirely out of place, and in Great Britain are regularly omitted, in the case of undertakings covering large areas in which various local authorities intervene. It is proposed therefore to modify the provision.

(v) Many difficulties have arisen owing to the hard and fast limits of the area of supply over which a license operates, consumers just outside the boundary being debarred from participation in the benefits conferred by the public supply. A new section is proposed to deal with the matter and remove obstacles which are likely to impose quite unnecessary hardships on individuals..

(vi) It is proposed to amend the provisions of Part III of the Act so as to make them applicable to mines and binding on the Crown. As regards railways and tramways, the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 3 in Part II and the first proviso to sub-section (1) of section 31 in Part III of the Act as it stands lay it down that nothing in these Parts respectively relating to the supply or use of energy shall apply to any railway or tramway subject to the provisions of the Indian Railways Act of 1890. The extent to which it is proposed to modify the latter of these provisions is explained in the Notes on Clauses (clause 30) while it is proposed, as already mentioned, to repeal the former.

(vii) A slight amendment of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, has been proposed with a view to facilitating its application to electrical works.

5. The examination of the provisions of the Act has brought to light many minor defects of substance or arrangement which it is desirable to correct, and the opportunity has therefore been taken to repeal and re-enact the Act with the necessary modifications.

The more important of these are explained in the Notes on Clauses below, and a Table showing how the various sections of the Act have been dealt with in the Bill is appended.

J. O. MILLER.

The 27th July 1909.

Notes on Clauses.

Title and preamble.—The reference to "lighting and other purposes" has been omitted, as lighting is no longer the chief application of electricity.

PART I.

Clause 2 (b), (e) (i) (j) and (l)—"Area of supply." As it is proposed in clause 28 to provide for the supply of energy in special cases outside the ordinary "area of supply" of a licensee, i.e., outside the area fixed by his license, it becomes necessary to limit this expression to the latter area. Certain modifications have been suggested in the definitions of "distributing main," "main" and "service line," in order to make them more accurate. "Prescribed" has been defined.

PART II.

Clause 3 (1).—Words have been added to meet the case of the area of supply being intersected or interrupted by an intervening area not included in it. As areas of supply under the Bill may comprise very extensive areas indeed, not improbably covering parts of more than one Province, the simple term "area" has been substituted here and elsewhere in the Bill for the expression "local area," which is liable to cause misconception.

Clause 3 (2) (a).—Two provisions have been added, the first to prevent delay in dealing with applications for licenses and the second to ensure that there is no objection on the part of the Commander-in-Chief where applications relate to cantonments or other places such as are mentioned in section 40 of the Act.

Clause 3 (2) (f).—A proviso has been added to this sub-clause barring the application of certain specified clauses of the schedule in the case of all licenses granted with reference to the special provisions of the new clause IX of the schedule, as it is thought desirable that the Bill should show clearly the alternative nature of these provisions.

Clause 3 (3).—This clause has been added to prevent any doubt as to the power to grant single licenses for more than one purpose.

Clause 4 (1).—The compulsory revocation of a license as to a part only of the area of supply might entail very great hardship on licensees, and the clause has been altered in this respect. Corresponding changes have been made in clauses 5 and 7 as to purchase. In all such cases of compulsory revocation or purchase the Government of India think that the undertaking should be dealt with as a whole, either by the local authority, if the area of supply is entirely within its jurisdiction, or by the Government in other cases.

Clause 4 (3).—This clause which reproduces section 4 (2) (g) of the Act now provides for the alteration of the terms and conditions of a license. The need for this power has already been felt, and it was suggested when the Act of 1903 was under discussion.

Clause 5.—In addition to the change explained under clause 4 (1), this clause has been modified so as not to apply to revocation by consent under clause 4 (3).

Clause 6.—It is not in the interest of the ratepayers or the consumers that a municipal undertaking should cease to exist on revocation for default, and the first sub-clause, which is new, provides for the purchase of the same if a buyer can be found. Failing that, the existing provisions are re-enacted in sub-clause (2). Both sub-clauses are limited to the same case as clause 5 explained above.

Clause 7.—The alteration made in this clause has been explained under clause 4 (1) supra.

Clause 9.—A proviso has been added to make the intention of existing clause in the Act clear as regards bulk supply.

Clause 10.—Provision is here made for annulling the purchase clauses and inserting other conditions in lieu thereof. Experience has shown that the power of varying the conditions given by the existing Act was not sufficient in all cases.

Clause 11.—There may arise cases in which the liability to render accounts might well be dispensed with. Provision has been made accordingly.

Clause 13 (i) (f) is new and it makes special provision for notice to the repairing authority or owner in the case of service lines.

Clause 15 (3).—The question of the mechanical contact of electric supply lines with the pipes of other authorised persons is distinct from that of using these pipes as conductors. This latter point has therefore now been included in clause 3[illegible], and a reference has here been inserted to that clause.

Clause 17 (1).—The provisions of this clause as to notice to the Telegraph authority have been revised.

Clause 17 (2).—is new and corresponds with clause 13 (1) (f) as regards the Telegraph authority.

Clause 23.—The provisions of sub-section (1) as to rebates have been altered in order to allow a wider discretion as to the forms which such rebates may take. In sub-clause (2) the opening lines relating to lighting purposes, which are no longer necessary, have been omitted.

Clause 26 has been transferred from the Schedule to the body of the Bill, and the wording has been re-drafted.

Clause 27.—The provisions as to the furnishing of "duly certified" meters (section 30 of the Act) have been a dead letter. It is proposed therefore to refer to "correct" meters and to explain when a meter is deemed to be "correct."

Clause 28.—This clause is new and provides for the supply of energy in special cases outside the area of supply defined in the licenses. The need of such a provision has been felt.

Clause 29.—Section 3 of the Act, which prohibits the supply of energy for certain purposes without a license, has been omitted from the Bill and in its place has been substituted this clause, which requires the sanction of the Local Government to be obtained before any person, not being a licensee, who supplies energy to the public or to any licensee, opens or breaks up any streets, railways or tramways. The practical result of this provision will be that, though a person supplying energy to the public will not, as at present, be legally bound to take out a license, it will not be lawful for him to execute any works in connection with such supply on any public street, railway or tramway unless he either has a license, or obtains the sanction of the Local Government and conforms to the conditions prescribed by the Local Government under this clause.

PART III.

Clause 30.—(a) The limitation of this Part to the use of energy not supplied under Part II has been omitted as it appeared to go too far. On the other hand, power has been taken to exempt from this Part, when the circumstances are such as to warrant this course, persons using energy so supplied.

(b) The language of the Part has been slightly modified so as to make it clear that it deals with the transmission as well as the use of energy; for which the rules under Part IV, which must be complied with in cases falling under this Part, already provide.

(c) Express provision has been made for the case of mines, although most mines are "places within which one hundred or more persons are likely ordinarily to be assembled." Their specific inclusion in the Bill is rendered desirable owing to the fact that special rules are needed to meet the peculiar conditions existing in mines.

(d) For the total exemption of railways and tramways subject to the Indian Railways Act, 1890, conferred by the first proviso in this Part of the Act, a partial exemption, limited to energy used in connection with traction, lighting and ventilation of rolling-stock has been substituted, as these matters can in the opinion of the Government of India be sufficiently controlled under the provisions of the Indian Railways Act. But installations in railway stations or in railway or tramway workshops seem to require regulation under this Part as much as the other places specified in the clause.

(e) Lastly, it has been thought desirable, following the precedents of the Indian Factories Act, 1881, and the Indian Mines Act, 1901, to declare expressly that the provisions of this Part are binding on the Crown.

PART IV.

Clauses 31 to 34.—These clauses are at present in Part II of the Act, but it seems to Government that they should apply to non-licensees as well as to licensees. They have been amended so as to make them cover also persons generating, transmitting or using energy under Part III. Clause 34 has been re-drafted and made more definite; no connection of circuits with earth should be allowed unless permitted by rules under the Act or specifically sanctioned in each individual case.

Clause 35.—The insertion of an express provision for the payment of fees to members of Advisory Boards in the performance of their duties has been considered desirable. The clause has also been drafted so as to empower the Governor General in Council or the Local Government to regulate the duties and procedure of Boards by executive orders instead of by rules as at present.

Clause 36 is new, and it empowers the Governor General in Council to appoint a Chief Electric Inspector and Local Governments to appoint provincial Electric Inspectors. The practical working of the measure is left to a large extent to the operation of rules, the enforcement of which is the chief duty of Electric Inspectors.

Clause 37.—This clause invests the Governor General in Council with the sole power of making rules. The necessity for continuing the rule-making power of Local Governments has not been proved, and no such rules have hitherto in fact been made. Further, the change is believed to be in the interests of the commercial community, who desire to have as far as possible uniform rules throughout British India, a result which can only be secured if all rules are made by the same authority. The only alterations of any importance made in this clause are:—

(1) the providing expressly for rules dealing with the transmission of energy, though this matter is already covered by the general language of the first sub-section and has moreover been dealt with in the existing rules, and

(2) the increase of the penalty of Rs. 100 which may at present be prescribed for breach of a rule, to Rs. 300, the present penalty being considered by the Government to be inadequate in cases where a breach may endanger life.

Clauses 39 to 49.—The present penal section of the Act is inconveniently long, and has therefore been split up into these separate clauses in the Bill. Clause 41, however, is new, providing a penalty for the breach of the new clause 29. Clause 42 (b) is also new and makes necessary provision for penalising inadequate arrangements on the part of licensees. This provision takes the place of section 39 (3) (b) of the Act penalising excessive variations of pressure which has been omitted because the matter can and should in India, as in England, be dealt with by rule.

Clause 50.—This clause, based on section 23 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, has been introduced to prevent vexatious prosecutions.

Clause 51.—The powers, which the telegraph authority possesses for placing lines and posts on private property, are very wide, and the Government of India think it desirable that express power should be taken to impose conditions when these powers are delegated. The necessary addition has accordingly been made in the clause.

Clause 55 is new. It closely follows section 25 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, and empowers the Local Government to delegate to Electric Inspectors certain functions under the proposed Act which relate to technical matters.

Clause 57.—The modification proposed by sub-clause (1) in sections 40 (1) (f) and 41 (5) of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, are intended to remove the obstacle which these provisions now present to the acquisition of land under that Act by companies formed for the purposes of electrical undertakings. At present these clauses respectively require the company to show to the satisfaction of the Local Government that the work, for the construction of which the land is to be acquired, is such as is likely to prove useful to the public and to provide in the agreement, into which they have to enter with the Secretary of State, for the terms on which the public shall be entitled to use the work, requirements with which it is obviously impossible for such companies to comply. It is therefore proposed to alter these provisions so as to give such companies the benefit of the Act if they can show that the energy supplied by means of the proposed work will prove useful to the public and that the public will be entitled to use such energy on certain terms.

The modification in the same Act provided for by sub-clause (2) follows the lines of section 7 (3) of the Indian Tramways Act, 1886, and brings licensees, who may not be companies, within the scope of the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894.

Clause 58.—This clause, which repeals the existing Act, specially continues licenses granted under that Act. Sub-clause (2) saves the existing rights of persons having licenses or agreements of date prior to the commencement of the Act of 1903, but, subject to such saving, the holders of such licenses are to be deemed to be licensees under the new Act. Words have been added to bring all such persons within the purview of the rules, so far as these rules are not inconsistent with the existing licenses and agreements. This latter provision is taken from rule 102 of the rules made under the present Act.

The Schedule.

Clause IV of the schedule to the Act has been re-drafted and transferred to the body of the Bill, where it is clause 26. Clause V of the same schedule has been omitted, the matter being fully dealt with by rules under section 33 (2) (g) of the Act, corresponding to clause 37 (2) (g) of the Bill.

Clause IV.—Clause VI of the schedule to the Act has proved unsatisfactory in practice and has been recast as clause IV of the schedule to the Bill.

Clauses V, VI and VII.—The position of the original clauses VIII and IX has been altered to bring them before clause VII. These three clauses are now V, VI and VII of the schedule to the Bill, respectively. Clause VI lays down the ordinary procedure for obtaining a supply of energy where the licensee's distributing mains are within one hundred yards of the applicant's premises. Clause VII relates to special cases which do not fall within the scope of clause VI, and it has been redrafted to make this point clear. In clause VI (2) of the Bill the words "or as to any alleged excess or defect in the pressure or quantity of the energy supplied" have been omitted because the matter should be dealt with by rules under clause 37 (2) (e), a penalty being provided in clause 37 (3). The existing rules deal fully with the matter.

Clause IX is new and of importance. Its provisions are derived from special Acts (see, e. g., the Scottish Central Power Act, 1903, sections 42, 45 and 55) which have been passed in Great Britain for companies supplying power on a wholesale scale over large areas to other licensees and to large power users. Though the term "supply in bulk" which is used in those Acts has not been reproduced in the Bill, the effect of the clause does not differ materially from that of the Statutes referred to. The note on clause 3 (2) (f), supra, shows that, in cases coming under this clause, certain other clauses of the schedule will not apply. The corresponding clauses of the schedule to the Electric Lighting Clauses Act, 1899 (62 & 63 Vict., c. 19), are similarly excluded from incorporation in the British Power Acts above referred to.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 30th July, 1909:

No. 6 OF 1909.

A Bill further to amend the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Volunteers (Amendment) Act, 1909.

Addition of new section 30 to Act XX, 1869.

2. After section 29 of the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869, the following section shall be inserted, namely: XX of Members of Territorial Force subject to Act during attachment to volunteers.

"30. Any member of the Territorial Force, raised and maintained in pursuance of section 6 of the Territorial and Reserve Forces Act, 1907, who is attached to a corps of volunteers formed under this Act, shall be subject to the provisions of this Act during the period for which he is so attached." 7 Edw.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IT is considered very important that any individuals attached to corps should, while so attached, be subject to the same law and regulations as that corps itself.

By sections 8 and 9 of the Army (Annual) Act, 1909, the Army Act has recently been amended with a view to placing under military law for the time being any member of an Indian volunteer corps who may be attached, for the purpose of training, to the Territorial or the Regular Forces in the United Kingdom.

The object of this Bill is to make a corresponding amendment in the provisions of the Indian Volunteers Act, 1869, in order that any member of the Territorial Force, who may be attached to a volunteer corps in India, shall be subject to the provisions of the Indian Volunteers Act during the period he is attached to such corps.

The 29th July 1909.

KITCHENER,

General.

J. M. MACPHERSON,

Secretary to the Government of I

Dumankilas bay—Shoals in approach.

No. 308 (first publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above, issued, by the British Admiralty (No. 964 of 1909), are republished :—

Subject.—A recent survey has revealed the existence of the undermentioned shoal in the approach to Dumankilas bay.

Lat. 7° 15¾′ N, long. 123° 0′ E.

Depth —5 fathoms.

(b) Position.—Point Lutangang, bearing N. 89° W., distant about 14 miles, and Point Taguisan, N. 43° W.

Lat. 7° 15½′ N., long. 123° 2½′ E.

Depth.—7¾ fathoms.

(c) Position.—Kambulong point, bearing N. 53° W., distant about 8½ miles, and Point Lutangang, S. 74° W.

Lat. 7° 19½′ N., long. 123° 2′ E.

Depth.—3 fathoms.

Remarks.—The least depth on Arayat shoal (lat. 7° 16′ N., long. 122° 57′ E) is 2¼ fathoms instead of 3 fathoms as now shown on the charts.
Caution.—The survey of this locality is not yet completed, and Mariners should use great caution when navigating in this vicinity.

Banjuwangi road—Buoys established.

No. 309 (first publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 970 of 1909), are republished :—

Subject.—The undermentioned information has been received with regard to the arc of visibility of Tanjong Bansering low light, and of the establishment of two buoys in Banjuwangi road.

1. Arc of visibility of Tanjong Bansering flashing red light.

Position.—Lat. 8° 4¼′ S., long. 114° 25¾′ E.

Arc of Visibility.—From S. 33° W., through west and north, to N. 41° E.,

2. Buoys established in Banjuwangi road :

(a) Position.—On southern side of North rock, at a distance of 5$\frac{6}{10}$ cables N. 67° E., from the chimney of the Sugar factory.

Lat 8° 11¼′ S., long. 114° 23½′ E.

Description.—White conical buoy with ball as topmark.
Remarks.—North rock has a least depth of 8 feet over it instead of 2 fathoms as now shown on the chart.

(b) Position.—On 3½-fathom reef (3¾ fathoms on chart), at a distance of 3¼ cables, S. 68° E., from the above mentioned chimney.

Description.—White conical buoy.

Variation.—1° E.

Sambar point—Shoals southward of; buoy established.

No. 310 (first publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above issued by the British Admiralty (No. 973 of 1909), are republished:—

Subject.—The undermentioned shoals, not hitherto shown on the charts, exist to the southward of Sambar point, south coast of Borneo, and a buoy has been established.

1. Shoals:

Depth.—2¾ fathoms.

Description.—A bank of hard sand about 2$\frac{1}{10}$ miles in length in a W.N.W. and E S.E. direction, and 2¾ cables broad.

Depth.—6 fathoms.

Description.—A sand bank, trending in a W.N.W. and E S.E. direction; extent not stated.

2. Buoy:

Position.—Southward of the 2¾-fathom bank.

Lat. 3° 40′ 00″ S., long. 110° 19′ 40″ E.

Description.—Red can buoy.

Remarks.—The positions given above are those on chart No. 2160.

EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO—Sumatra, west coast.

Padang approaches—Information with regard to reefs.

No. 312 (first publication).—The following particulars, etc., relative to the above, issued by the British Admiralty (No. 978 of 1909), are republished:—

Subject.—The undermentioned information has been received with regard to the results of a recent survey of the reefs situated in the approach to Padang, west coast of Sumatra.

1. Reef non-existent:

Position.—Lat. 1° 3½′ S., long. 100° [illegible]

Remarks.—The reef in the above [illegible] chart has therefore been expunged.

2. Existence of hitherto unknown reefs:

Lat. 0° 59′ 45″ S., long. 100° 9′ 12″ E.

Depth.—3¼ fathoms.

Lat. 1° 3′ 25″ S., long. 100° 13′ 00″ E.

Depth.—3 fathoms.

3. Amended details with regard to certain reefs:

Amended position.—About 8 cables southward of position now shown on chart.

Lat. 1° 5′ 45″ S., long. 100° 12′ 12″ E.

Amended depth.—3 fathoms, instead of 5 fathoms as now shown on the chart.

Amended position.—About 3½ cables northward of position shown on chart.

Lat. 1° 9′ 10″ S., long. 100° 13′ 38″ E.

Amended depth.—6 fathoms.

Remarks.—Pulo Laut is situated in lat. 1° 8′ 20″ S., long. 100° 10′ 15″ E., or about half a mile to the north-eastward of position now shown on chart.

Note.—The positions given above are those on chart No. 709.

* The report is for the week ending the 31st July 1909.

GENERAL SUMMARY.—The rainfall during the week was heavy in most parts of Lower Bengal, Bihar and in Darjeeling and Cooch Bihar, and moderate in Orissa and Chota Nagpur. The rain has done good to standing crops, and has also facilitated transplantation of winter paddy. More rain is, however, still reported to be wanting in Hazaribagh and in parts of Burdwan, Bankura, Hooghly, Murshidabad, Purnea and Angul. All standing crops are said to be good, but some damage has been done by the recent heavy rain to paddy in Jessore and Khulna and to makai in Patna, Monghyr and Palamau. Insects are doing injury to jute in parts of Nadia. The price of common rice has risen slightly in Howrah, Jessore, Purnea and Manbhum, and has fallen in Nadia, Murshidabad, Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Saran, Cuttack, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau. Cattle-disease is reported from Midnapore, Nadia, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Angul, Puri, Palamau and from the Patna and Tirhut Divisions excepting Darbhanga. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient throghout the Province.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL AND IN EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM FOR THE MONTH OF JUNE 1909.

During the first week, disturbances in the Bay modified the distribution of rain over the two Provinces and consequently precipitation occurred chiefly towards the eastern portions of the area under report. Mean temperature during this week was below normal in the south-west.

On the 7th a low pressure area appeared over Chota Nagpur, advanced in a northerly direction developing rapidly as it went, and giving heavy rain to Bihar. Winds were strong and exhibited a definite cyclonic circulation. This depression had practically disappeared by the 12th, when the weather in Bihar became drier.

At the beginning of the 2nd week there was a considerable reduction, for several days, in the amount of rain received by the two Provinces. Rain again became general in Bihar and nearly general in Eastern Bengal and Assam on the 17th. Temperature was then below normal almost everywhere.

During the last week the amount of rain was again considerably reduced, while on the 28th weather reassumed its ordinary monsoon character.

Summarising for the month: rainfall was above normal except in Chota Nagpur (where the defect was 20 per cent.) Bihar was 156 per cent. above the average, while the excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam was also considerable.

The usual amount of cloud was developed during the month and humidity did not deviate seriously from the normal. Temperature was nearly normal, except in Bengal, where it was 2° in defect.

Summary of temperature.—The highest temperature recorded was 104·4° at Gaya and the lowest 67·4° was recorded at Monghyr.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Provinces of Eastern Bengal and Assam and of Bengal for the month of June 1909:—

Meteorological Divisions.	Temperature.
	Highest observed during month.	Lowest observed during month.	Average for month.			Average mean of month above or below normal mean of month.

Summary of rainfall.—The rainfall work of the Province has been placed in the hands of the Director of Agriculture, Bengal, and the usual data regarding the actual and normal rainfall during the month are published by that officer. A short table, however, is attached to this report, giving the rainfall recorded during the month at the head-quarters of the various districts of the Province.

Actual and average rainfall and departure from normal for the month of June 1909.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. The rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

o, overcast; g, dark, gloomy; d, drizzling rain; p, passing temporary showers; /, strong wind; K, thunderstorm.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 16th August 1909.

No. 77Marine.—In exercise of the powers conferred upon him by section 86 of the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to substitute the following draft rule for the last clause of rule 21 (a) of the rules to regulate the granting of certificates of competency to Engineers of sea-going steam ships, which were published for criticism under the Notification of this Department No. 31Marine, dated the 17th April 1809.

This rule will be taken into consideration after the expiry of a month from the date of its publication in the Gazette, and the Lieutenant-Governor will be pleased to consider any suggestions or observations which may be made by any person concerning it within that period.

Draft Rule.

"If the candidate has served as an Apprentice Engineer or as Journeyman under the conditions above prescribed for less than four years in England or five years in India, he will be required to make up the deficiency or to complete this period of four years in England or five years in India by service as Engineer at sea on regular watch on the main engines, or boilers (1) of a foreign-going steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse power, or (2) of a home trade steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse power, such service to be counted as equivalent in the case of (1) to two-thirds and in the case of (2) to four-ninths of service as Apprentice Engineer or as a Journeyman."

"If the candidate has not served at all as Apprentice Engineer or as Journeyman, he will be required to have served at sea, in lieu thereof, as Engineer on regular watch on the main engines or boilers, six years in a foreign-going steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse power, or nine years in a home trade steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse power."

Municipal and Local.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 1120M.—The 11th August 1909.—It is hereby notified that, under section 14 of the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to appoint the following gentlemen to be Commissioners of the Khirpai Municipality in the district of Midnapore:—

Midnapore.

Babu Ballav Chandra Pahari. | Babu Kirtibas Sarkar.
Babu Ram Narain Chaudhuri.

No. 1129M.—The 13th August 1909.—The following by-laws made by the Municipal Committee, Sambalpur, under sections 71, 102 and 105 of the Central Provinces Municipal Act, 1903 (XVI of 1903), have been confirmed by the Government of Bengal:—

Slaughter-house.

1. The slaughter-house built within the limits of the Sambalpur Municipality and managed by the Committee is, with the approval of the Deputy Commissioner, fixed until further orders as the only place for slaughtering animals for sale, such as goats, kids, sheep and lambs.

2. No animal shall be slaughtered in the slaughter-house except between the hours of 7 A.M. and 10 A.M.

3. (1) An animal brought to the slaughter-house for slaughter shall not be killed unless it is examined and passed by the Superintendent.

(2) The flesh of an animal killed in the slaughter-house shall not be removed therefrom for sale unless it is examined and passed by the Superintendent as fit for human consumption.

(3) The flesh so removed for sale may be branded as first class or second class.

Explanation.—Good meat with a good proportion of fat may be taken as first class and good meat with a fair proportion of fat as second-class.

4. When any meat is being removed from the slaughter-house it must be covered up so as to conceal it from view and to protect it from flies and dirt.

5. A fee of one pice will be charged by the Committee for every animal slaughtered in the slaughter-house.

Sale of meat.

6. No person shall offer any meat for sale unless he holds a license in that behalf from the Committee, or at any stall or other place not fixed by the Committee for the purpose.

7. (1) The site of each such stall shall be put up for sale yearly at a public auction.

(2) The Committee reserves to itself the right of refusing the highest bid.

(3) The highest bidder, or the person whose bid has been accepted by the Committee shall be granted a license for the use of the stall and sale of meat thereat.

8. A stall-holder shall not sell the flesh of any animal which has not been slaughtered at the slaughter-house mentioned in by-law 1.

9. Every license-holder shall sell meat at the rates fixed by the Committee from time to time.

Penalties.

10. (1) If any person commits a breach of by-law 2, or clause (1) or clause (2) of by-law 3, or by-law 4, 6, 8 or 9, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

(2) If any licensee commits a breach of by-law 6, 8 or 9 his license may be revoked.

No. 1152M.—The 16th August 1909.—It is hereby notified that, under section 59 of the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884, the Lieutenant-Governor approves the election by the Commissioners of the Bansbaria Municipality, in the district of Hooghly, of Babu Bhupati Nath Chatarji to be their Chairman.

Orissa.

No. 1154L.S.-G.—The 16th August 1909.—It is hereby notified that the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, in exercise of the powers conferred by sections 4 and 5 of the Charitable Endowments Act, 1890, and upon the application and with the concurrence of the donor Radhapriya Patmahadebi, elder Rani of the Athgarh Feudatory State, Orissa, doth hereby order and direct that the stock of which the particulars are contained in the First Schedule hereunder written, shall from the date of the first publication of this Notification in the Calcutta Gazette vest, and thenceforth be vested, in the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for the territories subject to the Government of Bengal to be held by him and his successors (subject to the provisions of the said Charitable Endowments Act, 1890, and the rules from time to time framed thereunder by the Governor-General in Council) upon trust to receive the interest of the said stock when and as the same shall become due and payable, and from time to time to apply the same in the manner and for the purposes set forth in the scheme of which the particulars are contained in the Second Schedule hereunder written; and it is hereby further notified that the said scheme of which the particulars are contained in the Second Schedule shall come into operation on the vesting of the said stock in the said Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for the territories subject to the Government of Bengal.

First Schedule.

Stock to the value of Rs. 28,600 held by the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, Bengal, in the Government of India $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. loan of 1865.

Second Schedule.

1. The endowment hereby created shall be called the "Sir Edward Norman Baker Water-supply Fund," and its object is the construction of public tanks in the Feudatory State of Athgarh and the districts of Cuttack, Puri, Balasore and Sambalpur at places where a scarcity of water is felt.

2. The interest from the fund is to be devoted every second year to the construction of a public tank, including the cost of the acquisition of land in the places stated in clause 1. The order of sequence of the places in which the tanks are to be constructed are Athgarh Feudatory State, the Cuttack district, the Puri district, the Balasore district and the Sambulpur district. This order of rotation and of allotment is to be the general order, but the Administrator shall have the power to vary in his discretion both now and in the future (vide clause 5) this order of rotation and allotment.

3. The conditions are that the Athgarh Feudatory State shall at its own cost keep in repair any public tanks constructed from this fund, and similarly as regards any public tanks constructed from this fund in the districts of Cuttack, Puri, Balasore and Sambalpur, the District Boards of the three districts first named and the District Council of Sambalpur shall undertake to keep such tanks in repair. The Administrator of the fund shall wherever possible obtain from each successive Chief of Athgarh and from the Chairman of each of the District Boards and of the District Council noted above undertakings that they will perform such conditions as he may impose regarding the repairs and upkeep of the tanks and other matters, and the Administrator may refuse to make any allotment of funds until he has obtained the said undertakings.

4. The tanks are to be public, and are to be constructed at places where a scarcity of water-supply is felt. As regards the Athgarh Feudatory State, the Chief, in consultation with the Political Agent, Orissa Feudatory States, will select the site; and as regards the districts of Cuttack, Puri, Balasore and Sambalpur, the members of the District Boards and District Council concerned will select the site in consultation with the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the districts concerned, and with the approval of the Commissioner of the Orissa Division.

5. If in future it be found from time to time that at any of the places mentioned in clause 1 there is no immediate necessity for tanks, the Administrator may spend the income on the repairs of tanks already constructed under this scheme, or of other old tanks in such places, or in sinking public wells and other works of water-supply conducive to the comfort of the public, e. g., the storage of water by means of bundhs which may serve as reservoirs for drinking or bathing or irrigation purposes.

6. The amount of interest accruing on the stock mentioned in the first schedule shall be remitted by the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, Bengal, periodically to the Political Agent of the Orissa Feudatory States, who shall be the Administrator of the fund, and who shall place the same in a Government Treasury to the credit of the account to be opened by him in the name of the fund.

7. At the close of every second year the Political Agent shall pay over the interest accrued from the said fund to the Chief of the Athgarh Feudatory State or to the Chairman of the Cuttack, Puri and Balasore District Boards and Sambalpur District Council, respectively, in accordance with the sequence laid down in clause 2 above. In the case of the Athgarh State the Political Agent will remit the interest half-yearly to the Chief. The payment of the interest may, however, be varied in accordance with the discretion vested in the Administrator under clause 2.

8. The said Administrator shall, in books to be kept by him, regularly enter or cause to be entered full and true accounts of all moneys received and paid by him under this scheme, and shall submit to such public servant, in such form and at such times as the Local Government may from time to time appoint and prescribe, an abstract of such accounts and such returns in regard to any other matter connected with the administration of the trust as the Local Government may require.

No. 1161M.—The 16th August 1909.—It is hereby notified that, under section 59 of the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884, the Lieutenant-Governor appproves the election, by the Commissioners of the Howrah Municipality in the district of Howrah, of Mr. H. T. S. Forrest, I.C.S., to be their Chairman.

LAND SALE NOTICES.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land, no longer required by Government, acquired for an Opium weighment and Settlement Centre, in the district of Patna, will be put up to sale at 12 oclock, on Monday, the 27th September 1909.

The purchasers of the several plots of land will be subject to the following conditions:—

1st.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount must be paid down at once.

2nd.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount must be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale shall be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the lot again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

3rd.—The plots of land will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

4th.—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt by the Collector of the orders of the Commissioner confirming the sale.

Advertisement of Sale.

MISCELLANEOUS CASE No. 285 OF 1909-10.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land, no longer required by Government situated along the Railway, in the district of Balasore, will be put up to sale at 11 o'clock on 8th day of September 1909, corresponding with the 23rd Bhadra 1316 Fusli, at the Bhadrak Dâk Bungalow or subsequent dates as may be postponed to. The purchasers of the several plots of land will be subject to the following conditions:—

1st.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavations on the land nearer than 15 feet from the railway boundary, or to plough the land nearer than three feet from the same.

2nd.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount must be paid down at once.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount must be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale shall be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the lot again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

4th.—The plots of land will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

5th.—The purchasers shall be put in possession on receipt by the Collector of the orders of the Commissioner confirming the sales.

NOTICE TO TENDERERS.

(See A. R. I., Vol. III, paras. 135 and 136.)

I.—Sealed Tenders for the supply of the undermentioned supplies from 25th October 1909 to 31st March 1910 will be received by the Superintendent, Calcutta Remount Depôt, up to 4 P.M. on the 31st August 1909.

II.—Forms of "Tender" and "Schedules" (I. A. F., 2121) of the stores for the supply of which tenders are invited, are obtainable on payment at the rate of Re. 1 per set on application in writing, and samples of the articles to be supplied can be inspected at the Godown, Remount Depôt, 24-25, Garden Reach, Calcutta, any day (Sundays and holidays excepted) between the hours of 10 A.M. and 2 P.M.

III.—Tenders will only be received in accordance with the conditions on these printed forms, which must be submitted in English and should specify in words as well as in figures the rate at which each description of article named in them will be delivered. Fractional parts of pies in rates will not be accepted. Tenders must be duly signed and completed in accordance with the instructions they contain.

IV.—Tenders should be accompanied by a deposit in the form of a Presidency Bank / Treasury Receipt or Government Promissory Notes, Provincial or Municipal debentures, or Port Trust bonds, as earnest money, at the rate of 2 per cent. on the total value of the stores tendered for, subject to a minimum of Rs. 25 which deposit will be returned on acceptance or rejection of the tender. In the case of Promissory Notes being furnished they must remain in the name of the depositor.

V.—No security or deposit which the tenderer may have furnished in connection with a previous contract or on any other account can be accepted as earnest money.

VI.—The approval or rejection of tenders rests with the Quartermaster-General in India who reserves to himself the right of rejecting any tender, or any items in a tender, without cause assigned. The lowest tender will not of necessity be accepted.

VII.—Tenders will be opened at this office at 12 A.M. on Wednesday, the 1st September 1909. Tenderers are invited to attend.

VIII.—Parties tendering are particularly requested to give their addresses in full.

IX.—Any further information required can be obtained on application to this office between the hours of 10 A.M. and 4 P.M. (Sundays and holidays excepted).

X.—Tenders must be sent under a strong cover, securely fastened, sealed with a distinctive device and conspicuously marked "Tender for the supply of Grain and Fodder" and addressed to the Superintendent, Calcutta Remount Depôt, Saharanpore (U. P.) and not to any officer by name.

XI.—Tenders which do not comply with the above conditions will be rejected.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS,

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta,

or
the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or
the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.
